"With regard to the allegation that the government was preferring foreign to British immigration, it did not take very long to establish the facts. The findings of the parliamentary committee were to the effect that, while Canada was spending 11 cents per capita on Continental immigrants she was spending an average of $16.67 per capita on immigrants from the British Isles. Reference to the statistics of the British Empire shows that of citizens of the British Isles emigrating of recent years to other dominions and other parts of the world, Canada has been receiving by a very long way the largest proportion.

"The most recent development in our immigration policy has been to link more closely the governments of the Provinces and our own Government, in the determination of the classes and numbers of immigrants to be brought to Canada. With the return to the Western Provinces of their natural resources, we have felt that more in the way of Provincial control of immigration was desirable more particularly as the Provinces themselves are the first to feel any adverse effects of an inadequate or an excessive immigration."

Government Tariff Policy

Mr. King dealt with the principles which underlay the government tariff policies.

"We have shaped our policies with respect to the tariff in a manner which, while keeping in mind essentials in the development of manufacturing and of trade would, above all else, further the growth and development of our basic industries," he asserted. "We have recognized that, if our manufacturing and trade were to expand that world markets as well as home markets were an essential, and we have recognized, further, that what was possible in the way of competition in the markets of the world was dependent in no inconsiderable measure upon the costs of production and the cost of living in our own land. So, we have striven in our tariff revisions, consistently, to take those steps which, without injury to any legitimate business in the country, would at the same time tend to make possible more in the way of production in our basic industries, through reduotion of duties on the instruments of production required in those industries, and on the necessaries of life of those employed therein and in the manufactures and other businesses of our country."

He made brief reference to the tariff revisions effected by the present administration since taking office in 1921, and which culminated in the revision concluded in the last budget. Canada, he said, now stood as the sixth great trading country of the world.

"You sometimes hear it said that this trade is largely in raw materials; that we are parting with our birthright. Perhaps this is the best time at which to remind you that the quantity of raw materials which Canada imports from the United States for her manufacturing industries, raw materials such as cotton, rubber and the like, exceed in value the total value of the raw materials which Canada exports to the United States. This, too, is perhaps an appropriate moment at which to remind you that the percapita exports of manufactured goods from Canada, exceed in value those of any other country in the world, with the exception of Great Britain.

"Let me add that no nation in the world has enjoyed the same proportionate increase in domestic export trade since the war as Canada. It has risen from a total of $740,000,000 at the time the present government came into office, at the end of the fiscal year 1921-22, to over $1,363,000,000 at the end of thefiscal year 1928-29. In other words there has been a doubling of our total domestic export trade in a period of seven years. This spectacular increase of trade is no mere chance. It is the result of wise policies effectively administered by the department of trade and commerce.

"May I remind you that there has been less in the way of industrial strife, more in the way of industrial peace in Canada during the last few years than has been enjoyed by any other industrial country," said Mr. King with respect to the Government Labor policies. "May I remind you that it was a Liberal administration which created the Canadian Department of Labor, which introduced its "fair wages" policy, and which this year has given statutory effect to the payment of fair wages and to an eight-hour day on all public works carried out under contract for the Dominion Government, and with respect to all labor in the Government's own employ.

Liberal policies with respect to the war veterans were touched on by Mr. King. Canada's War Pension legislation, he believed, was the most advanced in the world. He referred to what had been accomplished at the last session of parliament.

Then Mr. King went on to speak of the return of the natural resources to the prairie and British Columbia. For thirty years, he said, this had been a problem for different governments. It remained, he said for the present administration to restore these lands. Ever since their entry into Confederation, the Maritime Provinces had felt that they had not had a square deal.

"Here and there, in patchwork fashion, some adjustments have been made in dealing with particular grievances as they arose. It remained for the present administration to tackle the problem of Maritime claims in a thorough, statesmanlike fashion. This we have done with respect to their transportation problems; with respect to the problems of their industries; with respect to their subsidies; with respect to their harbor and trade facilities, and to all other matters having a bearing upon the economic welfare of the Maritimes as an integral part of our Dominion.

"I have not time to go into the provisions of these several agreements, but I do not hesitate to say that an examination of their provisions reveal a generosity in the manner of the treatment of those provinces such as has never characterized similar negotiations in the history of our Dominion. And here may I point out that something which has also a bearing upon the somewhat surprising attitude of the Premier of this Province and his Government in this general election, namely that in not a single case were the negotiations conducted exclusively with Governments of the same political persuasion as the present administration at Ottawa. It made no difference to us whether we were dealing with Liberal Governments or, as happened to be the case, more particularly, with Progressive and Conservative Governments, our attitude throughout was the same; not an endeavor merely, but a determination to see that in the interests of National Unity, these long standing grievances should for once and for all be eradicated and eradicated in a way which would leave no vestige of distrust or ill will.

"By our action in these particulars we have made over and strengthened the superstructure of Confederation. We have, at the same time, in the increased financial provisions which we have made for those provinces, reinforced its foundations. I say without fear of contradiction, that there has never been a time in the history of Canada where the relations between the several provinces and the Federal Government were as cordial and harmonious as they were up to the very eve of this election, and as they will continue to be the hour the election is over.

Castrol will Save You 90c on Every Quart of Oil You Buy!

YOUR YEARLY SAVING!

Do you drive 10,000 miles, 20,000 miles or 30,000 miles a year? This chart shows the big saving you can make in a year's time by using Castrol at 50c a quart instead of an ordinary oil at 35c a quart. Cars of varying crankcase capacities are listed below:

Car and Model	Crankcase Capacity	10,000 Miles	20,000 Miles	30,000 Miles
Auburn	6	$27.00	$54.00	$81.00

NOTE: The greater the crankcase capacity of your car the greater your saving by adopting Castrol!

THE PROOF of the Saving is in the Using! An ordinary oil gives only 500 miles before a change of oil is necessary. It costs you, say, 35c a quart . . . or $1.40 per 4-quart filling. Drive 2,000 miles and your oil bill is $5.60.

Castrol gives up to four times the mileage of an ordinary oil . . . 2,000 MILES Without Change! It costs you 50c a quart . . . or $2.00 per 4-quart filling. That means you save $3.60 over an ordinary oil . . . for every 2,000 miles you drive!

In other words, you are 90c in pocket on every quart of Castrol you buy!

Furthermore only half as much Castrol is required for "make-up" as any other lubricant. Castrol slashes your oil bills from start to finish.

IMPORTANT: Castrol is available through reputable garages and Independent Service Stations everywhere. It is not authorized to be sold through chain stations operated directly by large gasoline combines. WATCH FOR THE CASTROL SIGN.

Hastings Lodge No. 633 Act as Hosts to Millbrook Members.

GOOD PROGRAM.

HASTINGS, June 17. (Examiner Correspondence.)—Hastings Lodge No. 633, G.R.C., A.F. and A.M., were hosts to about thirty members of J. B. Hall Lodge, of Millbrook. The visitors conferred the degrees in a very efficient manner. After the business of the meeting was completed, the members gathered around the festive board where the following program was carried out:

Toast to the King, proposed by W. R. Learmonth, responded by National Anthem. Song by Mr. Starrie Campbell ford. A. G. Viets, of Toronto, the principal speaker of the evening, gave a very interesting and instructive address on what is being done in Canada for the blind. Mr. Viets, who is a veteran of the great war, having enlisted in Calgary, lost his sight in the great conflict, he is an honor graduate of St. Dunstan's England, and since his return has taken a keen interest in the work amongst the blind in Canada. Mr. Viets, is a fluent speaker, and his address was a revelation to the members present. He was extended a hearty vote of thanks at the conclusion of his remarks.

The toast to the visiting brethren was proposed by C. P. Doughty, and responded to by Messrs. G. Girven, of Norwood, Burnham and Coombs of Billbrook.

The toast to the Grand Lodge was proposed by Mr. Chant, of Unionville, responded bo by Jamieson, D. D. G. M. of Millbrook. Song by Mr. Storrie, Campbellford.

The toast to the craft was proposed by C. B. Plant and responded to by W. M. Fowlds.

Proceeds of Street Fair For Most Worthy Causes

Crippled Children and Boys' Work to be Taken Care Of.

Aside from the fun to be had tomorrow night at the Rotary Street Fair on the Market Square, and the announcement to be made of the mileage on the $1300 Pontiac Car at the same time, the public is greatly interested in the success of the affair as the proceeds are for most worthy purposes. What is realized will augment the fund for the treatment of crippled children and for the continuance of boys' work so well established by the club.

It will be a big night, and no mistake; every one will have a desire to know who has the correct estimate on the car's mileage.

It is well to read the following contest rules again.

Rules of estimating contest on Pontiac De Luxe Sedan. Ticket, 25c; one estimate for every ticket purchased. Enter mileage estimate in space provided on ticket and sign. Place in ballot box at Rotary headquarters.

Information as to operation of car between May 19th and June 18th. Car will run on platform at Rotary headquarters approximately 115 hours, make one trip to Belleville, Cobourg, Lindsay, Lakefield and Norwood. Balance of period until the night of June 18th car will be on the streets of the city several hours each day in a ticket selling campaign. It is not expected that any great mileage will be registered during the period while operating on the streets. The committee feels that the public are entitled to the above information.

On the night of June 18th, at the close of Rotary Street Fair the speedometer will be unlocked by Mayor Denne and correct mileage announced.

His car crashing into the side of a heavy transport truck on the Toronto-Hamilton highway, John G. Frazer, Toronto, was instantly killed. Photographs here show the wrecked sedan car which Frazer was driving. It was almost new. Below the car is shown George Huffman, Brantford, driver of the truck into which Frazer crashed and which he overturned. Huffman escaped without injury and later told police he pulled off the pavement to avoid the crash.

POLICE LASH MOB TO STOP RIOTS

MANY ARE INJURED.

BOMBAY, June 17 (C.P.)—Undeterred by the presence of troops, Nationalist volunteers to-day resumed their picketing of foreign cloth shops and to-day shops in the Fort or European area. Thirteen pickets were arrested almost immediately by the police.

Messrs. Majrekar and Durandhar, joint secretaries of the Bombay Indian Congress committee, and Manekal Gandhi, editor of the Congress Bulletin, were all sentenced to-day to six months' rigorous imprisonment for disobeying the police order prohibiting processions in Bombay at a specified time.

The police, instructed to "handle demonstrators firmly," did so in the single disturbance reported Monday, and for the first time since the civil disobedience manifestation began, gave no quarter.

They lashed a mob of 5,000 which gathered in front of one of the large European department stores with short bamboo canes to which had been attached leather thongs—a new form of police equipment.

Disturbance Serious

The disturbance was of fairly serious proportions, and lasted about four hours. Ten members of the crowd were injured. Twelve police charges were required to break up the mob.

The pickets generally did not resist arrest. Police lorries would draw up in front of the picketed shops. The pickets would be ordered to get into lorries, which they did without protest. The shop-keepers in some instances smilingly saying goodbye as they did so.

Prices Slump

At the court houses they were treated summarily and sentenced each to four months rigorous imprisonment. Their activities brought a tremendous slump in prices of the toddy shop licenses. At the yearly auction held yesterday only £150 (about $750) was realized compared to £22,500 (about $110,000) the preceding year.

Negotiates With Ghandi.

LONDON, June 17 (C.P.).—A Bombay despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company to-day said that Sir Prabhasanker Pattani, acting on behalf of the Government, had arrived at Poona and had opened negotiations with Mahatma Gandhi, imprisoned Nationalist leader, for abandonment of the civil disobedience campaign.

The exact nature of the conversations was not disclosed, although it was understood Sir Prabhasanker was trying to reach a compromise with the Mahatma, who is confined at Yeroda Prison at Poona, on four points previously advanced by him.

It was believed that any settlement would pre-suppose abandonment of the civil disobedience movement, by which Indian Nationalists have hoped to gain independence from British rule, and to the Government's granting of amnesty to all political prisoners.

KILLED BY FALLING TREE

OWEN SOUND, Ont., June 16. — (C.P.) — Joseph Hooey, 48, died in the hospital here on Sunday night as the result of a tree having fallen on him on Saturday forenoon while working in the bush near Hope Bay, Bruce peninsula. The tree fell across his chest and he was badly crushed. He was rushed to the hospital but internal injuries caused his death.

CHURCH HONORS OLD ORGANIST

11 YEARS LEADER.

Many complimentary expressions that eulogized the good work done by John Crane, organist for the past eleven years at St. Andrew's United Church, were voiced last evening when a representative gathering of the congregation, numbering about one hundred people, assembled in the Sunday school auditorium to present him with a purse of gold. The affair was sponsored by the Session and Managers of the church.

G. A. Gillespie, in the chair, also the Rev. Dr. C. V. McLean and J. W. Fraser, who made the presentation, echoed in turn the same expressions of esteem and respect for Mr. Crane. They spoke of the splendid service given by him during the past eleven years when he officiated as organist and choir leader of the church, and of the fine co-operation and mutual liking maintained all during that time between him and the choir members.

Much regret was expressed at Mr. Crane's decision to relinquish his position as organist and choir leader after such a successful and pleasant term.

Mr. Crane replied in suitable terms, speaking of the cordial relations maintained between himself and the choir members and the pleasure he had felt in presiding at the organ of St. Andrew's.

The affair was also made the occasion to welcome the new organist, T. Phillips.

An interesting musical program consisted of vocal solos by Mrs. H. F. Doig, Mrs. R. Williamson and G. D. Carlisle.

The ladies of the church served refreshments at the conclusion of the evening.

COUNCIL APPEALS RULING ON GRAB

Toronto Aldermen Order City Solicitor to Appeal Justice Kelly's Judgment.

TWO MEN DISSENT.

TORONTO, Ont., June 17.—(C.P.)—Echoes of the so-called "salary grab" furore that fairly shook the city a few weeks ago when members of the City Council voted themselves a raise in salary, resounded last night and early to-day throughout the City Hall corridors when the civic administration debated Mr. Justice Kelly's recent ruling that the "salary-grab" was illegal.

After hours of discussion a resolution was passed ordering the City Solicitor, C. M. Colquhoun, to appeal to the Division Court Justice Kelly's judgment. Those favouring it claimed they supported it to prevent tieing up the city's business and not because of the salary increase. Two aldermen voted against the motion.

July who from the Province of Quebec, he intends, if given the opportunity, to substitute for Mr. Lapoint? Who from the Maritime Provinces he intends to substitute for Colonel Ralston? Who from Ontario he intends to substitute for Mr. Malcolm? And who from the Canadian West he intends to substitute for Mr. Dunning? The Canadian people have a right to know who are to be their representatives at these two great conferences. The people have a right to know, in addition, who for the next five years the other members of the Government of Canada are likely to be.

"In the general elections of 1911, when the Liberal Party in Canada, under its great Leader, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, appealed to the country on a trade issue in the nature of reciprocity in natural products between Canada and the United States, a measure of greater freedom in trade, so far as this continent was concerned and of wider markets for the producers in the great basic industries of agriculture, lumbering, mining and fishing, the forces that were opposed to the tariff changes then proposed, allied under the cry of 'We are at the parting of the ways.' I do not intend to go the length of saying that, having regard to the measure of increased trade assured by the Budget of 1930 between Canada and Great Britain, and, indeed, between Canada and all other parts of the British Empire, we are 'at the parting of the ways' or that the rejection of the Budget, for such would be the significance of the defeat of the present Government at this general election, would mean an end to all endeavor further to promote intra-Empire trade. I do, however, say, what in very truth I believe to be the fact, that, so far as intra-Empire trade is concerned, 'we are, at last, at the meeting of the ways' and that the acceptance of this Budget by the people on July 28 will do more than all else to ensure for Canada's representatives at the Economic Conference in London that favorable response to our attitude and action which we believe will be given by the Government of Great Britain and by the Governments of all the sister Dominions of the Empire. It may not be going too far to say that the acceptance or rejection of our Budget may help to determine whether the highways of Empire are to become, as we hope they may increasingly become, the avenue of a British commerce expanding ever so widely, o'er land and sea, or whether, in so far as the component parts of Empire are concerned, its highways are to remain indistinguishable from the other trade routes of the world."

AND NOW COMES THE MODERN WALL TEXTURE

When the modern world put aside old-fashioned wall papers and tired of plain painted walls, scientists, decorators and architects set to work to give them what they wanted . . . modern textured walls. After years of research and experiment, architects, with the aid of scientists and the critical opinion of decorators, finally perfected Duralith, the new plastic wall paint. ¶ Duralith is rapidly surpassing all other wall decorations in popularity because of its beauty, permanence, washability and infinite variety of design. It can be applied to any kind of wall material and will NOT crack or shrink. Come in and see us about it before you rebuild or redecorate. ¶ Ask us or send the coupon below to Duralith (Canada) Limited, Montreal, for information on how to get a free individual color scheme for your home worked out for you by Cora Wilson, well-known interior decorator.

OBITUARY

MRS. ROBERT SOMERS

WARSAW, June 17. (Examiner Correspondence).—The death occurred on Wednesday evening, June 11 after a lingering illness of Mrs. Robert Somers.

Mrs. Somers, who before her marriage was Mary Ann Johnston was born and raised in Rawdon and forty-three years ago married Robert Neil Somers and came to live on the farm east of the village. Because of ill health they moved to the village last November and since that time Mrs. Somers gradually became weaker but bore her suffering with wonderful Christian faith and patience. Of a quiet and retiring disposition she took very little active part in public affairs. She was a charter member in the W.M.S. of the Methodist and United Church.

She leaves her husband and two brothers, John Johnston, of Rawdon, Cyrus Johnston of Campbellford, and a nephew, E. N. McDonald.

The funeral service was held on Friday afternoon from the United Church the Rev. H. B. Herrington choosing as his text, "Not every one that saith unto me. 'Lord, Lord,' shall enter the Kingdom of Heaven but he that doeth the will of My Father which is in Heaven." The hymns used were "Asleep in Jesus" and "How Firm a Foundation." Henry Batten sang, "I shall see Him Face to Face."

JAMES A. KNIGHT.

HASTINGS, June 17 (Examiner Correspondence).—The death took place on Wednesday evening of one of Hastings most popular young men in James A. Knight at the age of 39 years and 5 months. "Jim," as he was known to everyone, was a valued employee of the Hastings Tanning Co. He was also a member of the Excelsior Orchestra, who were playing at Coral Gables Pavilion at Trent River this year. It was while playing there that the fatal illness took its first hold on Friday night. On arrival back in Hastings he was rushed to the doctor, who pronounced it pneumonia in the severest form.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Knight of town, he was born in Kingston in 1891, coming to Hastings with his parents when a very small boy, where he has spent nearly all his life except for a few years that he was in the banking business in Western Canada.

In religion he was a member of Trinity United Church. He was also a member of Hastings Lodge A.F. & A.M., No. 633.

The funeral, which was held on Friday afternoon at 2.30 to Trinity United Church, was one of the largest funerals ever held in Hastings. Hastings Lodge A.F. & A.M. marched in a body from the family residence to the church, as did his fellow-workers in the Hastings Tanning Co. The service at the church was in charge of Rev. Mr. Bell, assisted by Rev. M. L. Hinton of Bobcaygeon, who spoke on the great loss that had befallen the family, his parents and his young wife, who was formerly Miss Joyce Richardson. Rev. Battersby of St. George's Anglican Church also spoke a few words on the loss that had befallen the community.

The funeral, which was under full Masonic rites, the bearers being members of Hastings Lodge: W. M. Learmouth, C. P. Doughty, H. J. Fife, C. B. Plant, F. H. Waygood, and M. J. Baker.

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, June 17.—The local butter market took another drop yesterday in an endeavor to encourage buyers; but, though No. 1 and No. 2 were down ¼c from last week's low, only fair trading was done. Dealers were quoting No. 1 creamery, pasteurized, at 27¾c to 28c for No. 1, and 26¾c to 27c for No. 2 Buyers evidently were well stocked up, or were figuring on still cheaper supplies. There was very little activity, and dealers had to work real hard to make sales. Retailers were offered No. 1 at 32c and 31c, and No. 2 at 30c.

Cream

Churning cream held steady at 28c to 29c for special, 27c to 28c for No. 1, and 24c to 25c for No. 2 f.o.b. country points. But, if the butter market takes another drop, lower prices to the shipper can be expected.

Cheese

There were heavy supplies on the cheese market, but prices to shippers were firm at 16½c for new, large, 16¾c for new twins, and 17c for new triplets. Retailers were quoted 18¼c for new large, 18½c for new twins, and 18¾c for new triplets. Old cheese was offered to retailers at 27c to 28c for large and 28c to 29c for twins.

Eggs

The egg market was draggy, with prices to country shippers unchanged; but dealers' prices for graded eggs about ½c lower. Shippers were quoted 28c for extras, 26c for firsts, and 23c for seconds, ungraded, delivered, cases returned. Dealers' prices for graded eggs, free cases, were 30c for extras, 28c for firsts, and 24½c to 25c for seconds. Dealers stated that trading was almost at a standstill, as buyers seemed to have large supplies on hand that were purchased before the recent convention. They claimed that consumption was not any too good, and that receipts were fair. Retailers were offered supplies at the old prices of 35c for extras in cartons, 33c for extras loose, 31c for firsts loose, and 28c for seconds loose.

Potatoes

Business was not too strong on the wholesale potato market, but prices were unchanged. Wholesalers quoted New Brunswicks at $2.10 in bulk and $2.20 in bags; Prince Edward Island Cobblers, $2.10, and Mountains, $2.35. Ontario supplies were $1.75 per bag.

MONTREAL, June 17—A feature of the cash grain trade yesterday was the easier feeling that developed for flour. Spring wheat grades were reduced 20c, and winter wheat qualities 5c per barrels.

Prices were generally steady on the dairy and produce markets, but business was slow.

On the butter market, Eastern Townships No. 1 pasteurized was quoted in wholesale channels at 26⅞c to 27c per lb., while to the retail trade solids were 30c, and prints were 31c per lb. Receipts were 809 boxes.

Asking prices for cheese were up to 16½c for Westerns, and up to 16c for Easterns. Receipts were 3,827 boxes.

No changes were made in egg prices. Receipts were 1,774 cases.

The demand for potatoes continued dull. No. 2 grade of new potatoes were offered at $6 per 160-lb. barrel.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, June 17. (C.P.) — Wheat values were put to rout as the "dollar wheat" banner went up on the Winnipeg market yesterday. Losses of more than four cents per bushel had been marked up at the close, coming on the heels of a decline of more than seven cents per bushel during the latter part of last week. July at one time reached 98½ cents, the lowest level in several years.

At the close at 99½c, July had lost 4¾c for the day. October and December, finishing above the dollar, showed recessions of 4½c and 4¾c. Heavy selling by commission houses and deluges of top-loss orders caused the debacle, when no support was offered. More rain in the West, no exports over the week-end, and condition of the stock market were looked on as prime causes of the grain market retreat.

Trading in the pit assumed panic-stricken proportions immediately after the opening, which was two cents off. Quotations came so fast and so varied that board boys gave up the effort to keep track of the market position. Values continued to descend until just before the close when a small rally sent July back over a dollar only to be beaten back again.

Cash grain trading was very light.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, June 17.—Yesterday's receipts at the stock yards were: 2,235 cattle, 676 calves, 487 hogs, 553 sheep and lambs.

Fresh supply of cattle at the opening of the yards' market was a thousand head lighter than last Monday, but there were 400 cattle over from last week added to the supply. Opening trade was very dull, and there were not enough cattle weighed up to 11 a.m. to provide representative quotations.

A few butcher cattle sold at 9 to 9½ cents a pound, and a few choice cows at 8 cents. Cutter cows brought 4 to 4½ cents a pound. Trade in calves is slow and weak on a moderate offering. Choice veal, selling at 9 to 9½ cents a pound and common to medium from 5 to 8 cents.

Sheep and lamb supply is about half that of last Monday, but there were no sales made up to 11 a.m. Bids on choice spring lambs are steady at 13 cents a pound. The hog market is unsettled, with bids 25 cents a hundredweight lower than last week's close, and 11½ cents a pound, for bacon f.o.b., and 12½ cents weighed off cars.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 17.—Disturbed by stock market weakness and by much talk of probable foreign retaliation against United States agricultural products wheat prices yesterday fell as much as 4c a bushel. All other grain values collapsed with wheat, breaking the season's low record, and in some cases overturning figures that went back for many years — July wheat, for example, plunging down below any point heretofore touched since 1914, and rye since 1900. The day's lowest prices were simultaneous with announcement that the new tariff bill had reached the White House for President Hoover's promised signature.

Closing quotations on wheat were nervous, 2¾c to 3½c a bushel lower than Saturday's finish. Corn closed 1 7-8c to 2½c down; oats, 3-8c to 1c off, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 7c.

REV. WILLIAM ALLAN SPECIAL SPEAKER AT MASONIC SERVICES

INSTRUCTIVE ADDRESS.

MILLBROOK, June 17.—(Examiner Correspondence). — Rev. William Allan, minister of Saint Paul's Presbyterian church, Peterborough, was the preacher for the special service held in Saint Andrew's United church, Millbrook, on Sunday, June 15, at 3 p.m., when the brethren of the Masonic Order of the Peterborough district attended divine worship at the invitation of the District-Deputy Grand Master, Dr. A. Jemison, who is also clerk of the session of his home church.

The congregation practically filled the church auditorium, in spite of the extreme heat, and associated with the pastor, Rev. W. W. Jones, B.D., on the pulpit platform, were the speaker, Rev. Mr. Allan; Rev. P. W. A. Roberts, rector in charge of the parish of Millbrook and Cavan; Rev. John Riddell, pastor of Grace Presbyterian church; and Dr. Jemison, D.D. G.M. All of the clergymen present are connected with the Order of Masonry, hence their interest and participation in the special occasion.

Rev. Mr. Riddell led in the opening prayer; Rev. Mr. Roberts read the Scripture lesson from Ecclesiastes, chapters 11 and 12; and the pastor, Rev. Mr. Jones, extended a hearty welcome to the visiting members of the Order, and to his brother clergymen who were assisting with the service, mentioning especially Rev. Mr. Allan whose labors for the day were increased by having an extra sermon to prepare and preach to the large congregation. Referring to Dr. Jemison, Mr. Jones stated he considered it a unique occasion that the Clerk of the Session, holding the highest office in the gift of Masonry for the district, and a Past Master in the local Lodge, should have worshipping with him in his own church, and in his own town, his own Lodge and member of the Craft of Masonry representatives of the entire Peterborough district.

Dr. Jemison spoke briefly expressing his pleasure in seeing so many present from widely-separated points for the service; Masons from Victoria county were present as well as the brethren of the Lodges of Peterborough district. Anniversary services, and other special occasions, naturally claimed the support of some of the brethren and prevented their attendance, but on behalf of the Masons of the district, as well as on behalf of J. B. Hall Lodge, a warm welcome was extended to all present and especially to Rev. Mr. Allan who, as a member of the Order, had been invited to preach the sermon for the occasion. "The Order of Masonry works hand in hand with the church, and forms a connecting link between all denomniations."

The musical part of the service was inspiring, and included an anthem by the choir, "We Give Immortal Praise" (Fletcher), and a quintette, "Sweet Galilee," by Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Johnston, Messrs. W. H Coombe, M. McDowell, and V. C. Lambert. The ushers were specially chosen for the afternoon worship period and included: L. W. Smith, P. Stinson, W. J. Tremaine, E. Thornton, F. McMahon, J. H. Might, C. C. Garside, and J. McKnight.

Rev Mr. Allan prefaced his sermon with appreciative remarks of welcome extended saying: "I am in the unique position of being paid for service before I have rendered it; never before, I think, have I been thanked for a thing which I have not yet done. I thank you for permission to speak, and the compliment of your presence."

Beginning with a eulogy of Saul of Tarsus, the inestimable debt the world owes him for all time for wealth of literature he has left as a legacy of his master mind, and of his unusual power of harnessing young men to big tasks, Timothy being a notable example, the speaker led up to his text, chosen from II Timothy 3:13: "But evil men and seducers shall wax worse and worse, deceiving and being deceived, but continue thou in the things which thou has learned."

The text has reference in its first part to a coming day, the minister stated, and went on to mention the differences between the two great divisions into which world civilization falls—the Orient, and the Occident, the first far more ancient than ours, and the Western, though its origin is obscure, yet coming to us by way of the culture of Greece, the great military power of Rome, and through modern Europe. "This evolutionary process has been developed and modified by various influences, but always from without, and not any of them have affected its continuity?

Searching for the reason why our western civilization is supposed to be superior to that of the east, the speaker developed the thought that some nineteen hundred years ago a new current from an entirely new source, from a new race and developed before it reaches the Occident, had mingled with our stream of life and had become the predominant part of the situation, and has to be credited with all that is best both in east and west. This new current was the Word of God, which under divine direction had been produced by the Hebrew race, "not one drop of Gentile blood was used by God Almighty in producing that Book. It colors and dominates the whole stream of our western civilization; subtract it, and you leave a blank which cannot be filled by any other thing."

Mentioning the fact that the Bible is highly honored by the Masonic Craft, the speaker filled the concluding part of his inspiring discourse with the great message of the Word—redemption, assurance of salvation, a question settled forever by the cross of Christ. This salvation includes not only the redemption of the soul, but also of the body, "which has a mortgage resting upon it from before birth and you pay the interest charges in aches and pains, and graying hairs and failing health; God's plan was eternal youth and our dead are waiting for a new uniform to appear before the King of Kings, on parade, by the return of Christ." The redemption of the whole creation is likewise made possible through the sacrifice of Christ; "glorious days are ahead with an ideal civilization estabilised, and the King of Kings and Lord of Lords at the head of it. I hope you know Him, love Him, and trust Him."

MRS. ALBERT BROWN ENTERTAINS W.M.A.

Miss K. Mullen to Speak at Presbyterial Rally For Western Cobourg District.

MILLBROOK, June 17 (Examiner Correspondence)—Group E, Mrs. J. Albert Brown convenor, had charge of the June meeting of the Woman's Missionary Auxiliary of Saint Andrew's United Church this week, forty or more being in attendance, and the president, Mrs. (Rev.) W. W. Jones, conducting the opening business and devotional period.

The fact that the nineteen hundredth anniversary of Pentecost is being observed this month was emphasized in the Scripture lesson, and the prayer, the president urging that the members take this matter very much to heart, that the Holy Spirit be honored in the individual lives, and special blessing looked for because of the special occasion in church history which is being remembered wherever the gospel story is known the world around, this year, 1930.

Mrs. J. H. George read a letter with reference to the western section Presbyterial Rally for the W.M.S. of Cobourg district, which will be held at Cambourne on Tuesday, June 17, and for which a good delegation from all Auxiliaries affected is asked for. One of the speakers will be Miss. K. Mullen, a home missionary from Ericsdale, Manitoba. Unfortunately the date conflicts with an important gathering locally, the annual meeting of the East Durham Women's Institute, which several Auxiliary members will be obliged to attend.

A letter regarding training for leaders in W.M.S. work at the Missionary Summer School held at O.L.C. Whitby in July, was read by the president, and it is hoped that some members will avail themselves of this opportunity for increased efficiency and knowledge offered by the week's classes.

Mrs. J. McKnight reported for the committee appointed to receive donations for Miss E. F. Gillott, explaining the need of help, as this sick and practically helpless citizen was without any companion in her home at that time. Since then, however, through the efforts of the Reeve and council a nurse has been secured and while food and money may still be required, the situation is improved.

The devotional leaflet on "Pentecost and Power" was read by Miss Burnham, and the theme from the study book, "The International Missionary Conference at Jerusalem in 1928" was taken up by Mrs. Hilliard Lang, Mrs. John Hatherly, Mrs. Weston Fallis, and the leader, Mrs. A. J. Brown.

An Executive meeting was held immediately following the regular W.M.S. session, when ways and means of increasing the Auxiliary's usefulness and membership were discussed. It was decided, on motion, to hold the July meeting at Wallace Point, on the Otonsbee River, the gathering to take the form of a picnic outing, and a special speaker to be secured if possible.

Every group leader was urged to have all her members in attendance at this out of doors meeting, and to look over her territory and see if new members might not be secured in the near future. The fact that no new life members were enrolled last year also came up for attention, and the matter will be kept to the fore in this twelve months' activities, with the hope that this list may have additional names during 1930.

The executive will be responsible for the July gathering; as Miss E. C. Hawken, the Auxiliary's representative on the home mission field, will be on furlough this year, it is expected that she will be the guest of honor at the September meeting, and will also speak at a public gathering during her stay in this vicinity. Miss Hawken brings slides with her illustrating the work being done at Wahstao, Alberta, and is a ready and interesting speaker.

PASTOR RESIGNS FROM THE CHURCH

Rev. P. Bruce Thornton Plans to Take World Tour.

BORN IN OMEMEE.

OMEMEE, June 17.—(Examiner Correspondence)—The following item, concerning Rev. P. Bruce Thornton, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Isaiah Thornton, of Omemee, will be of interest to Omemee citizens. Mr. Thornton was born and raised near Omemee and through his yearly visits to his home town has kept in touch with both young and old, and they with him.

At a joint meeting of the boards of St. Paul's United church on Friday evening, June 6, Rev. P. Bruce Thornton, D.D., announced that it was his intention in the near future to make a tour of the world in order to study some of the world problems and to secure material for a series of lectures which he is going to prepare. To carry out these arrangements Dr. Thornton stated that he had decided to resign as minister of the church.

After Dr. Thornton's statement a motion was made to grant him leave of absence for a year, but Dr. Thornton stated that while he greatly appreciated the offer, he had decided to ask the Presbytery to release him at the end of this month. Following many expressions of regret this was agreed to by the boards of the church.

Dr. Thornton preached his first sermon in St. Paul's church 17 years ago last April. He was inducted into the church in December, 1913, and is now completing the seventeenth year of his pastorate. In length of pastorate he is now the senior minister of the United church in Winnipeg.

At the recent convocation of the United colleges, Manitoba College conferred on Mr. Thornton the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity.

Under Dr. Thornton's ministry, St. Paul's church has had a very active and successful history. The membership of the church is 969. The Sunday school has a total enrollment of 1016, the second largest Sunday school in the United church between Toronto and the Pacific coast. Sixty-seven new members were received at the recent Easter communion service which was Dr. Thornton's sixty-fifth communion in St. Paul's. More members were present at this communion service than at any other similar service in the history of the church.

Two features hace characterized Dr. Thornton's work in St. Paul's church. The successful activities carried on by the young people of the church and the interest and attendance that have always centred around the Sunday evening services.

According to Dr. Thornton's present itinerary he will first take the Mediterranean cruise, visiting points in Spain, Africa, Italy and Greece. The Christmas season will be spent in Palestine and Christmas Day in Bethlehem. Dr. Thorgton is arranging to spend some time in Australia, where he will do some pulpit work and give one or two lectures. Some time will be spent in the Orient, studying Oriental problems and visiting the missionaries of the United church, who are working in India, China, Japan and Formosa.

We now report the tale of the oaf who was cast upon a cannibal isle and every day the natives stuck him and took a drink of his blood. Finally, in indignation, he announced to the king, "I don't mind if the boys kill me, but I hate to be continually stuck for the drinks." A pfennig for the first to write the music for this.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D

EATING DURING THE HOT WEATHER.

As the warm weather comes along it of course seems only natural for everybody to cut down somewhat in their food and to replace oatmeal, fats, butter and meats with salads and fruits.

Now in this twentieth century, as a people, the main reason we eat food is to keep the processes of the body going along in a proper manner. And the one thing necessary is heat.

For all the physical work most of us do there is very little need for food. In fact, it can be easily estimated that about 20 per cent. of the food we eat during the cold weather would be sufficient to repair tissues that we wear out by actual work. And the food that we need for work is meat or eggs.

Now as the bulk of the food we eat—vegetables and bread—is used to create heat in the body, and there will not be quite as much heat needed during the warm weather, as there is during the cool weather, you can readily see that it is potatoes, bread, sugar, puddings and so forth that should be cut down during the warm weather.

And yet what do we find?

That a great many feel that meat during the summer should not be eaten, or eaten very sparingly. They think of meat as something very hard to digest and therefore other foods would be better during the warm weather. As a matter of fact, a good piece of beef or lamb is digested in the stomach within an hour or two whereas some of the vegetables take almost twice as long. Of course, pork is a little slow in digesting, and pork during the warm weather might well be limited.

The whole point, and I've spoken about it more than once, is that if you sit around all summer, do absolutely nothing in the way of work or exercise, then you certainly can get along with salads and fruits.

However, if the outdoors invites you, and you get out and walk, play golf, tennis, baseball or other games, then you would be wise to eat meat or eggs every day. Salads and fruits are good food, and contain vitamins that stimulate other foods to action, but they have not the body building, the body repairing ability of meat and eggs.

Many individuals fill up on starches, sugars, sweet drinks and so forth during the summer and avoid meat, when, as a matter of fact, these things have much more 'heating' qualities than meat.

The thought for hot weather eating for the majority of people should be to cut down the amount of food eaten by about 20 per cent., except the meats, which should not be cut down if you are taking as much or more exercise than you do during the cold weather.

During the trial in Marylebone, England, of Harry Hart, for speeding, it was testified that the man kept a car, a wife, a mother and two children on $12.50 a week.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Alice Michaelis

PUT THEM ASIDE

Put them aside,
The thoughts of all you lost,
The vanquished dreams, the little hopes that died
Like pleasure boats, storm-tossed,
Put them aside.

Put them aside,
The shadows that may be
In years to come, without Love's hand to guide;
Fear's clutch, doubt's agony,
Put them aside.

Cling but to this:
Hopes wane, but not your trust;
You see dreams die, and yet life still holds bliss.
God's plans are wholly just;
None go amiss.

Put them aside,
All thoughts of fearful things
That leave your spirit's thirst unsatisfied,
The doubts that bind your wings,
Put them aside!

WEDDING BELLS

GREER—TAYLOR

A wedding of much interest in society circles throughout Ontario, took place in St. George's Anglican Church, St. Catharines, Saturday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock, when Agnes Flora Taylor, daughter of Henry J. Taylor, was married to Major G. Garnet Greer of Military College, Kingston, son of Mrs. Greer and the late Dr. Newton Greer of Peterborough. Very Rev. Dean L. W. B. Broughall, rector of Christ Church Cathedral, Hamilton, officiated, assisted by Rev. Canon C. E. Riley, rector of St. George's. Ancient St. George's auditorium was lovely, with the decorations of white peonies and evergreens used on the guests' pews. The chancel was banked with ferns and peonies, with tall standards of peonies on either side. White peonies and ferns were also used on the altar. A full choral choir, led by Gerald S. Marks and George Macnee of St. Catharines, sang during the signing of the register.

Preceded by the little flower girls, Lissette Anne Pepler and Diana Taylor, her nieces, the bride entered the church escorted by her father to the strains of the wedding march. She was in a white moire gown cut on Madonna lines, long, tight sleeves, with stitched strappings around the waist, caught with gardenias, the long court train falling from the shoulders. Her veil in Madonna style and white moire slippers, completed her costume. Her bouquet was a sheath of Calla lilies, tied with long streamers of white moire ribbons. Her only ornament was a diamond brooch, the groom's gift. Mrs. Don F. Pepler, St. Catharines, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, wore a Victorian gown of deep yellow chiffon, the skirt cut circular with godets, dull shaded yellow ribbons wound around the bodice, long-draped sleeves, moire slippers and a picture hat of yellow mohair, the brim, edged with dull shaded ribbons, covered with chiffon. She carried a French bag, the gift of the groom and a colonial bouquet of pernet and talisman roses, edged with purple pansies and a gold lace frill. The bridesmaid, Miss Barbara Taylor, niece of the bride, was similarly costumed, and the flower girls were in short frocks of the same deep yellow chiffon, the round yokes faggoted with dull yellow silk, the skirt a mass of frills. They carried small nosegays of the same flowers, and wore bandeaux of natural flowers. Dr. Bruce Hopkins of Kingston was groomsman, and the ushers were Colonel Beament of Ottawa; Captain Isbester of Kingston; James Swift, and Thornton Taylor, brother of the bride, of St. Catharines. Following the ceremony at the church a reception was held at the home of the bride's father, 23 Tate street. The young couple receiving, assisted by Mr. Taylor and the groom's mother, Mrs. Greer, the latter wearing a handsome ensemble of amethyst lace with hat to match, and carrying a bouquet of purple sweet peas. Mrs. Thornton Taylor was in a gown of eggshell faille with coat, hat and bag of green jade, bouquet of Johanna-hill roses and ivy leaves. Mrs. E. H. Fuller of Montreal, aunt of the bride, wore an ensemble of black and mauve chiffon and picture hat of black lace straw. She carried yellow roses and purple sweet peas. The handsome rooms were decked throughout with peonies, cala lilies, and ferns. Refreshments were served in a large marquee on the grounds, the bride's table being done with yellow roses, tall yellow candelabra and tulle. Major and Mrs. Greer left for the White Mountains. Mrs. Greer travelling in a French ensemble of yellow and black, with black hat, shoes and bag.

Among the out-of-town guests attending the Greer-Taylor wedding in St. Catharines on Saturday were: Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Bate of Brampton, uncle and aunt of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. E. N. EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

ART IS LONG.

"She won't eat? Well, let's see. She is quite well. She has a varied and attractive menu. She is served regularly. What she seems to want is attention. You must sit by her and feed her. Tell her stories. Attract her attention elsewhere while you put in a spoonful of food. I tell you that all this child needs is to be left to her own devices.

"Serve her meal on time. Eat your own and ignore her as far as her neglected plate is concerned. When the mealtime is over clear the table and send the child on her way. Make sure that she gets no food until the next regular meal time. Hunger is the best sauce to a jaded appetite. When a child is hungry he will eat. If he isn't hungry there is no need of his eating. Do not allow the child to see your anxiety. Try to be impersonal and polite and careless. If you cease to make the matter of eating important, the child will cease to dramatize every meal."

Two days afterward the lady met me and said, "Missie isn't any better. I tried your plan the very next day and it didn't work very well. We had a terrible time. What shall I do now?"

There is no royal road to establishing health habits. Nor any other part of good habit. Training is a very long matter. Day by day at the same time each day, again and again in needless procession the duties are fulfilled. Once twice, a dozen times, what of it? The child slips back into his comfortable fashion the moment you relax your vigilance. Haven't you some good habit that is like a cross to your soul? Don't you have to struggle with yourself to perform some trvial daily task that must be done? And how old in habit repetition would you be compared to the child?

Art is long and child rearing is an art. Living is an art and you are preparing this child for life. It takes endless time, endless repetition to establish good habits. Patience and perseverance are the heart of the matter.

"But how quick he is to learn what isn't so good. I don't have to tell him to punch his sister, or use a swear word, or gobble his cake. He learns all that fast enough. Why can't he learn to be good?"

You see the race did all the learning of the primitive sort for him and passed it along through you to the child. He does not have to learn to punch and to gobble and to swear, because that has been so well done for him in years long gone by. When these traits that you are striving so hard to set now have become the accepted habit of the race perhaps they too will be easy for the children who are learning to live in the centuries to come.

Anyway we know this. It takes day-by-day teaching over a long span of time to instil a habit of grace. And it requires example, and the environment that stimulates the good deed. There is an art in the matter and art is very very long in the borning.

FALL WHEAT IS 68 INCHES HIGH

WELL HEADED OUT.

Peterborough County's claim to it's fertility and productiveness in all departments of agriculture, are well substantiated as the various samples of farm products which are brought into the office of the Examiner from time to time, go to prove.

The latest and most unique sample to reach the notice of Peterborough County's Own Paper, is a sheaf of wheat in head, and measuring 68 inches in length. The Examiner is assured that, this is representative of the whole of the fall wheat crop on the farm of Raymond E. Hunt of R.R. 1 Harvey township. The advanced development of the crop is certainly remarkable considering the period of the season and it must almost constitute a record in this direction.

A few weeks ago a farmer from Douro submitted a sample of wheat, which in its stage of development was considered to be a record-breaker. A challenge however brought forth many other samples of equal merit.

Dr. Julian M. Brown has been appointed Medical Officer for Health, at Stepney, at a salary of $7,500, making the third woman in England to hold such a position.

FASHION FANCIES

A TRANSPARENT REASON FOR A NEW HAT

There's a transparent reason for the flattering attention sheer hats are receiving just now. It is obvious that they offer charming complements to the dainty little frocks that have caught Summer's fashion fancy. Of lacy woven straw topping a sports suit, of horse-hair straw, hair lace or organdy they are irresistible. The latter, especially so, when attended by a flowered or pin dotted chiffon.

Although many of these sheer models are snug fitting, admitting perchance, a clever twist of a narrow brim, the popular favorite is the late conception of the picture hat. It is distinguished from those of the other seasons by an irregular, and essentially artistic, treatment of the wide brim. An original expression of the theme is shown in the model sketched above. It is of delicate green horse-hair lace with the brim cut away at one point to permit a glimpse of a lovely neck decorated by a drooping white carnation.

IDEAL FOR THE SUMMER COTTAGE!

What if there isn't a daily delivery of pure, safe, pasteurized milk? What if you have no ice? You can still enjoy an abundance of fresh, sweet, dairy milk if you have a few tins of Klim handy.

Klim is a whole MILK, all milk and nothing but milk. The cream is there, the nutriment is there, the delicious fresh milk flavour is there. Only the water has been removed. Replace it, and you have pasteurized milk for cooking, for tea, coffee, cocoa or cereals; milk that the youngsters will love to drink. And you mix it just as you need it. There's no waste with Klim. Better in Many Ways

"I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at Change of Life. I saw it advertised in a booklet. That is how I came to take it. It has helped me a great deal, especially a pain in my side. My appetite is better. My nerves are steadier and I sleep well. I can do my work without lying down like I used to. You may use my name and I will answer letters."—Mrs. George Frotten, South Quinan, Nova Scotia.

PARISIAN FOIBLES

Madeleine uses all-over eyelet embroidery in navy blue for this lovely afternoon dress, with wide collar in white embroidery.

PARIS FAVORS BLUE FOR AFTERNOON WEAR.

An exquisite pattern of all-over eyelet embroidery in navy blue is used for the body of this dress, and in white for the wide collar, cutting it with a fitted line is in many of the models, and following the popular peplum mode for the skirt. Blue in every shade is in high favor this spring, but when combined with white it is more flattering than ever, and many Parisiennes are adopting it for afternoon wear.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

LET us base our discussion to-day on sugar and salt—two essentials for imparting flavor in cookery.

• • • • • • •

It has been found that their uses have gained ground during the last few years, until ways in which they are employed have a surprising variety.

• • • • • • •

You know, perhaps, that salt is added to the water in which certain vegetables are cooked, not only to give zest, but to add density to the liquid causing the vegetables to cook more rapidly.

• • • • • • •

And then sometimes the salt is omitted because the seasoning might toughen a particularly delicate vegetable.

• • • • • • •

This is the season for omitting salt from the water in which fresh peas are boiled. This vegetable must be salted after it is cooked.

• • • • • • •

While we are talking about peas, I might add that sugar is very often added in very small quantities to the water in which they are boiled. The peas absorb enough to increase their flavor and the sweetness clinging to them after the water is drained off, imparts an acquired sweetness.

• • • • • • •

It is very important though, that not too much sugar be added lest it be detected and lose its value.

• • • • • • •

All that is required is for the sugar to intensify the natural sweet flavor of the vegetable. A teaspoonful of sugar to a quart of water is ample.

• • • • • • •

Some housewives, perhaps you are one of them, use sugar in the water in which carrots, string beans, cabbage, cauliflower and spinach are boiled.

• • • • • • •

Of course, only those who like a sweet flavor follow this rule.

• • • • • • •

It is only when a sweet flavor is not accented naturally in these vegetables and one wishes to add sweetness that a small amount of sugar is added.

• • • • • • •

So if you wish other more characteristic flavors to predominate, the sugar should be omitted.

• • • • • • •

Carrots, as everyone knows, have a decided sugary taste, so that it is well to add little or no sugar to the water in which these are being boiled.

• • • • • • •

In the matter of spinach, cabbage, etc., in which zest is wanted, rather than a sweet taste, the addition of sugar is less desirable.

• • • • • • •

Then, too, some housewives use sugar and salt together, for some vegetables such as carrots, asparagus, tomatoes and string beans.

• • • • • • •

Since both sugar and salt are now recommended instead of using only one at a time, it remains for the housewife to find out which method of cookery suits her family best.

Miss Hopkins urged short courses and coaching classes, urged more labor-saving devices, more beautification in and around homes and schools. Mrs. Cameron, of Lakefield, spoke of certain social conditions which exist almost everywhere and are wrong.

Red Cross Hospital.

Miss Knagg, nurse at the Red Cross Hospital at Apsley, gave a most interesting address. In part she said: "The Red Cross motto is yet, 'Still Serving,' and they feel they are on active service. Their campaign is against disease and suffering, want and worry."

The Red Cross Hospital at Apsley was started four years ago and it has justified its existence. During 1929 there were 67 out patients treated; 207 homes visited, 22 schools visited and clinics held. Eight babies were born in the hospital and 21 patients were in the hospital during the year. During the school inspection 52 pupils were examined, and measured and medical advice given where needed, 36 teeth needed care, 38 tonsils, 11 eyes and 48 were underweight.

Baby clinics are held and all mothers are expected to bring their babies for advice and care. They hold junior and senior Red Cross nursing classes and they hope soon to have a class of boys in First Aid work. They teach health, live health and do all in their power to inculcate ideas of health, believing that education without health is well nigh useless and education at the expense of health is wasted effort.

"These statistics do not tell of the poor mother so glad to see the nurse as baby is not well, and nurse helps so baby is soon well and happy, nor of the poor family who were completely burned out while father was away working and the temperature 20 below zero. The members of the Women's Institute were glad to help the nurse provide clothes for mother and six little ones and food. Through the guiding hand of the Red Cross it has been possible to buy that same family a home and land and give them a fresh start. The happiness and loving thankfulness of that family and the way they are working shows how much they appreciate what the hospital has done.

The Apsley people are doing nobly for their outpost hospital but things would be better if a few more wants could be supplied so that so many shifts would not need to be used."

After George Bernard Shaw had finished an address at Hampstead, England, recently, a nervous clergyman arose and asked him, "Are you a Christian?" "I am," smiled G. B. S., "but I often feel very lonely."

Terrible Itching of ECZEMA

Almost Drove Her Mad

Poor girl—if she only knew how one application of Peterson's Ointment immediately stops tantalizing itching and soreness—how the powerfully healing and soothing ingredients start right in to clear that repulsive, red, cracked, discharging skin!

So no matter how long you've been troubled with Eczema—a few days from now you'll be overjoyed with your enchantingly smooth, beautifully fresh, free from Eczema skin. A 50c box proves it—all drugstores.

H. A. Danick writes: "For 6 months I was so bothered with Eczema that I could tear my skin to pieces. I tried so many lotions but could get no relief until I saw your ad one night. I got a box of Peterson's Ointment and it was just like woman said in paper. In one night my Eczema almost disappeared. I'm never troubled any more."

URGES SUPPORT FIRE CAMPAIGN

Resident of Havelock Branch Speaks at Afternoon Session of Women's Institute.

RED CROSS REPORT.

HAVELOCK, June 17.—(Examiner Correspondence).—Mrs. Hubel, president of the Havelock Branch, gave the address of welcome at the afternoon session of the Peterborough Women's Institute.

Mrs. McMillan, of Norwood, replied, speaking of the right use of the ballot, of the privilege nature has given women in the intelligent use of wisdom, love gratitude and truth.

Mrs. Sexsmith spoke of the help of the delegates give, and especially those who come long distances. A few years there were three branches in Peterborough county, now there are eleven. She urged making use of the demonstrations offered by the department and of the literature and asked each branch to report at the next annual what literature it has found of most use. A call was made to join a campaign to prevent loss by fire. She also urged helping the school fairs. The value lies not in prizes but in an effort and study. Adults who do work for children's exhibit are teaching dishonesty. She urged with reason medical school inspection.

Mrs. Eades, member of the Federation Board, thought the motto "For Home and Country" would be a good one for the Legislature. There are many problems but the solution will eventually be found. All good work is God's work and that is why we carry on.

Reports of committees on the various activities, agriculture, laws for women, and children, health, education, Canadian industries, community service, relief were not full as few branches had sent in reports.

Maple Leafs Collect 13 Hits to Defeat Reading

POWERFUL HITTING GIVES TORONTO 9 TO 7 VICTORY

Prudhomme Checks Keys' Attempted Rally in Ninth Inning.

ORIOLES BOW AGAIN.

READING, Pa., June 17.—Flashing a powerful hitting attack, the Toronto Maple Leafs overwhelmed the Reading Keystones here yesterday, 9 to 7. Toronto pounded out 13 base hits off two Reading pitchers.

The Keys touched three Toronto pitchers for 11 safeties, but were dangerous only in two innings. They batted Clarence Fisher for four runs in the fourth and came close to overcoming a big lead when they drove Nick Harrison, Fisher's successor, to the showers in the ninth. Johnny Prudhomme came in to snuff out the Key's attempt with three runs across the plate and the tying runs on base.

Joe Rabbit, with three hits, led the Toronto attack.

The early innings were free-hitting affairs. Toronto got a two-run lead in the third inning, but Reading nullified the advantage by rallying for four counters in the fourth. The Leafs, however, pounded across three runs in the fifth and were put out in front once more.

THIRD WIN FOR WINGS

BALTIMORE, Md., June 17.—Rochester made it three straight over the Birds here yesterday by winning a 7 to 1 contest and cutting the Oriole lead to 1½ games.

"Lefty" Irvin held the flock safely until the fifth, when three walks and a wild pitch resulted in Earl Smith taking up the duties. Home runs were hit by Brown and Smith.

ROYALS BEAT SKEETERS

JERSEY CITY, June 17.—Montreal took the third game of the series from the Jersey City Skeeters here yesterday, 7 to 5, when George Grant forced two runs across the plate in the eleventh inning.

Jersey City made a good stand, coming from behind to tie matters up in the eighth, but the generosity on the part of the pitchers proved too much for the Skeeters.

THREE STRAIGHT FOR BEARS

NEWARK, June 17.—Newark Bears defeated the Buffalo Bisons 6 to 2 here yesterday. It was the third straight defeat for the Bisons at the hands of the Bears. Roy Parmalee, Newark pitcher, although wild at times, hitting two batters and giving six bases on balls, yielded but five hits to the Buffalo outfit. Wilson and Danforth were on the mound for the Bisons and were touched for 12 hits between them. Zitzmann and Munn of the Newark team hit homers in the fifth inning.

GRIMM HITS HOMER WITH BASES LOADED

Cubs Rally to Score Five Runs and Beat Giants in Ninth.

PHELPS PUZZLES CARDS.

Phillies Defeat Pirates in Game Marked By 32 Runs and 38 Base Hits.

NEW YORK, June 17.—A five-run rally in the ninth, terminated by Grimm's home run with the bases loaded, gave the Cubs an 8-to-5 decision over the New York Giants yesterday.

Grimm's blow, coming after the Cubs had tied the score, nullified the four homers made by the Giants of Charlie Root in the first three innings. Terry, Jackson, Allen and Leach drove out the circuit drives, while Hogan added another in the last of the ninth, to give New York all of its runs on homers.

Carl Hubbell and Charlie Root, after shaky starts, settled down and held the hitters well in check after the third inning. Hubbell weakened in the ninth, however. Stephenson's single scoring the tying run, and Grimm's four-base play cleaning the bases.

PHELPS PUZZLIES CARDS

BROOKLYN, June 17.—Behind the steady pitching of Ray Phelps, the league-leading Brooklyn Robins defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 5 to 3, yesterday. Phelps lost a shut-out victory in the final inning, when High's line single through the box injured the lanky Robin's pitcher's hand, and the Cards went on to score three runs.

REDS BEAT BRAVES EASILY

BOSTON, June 17. — Burleigh Grimes and Bruce Cunningham were mistreated by the Cincinnati Reds here yesterday, and the Ohioans romped off with an 11-to-1 victory over the Braves. Grimes was knocked out of the box in the fourth, and Cunningham, who took the veteran's place, fared little better, although he weathered the storm.

The Braves' lone tally came when Wally Burger drove his eighteenth home run of the season off Benny Frey.

KLEIN GETS NINETEENTH HOMER

PHILADELPHIA, June 17. — In a wild and wooly contest, marked by 32 runs and 38 base hits, the Phillies defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday, 18 to 14.

"Chuck" Klein kept up his hitting, and ran his streak to twenty-five consecutive games by making four safeties. One of these was his nineteenth home run of the season, in the third inning. O'Doul, Hurst and Brickell also hit homers. At one time the Phils held a 12-to2 lead, but the Pirates came back in the closing three innings to score eleven runs.

SUGAR BOWL DEFEATS C.G.E. 10-6 TO RETAIN TOP PLACE

Weakness in Outfield Proves Undoing of the Electrics.

SPORT MORE POPULAR.

The Sugar Bowl softball squad still retain their position at the head of the City League, having got the best end of a 10-6 game with the C.G.E. at Central School grounds last evening

The fans who seem to increase in number with each successive game, giving the impression that softball is rapidly gaining in popularity in this city, were treated to a fine exhibition of the sport. The 'Generals' put up a good fight, but were a little weak in their fielding, particularly so in right field, a weakness which gave their opponents a decided advantage.

Webb at bat for the 'Generals' flew out to second base in the opening moments, while his successor Wilson made a nice two-base hit reaching the home plate later and scoring the first tally for his team. In the second innings, Calladine was out at centre field and Wilson who walked to first was left stranded at second when O'Toole struck out and Nicholls was put out at first. The third frame saw a levelling of the score at 4-4 and provided a time at which the 'Generals' did some real team work. Webb biffed the ball to left field, which proved good for three bases, Wilson went to first and advanced to second when McDonagh was walked, then Gore with bases loaded made a hit which took him to first, allowed Webb to come home and ended Wilson's career at third, a two base hit by Miller which followed also allowed McDonagh and Gore to complete the circuit. Another run went to Webb's credit in the fourth while some nice double plays on the part of Bradshaw and Weese prevented any further scoring in that frame. Gore walked to first base in the fifth and Calladine struck out and a nice catch by Weese sent McLeish to the bench. Webb who played a consistent game slogged the ball to left field in the sixth and kept going till he reached third base, later coming home and earning the final run for the C.G.E.

Score Winning Runs.

Westbrooke up for the Candy Men Boys struck out, H. Dormer doubled as also did Weese, scoring Dormer and went to third on the throw-in, later scoring when Gillespie flew out to left field. Baker struck out in the second innings. Dallin at bat made a one base hit and was able to reach the home plate when Bradshaw made a drive to left field which was good for three bases, he afterwards completed his run on a hit by Westbrooke who died at third when H. Dormer flew out to right field. The third innings was unfruitful and the remaining six runs were all scored in the fourth. Dallin and Bradshaw having two to their credit when Westbrooke made a homer. H. Dormer on first reached home on a three base of the scored a run when Gillespie doubled, and also succeeded in scoring. The remainder of the game for the Sugar Bowl provided no further runs, the only features being some nice hard batting, which was frustrated by equally good fielding by McDonagh at centre field who made an especially smart catch in the seventh innings. Dormer who was put out at first in the sixth possibly owed his retirement to the fact that his bat broke as he reached for the Spalding. Westbrooke's three base hit in the final stage of the fight was unavailing as he died there when H. Dormer was put out at first and Weese struck out.

The C.G.E. men in an effort to bolster their score sent in two pinch hitters Routley and Griffen, the former walking to first, stealing a base to second and reaching third when when Gore walked. Griffen died on second when Nicholls the last man up to bat was put out at first.

The line-ups:

BAILIEBORO, June 17 (Examiner Correspondence).—An exhibition softball game between Bailieboro and Fraserville boys' softball teams on Saturday evening resulted in an 18-6 victory for Bailieboro.

The game was fast, with few errors, but the heavy batting of the Bailieboro nine from the beginning definitely decided the outcome.

The line-up:

TED LYONS BEATEN.

DETROIT, June 17.—The Detroit Tigers won the rubber game of the series with the Philadelphia Athletics, 9 to 8.

The A's pounded Waite Hoyt for four runs in the third, and four in the fifth, but Elon Hogsett pitched fine ball after Hoyt was driven from the mound, and Tiger sluggers put on batting rallies in the closing innings, tying the score in the eighth, and scoring the winning tally in the ninth.

Alexander hit a home run with two men on in the fifth. Roy Johnson hit two homers over the left-field wall.

SENATORS FINISH STRONGLY

ST. LOUIS, June 17.—Uncorking a heavy scoring attack in the last three innings the Washington Senators defeated the St. Louis Browns here yesterday 9 to 7, in the third of a four-game series after losing the first two.

The defeat stopped a four-game winning streak for the Browns, and dropped them from fifth to sixth place in the standing.

Neither starting pitcher was able to weather the storm of base hits. Brown who relieved Hadley was given credit for the win, and Kimsey was charged with the defeat.

TED LYONS BEATEN

CHICAGO, June 17.— Ted Lyons' efforts directed toward a tenth victory were not successful yesterday and the Boston Americans made it two straight over the White Sox, 6 to 3.

Two wild pitches in the seventh inning, one of them a "fluke" when the ball, made slippery by a slight rainfall, oozed from his hand, led to Lyons' defeat. The Red Sox built three runs about them, and two walks, a single by Narleshy, and Oliver's double.

Lyons gave eight hits, and the White Sox reached Jack Russell for nine. It was Lyons' sixth defeat, as against nine victories this season.

SCOTS VS. PACKERS WEDNESDAY NIGHT

On King Edward Park at 6.30 in Semi-final Spalding Cup —Other Soccer News.

Tomorrow night the first game of the season on daylight saving time will be played on King Edward Park, between the Caledonians and Canadian Packing in the semi-final of the Spalding Cup. Kick-off is scheduled for 6.30 prompt. Referee, Jack Hodson.

Now that the C.G.E. are eliminated from the cup, a new cup-holder will hold the trophy for next season. The Scotsmen are contemplating making a bold bid for this piece of silverware which assures the fans of a good game. In all probability the Packers will field their best eleven so as to get into the final against the Brinton team.

Linesmen—R. Carmichael and W. Curtis.

Caledonians read thus—J. Ward, goal; S. Agnew and A. Bogie, full backs; Z. Nicholsain, T. Craig and D. Emery, halves; McCracken, W. Cook, J. Curtain, D. Best and A. B. Coyle, forwards. Reserves, J. Pottie and J. Clyde.

Canadian Packing will place the following on the field: C. Griffin, goal; J. Downer and F. Wade, full backs; R. Nicholls, J. Buchan and A. Bromley, halves; N. Downer, A. Beggs, J. Willshaw, T. Foster and J. Preston, forwards. Reserves, W. Rickard and J. Cross.

Players are requested to note Law 13—What is your duty if you find a player breaking this law. A.—To order him off the field. Would you allow him to return after changing his boots. A.—No. It is part of the duty of the referee to examine all boots before the game.

Referees Must Apply

Abiding by the rules and constitution, the executive recommended that all referees must apply in writing to the association making application as an official, even if they have previously been on the list for many years. Also that any referee that has sent in his resignation must make a written letter to that effect, so as to conform with the rules which assures the executive of their sincerity in acting in the capacity as a Knight of the Whistle. At present they have only one official. Last night two made verbal a statement that they would act for the remainder of the games. All letters must be sent to S. Gillespie, 110 Lock street.

No Game Saturday

Arrangements were completed a few weeks ago that there would be no encounter on Saturday, June 21st, owing to the annual picnic of the C.G.E. This allows the players a chance to participate in the outing. At one time, it was suggested that Brinton play the Packers, but it did not materialize after some discussion.

Player Transferred

Z. Nicholsain, who played with the C.G.E., has been transferred to the Caledonians. The Dane scored one of the best goals of the season in the last game he played. W. Cook, from British Columbia and Donald J. Emery from Oshawa signed for the Caledonians. They will play tomorrow night.

Phelan Charity Draw

The teams were drawn as follows: Caledonians vs. Canadian General; Brinton vs. Canadian Packing. The match to be played on the ground of the first-named team.

New Member Appointed

To fill the vacancy created by the retirement of Robert Brown from the board, the executive appointed William Cook in his place. He was for many years associated with the game and was president, also acted as official member for Peterborough on the Ontario Football Association.

Games Scheduled

Wednesday evening, June 25—Canadian Packing vs. Brinton, in league game, on King Edward Park. Kick off at 6.30.

Saturday, June 28—Final, Spalding Cup; Brinton vs. Canadian Packing or Caledonians, on King Edward Park.

ARCHIE COMPSTON LEADS ALL GOLFERS

British Entrans Likely to Carry Off All Honors in Qualifying Round.

HOYLAKE, Eng., June 17.—(C.P.)—Archie Compston, British professional, with a total of 141, appeared certain to lead the qualifying play in the British open championship. Compston finished the second 18 holes of the qualifying round early to-day and as player after player returned his score remained unchallenged.

It appeared the British would carry off all the honors in the qualifying round against the strong challenge of the all-star contingent from the United States.

After Jones completed his round at the Wallasey Club, he was made an honorary life member of the club. He accepted with thanks in a brief speech.

WINS ASCOT STAKES

ASCOT, Eng., June 17.— (A.P.)—Bonny Boy II, owned by M. E. De Stalary, won the Ascot stakes today, the first important race on the Famous Ascot week meetings.

Softball Notes.

Brinton Carpet and Westclox will be opponents to-night in a softball fixture that will be played at the Brinton grounds. Both teams are playing good ball and the fans are assured of a tidy battle. The games played in the south end diamond are attracting good crowds and should repeat tonight. The game will start at 6.30 sharp.

Wednesday night at the Central School Grounds Belmonts and Harrisons will meet. This game also starts at 6.30.

Chocolate Matched.

NEW YORK, N. Y., June 17.—(C.P.)—Kid Chocolate, Havan featherweight, has been matched to fight Jack (Kid) Berg of England in a ten round bout at the Polo Grounds, August 7.

JUNIOR BALL GAME TO-NIGHT

East City H. N. S. and Kiwanis Will Tangle in James Stevenson Park.

MORE SUPPORT NEEDED.

Another city league junior battle is slated for tonight when the Kiwanis and East City tangle in James Stevenson park at 6:15. The series so far has been rather a see-saw affair between these two teams and as yet the possible winner of the city championship is far from being decided.

"Lefty" Hillier, Deannard's new southpaw is playing great ball this year and teamed up with Morocco, the pair developing into one smart battery. Junior ball players are deserving of great credit for the work they have done towards bringing the name of this city to the fore in the sports world in former years and fans should make it a point to support these teams by attending the league games.

LESURF EASILY DEFEATS BARRIE

Local Boxer Wins From Belleville Lightweight Champion in Bay of Quinte Town.

SUCCESSFUL TOURNEY.

Reg. Lesurf of this city won an easy decision over Fred Parrie, Belleville lightweight champion, at a boxing show in the Belleville Armouries last night. The weights were both given as 135 pounds.

The bout was one of a number of three-round matches in three of which Peterborough boxers took part With nice footwork and clever use of both his left and right hands, Lesurf readily outpointed Parrie in each of the three rounds. He had the advantage from the opening bell to the end of the bout and at no time was overworked. Time after time he made Parrie miss and landed left and right hooks to the body and head that slowed him up noticeably.

Gordon Garwood of this city, boxing at 147 pounds in the welterweight class, completely outgeneraled "Red" Metcalfe of London, western Ontario welter champion, in a three-round exhibition match. Metcalfe, with less experience, was no match for Garwood in speed or ability and stopped many hard body punches and punches to the face during the bout. He kept on his feet, however, and several times got inside Garwood for good blows.

The decision on a three-round bout between Len Post of this city and Taylor of Hamilton was given to Taylor but proved an unpopular one with the crowd. The spectators showed in no uncertain manner that they thought the Peterborough lad earned the decision. Taylor won the first round and the second round was a draw. In the third round Post far outpointed Taylor.

Bluenose Taken From Point Roche

HALIFAX, N. S., June 17.—(C.P.)—The Lunenburg schooner Bluenose, champion racer of the North Atlantic fishing fleet which has been ashore at Point Roche, Placentia Bay, Newfoundland, was hauled off at one o'clock this morning by the Canadian government steamer Arras. According to a message reaching C. H. Harvey, agent for Nova Scotia of the Marine and Fisheries Department, the Bluenose was not damaged to any extent, reported Captain Barkhouse of the Arras which took the schooner in tow for Burin, forty miles distant.

CLUB OPENING ON WEDNESDAY

Expected Seventy-five Rinks Will Take Part in Tournament.

FROM OUTSIDE POINTS.

The new plan of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club Limited, a worthy addition to the city's recreational facilities will be officially opened on Wednesday morning by His Worship Mayor Roland Denne, who will be accompanied by the directors of the club and the President of the Ontario Bowling Association, L. J. Harrington.

Seventy-five to eighty rinks are expected to be present to participate in the opening tournament, the draw for which will take place at 9.30 a.m. immediately following the dispensation of the opening formalities. Fifty or sixty of the rinks will be from outside points and will be representative of the whole of Ontario. So far eighteen local entries have been registered by the secretary, J. W. Mayneord.

Work on the clubhouse will be practically completed in time for Wednesday's ceremony, which will undoubtedly constitute a 'red letter' event in local lawn bowling history.

GENERAL MOTORS WILL PLAY HERE

Last Year's Softball Finalists to Play Exhibition Game.

A big softball exhibition game is on the cards—a game which is calculated to set the fans agog with keen anticipation and the date has been tentatively fixed, towards the latter part of next week. The contestants are to be last year's City League champions, Harrisons, vs. the strong Oshawa nine, who beat Harrisons out in the semi-finals of the Ontario play-offs last season. The latter team playing last year as the Anglicans, are still intact this year, with Webster as their twirler, only they are playing under a different name, namely the General Motors.

Judging by Harrisons' form this season, a pretty evenly matched game should be the result. Carruthers or Montgomery will occupy the mound against the Motormen's batters.

Should the proposed ground be ready in time, over in East City, the game will be played there, but it is more likely to be staged on Central School grounds.

C.G.E. Picnic Tickets Receive Speedy Sale

Tickets for the C.G.E. picnic to Cobourg and Rochester which were out on sale for the first time to-day, promise to receive a speedy sale. Members of the Social and Athletic Club, in order to receive the special reduced fare, must purchase their tickets from the zone representatives on or before Friday next; all others may secure tickets at the C.N.R. wickets up to train time.

The Lakeshore Park at Cobourg, which will be the objective of the major portion of the large crowd of picnickers and which will provide the stage whereon the sports events and softball games will be played, is to be closed to vehicular traffic during the day and reserved specially for the excursionists. A large space adjacent to the park will be available for parking purposes, and a supervisor will be on hand.

It is understood that the trip across to Rochester is optional, although it will doubtless hold attraction for large numbers of the party.

"The Great" Shires Goes to Washington

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 17.—(C.P.)—Two big baseball trades have been swung overnight as frantic club owners and managers seek to strengthen their lineups for the crucial engagements just ahead.

In the National League, Burleigh Grimes, veteran spitball ace, has been traded by the Boston Braves to the St. Louis Cardinals for "Wee Willie" Sherdel and Fred Frankhouse in a deal involving nothing but pitchers.

In the American League, the Chicago Whitesox have exchanged Art Shires, once pugnacious first baseman, for Garland Braxtn, pitcher, and Benny Tate, catcher, of the Wasnington Senators.

Don Bradman, Australian Stripling, Makes Brilliant Score.

NOTTINGHAM, Eng., June 16 — (C. P. Cable)—Australia was within 112 runs of England's aggregate total of runs when tea time was reached in the cricket test match at Trent Bridge and had four wickets in hand. When they started the last day's play this morning Australia were 368 behind. By Patient batting, notably by Don Bradman, the brilliant Antipodean stripling, the English total was slowly approached. English team, crippled by the absence of one of their star fast bowlers, Harold Larwood, and also Herbert Sutcliffe, retired hurt, put up an aggressive fight for victory, which was still possible at the tea hour, though a draw looked the more likely conclusion. Scores at the tea interval: England aggregate 372; Australia 144 and 316 for six wickets, aggregate 460.

Klein Boosts Lead In Big Six Circuit

TORONTO, June 17—Only the National League's half of baseball's Big Six got into action yesterday, but the trio, "Chuck" Klein, Babe Herman and Paul Waner, made their bats felt in the battle along the western front. Klein, taking part in the Phillies-Pirates slug fest, took the National League home run lead with his nineteenth circuit drive of the season and then added three more hits to boost his average to .427—31 points more than Johnny Hodapp, the American League batting leader, who was idle. Herman moved to within one point of Hodapp with his average of .395. The Brooklyn slugger got three hits out of four trips to the plate. Waner went into fourth place in the sextet as he pounded out four hits in six official times at bat against the Phillies. Simmons and Ruth were idle, along with Hodapp.

A BEDTIME STORY

By Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND LITTLE MEW.

Uncle Wiggily, with Baby Bunty and many of his rabbit boys and girls, was standing near a dogwood bush in his garden. Baby Bunty had heard a puppy barking in the bush and she thought maybe the queer little fellow had grown there, as she once thought little cats grew on pussy willow trees.

But the little puppy had jumped up into the dogwood bush because a pussy had chased him, and when Uncle Wiggily asked which pussy it was a voice answered:

"I did it and I'll to it again, too!"

"Why, it's little Mew!" exclaimed Bab Bunty, as she saw a pussy crawl out from beneath a burdock weed.

"Did you chase this poor puppy so he tried to jump over the dogwood bush and landed in the middle of it?" asked Uncle Wiggily as he lifted the puppy down to the ground.

She made a jump in the dry leaves.

"Yes, I did," answered the small cat. "Boo! I don't like you!" she cried, arching up her back and making her tail as big as a bologna sausage as she looked at the puppy.

"Why, whatever is the matter between you two?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "You mustn't quarrel this way. Come up to the bungalow with me and I'll finish reading the bedtime story."

"I'm not going anywhere she goes!" whimpered the puppy, pointing his tail at Mew. To do this he turned his back on her, which wasn't very polite, I think.

"And if he says any more to me I'll chase him again! I'll chase him and make him jump into a bramble briar bush!" cried little Mew.

"Dear me! Whatever has gotten into you two?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "Why are you so cross toward this puppy, little Mew?"

"Because, purred the small cat, "he is the dog that chased me the other night and made me climb up the pussy willow tree!"

"Oh, did you do that?" Baby Bunty wanted to know.

"Yes, I guess I did," barked the puppy. "But I'll never do it again, and I'm sorry. I didn't know little Mew was so brave!"

"Pooh! I'm not afraid of you any more!" purred the baby cat. "I was scared of you the other night, but I'm not any more, and every time you chase me up a pussy willow tree I'll chase you into a dogwood bush."

"Tut! Tut! Enough of this!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "I want you to be friends. You can't chase Mew any more and she can't chase you, little puppy."

"I'm satisfied to let it stay that way," whined the tiny dog.

"So am I!" purred Mew

"Then come up to the bungalow and I'll read you the bedtime story," promised Mr. Longears. So the rabbit children had company that evening and after it grew dark and it was time for them to go to sleep, their father took home, first the puppy dog, who lived down the road, and then he took home little Mew, who lived up the road.

Walking through the woods with Mew beside him, Uncle Wiggily was surprised to see how brave the small pussy was. Suddenly there sounded a noise in the bushes and dried leaves beside the path.

"Dear me! I hope that isn't the Bob Cat!" said Uncle Wiggily.

"I'll see who it is!" bravely offered Mew. She made a jump in the dried leaves and when she came out she was laughing.

"It was only a meadow mouse!" said the small cat with a laugh. "You should have seen him run away from me."

"You are smart and clever, little Mew," said bunny.

Soon after that came another rustling in the bushes and dried leaves beside the path. It was getting dark now, but Mew was nearly home.

"Dear me! I hope that isn't the Fox!" said Uncle Wiggily.

"I guess it's only another meadow mouse!" spoke Mew. "I'll chase him away!" Into the bushes jumped the brave little cat, and then, all of a quickness there came a sound of scratching paws and howls and yowls and squeaks while the dried leaves flew all over!

Pretty soon some large animal ran away down the woodland path and Mew came out from behind a bush with her fur all mussed.

"That must have been a big meadow mouse," said Unlie Wiggily.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Mew. "That wasn't a mouse but I thought it was. That was the Fox and when I jumped in I landed right on his back and he was so surprised that he scrambled around like anything and howled."

"Yes, I heard him," said Uncle Wiggily. "The Fox was hiding there to catch me, Mew. But when you jumped on him you drove him away."

"I'm glad I did!" purred brave little Mew. And then she thanked the rabbit for bringin her safely home.

HIGHLIGHTS OF PREMIER'S SPEECH

BRANTFORD, Ont., June 17 (C.P.) —Some of the highlights of Premier King's "keynote speech at Brantford last night follow:

The Government was appealing to the country on its record, on its 1930 Budget, and on the importance as to who should represent Canada at the Imperial Economic Conference.

The Budget was not a "vot catching" device, but a carefully worked out fiscal policy to strengthen intro-Empire trade.

The essential point is that Canada must enlarge her imports from the Mother Country, in order that she may enlarge her exports to the Mother Country.

The tariff schedules have been revised with the definite aim of diverting a considerable portion of trade from the United States and other countries to Great Britain and the Empire units.

We, on our part, through the countervailing duties on a selected list of commodities . . . announce our intention of trading with those who are equally prepared to trade with us.

In respect to the United States the Government is resolved, in the interests of the Canadian people, that Canadian-United States trade relations must not be one-sided.

This Budget pronouncement is a meeting of the ways leading to greater intra-Empire trade.

If Mr. Bennet is elected, whom will he choose to attend the Imperial Conference?

THUGS LOCK UP SIX IN VAULT

Safe is Rifled of $30,000 and Keys to Vault Are Stolen.

HAVE CLOSE CALL.

WARSAW, June 17 (C.P.)—A director and two janitors of the Lods Bank of Commerce to-day owed their lives to a spare key to the bank's strong box which released them from incarceration in the vault before they suffocated. Their escape was a close one, all three being near death after ten hours in the narrow confines.

The director said that he arrived at the bank Sunday afternoon to procure some documents he had left there and found six well dressed men and one woman, all masked, who were searching the cash drawers. Several revolvers were drawn and a threat to shoot if he called was made.

The robbers took the keys from his pocket and opened the safe, which they rifled of $30,000. They then shut him and two janitors whom they had already bound into the safe. One janitor was able to reach a penknife in his pockets and cut the bonds which bound them, but this was the only relief they could obtain.

They shouted and knocked and when business hours came Monday morning their plight was discovered. The robbers had taken the key to the vault with them, however, and none could get inside the vault. A safe-breaker was sent for from Warsaw, but meanwhile the cries and knocks of those inside became weaker.

After several hours anxious waiting someone remembered a spare key to the vault which was kept at another Lods bank. It was secured, the door opened and the three men taken from inside all unconscious.

The released director said that he recognized one of the thieves as a former janitor, whom he had discharged some time ago. During his imprisonment the burglery became known to hundreds of townspeople who watched outside, anxiously enquiring as to safety of their deposits and the prisoners.

PICTORIAL GOLF

MOMENTUM OF CLUB COMPLETES FOLLOW THROUGH.

The long hitter is usually the one who has a very long follow through. Golfers who have acquired this knack—Abe Mitchell is one of them—permit the clubhead to go through so far that there is little or no chance of a long sweeping finish around the back.

In this sort of a finish it must be remembered that the clubhead carries the hands around—it is not the hands that take the clubhead around. The hands have ceased to do their part of the work at the moment of the impact. There is no way that they can help after the ball has been hit. There is a momentum to the clubhead and this is sufficient to bring the hands up at the same time.

Hamilton Pro Franchise May Be Moved to Sarnia

SARNIA, June 17—Jess Altenberg arrived in the city yesterday to complete plans for Wednesday' Ontario League baseball game at the Athletic Park, between his Hamilton Tigers and Knotty Lee's London team. The diamond needs only a wetting and a rolling to equal any park in the present pro. circuit, according to the Hamilton pilot. Wednesday's game will have a lot to do with deciding whether the Hamilton franchise will be transferred to this city. If there is sufficient response the Tigers will change their names and sport the Sarnia colors. The change will be effective in short order and it is possible that this city may boast of a pro. team as early as next week.

Free Independent Elector

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir—I am being asked if I have turned "Grit". No, I am still a free independent elector who at this election am supporting the supporters of the Empire. Some of these askers were Meighen supporters and attacked me for not supporting Meighen. That man was kicked out of Winnipeg and if his Peterborough supporters had been there they would have been kicked out too. It is time that free-tongued impudence of this sort took stock of itself. As Confederation Canada became a Dominion because Hon. George Brown, like MacKenzie King at this time, declined to play party politics. There were others who mobbed them for their pains but time has blessed the memories of these patriots and has forgotten the little fellows.

Solloway and Harvey M. Mills.

The ceremony took place in the ball-room of the Vice-Regal quarters at the Citadel, the Governor-General presiding.

O. J. Lemair, clerk of the Privy Council of Ottawa administered the oath to the two new ministers, after which they signed the register.

IN MEMORIAM.

NICHOLAS — In ever loving memory of our darling little Bobbie Nicholas, who fell asleep in Jesus, three years ago, June 17, 1927.

At Eventide the Master came,
And walked amongst the flowers.
He picked the lilies one by one,
And took this one of ours.
We wanted so to keep him,
For he to us was given.
But Jesus planned it otherwise,
He wanted him in heaven.
It's not at the time that the tears are shed,
That tells of a heart that is torn,
But the lonely tears of the after-years,
And remembrance silently borne.

—Ever sadly missed by his sorrowing mamma and daddy and brothers

FRANCIS BROWN WANTED

An enquiry reaches the office of the Chief of Police for Peterborough, regarding the whereabouts of Francis Joseph Brown more familiarly known as Frank, who is an engineer. He worked in this city some years ago. Information regarding him will be appreciated by his relatives at 22 Johns avenue, Lynn, Mass, U.S.A. or by Chief of Police Sam Newhall.

TOURISTS ARE ARRIVING

The generous sprinkling of tourist cars seen on George street during the past few days, sporting the Shriners' emblem, gives evidence that the local Chamber of Commerce justified its drive for post-convention visitors. In co-operating as closely as possible with the convention bureau, the Chamber of Commerce was largely responsible for the recommendation which prompted the railway companies to publish booklets pointing out to Shrine visitors where they might go in Canada and in Ontario and the Kawartha Lakes district in particular.

POST OFFICE BEING REPAINTED.

Work commenced this morning on the City Post Office, where scaffolding was being erected in readiness for the repainting and exterior painting which is being undertaken by George Sloan and Sons. Portions of the building have been renovated from time to time in the past, yet it is understood that it must be over twenty-five years since it had such an overhaul as that now in progress.

N.Y. Stocks Continue to Shrink

HEADLONG DROP IS CHECKED LATE IN FINAL HOUR

Many Issues Are Within Few Points of Last November's Low.

UPTURN IS EXPECTED.

Ticker Falls Behind Nearly Two Hours in Day's Trading.

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 18. (C.P.) The stock market went through another spasm of liquidation to-day. Share prices tumbled about 5 to 30 points during the early hours of trading, then resounded subtantially during the afternoon, and the selling climax appeared to have passed. Ticker ran about two hours after the close, and sales exceeded 7,250 000 shares, the second largest turnover of the year.

Upturn in Fall

While it is generally acknowledged that a seasonal upturn must be expected in the fall, Wall Street finds itself unable to make any convincing prediction as to when actual stability will be restored, and stock prices continue to skid. Seasonable slackening of activity in business only serves to intensify the gloom. Iron age reports in its weekly survey that steel production has dropped 3 per cent this week to 65 per cent of capacity, that one middle western plant serving the automotive trade has closed down entirely, and another plans to shortly.

Such issues as U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Du Pont, North American, American Water Works, American Can, Westinghouse Electric, Johns Manville, Consolidated Gas, Columbia Gas, dropped about 5 to 10 points, a shortlived rally appeared in the early afternoon. Among the high priced issues, J. M. Case and Allied Chemical dropped about 25 points and Eastman Kodak, 15. Many important issues were carried close to their low level of November.

Halted by Banks

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 18 (C.P.) —Still another swift shrinkage in the quoted values of equity stocks was halted by what appeared to be powerful banking support to-day, and, pivotal shares made moderate recovery in the last hour of trading.

Prices declined swiftly during the early hours of trading, a long list of important issues losing $5 to nearly $30 a share, but the price list began to resist selling pressure by early afternoon, although some shares continued to work lower. Trading was in enormous volume. Nearly 5,000,000 shares were traded by 1.30 o'clock and indications pointed to another 8,000,000 share day, the second of the year.

The headlong decline, which had driven scores of stocks 5 to 300 points net lower, was checked late in the final hour when rallies of 2 to 6 points occurred. The close was heavy, sales approximating 7,250,000 shares.

BRITISH TROOPS HOLD BIG TATOO AT ALDERSHOT

LONDON, June 18 (C.P.). — The evolutions of 5,000 troops participating in the Aldershot military tattoo which opened last night were admirable, but quite as much admiration was excited by the efficient manner in which the civilian authorities handled the crowd of 35,000 spectators, who came from all points of the compass. The great show was not finished until midnight and dawn was breaking before Aldershot saw the last of long lines of traffic streaming across Salisbury Plain, homeward bound.

12 VESSELS WIN RACES AGAINST CUSTOMS RATES

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 18 (C.P.).— Winning a race against time, 12 ships were in port to-day, having cleared the Customs before the new tariff went into effect, and thereby saving importers hundreds of thousands of dollars increased duties.

PROTEST AGAINST TARIFF.

PRAGUE, June 18.—(C.P.)—Deputations from Czecho-Slovakia and German Industrialist Associations today protested to the United States minister against the new tariff of 80 to 120 per cent. which they decried, would strangle that export trade of Czechoslovkia to the United States.

30 NATIONALISTS ARRESTED.

MADRAS, India, June 18.—(C.P.)— Thirty Nationalist volunteers were arrested this morning at the Satvagraha camp at Udayavanam. The camp has now been evacuated.

Punishment Sought For English Official

SHANGHAI, China, June 18. Japanese reports from Nanking said to-day that the Central Government political council would ask Sir Miles Lampson, British Minister to China, to see that Lenox Simpson, a British subject, is punished for his part in the seizure of the Tientsin customs by Yen Hai-Shan.

When the customs office was seized by Yen, who is one of the northern Generals now battling the government forces, he threw out the customs officials and installed Simpson at the head. Simpson also is known as Putnam Weale.

The report also said the National government would issue a declaration denouncing the seizure.

PLUMBER FINED $500 AT WINDSOR

EXAMINE O'CONNOR.

WINDSOR, Ont., June 18 (C.P.).— George R. Baker of Toronto, former vice-president of the Amalgamated Builders' Council, to-day pleaded guilty in Police Court to four charges under the Dominion Combines' Investigation Act. Magistrate D. M. Brodie imposed a fine of $500 and costs, or six months' imprisonment, on one charge and suspended sentence on the others. The charge on which the fine was imposed was that of illegally engaging in a combine to fix common prices for plumbing supplies.

In pleading guilty, Gerald McHugh, K.C., Baker's counsel, submitted several facts in extenuation. Baker, he said, withdrew from the A.B.C. before the Waldron Royal Commission investigation, immediately after Hon. Peter Heenan, Minister of Labor, had informed him the organization was probably illegal.

Voluntarily Gave Evidence.

Further, Mr. McHugh said Baker, who is a man of small means, aided the investigation before Gordon Waldron, K.C., by voluntarily giving evidence and paying his own expenses.

A. G. Slaght, K.C., special Federal prosecutor, agreed with the defence counsel that Baker took only a minor part in the operation of the organization. He concurred in the comparatively small fine imposed.

Baker was given seven days in which to pay the fine. After the settlement of this case, Mr. Slaght began cross-examination of W. F. O'Connor, K.C., defence counsel, and one of those charged. Mr. O'Connor was in the witness box all day Tuesday, under cross-examination by Louis M. Singer, K.C., commissioner of the A.B.C.

KING AND QUEEN WILL ATTEND OPENING OF ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL

Famous Old Cathedral Has Been Partially Closed For Last 17 Years.

GOOD FOR 500 YEARS.

LONDON, June 18 (By Thomas T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent). — The King and Queen will attend the first of the great services in connection with the re-opening of St. Paul's Cathedral next Wednesday, June 25. The visit of Their Majesties will not be a State affair, for there will be no military escort. Neither will there be performed the quaint ceremony of presenting the city sword by the Lord Mayor when the sovereign reaches Old Temple Bar site, which marks the boundary of the "city' 'proper.

For 17 years the great cathedral has been more or less in splints and crutches. For the last five years it has been partially closed. The choir, dome and transepts were boarded off. Handsome but temporary sanctuary and choir furnishings were placed before a screen in the nave, and within this comparatively small western portion of the building the daily and Sunday services continued.

It is asserted St. Paul's will stand firm for another five centuries, if there is no serious disturbance of the foundations of buildings in the vicinity. The stability of St. Paul's depends largely on the foundations remaining wet—for under the cathedral, at a comparatively small depth, is a layer of wet sand. If foundations for new buildings were carried deep alongside it is feared this water would drain off and the sand would settle with serious results.

BRITISH FIRMS PLANNING TO BUY CANADIAN FLOUR

As Result of Budget Firms Are Demanding Canadian Goods, Dunning Says.

ANSWERS CRITICS.

Bennett Opposed Hudson Bay Railroad in 1926, Minister Tells Audience.

SASKATOON, Sask., June 18 (C.P.) —Criticism of the budget by Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, was condemned by Hon. Charles A. Dunning, Finance Minister, who last night addressed a meeting in the interests of Dr. A. MacG. Young, Liberal candidate in Saskatoon.

Declaring that Mr. Bennett was an opponent of the Hudson Bay Railway in 1926, Mr. Dunning asked his hearers if they wished to entrust the development of the Hudson Bay route to the men who staked their political lives on completing the railway or to those who have become its friends in the last few weeks or months when it no longer needed their help.

Mr. Dunning replied to critics who called the increase in the British preference an empty gesture. The British West Indies, whose fruit is admitted at reduced duties under the new budget had already arranged to reciprocate by giving a preference to Canadian flour, he said.

In the big British stores, Selfridge's, Harrod's and others, an 'Empire loaf,' consisting of 85 per cent. Canadian flour is on sale, he declared. This movement, a direct result of the Canadian budget, was going like wildfire, Mr. Dunning said.

FERGUSON PLANS TO ANSWER KING

Will Satisfy Public at an Early Date as to St. Lawrence Development.

IN CAMPAIGN TO STAY.

TORONTO, Ont., June 18 (C.P.)— While Premier King in his Peterborough speech last night suggested that Premier Ferguson go about his own business and keep out of the Federal election, Premier Ferguson said to-day he plans to continue in the campaign.

"I will satisfy the public at an early date," stated Premier Ferguson to-day, "that the delay in the St. Lawrence has been entirely due to the determination of this Government at Ottawa to ignore the right of the Province in its water power resources."

"Provinces have rights," said Premier Ferguson, "and if they do not make a fight for those rights, they would be swallowed up in the Federal jurisdiction. The Government at Ottawa is purely Federalist in their attitude toward these problems."

Logan Refuses To Be Candidate

LINDSAY, Ont., June 18.—(C.P.)—Dr. F. A. Logan, nominated a week ago to carry the Liberal standard in the riding of Victoria and Haliburton has notified the executive that he cannot accept the nomination. He gave warning when he was nominated that he might not stand but it had been hoped that he would decide favorable. Officers of the association say a further convention will be called for next week and that a candidate will be secured.

NEW YORK TIMES ISSUES WARNING TO AMERICANS

Leading Paper in United States Warns Nation Against New Tariff Rates.

INJURING THEMSELVES.

Says Hoover Should Lose No Time in Dealing With Canada's Case.

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 18 (C.P.) —"Here we have the first and prompt indication that our besotted protectionists are of the kind that cut off their noses to spite their faces." The New York Times declares editorially to-day in commenting on Premier Mackenzie King's speech at Brantford, on Monday night.

The Times adds:—

"Canada has for some time been the best customer of the United States. Our exports, now admitted by everyone, even by a Protectionist President of the United States, to be vital to our industry and essential to our prosperity, have steadily been going to the Dominion in a larger share than to any other country. American business shrewdness, American shopkeeping sense, must certainly appear to have fallen into stupidity, thus to alienate neighbors who have been the largest purchasers of our wares.

Prime Minister King is for the most part friendly with this country and, as a Liberal and former Free Trader, is himself desirous of putting no check upon the free flow of commodities between the two countries. From it both stand to gain, just as both are likely to lose from any artificial restrictions upon trade. However, the final word of the Canadian Government is that it is unable to consider questions of international commerce except upon a reciprocal basis.

"President Hoover has expressed confidence that through the tariff commission he will be able to meet the protests of other nations. He should lose no time in taking up the case of Canada. The Dominion makes no protest, but states its own position in a way to give pause to all at Washington who made light of the warnings of American economists and manufacturers, to the effect that the higher tariff was certain to cut deeply into our foreign commerce."

NO SOLUTION FOR PROBLEMS

Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion Addresses Conservative Rally in St. Thomas.

SCORES KING'S ADDRESS.

ST. THOMAS, Ont., June 18. (C.P.) Lengthy criticism of the present Dominion government's record marked the address delivered at a Conservative party rally here last night by Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion, M.P., Fort William. The speaker also attacked Premier Mackenzie King's opening speech at Brantford, terming it a "mess of platitudes and generalities, a few kernels of wheat in a barrel of chaff."

"I looked through it for a solution to Canada's problems" said the speaker, "but I looked in vain. But people who know Mr. King have got into the habit of expecting as much."

In composing his address Mr. King had gathered together a vast mass of material with the sole purpose of shaping it into an advertisement for the Liberal party" said Dr. Manion.

JUNE SESSION OF COUNTY COUNCIL OPENED IN CITY

Warden James Hawthorne Reviews Work in County in His Address.

CURENT DEFICIT IN 1929.

Government Advises County That it Now Pays Salaries of School Inspectors.

That a current deficit for which the County Council must now make provision was caused largely by statutory demands in 1929 rather than by County legislation was the claim of Warden James Hawthorne in his address at the opening of the June sessions of the County Council at the Court House yesterday afternoon. Through under-estimation of the demands of the municipal, indigents mothers' allowance and old age pension laws, levies were too low in the estimates for 1929, Mr. Hawthorne revealed.

"Referring back to the minutes of the open council, also the minutes of the standing committees, you will observe that this council commenced the year with an eye to aggressiveness, setting up a practice of economy consistent with good work," the warden said in his address.

"The chairman of Standing Committee on Equalization and Assessment has his report ready to submit to you for your approval. It will have to be finally dealt with at this session fixing the basis of assessment for 1931 from a county standpoint.

"He pointed out to me that it would not be necessary, according to statute, to make adjustment from the figures sent in by the local clerks and that the aggregate local assessment for 1931 from a county standpoint.

"He pointed out to me that it would not be necessary, according to statute, to make adjustment from the figures sent in by the local clerks and that the aggregate local assessment is yet $7,514 lower than the aggrtgate equalized assessment.

"You will notice provision for current deficit, December 31, 1929, in the estimates which the chairman of the Standing Committee on Finance will submit to you for approval and which must also be considered finally at this session for the current year,

Not Due to Legislation

"The individual ratepayer is liable to think that this deficit was entirely due to 1929 County legislation. Upon closer examination you will find that such is not the case. Recent statutory

BODY OF MAN IS FOUND IN LAKE

Twenty Coastguard Boats Are Searching For Lost Men in Lake Erie.

DEATH DUE TO EXPOSURE.

TOLEDO, O., July 18. —(C.P.) — The finding of several articles of clothing and the body of John Liptack, one of eight Toledoans lost in Lake Erie, strengthened the belief to-day that all the men are dead. The manner of their death remained as much a mystery as when the speedboat was found Sunday floating upright in the lake near West Sister Island.

The fact that Coroner Frank G. Kreft said Liptack's death was due to exposure and not to drowning, increased the wonder why he had left the boat. His body was scantily clad, indicating that he had discarded his clothing to be as free as possible to save himself. It was discovered yesterday floating in a life preserver near where the boat was found. t

In the boat were only three life preservers, whereas it had started from Toledo with eight, indicating that at least three of the men had left the boat without them.

Further hope for the men was obliterated when it was pointed out that an, boat which might have picked up the Toledoans Saturday would have reached port Monday night at the latest.

An intensive search was resumed at 4 p.m., approximtaely 20 coastguard boats starting out to scan the waters. They were aided by airplanes.

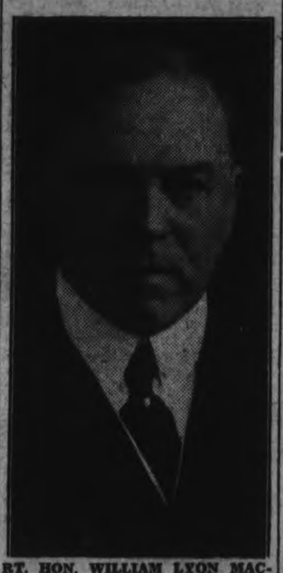
Premier Accepts Challenge of Ferguson and Defends Policy on Unemployment

Addresses Rally



RT. HON. WILLIAM LYON MACKENZIE KING

Prime Minister of Canada, and leader of the Liberal Party, who addressed one of the largest political meetings last night to be held in Peterborough in some years.

Hon. Howard Ferguson is Told to Mind His Own Affairs by Premier King at Big Liberal Rally Which Completely Packed the Armouries.

ANSWERS CRITICS OF HIS FIVE CENT SPEECH AND DENIES REFUSING AID TO TORY PROVINCES

Canada is First in World in Employment Says Premier As He Took Issue With Hon. R. B. Bennett For Exaggerating Unemployment Conditions.

Peterborough heard Premier Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King rise to new heights in the political campaign here last night in a fighting speech in which he replied with full vigor to his ace opponents in the Conservative ranks, Hon. R. B. Bennett and Premier Howard G. Ferguson of Ontario. The prime minister carried his campaign into the unemployment question, dealt with his famed-five-cent speech and explained fully the cause of delays in the St. Lawrence waterways project. The prime minister loosened a more-overwhelming barrage upon his Conservative assailants than any campaign audience in recent years has listened to.

Dunning Budget Studied

He criticized the attitude of the opposition leader in claiming that the Dunning budget "was hastily put together for political purposes" and explained fully that a year and more of study had been given to trade problems before that budget was brought down.

Dealing with the St. Lawrence Waterway, Mr. King placed the cause for the delay fully upon the shoulders of the premiers of Ontario and Quebec and read an agreement giving the provinces power rates, which he hopes they will sign, thus allowing the gigantic project to be proceeded with.

He declared that Mr. Bennett "was exaggerating out of all proportion" the conditions of unemployment in Canada, charging that the Conservative leader was striving to exploit the the present business slump for political purposes.

An audience estimated at close to five thousand persons thronged the huge drill hall of the Armouries and stood outside its doors to hear the Premier's address. The building was so equipped with amplifiers that every syllable could be heard with perfect distinctness, not only inside the building but also in Confederation Square.

The audience was an enthusiastic one, and loudly applauded every new point emphasized by the Premier. During the first few minutes of his speech it appeared that some one seated half-way down the hall was attempting to heckle the Prime Minister, but the speaker carried on and the very sincerity of his words seemed to force into silence the would-be heckler.

Hearers Are Spellbound.

The Premier spoke for two hours and ten minutes, beginning his address at 9.50 and completing it just before midnight. He concluded in such a burst of oratory in which he spoke of his grandfather, William Lyon Mackenzie, that his hearers were amazed and spellbound.

Other speakers were: Mrs. Elena Murdock Skaith, J. J. Duffus, the local Liberal standard-bearer, and the Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C.

The whole-hearted welcome of the citizens of Peterborough was expressed to the Premier by Dr. J. J. Craig, president of the Peterborough Liberal Association, who was chairman of the meeting. Dr. Craig hoped that the vast audience and the reception tendered the Prime Minister here would encourage him in his present strenuous duties and throughout the campaign. He expressed perfect assurance that the Liberal party would be returned to power.

Mrs. Elena Murdock Skaith, as president of the Ontario Twentieth Century Liberal Association, stated that she brought a message from the youth of Canada. She compared the underlying principles of Liberalism as opposed to Conservatism, declaring that the Liberal policy was to govern for the many. On the other hand, she said, Conservatism stood as the basic protection of special classes and to protect what is possessed by those who already have it. "Conservatism opposes as radical anything that savours of change," Mrs. Skaith stated.

N. P. Served Its Day.

The National policy of Sir John A. Macdonald was suitable in those days of his leadership, but had long ago served its purpose she maintained. The so-called protective policy must go, she stated, and the idea of keeping the toilers in a semi-state of serfdom was not good enough for the Twentieth Century. The forceful personality of Macdonald and the glamour of his achievements had kept his policy in practice long after its usefulness had passed.

Sir Wilfred Laurier, stated Mrs. Skaith, amid cheers, had come into office when Canada was weakened by this false doctrine, and by applying Liberal thought and principles, "legislating for the many and not for the few and organizing institutions democratic to the core" had built up a prosperous Canada. She reviewed briefly some of the achievements of Sir Wilfred Laurier.

The desire of women today, stated the speaker, was to think for herself and properly administer the right to take part in the government of the country. "Liberalism is the happiest medium and the surest arena for the realization of women's gifts," said Mrs. Skaith. "Liberalism holds individuality of thought and is opposed to the claim that the goods of the earth are but a favored few."

Mr. Duffus, in opening his address made a special reference to the wonderful contributions made to the cause of Liberalism in this district by the "grand old man" of the party, J. J. Hartley, prevented for the first time in thirty years from attending the gathering of last night; to the work of Mrs. W. M. Graham, now a patient in St. Joseph's Hospital, and to the splendid and effective organization work carried on by Mr. Hartley's successor, Dr. J. J. Craig.

Mr. Duffus stated emphatically that he had not accepted the Liberal nomination through any selfish reasons, but because of a willingness to serve and the belief that he might be of assistance to the country and the county. "Speaking seriously, I believe that this city and county are too important not to be represented on the Government side," he continued.

He gave notice that he was going to conduct a vigorous campaign, but a clean one. He referred briefly to his efforts on Peterborough's behalf in Ottawa during the past four years, and pledged himself to a furthering of those efforts.

Work in Interests of Citizens.

"I am not one who believes that promises are made to be broken," stated Mr. Duffus. "I do not prescribe to that doctrine. I do pledge myself, however, to exert every effort to the interests of every citizen regardless of class, calling denomination, nationality of political pursuasion; naturally, of course, giving some measure of preference to those who are loyally supporting our cause."

He paid high tribute to the qualities of leadership and the statesmanship of Premier King, stating, "undoubtedly he is one of the most able, safe, broadminded, sound administrators Canada has ever had." He said that he deemed it a great honor and privilege to tender the premier his whole-hearted support.

"There are thousands of reasons why the Liberal party should be returned to power," stated Mr. Duffus. "Agriculture has increased by 411 millions of dollars since Mr. King became prime minister. Agricultural exports have increased 280 million, manufacturing products have increased one billion and 287 million, notwithstanding the fact that it was repeated on every platform in Canada that industry would be ruined under Liberal rule."

In conclusion, Mr. Duffus stated that Mr. Bennett has enunciated no constructive policy and he took the

POLICE SEARCH FOR CRAZED MAN

Unidentified Person Writes Letter to New York Paper Promising More Killings.

TWO ALREADY DEAD.

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 18. (C.P.) If a letter to a New York newspaper written by an unidentified man who confesses two slayings within the last week is to be believed, some unidentified person is to meet a violent death at College Point, Queen's to-night.

The anonymous letter writer, believed a maniac by the police, threatened that thirteen more men and a woman would be killed if some unidentified papers were not returned.

The first slaying occurred a week ago when Joseph Mozynski was shot and killed in a parked car near Whitestone, Queens. A woman companion, Miss Catherine May, 19 years old, told the police he was killed by a hold-up man who acted in a crazy fashion.

Found Dead in Auto

Yesterday, Noel Sowley 26 years old, a radio salesman, was found dead in an automobile near Queen's village. In the lap of the slain man was a clipping from a newspaper describing the slaying of Mozynski, and over headline was written in pencil "Here's how."

Sowley, police learned, had been riding with a young woman at the time of the slaying. They quoted the woman, Miss Elizabeth Ring, daughter of a New York city policeman, as saying the man leaped on the runboard of the machine and fired. She said that after the shooting she ran a mile and then boarded a bus home.

The letter to the newspaper told of Sowley's death before the body had been found. It spoke of missing papers and said "thirteen more men and a women will go the same way if they do not return two of the missing papers."

Japanese Naval Party Frees Priests From Rebels

HANKOW, China, June 18 (C.P.)— Nationalist Government aviators today bombed an area near Tayeh and Twangshihkang, Southeastern Hupeh, killed scores of so-called Hwangsi Province "Reds" and forcing others to flee southward.

Six American Catholic priests arrived here from Tayeh to-day, describing the recent raids and telling of their escape from the Communists. During the looting they were captured and ordered taken to the mountains and held for ransom. A Japanese naval party, they said, happened to discover them and their captors and forced their release. The names of the priests were not immediately available.

VILLAGES INUNDATED.

PARIS, France, June 18 (C.P.). — Storms which have been raging for several days over widely scattered parts of France severed highway and railroad communications, wrecked homes and damaged crops again yesterday.

Lightning killed cattle and flood waters drowned smaller animals in the Burgundy and Auvergne regions and north of Paris. Troops were at work to-day at scores of points rescuing people from flooded homes and cutting ditches to drain inundated villages.

Crop damage is reported to be heavy.

CAMPAIGN OF DISOBEDIENCE IS LOSING FORCE

Relaxing of Efforts is Noted Amongst Many of the Nationalists.

LEADERS STILL STRONG.

Volunteers Avert Serious Clash When They Take Over Police Duties.

BOMBAY, India, June 18.—(CP)—A government statement, published today, reflected official optimism that the Nationalist Civil Disobedience campaign was losing force.

"There are signs in some parts of the country", it was said, "that although members of the All-India National Congress are in no way relaxing their efforts, misgivings have increased regarding their aims and methods among many who were at first inclined to view the civil disobedience movement with toleration if not with approval.

"Active opposition on the part of those who disapprove of it is steadily increasing with the belief that it is doomed to failure.

What seemed an inevitable violent outbreak yesterday in connection with repression of picketing of foreign cloth shops in the foreign or European area was averted when the police commissioner accepted suggestions of the leader of the Nationalist volunteers that he withdraw the police and allow the volunteers to control the crowd.

Immediately the volunteers took over the crowd and calmed it. They directed traffic and maintained order.

THREE KILLED DURING STORM

Church Struck By Lightning Takes Fire While Peasants Seek Shelter.

SEVERAL INJURED.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, June 18. (A.P.)—A dispatch from Schoarsch near Fagarasch, Transylvania, to-day said that three persons were killed and six fatally injured when lightning struck the tolling church bells of a church sheltering a crowd in a terrific storm there.

Three peasants, frightened by the storm, climbed the church belfry and swung the bells with their hands in signal to the remainder of the crowd to kneel and pray. Just as they knelt lightning struck the belfry and the three were killed.

The church caught fire and six later died of burns received, a larger number of others were burned badly, the peasants remaining rooted to the spot.

Indian is Blamed For Death of Man

CORNWALL, Ont., June 18. —(C.P.)—Responsibility for the death of Ernest Gatien, 24, East Cornwall man, on June 10 was placed by a coroner's jury here yesterday upon Louis Jocko, 18-year-old son of Abraham Jocko, a former chief of the Iroquois tribe on Cornwall Island, Indian reservation.

SON IS GIVEN PARENT'S BODY

W. J. Hunter of Kingston Will Be Permitted to Bury His Father.

DISPUTE OVER FAITH.

TORONTO, Ont., June 17 (C.P.)—W. J. Hunter of Kingston, as son and executor for his father, Robert Hunter, was conceded the right to have the body of his father for burial, in a judgment handed down by Mr. Justice McEvoy at Osgoode Hall.

The judgment sustained an interim injunction granted by a judge at Kingston restraining the widow and other members of the family from interfering with or preventing plaintiff from carrying out the burial of the body.

The dispute arose over the fact that the remainder of the family adhered to the Roman Catholic faith, while W. J. Hunter was an Anglican. It was claimed by the defendants that Robert Hunter had embraced the Roman Catholic faith shortly before his death. His Lordship points out that the evidence as to the condition of the deceased after the commencement of his fatal illness was painfully contradictory.

The judgment read, in part, "I am of the opinion that the executor has a right to have the body for the purpose of burial and that the injuction granted should be continued upon the same conditions as imposed by the local judge until the trial of this action."

COUNCIL DIVIDED INTO TWO CAMPS ON ASSESSMENT

Rural Group Thoroughly Satisfied in United Counties With New Assessment.

MANEUVER FOR TIME.

Debate on Report of Committee is Adjourned Until Thursday.

(By Staff Reporter)

COBOURG, June 18. —Two sessions of the Equalization of Assessment committee of the counties council Tuesday tended to solidify two diametrically opposite attitudes towards the new valuation of the taxable property of Northumberland and Durham as appraised by the commission of which Col T. J. Johnston of Peterborough has been chairman.

And these conflicting convictions divided the committee into two camps, the one urban, that is comprising representatives of the towns and villages; the other rural, composed of representatives of the townships.

The rural group was thoroughly satisfied with the valuation and its effects and was manifestly content to adopt it at once; the urban group, while admitting that the valuators, Col. Johnston, George Thompson of Cobourg and R. J. Rowe of Clarke township, had performed their duties properly and efficiently, was manoeuvring for time and inspiration and some evasion of the full effects of the valuation.

The day ended with an adjournment, a suspension of action until the representatives of the towns and villages had an opportunity to bear home to their councils and other citizens the bitter news of a prospective increase in their equalized assessments, to meet which they will have to raise their local tax rates, unless some further relief develops.

A Goodwill Gesture

The farmer members acceded to this respite with something of the excessive goodwill of the cat that lets its captive mouse live and hope for escape, permitting even a few steps of freedom before being dragged back.

Part of the afternoon session was enlivened by a concert in front of the counties building by the band of the 121st U. S. cavalry of Rochester which had accompanied an excursion. One of their smart numbers was the Raybestos theme song "Look for the Silver Lining" and how that band could syncopate, otherwise chop up the rythhm or swing into jazz. That silver lining philosophy caressed the nerves of the harassed urban reeves or deputies with provocative encouragement, and Deputy-reeve Nelson Stone of Campbellford and Reeve Frank Rickard of Newcastle stalled and argued with a new lease of energy.

And finally when Mr. Stone begged for a chance to break the news at home before the committee reached a decision, C. H. Curtis of Warkworth, George Hooton of Cavan and others agreed that this was only a fair request, and put off the day of reckoning.

Tribute to Valuators.

One outstanding fact of Tuesday's meetings was a general acknowledgment that the valuators had done their work well. Deputy-reeve Stone expressed the opinion that they should have included in their report a definite equalization of assessment, but Mr. Rowe pointed out that this was beyond their power as set out in the statute that authorized their appointment. Their scope ended with the appraisal of the actual value of the taxable property in the two counties.

Reeve (Dr.) Wilson of Hastings and Mr. Rickard objected that the valuators had not distinguished between farm lands in towns and villages and other properties that were distinctly urban. This point was discussed a considerable length, but Mr. Rowe pointed out that the Ontario Legislature had made the law, that petitions for its revision had been presented from time to time without redress, and finally that the committee was simply wasting its time on this topic.

The Valuators Method.

The method of evaluating the property in one of the municipalities may be illustrated by its result in South Monaghan.

Col. Johnston ascertained the local assessment, then took six per cent of that sum; next they selected properties totalling that per centage of the assessment and finally went out and actually valued these properties. This amount represented six per cent. of the total valuation of

TARIFF LAW IS NOW EFFECTIVE

U. S. Treasury Predicts Law Will Be Operating Smoothly Within Ninety Days.

1,122 NEW RATES.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—(C.P.)—The Hawley-Smoot tariff law became effective today and imposed upon the Customs Service the task of putting its 1122 new rate schedules into operation overnight.

Technically, the new statute became law at midnight last night, but its provisions could not be made applicable until the opening at eight o'clock this morning of customs offices at the various ports of entry.

Actually, the new rates were operative against all cargoes for which declarations had not been fyled at the close of business yesterday.

Regardless of whether the ships carrying them had reached port sooner.

Sixteen customs experts from all sections of the country were called here by the treasury department to study the act and formulate regulations for its enforcement. Ordinarily this process has taken from a year to eighteen months.

The treasury, however, anticipated little difficulty and predicted the tariff law of 1930 would be operating smoothly under completed regulations within ninety days.

EDMONTON, June 18.—(C.P.) Answering urgent appeals from prospective Peace River district settlers, stranded at Smith, on the northern rim of Alberta, as a result of torrential rains which have swept away highways and railway lines, a monoplane was speeding northward to-day with supplies of bread and meat.

"There are 120 people stranded, mainly motorists, who have been making their way north. Women and children are suffering, as supplies are short," came the first message telling of the plight of the migrants at Smith.

COUNCIL PLANS REDUCTION OF HIGHWAY DEBT

Finance Committee to Recommend Issuance of $100,000 Debentures.

NOT OVERTAKING DEBT.

Heated Arguments Follow as Three Motions Are Fully Discussed.

(By a Staff Reporter)

COBOURG, June 18.—The Finance committee of the counties council with Reeve G. S. Van Volkenburg of Seymour township presiding decided Monday night to recommend the issue of $100,000 debentures as a means of immediate reduction of the counties' debt to the Province for the construction of provincial highways.

The total indebtedness in this account was $204,000 to the middle of May.

Several years ago the council arranged with the Department of Highways to liquidate this debt by the payment of an annual sum of $60,000 for five years. It was then expected that the bill would be wipped out at the end of that period, but the plan has not accomplished its purpose. The counties are required to pay twenty per cent. of the cost of provincial highways within their boundaries two of these highways are the lake shore road and the Peterborough-Port Hope road.

Warden Nelson said that the Campbellford-Brighton road would be assumed by the province within a month or two weeks.

"The order in council has not yet been passed" he added, "but I am informed that it has been decided. The road will not be paved for three years, but we will have our share of the maintenance during that time. At present we are paying 50 per cent. of it."

Not Overtaking Debt

Reeve Van Volkenburg said that out of the yearly sum of $60,000 the interest on the highway debt was a first charge, and the remainder was not equal to the annual increase in the account. The Department had advised the sale of ten year debentures to the amount of $100,000 as a means of cutting down the present liability.

Reeve Rickard, Newcastle: "The only way we can keep our heads above water is to get the government to take over the whole cost of provincial highways."

Reeve Finkle, Colborne: "Or increase our annual payment to $60,000."

Warden Nelson: "The council made a mistake at the start in trying to keep down the rate instead of keeping up with the levy for provincial highways.

Three Motions

Reeve (Dr.) Wilson, Hastings moved that $100,000 debentures be issued, and that the annual payment of $60,000 a year with interest be maintained.

Deputy reeve C. McNeill, Manvers, seconded it.

Deputy-reeve C. H. Curtis (Percy) moved an amendment, seconded by Reeve W. C. Wood (South Monaghan) that the whole debt be retired by debentures.

The account now stands at $204,000. Of this amount $60,000 will be paid this year, leaving a balance of approximately $144,000, contemplated by the Curtis amendment.

R. Waddell (100)	4,800	6,000
H. Dawson (150)	6,100	7,000
	$40,400	$56,200

From the total $56,200 or six per cent of the value of the taxable property, the commission found that the total value of the township to be $924,000, exclusive of business and income.

The equalized assessment has been $766,150. This is less than the revaluation figure, but the township's advantage will be a lower tax rate.

Millbrook Properties

The itemized report for Millbrook follows:—

	Assess.	Value.
John E. Allan	$ 900	$ 1,400
Mrs. W. Archer	1,300	2,200
H. G. Skitch	400	600
F. Pendrie	1,100	1,700
L. M. Burton	625	1,000
J. Steele	650	1,100
A. Mitchell	800	1,200
J. McKnight	800	1,300
T. Bradburn	1,700	2,700
A. Brown	1,000	1,400
Miss J. Brock	500	600
Reeve Stinson	2,000	3,000
C. W. Richards	375	650
B. L. Richards	750	1,200
R. Love	700	1,400
J. R. Akins	1,900	2,300
T. Harkness	1,000	2,000
	$16,500	$25,950

Instead of the figure $25,950 as representing six per cent of Millbrook's property value, the valuators adopted the sum $22,200 and from this arrived at the total valuation of $370,000, not including business and income.

Millbrook's equalized assessment has been $198,510.

Challenge to Towns

Deputy-Reeve B. S. Dickenson of Hope virtually challenged the towns to appeal to the county judge.

"Go to the judge," he said, "and you'll find you haven't a leg to stand on."

C. H. Curtis—It doesn't look as if they have. I haven't heard one sound argument yet against the valuation.

Col. Johnston—We give you a 100 per cent. valuation. It is up to you to decide whether you will adopt it or any percentage of it.

J. N. Stone—You are raising our equalized assessment too high if you place it at this valuation. Our local assessment without business and income is $1,264,575, and you raise it to $1,858,300, and our equalized was $798,780. That means an increase of $1,059,520 in our equalized. That would put our taxes up about $4,000. I don't believe the people of Campbellford will stand by that, and I am certainly not in a position to have this rushed through.

Deputy-Reeve Sinnott, Port Hope, said he wouldn't go back to his town and be a "goat" for anybody.

It is understood that the proposed new assessment would entail an increased tax rate of three or four mills, which could not be provided for this year, because the 1930 rate has been struck.

Mr. Dickenson moved the adoption of the report, seconded by Deputy-Reeve W. Davey (Hamilton).

An amendment to adjourn until Thursday by C. H. Curtis, seconded by F. K. Denyes (Brighton) was adopted, and the motion defeated.

Asked for an Increase.

J. A. Vance, Millbrook, secretary of the Old Age Pensions Board, for the united counties, interviewed the Finance Committee Monday night, and asked for a specified salary of $350.

"Since the first of the year, our Board has granted 208 applications and rejected 18," Mr. Vance said. "In those we have passed on this year there was more work entailed than in all we granted in 1929."

Mr. Vance reported that the commission in Toronto had told him he was entitled to a salary of $300 a year, and had complimented him on the very satisfactory manner in which his reports were prepared and submitted.

The remuneration provided for him at the January session was twenty-five cents for each application he handled.

"I have now five estates I must collect from," Mr. Vance continued. "If the counties want to be protected it is up to me. The government collects from estates of beneficiaries of Old Age Pensions. It has a first claim on such estates whatever they may be worth. Then, the counties receive twenty per cent. of any sums collected thereby, in the same way as they have to pay 20 per cent. of the cost of pensions.

We took three cases to court and they had to pay the costs. We have had only three cases before the commission that have been revised. The Dominion auditors say we didn't pay as much as we should have paid, and they demand reconsideration of these cases.

We won the Porter case, and now they are appealing to Hon. Mr. Price and Dr. Jamieson; but I don't think they'll get a hearing from Mr. Price."

The local board has approved slightly in excess of 600 applications for pensions.

Mr. Vance's request was deferred to the next meeting.

The committee passed the usual annual grant of $25 to the Salvation Army.

A Nurses Account

An account from Genevieve Shaughnessy, Peterborough nurse, for $48 for attending Thomas Stephenson of Dartford was tabled, with no action.

Several members remarked that Miss Shaughnessy would have to prove that the Counties were liable for the bill.

COMMONS APPROVES OF FINANCE BILL

Bitter Exchanges Between Snowden and Churchill Frequent During 22 Hour Session.

LONDON, June 18 (C.P.). — The House of Commons shortly after noon to-day passed the Chancellor's finance bill by a vote, 222 to 90, and adjourned after a session that had lasted for more than 22 hours.

The House battled all night long, sometimes bitterly, over the bill.

Exchanges between Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, former Conservative Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, a clause of whose present bill was in the balance, were frequent.

It was a dogged contest, the present Chancellor yielding no ground to his adversaries.

LIBERALS IN EAST TO MEET ON JUNE 26

Peterborough-Hastings Convention is Scheduled to be Held in Marmora.

MARMORA, June 18 (Examiner Correspondence).—A Liberal convention for the purpose of selecting a candidate for the Dominion election in the Peterborough-Hastings riding will be held in Marmora on Thursday, June 26, at 2 p.m. standard time. W. Fraser, Liberal standard bearer in Northumberland; the Hon. Nelson Parliament, and Miss F. Pritchard will be the principal speakers.

A Conservative convention for the selection of a candidate for the same riding is scheduled for the afternoon of the previous day, June 25. Speakers for this convention have not been announced.

Science has invented thousands of labor-saving devices to aid the modern generation, but the development of a "labor-saving" wall is comparatively recent. No one regrets the passing of the old-fashioned wall paper that had to be replaced every year or two at so much inconvenience and expense, for in its place we have the lovely modern textured walls that form such a beautiful and restful background for our homes. ¶ To satisfactorily meet the increasing demand for textured walls, architects have perfected Duralith, a new plastic paint that can be applied with a brush or trowel and surfaced any way you desire. It is permanent, and economical and can be applied to be washable. Come in and talk it over with us before you rebuild or redecorate. ¶Ask us or send a postcard to Duralith (Canada) Limited, Montreal, for particulars on how to get a free individual color scheme worked out for your home by Cora Wilson, well-known interior decorator.

proposed increasing the payments to $80,000 a year. Deputy-reeve F. K. Denyes (Brighton) seconded this amendment.

Dr. Wilson's motion carried.

In the discussion of road costs and debentures, Reeve P. Stinson (Millbrook) remarked—"If it wasn't for the education Amos and Andy gave us in high finance we mightn't know how to handle these sums."

Reeve T. A. Davidson (Hamilton) suggested that the way to catch up on the road debt was to halt paving for a year.

Auditors' Report.

The following are excerpts from the report of the counties' auditors, Oscar Hudson & Co., Toronto:

The year 1929 commenced with a cash deficit from 1928 of $174,245.56. The cash decit at the end of 1929 amounted to $315,822.82.

The sale of debentures to cover the cost of pavements in Bowmanville, Campbellford, Hastings and Millbrook realized the net sum of $126,679.02, including accrued interest to date of sale, less the sum of $2,414.10, the discount incurred owing to the sale price being below the par value.

A further issue of debentures was authorized for the sum of $255,000 to defray the cost of construction of vements in Cobourg, Bowmanville, Port Hope, Brighton, Colborne, Newcastle and at Millbrook, Orono and Warkworth.

The indebtedness to the Bank of Toronto December 31, 1929, on loan account amounted to $670,000 as compared with $390,000 owing to the bank on December 31, 1928.

Due From Province.

The total amount due from the province to the counties in respect of road expenditures for the year 1929 was $320,352.75. The indebtedness to the province for the counties' share of provincial highway construction amounted to $161,309.83 at December 31, 1929. Payment during the year 1929 of the sum of $60,232.43 was duly made, in accordance with the arrangement made with the provincial authorities to pay instalments over a period of five years.

At the end of 1929, counties road accounts unpaid amounted to $18,-174.49. This expenditure should have been included in the 1929 accounts, and in determining your budget for 1930 this sum will have to be taken into account. The practice of carrying over large amounts to a later year is one that cannot be commended. It would have been more satisfactory to have passed a supplementary appropriation for this amount. The most objectionable feature in this matter is that had the amount been passed through 1929 accounts, 50 p.c. would have been reimbursed by the province in the spring of 1930. The procedure adopted entails a loss to the counties of the interest on $9,087 for approximately one year.

Total of Taxes.

The revenue account shows that the minor municipalities paid in taxes to the counties $353,287.92 as against $323,481.66 in 1928. Public and Separate school grants amounted to 74,127.99 as against $71,564.41 in the previous year.

The auditors remark — "We are pleased to report that we found the records and vouchers in very good order. We found the bookkeeping of the Roads Department in the usual satisfactory condition."

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, June 18.— The trade in all lines of cash grain was quiet yesterday and values were about steady. Prices were again steady on the dairy and produce markets and values were unchanged.

Butter was quoted unchanged at 26¼c to 27c per lb. for Eastern Townships No. 1 pasteurized creamery butter in wholesale channels; while to the retail trade solids were 30c and prints were 31c per lb. Receipts were 111 boxes.

On the cheese market dealers reported their asking prices unchanged at 16½c for Westerns and 16c for Easterns. Receipts were 7,280 boxes.

Eggs in carlots were ...d at 32c for extras, 28½c for firsts, and 25½c seconds, delivered, Montreal; in new cases. These were Western eggs. Receipts were 3,926 cases.

There was a total absence of No. 1 new potatoes on the local market, but No. 2 new were offered at $5 per 160-lb. barrel.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, June 18.—The worm turned on the Winnipeg wheat market yesterday, at the close, the rule was "dollar-wheat" after a four-day bullying by the bears, sending values down 11c. To-day, values made a vigorous right-out-turn and marked up gains of almost 4c in defiance of the recent "short" attitude.

Better exports overnight, halted rains in the West and even reports of crop damage caused the reverse in the market after days of depression. When the turn came, it came with a vengeance, and observers termed it the year's biggest market. Overnight exports were placed at 2,-000,000 bushels or more.

Coarse grains moved up in sympathy with wheat, but cash business was not extensive.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, June 18.—The receipts at the Union Stock Yards yesterday were 706 cattle, 384 calves, 606 hogs, 298 sheep and lambs.

There were 1,400 cattle left over from Monday and these with the moderate fresh supplies made a fairly heavy offering for Tuesday. Trade continued draggy with a weak undertone and very few sales were made up to noon. Prospects are that prices on the bulk of killers will be settled somewhat lower than Monday's 50 cents decline. A few small lots of fair to good butcher steers moved in the early trading at 8½ to 9¼ cents a pound, and a very few fair to good cows from 6½ to 7¼ cents. Best springers sold at $80 to $100 each and good stockers at 7½ to 8 cents a pound.

Calves were a very light offering but were selling steady with Monday's decline at 9 to 9½ cents a pound for choice veals, and up to 10 cents for a few fancy calves. Grass calves were worth 5 to 6½ cents a pound.

Lamb Higher.

Sheep and lamb were a light offering and salesmen were asking 14 cents a pound for spring lambs or one cent a pound higher than Monday's price for the bulk of sales. There was very little doing up to 11 o'clock. Sheep were a slow sale at an extreme range of 2 to 5¼ cents a pound.

Hogs were selling at 11¼ cents f.o.b. and 12¾ cents w.o.c. for bacons. Dealing was weak and bids for yesterday's sales were ¼ cent lower.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 18, 1930

THE CHAUTAUQUA.

It will be welcome news to many Peterborough people that this city is to have a Chautauqua week as usual this summer, and that the first week in July, a period when few people have left for their summer homes, has been chosen for the local appearance of this splendid institution.

A glance through the program suggests that Chautauqua on this occasion is offering a particularly attractive and varied array of features that will range from the educational to the purely entertaining.

As usual, a popular Broadway play is included in the program, and there will be speeches by well-known orators, musical numbers by accomplished artists, and, in short, five afternoons and evenings of sheer enjoyment that will help to some extent in furnishing an antidote to the political excitement that will be reigning about that time.

The Chautauqua brings entertainment at a season when there is a dearth of attractions and at a price that is within general reach, and there is every reason to expect that it will continue to draw sufficient patronage to make it an annual event.

THE CHILDREN'S CAMP.

It would be well for parents of children whose health is sub-normal to note that the summer camp for such children will shortly open at Jackson Park under the direction of the Health Association, and that this year a new system is being followed.

In order to assist in the work the Kiwanis Club, with the co-operation of the Medical Association, has arranged to hold a free clinic at the Canadian Legion Hall on Monday and Friday of each week until the camp opens for the purpose of having children who desire to attend camp properly examined.

It is announced that all mothers who hope to send their children to the Jackson Park camp this summer must present them at this clinic for examination.

There will, of course, be absolutely no charges of any kind, and it is manifestly to the benefit of the children that they should be scientifically inspected by competent physicians so that the camp may be utilized to the fullest advantage in building up the health of the little folks.

The first clinic will be held at the Canadian Legion Hall at 4 o'clock on Friday afternoon, and parents should endeavor to have their children present if at all possible.

TO-NIGHT'S STREET FAIR.

The Rotary Street Fair to-night offers the people of Peterborough an opportunity of a gala evening's fun and at the same time to help an organization whose record shows it to be thoroughly deserving of community support and assistance.

The market square where the Street Fair will be held should be crowded to capacity to-night for this unusual event, the first outdoor fair of this nature that has been held here.

There will be much to entertain and amuse, and as an added feature of great interest, the mileage compiled by the Pontiac car in its 115-hour run will be announced.

Until the contest comes to an end to-night there will still be a chance to win this fine automobile, and it is expected that last-minute estimators will swell the total, making the financial returns from this feature of the Street Fair a considerable factor in the success of the whole enterprise.

Rotary deserves well of the citizens of Peterborough; its members have given freely of their time and means to help many worth-while objects, and the club's record of achievement has earned it the assistance of the whole community.

That assistance should be readily forthcoming to-night.

THE PREMIER'S POSITION.

With the two important speeches of Premier Mackenzie King here last night and at Brantford on Monday, following upon Hon. R. B. Bennett's addresses of last week, the campaign in so far as the policies of the two historic old parties are concerntd has taken on a more definite form.

The leaders have outlined their positions and the batteries of lesser orators can now be turned loose with a more or less definite plan of battle.

Mr. King's appeal to the country is made upon a three-fold basis—the record of tht Government, the Dunning budget and the representation of Canada at the Imperial Conference and at the Imperial Economic Conference.

He claims the right to be returned to power upon the achievements of his administration during their term of office; upon the budget proposals, which he declares are a carefully-considered answer to the present economic situation, and upon the theory that Canada would be better represented at the two conferences by Liberal statesmen than by an delegates Mr. Bennett could select for the task.

Particular emphasis is placed upon the British preference feature of the budget as opening the door to an era of Empire commerce, and it is probable that as the campaign develops this issue will be found to be the one most generally debated and discussed.

At all events the leaders have laid down their policies and the issue has been fairly joined.

THE NEWSPRINT INDUSTRY.

A study of the present state of the newsprint industry brings to light some encouraging features, that is, encouraging as viewed in relation to world industry as a whole, says the monthly statement of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. The market for Canadian newsprint lies almost entirely in other countries, chiefly the United States, and an analysis of our exports and of American imports and consumption gives a good idea of the situation. The volume of exports for the first four months of 1930 was only 4 per cent. less than in the like period of 1929, practically all of the decline being accounted for by smaller shipments to the United States, for while those to the United Kingdom were appreciably less, they were almost entirely offset by larger sales to other overseas countries, notably Argentina. Notwithstanding a decline in advertising in the leading American centres, as well as in the circulation and in the number of pages in Sunday editions, the total newsprint requirements of the United States seem to be very slightly, probably only 1 per cent., below those of a year ago. The difference between this decline in American requirements and that in Canadian exports to the United States appears to be represented mainly by increased imports of newsprint from Scandinavia and Finland and by an increase in domestic production, partly the result of larger imports of pulpwood, some of which came from Russia. However, such a diversion as this has had little effect on the operations of Canadian producers. The present price of newsprint cannot, of course, be regarded as satisfactory, but it has not been drawn into the trough of the recent general price depression, and there is the prospect of some improvement next year as the result of discussions between leading interests, producers and buyers, on both sides of the border. The Newsprint Service Bureau reports that last year the industry was operating at over 80 per cent. of rated capacity, as compared with 75 per cent. at this time, but the decline is due to the opening of new mills rather than to a falling off in business; the latter rate, too, is the same as that aimed at when the rationalization plan was adopted in 1929, and it would be reasonably satisfactory if it could be maintained the year round. The position of the industry has, of course, been strengthened somewhat by the mergers which have taken place with a view to reducing costs. While, therefore, there is still room for improvement, the conclusion to be drawn from these facts is that to-day the newsprint industry occupies a fevored place in world business and that fundamentally it is strong.

GETTING THE TRUTH.

Here we have another case where the first story is quite different to the second. The day news came of the smashing of the tanker Pinthis by the steamer Fairfax stories carried on the wire spoke of the bravery of the crew, of there being no panic, of the quick manner in which passengers were transferred. It was made to look like a case where the finest traditions of the sea had been observed to the extreme limit.

To-day it appears different. The captain of the Fairfax has admitted that he was running almost at top speed during the fog; he refused assistance that was offered by the coast guard Tampa, a well-equipped vessel that was only 20 minutes away; no S O S call was sent out by the Fairfax.

If only one-half of the things now openly charged are correct, then there was deliberate disregard for all the actions which a sane sea captain should have done. It is even stated that when the coast stations radioed to the Fairfax asking what could be done to help, the curt message sent back was: "Go to hell and leave us alone."

* * * *

The accident took place quite early in the evening, and by midnight there was a very anxious crowd at the dock where it was expected the Fairfax would return. Then it was that the officials of the company sent a message to the Fairfax telling of the anxiety of the people, and asking for information regarding the number of injured or dead, and for news about the tanker which had been rammed.

At 2.25 in the morning an answer was received from Captain Brooks stating that all the passengers were safe and that the ship was proceeding to Boston.

It is common knowledge what had taken place long before the captain sent that message. The Fairfax had rammed the Pinthis; the Pinthis had gone down like a stone, taking every man on board, trapped like rats in a trap. Passengers on the Fairfax had been burned to death in their staterooms; others had plunged overboard to meet the fire there and certain death from drowning. The captain knew all these things, and yet he sent a message that all was well and the ship was on its way to the dock.

Those who lived through the tragic events on the bay a short distance from Boston say that negro members of the Fairfax crew forcibly took life belts away from women, and that they fought with each other for a chance to escape.

* * * *

We mention many of these things which are now being said because they are so completely at variance with the first reports which appeared. It is entirely out of the question that all the stories, early ones and later, can be correct.

The charges about excessive speed, about no S O S being sent out, about the refusal of help and about the captain assuring the offices of his company that all was well—these things are well substantiated, because records of what took place are known to those who desired to participate in rescue efforts.

With that much known, it is not too much to expect that the other stories of members of the crew fighting to take the life belts from passengers are also correct.

It seems as though there had been an epidemic of deliberate falsification in the first place to throw up a smoke screen against the ugly things which it was known would come to the surface later on when surviving eye-witnesses had a chance to tell exactly what had taken place.

There is evidently some dirty linen to be washed in the court that is entrusted with taking evidence and arriving at conclusions in the case of the steamer Fairfax, its captain and its crew.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The campaign in Peterborough West may now be accurately described as having started.

A joker has already been found in the new United States tariff bill. They are generally located when it is too late to do anything about it.

Premier King had no reason to complain of his welcome in Peterborough. He was heard by an audience representative of this whole district.

While the Prime Minister was explaining his policies at the local Armouries last night, Hon. Dr. Manion was attacking those policies in a speech broadcast throughout the country. The radio has added a new zest to political campaigns.

Hon. Robert Rogers is to be a Conservative candidate in South Winnipeg. All the old warriors have not hung up their swords.

What To-day Means To You.

"Gemini"

If June 18th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m., from 2 p.m. to 3:15 p.m., and from 10 p.m. to 11 p.m. The danger periods are from 8 a.m. to 9 a.m., and from 6 p.m. to 7:15 p.m.

A negative time is augured for this date, and an inclination to let to-day be the effect of yesterday, instead of making it the cause of to-morrow. Guard against treachery and rivalry in love! A possible error in business judgment.

The children born on this June 18th will have sprightly spirits, an abundance of nervous energy, and alert minds. They will be erratic students, enthusiastic one day, and indifferent the next, although they could easily retain a place on the honor roll.

Armed with a sense of humour, a goodly amount of common sense, and an invincible determination, you are prepared by nature for both the ups and downs of life. You are too philosophical to become bitter over failures and disappointments, and your ability to see the funny side of things "bucks" you up when tears are nigh. You are fortunate in being able to see the best side of everything and everybody. You are saved from a great deal because you do not hanker after the wrong things—your values are good. People find that they like to be with you, and you never seem to lack friends, both men and women.

The one word which probably describes you the best is—clean. It may be applied to acts, words, thoughts and conscience in your case. It is not in you to be tricky, mean or small, and you loathe underhandedness or the underhanded. Being full of faith, you accomplish and achieve by persistent determination. You are, of course, optimistic. It is far better to wear yourself out polishing the stars of hope than to build reservoirs for tears.

Your artistic tendencies are well developed, and you have catholic tastes. You are a very neat and finished worker. (Copyright, 1930, The Bell Syn., Inc.)

Mrs. William Conger, is in Whitby, with her daughter, where she was called on account of the serious condition of a grandchild, who had been severely injured through a fall.

A successful concert was held Friday evening in the Town Hall, under the auspices of the Anglican church. The program was given by local talent.

Dr. William Spankie, the Liberal-Conservative nominee for the riding of Addington, is to hold a meeting here next Wednesday evening.

Mr. Joseph Demore, has had a new gas pump installed.

Mr. James Vogan, has a gang of men at work in the erection of the new public school at Northbrook.

Mr. Solomon Spicer, who has been in the Belleville General hospital for the past two weeks, has returned home and is able to be about again.

FLINTON, June 18.—Mrs. Wellington Cassada, who was severely injured in an automobile accident two miles west of Port Hope, in which she sustained a fractured knee cap, several face wounds and a bad shaking up, two weeks ago is still in the Kingston General hospital, but is improving and expects to be able to come home in about a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Cassada had motored to Toronto, having been joined by their son at Oshawa, who drove the car into the city. The following day accompanied by their grandchild, Mr. and Mrs. Cassada were returning, for several miles before reaching Port Hope, they were following another car, driven by a traveller from Toronto. The car ahead stopped suddenly and Mr. Cassada's car crashed into it from the rear, throwing Mrs. Cassada forward so forcibly that it fractured one knee cap, cut her face badly on the windshield and gave her a bad shaking up. She was taken into Port Hope, where she was given first aid by the physicians in the hospital there and where she remained until the following day when she was taken to Kingston General hospital. A week later when conditions made it possible, several splinters of bone were taken from the knee and it was placed in a caste. Mrs. Cassada suffered extremely at first but is resting easier now and making as good progress as could be expected. Her physicians fear the limb may be stiff.

CHAPTER XXXVIII.

"Why darling girl," Mrs. O'Hara said tenderly, "have they all been harr'd on you? Has Mart been har'rd on you? You'd only have to tell me that you'd done nothing wrong, and however foolish you might have been, I'd never hold it against you! It was only when I thought his money had bewildered you a little, dear—"

"But, Mother, I'm no fool!" the girl said emphatically, gulping, and drying her eyes on her soaked little handkerchief. "I'm not one of those poor little ignorant girls that they send out to Saint Catherine's! I knew what I was doing, and I thought it would be—just fun, and that Mart could go to Germany with Doctor van Antwerp, even if I got married. I wasn't—led astray," Mary Kate assured her brother fiercely. "I've been working in a downtown office two years. I finished high school. I know about life!"

"It seems to me that this whole thing has arisen from the fact that Mr. O'Hara here put the worst possible construction upon what his sister did," Chris said, coolly.

Martin shot him a contemptuous look, but before her son could speak, Mrs. O'Hara answered him.

"It was very easy to put that same construction upon what she did, sir," she reminded him, with simple dignity. "Mart only thought what the world would think, and we have to remember the world—we live in the world. Mary Kate did very wrong—but who'd know the true good heart of her," her mother said tenderly, with a downward glance at the bright head on her breast, "If her own mother did not? She's never refused one of us any kindness she could ever do us, be it what it might! She'd see only the money her brother needed, when she'd step into trouble like this, and put her hand in the fire for any one of us, if it was only little Pat himself that ast her to!"

Mary Kate at this cried more bitterly than ever, and increased her hold upon her mother almost to the strangling point.

Mrs. O'Hara's fine, simple, tired face was deeply worried; her faded gray eyes were filled with anxiety still. But, as she had gotten their tangled affairs in hand a thousand times before, in the last hard years, so she was beginning to catch, at the threads of tonight's fresh predicament. Indeed, there was to her a certain exhilaration, a certain actual stimulation in this evidence that "the creatures" so palpably needed their mother's guidance still. They were not so big, so tall, so smart, so free but what they could get themselves into trouble, God love them, and turn to her, and to nobody else, in the last pinch, to get them out.

Here was the dapper and modern and successful Cass Keating devotedly championing Mary Kate, and here was haggard, wounded, angry, passionate Mart ready to kill anyone and everybody who dared impugn the honor of the O'Hara's, and here was her slender, tall, brilliant miracle of a girl, crying her loving, impulsive, misguided little heart out, in her mother's arms. And with all these she knew how to deal.

There was only one troublesome foreign element in the kitchen tonight, and Mrs. O'Hara proposed to get rid of it as rapidly as she could. This well-dressed, self-possessed young man, Mr. Steynes, who had all that assurance and confidence that is the heritage of the rich man's son, was throwing the whole situation out of key.

"Maybe," Mrs. O'Hara began, as a first step toward dismissing him, "maybe we've been making much ado about nothing, Mart. Anyway, all's well that ends well."

Unaware of the classic source of her simple phrases, she managed to give them a force of her own. Mart was still scowling.

"It isn't 'nothing' that Mary Kate had to be questioned by the police!"

"That could have happened to any witness—you fool!"

Chris did not say the last words aloud, but they were there, none the less.

Mary Kate, now secure in her one sure fortress, looked resentfully over her shoulder at her brother with tear-wet eyes.

"I wouldn't care if I was in jail!" she exclaimed, "as long as I hadn't done anything wrong."

She buried her head against her mother's neck again, sure of the maternal approval, which was indeed bestowed by a pat.

"I only want to say," Christopher began, with an air of closing the discussion, "that, since Mr. O'Hara here wants to go to Germany with Doctor van Antwerp, it would give me tremendous pleasure to feel that I had—I had, indirectly, helped him to do it."

"It's a pleasure you never will have!" Martin assured him, rudely.

"I don't know that I could spare him, with Mary Kate marri'd," Mrs. O'Hara said mildly. "But if other matters could be adjusted, indeed I'd see no reason that Mart shouldn't have his chance. Mary Kate did nothing wrong, and it would be a pity that all her lovin' effort to her brother should be thrown away."

This statement, somewhat hesitatingly made, as the speaker felt her way, and sought out her words, produced a profound impression upon them all. Chris was the first to speak, and there was genuine feeling, there was even a trace of huskiness in his voice.

"I'm glad you feel that way, Mrs. O'Hara," he said, simply.

Perhaps Martin, who was but twenty-two, after all, and whose own hopes and dreams were close to his heart, had had, while they spoke, times for a swift vision of a great ship, a foreign city, the piers and the gray stone buildings of Hamburg, the thought of himself, in close attendance upon the famous old surgeon who was his friend, the mirage of strange surgeries, a strange language, a young Irish-American listening, looking, learning all the thousand things that O'Farrell Street never could give Martin O'Hara.

At all events, his expression, his tone, had changed, when he said, with a little difficult, boyish dignity.

"To borrow money from—anyone that would lend it, would be one thing. But I'd never want her to feel that she took the chance she took to help me!"

"If we believe that everything was all right, then we have to act as if everything was all right, Mart," his mother observed, with that quiet and dispassionate glance from her faded gray eyes that was more forceful than the snap of a whip, to her children.

"I don't think he should have done it," Mart muttered, stubbornly.

"I know that!" Chris himself answered sharply. "You don't think I'm proud of myself, do you?"

Mary Kate's tears had by this time dried, and she was now twisted about in her mother's lap, listening. Her cheeks were still flushed, and the silky mop of her copper-wire hair enchantingly disordered; her blue eyes were dark and shining, under their wet lashes. Except for these long lashes, stuck into little points by tears, all the traces of the late storm had vanished. As quickly as a baby she had recovered; the straight little nose Christopher had thought one of the prettiest things about her, when she had worn the ivory satin gown last week, was white again, the usual soft bloom was outlined, in the lamplight, like a pollen, on the shapely, finely cut temples and cheek-bones.

"Ma, I'd—I'd take care of you, if Mart and Mary Kate were gone!" Tom offered now, hoarsely and awkwardly. "I'd get a job, maybe down at Mills Field—"

They all laughed, and he subsided into silence again, his cheeks blazing. That is, they all laughed except Mrs. O'Hara, who gave this dearest problem of them all a glance that said that his mother perfectly appreciated the value of his suggestion, and would trust herself to his protection with perfect confidence.

"Will you keep that check until mother and brother have had time to think it over, Mary?" Chris asked them, humbly.

For answer the girl looked at her mother, whose eyes were only a few inches from her own.

"Suppose we leave it like that," said Mrs. O'Hara.

"Then there's just one more thing," Chris recommenced, with a brief nod. He turned toward Martin. "You telephoned me today, and asked me to come out here tonight, didn't you?" he asked.

"What did you want of me?" Chris continued.

The other hesitated, and then said, uncertainly:

"I wanted to—talk to you."

"You wanted to talk to me when you came to my house on Friday night, didn't you?" Christopher asked mildly.

Martin was silent, his eyes held by Chris' eyes.

"You wanted to make me do something, didn't you?" Chris pursued.

"I thought you had—harmed Molly," Martin admitted slowly.

"You don't think so now, do you?"

The boy's eyes moved slowly to his sister's face. He cleared his throat.

"No, I don't think so now."

"You were going to make me ask her to marry me, weren't you?" Chris said. Mary Kate's color rushed up like a blown flag; Cass, lighting a fourth cigarette, halted halfway.

"I suppose so," Martin admitted sternly.

"Why, you know so! You all but said so, today," Chris reminded him.

"Well—" Martin said.

Chris looked suddenly young, and tired, and boyishly stubborn, in the mellow lamplight. There were circles about his eyes; he shook his heavy mop of fair hair backward patiently.

"I do ask you to marry me, Mary," he said, steadily. "I realize that—that I had no right to—

"Anyway. I wish you would."

A dead silence. Then Chris repeated, rather flatly:

"I wish you would."

FIRM SELLING SHORT BUT ADVERTISED STOCK

CALGARY, June 18 (C.P.)—When the Calgary public was being asked to buy certain oil stocks, through paid advertisements in newspapers by Solloway, Mills and Co., the firm was selling short on these stocks, it was brought out in testimony given yesterday by William W. Matthew, former manager of the Calgary office of Solloway, Mills. Mr. Matthew was cross-examined by A. L. Smith, K.C., Crown Counsel, at hearing of the conspiracy charges against I. W. C. Solloway and Harvey M. Mills, heads of the brokerage firm.

Mr. Matthew said the advertisements were prepared by "our publicity men." They had nothing to do with trading, he said.

"Nevertheless when you were advising the purchase of shares, under the name of your firm, you were selling short in these shares?" Mr. Smith queried.

Witness admitted that this was the case.

SELLING WAVE AGAIN FEATURE TORONTO CURB

Rapid Decline Causes Much Apprehension in the Financial Community.

BRAZILIAN WATCHED.

Page-Hersey, F. N. Burt and Gypsum All Drop to New Lows For Year.

TORONTO, Ont., June 18 (C.P.)—A fresh wave of liquidation engulfed the Toronto Stock Exchange market this morning, sweeping records which had marked lows for this year and longer even further back and causing apprehension in the financial community over stemming the time before it broke through all points of resistance.

Brazilian and International Nickel were closely watched as market indicators. Brazilian put up a good front, coming out at 40 but almost immediately reacted and at midday was selling a couple of points under last night. Nickel declined down around 21, Smelters broke five points to a new low for the year and Noranda 2½ points to its 1930 low. For a time it sold under 20.

Massey-Harris dropped precipitously under 25, selling being accentuated by rumors that the company may not maintain its present dividend rate. Page-Hersey set up a new low at 81½, F. N. Burt at 44¼, Gypsum under 19. Most of the foods were down from one to three points and numerous other listed off over a point.

Oils weakened with B. A. Oil and International Petroleum lower than at any time previously this year. Service Stations also set a new low. Walkers was forced down under 9.

ARTICLE XLIX.

Q.—Given three industrial companies as follows:

	Bonded Debt	Pref. Stock	Com. Stock	Cur't. Assets	Cur't. Liab.
(a)	$20	$20	$15	$40	$30
(b)	15	20	10	30	20
(c)	10	15	15	35	15

Terms in millions.

Other things being equal, which is the safest and which the poorest?

The safety company is (c) the last one, and the poorest one is (a) the first one. When we consider the working capital for each one, we obtain for (a) $10,000,000; (b) 10,000,000; (c) 20,000,000.

The bonded debt is (a) $20,000,000; (b) 15,000,000; (c) 10,000,000.

In the case of (c) the working capital is equal to twice the funded debt, but in the case of (a) it is equal to one-half of it. (c) company could pay off its funded debt and still have $10,000,000 left as working capital. (b) would have only $5,000,000 left.

The bond holders of (c) company would fare the best, then comes (b) company and lastly (a).

Similarly with the preferred shareholders. "(c)" company has less preferred shares outstanding and this would give more assets per share, than they would otherwise have. Similarly with the common shareholders. Although (b) company has fewer common shares outstanding, its bonded debt is heavier and its working capital less and it would for this reason be inferior to (c) company.

The stock holders are only provided for after the bondholders, in the case of the dissolution of a company and so the rating for the bondholders and stock holders is as above.

Uncommon Sense
By John Blake

IF IT ISN'T INTERESTING, IT ISN'T NEW

I know that moralists and other solemn people insist that the younger generation pays too much attention to what is going on in the world to-day, and too little to what has been done in the past.

But human beings are more naturally interested in what is before their eyes than they are in what they have only heard about second hand.

Let this newspaper print, day after day, the history of Caesar's invasion of Britain, or Napoleon's campaigns, or the life history of the dinosaur as far as recorded by science, and readers would soon protest.

The interest of people in anything is in proportion to the freshness of the subject.

I believe in reading the classics, but I believe also in reading all the new books that are worth reading, and there are many of them.

I am strong for Shakespeare's plays, but plays which deal with the present day and with the ideas and behavior of living men and women are the plays that have the widest popular appeal.

Every age has had its long forgotten foolishness and frivolity, but the worthwhile things it has produced have lived.

Much that this age is producing will live, too. And pending the judgment of posterity on its value, it is natural that our greatest interest should be in what is going on around us.

That is why newspapers are more widely read than books published a hundred or even ten years ago.

To present the human race as it is to-day, with all its virtues and all its follies, with its work and its play, is a newspaper's job.

Now and then some wiseacre cried out that the newspapers print too much crime news. But the same wiseacre can be counted on to read crime stories as avidly as anybody else.

And if the existence of crime was not called to public attention the criminals would be more successful.

Everything that is happening cannot be told. But everything that arouses the human mind can and should be told.

The day in which people are living is more important to them than any other day in history.

Books, and plays which deal with that day will always be the most interesting. (Copyright 1930, by the Bell Syn., Inc.)

The complete guide-book

If YOU'VE been a tourist in foreign lands, you've probably come to have a high regard for one or another of the standard guide-books. Surrounded by strange scenes, strange names, and with your time limited, you have turned with relief to any volume which tells you on good authority where to go and what to do.

Consider your ordinary shopping tours in the same light. Without an up-to-date guide-book of merchandise appearing daily within the pages of this newspaper, your most casual trip to the stores would be more or less like a ramble in foreign countries.

We're speaking of the advertisements, of course. If it weren't for the advertisements you would be a stranger in the market, surrounded by strange names, strange brands. Buying would be guessing, unless you tested every article you wanted before you bought it.

As it is, you can make up your shopping list in a few minutes, and buy with confidence instead of suspicion — knowing what you're getting — knowing that consistently advertised goods must maintain standard quality.

Take full advantage of the great guide-book of this modern age . . . read the advertisements every day

COUNTY COUNCIL SEEKS RELIEF FROM OLD AGE PENSION COSTS

Asks Government to Abolish 20 Per Cent. Assessment on Municipalities.

AMENDMENT BEATEN.

A resolution asking the Ontario Government to abolish the requirement of 20 per cent. of the Old Age Pension costs from the counties was passed by the Legislation committee of the Peterborough County Council in session at the Court House this morning. The resolution asks further that in the event of such a change the local pension boards be allowed to remain with the counties responsible for their maintenance.

The motion for the resolution was made by Councillor C. S. Tanner of Lakefield and seconded by H. B. Parker of Harvey.

An amendment to the motion asking the government to reduce the county's share in the Old Age Pension costs to 10 per cent. was defeated. It was proposed by W. E. Waterman (North Monaghan).

The question was brought up when a resolution in regard to the Old Age Pension costs passed by the council of the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham, was brought to the attention of the attention of the council. The Northumberland and Durham resolution asks for the abolishment of the 20 per cent requirement unconditionally.

In the discussion which took place, Reeve F. D. McIntyre of Otonabee contended that, if the Government paid the full 50 per cent of the pension costs to match the 50 per cent paid by the Federal government, more pension money would come into the county. John Clark disaggreed saying that it would be poor policy to try and get more pension money into the county than absolutely necessary.

Better For County

"I think the less pensioners we have the better it will be for the county.

Warden Hawthorne suggested that there would be no chance of getting the government to take over the entire 50 per cent and that it might be good policy to ask that the counties' share be reduced to 10 per cent.

Fear was expressed by some of the councillors that if the government paid the entire 50 per cent it would take the control of the local pension boards away from the counties.

SUBURBAN HEIGHTS By GLUYAS WILLIAMS

PREMIER ACCEPTS CHALLENGE OF FERGUSON, ABLY DEFENDS POLICY ON UNEMPLOYMENT

Conservative leader to task for his statement "Canada first and the British Empire second."

Introduces Premier.

The qualifications of Mr. Duffus were outlined by Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., who pointed out that the Liberal standard bearer had been an active alderman, mayor of the city and had given unstintingly of his time and energy to the service of the community.

Mr. Gordon ridiculed any suggestion that the Conservatives would be successful in the election. "Mr. Bennett needs 35 more members than he has, and he can't get them," he stated emphatically. "You will notice that the Conservative leader opened his campaign among the tombstones in Queen's Park and when he winds up he will still be among the tombstones.

"You will notice," he continued, "that three Conservatives voted for the Dunning budget and here in Peterborough we have an example in J. H. Burnham, a former Conservative member, who appears to be now a follower of the premier."

Mr. Gordon stated that the Premier's visit augured well, since on each of his previous visits here the Liberal candidate had won in the local field. He declared that Mr. King had taken office when Canada was in a deep business depression but he had raised the country to a new crest of prosperity never before enjoyed.

Seldom in the history of Peterborough has a soloist made such an impression on an audience as did Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park when she sang "Land of Hope and Glory" before the thousands which thronged the huge auditorium. Applause rang through the building. She was accompanied by Mrs. Fred Green, and both artists were presented with a large bouquet of flowers.

Premier's Address.

"I ask you to look upon my record, even to the time when I was a boy and to note the things I was interested in; to my work when at the University of Toronto in relation to the industrial problems of the land; to the first project in which I was vitally interested, the suppression of the sweating system in Canada, and the Fair Wage resolution in the House of Commons.

"One of the first positions I held was as editor of the Labour Gazette and later I was Deputy Minister of the Department of Labour. In that position, I was interested for many years in all the problems that affect the working man and woman, as I was when first Minister of Labour under Sir Wilfred Laurier.

"When Sir Henry Thornton came to see me about taking over the Canadian National Railways, I laid down to him one condition and that was that he must see that pension rights should be restored to those men of the railway who had been deprived of them some years before.

"As Prime Minister, many problems in regard to labour have had my earnest attention, and, in all modesty, I would like to refer you to my four-hundred page book entitled "Labour and Industry and Humanity", and ask you whether the writer of that book could ever be unsympathetic toward the troubles of those who earn their bread by labour and by the sweat of their brows.

"I can never forget some of the words spoken by my grandfather, when he said: "Well may I love the poor and greatly may I esteem the humble and the lowly. For poverty and adversity were my nurses and in youth want and misery were my friends."

"As long as I live, so long will I do what I can to help those who suffer and who toil."

It was an impassioned and sincere ending that closed an address of over two hours last night at the Armories, when Premier King expounded to his listeners, numbering in the thousands, some of the difficulties and the problems which beset the path of the leader of a huge country. Holding his hearers spellbound, he told them of his doctrine of good-will as a means of settling amicably the differences that exist between province and province and between this Dominion of Canada and the land that lies to the south. He explained the manner in which the solution of the St. Lawrence Waterways question was being approached and outlined some of the ramifications of problems that would tend toward the disruption of such a mighty land as Canada, if allowed to gather momentum from the differences introduced by rival political elements, each striving for its own personal good and forgetting the good of the nation, as a whole.

Two New Elements.

The St. Lawrence Waterways question and the problem of unemployment were new elements introduced into the Premier's speech last night, the questions cared for in his Brantford speech being outlined at some length also, from a different angle. The marvellous vitality and mental resistance of the Prime Minister were demonstrated perhaps more fully than usual in his speech here last night. After the ordeal of delivering his lengthy address the evening before, he appeared to be fresh and vigorous and his conclusion of his speech here was one of the most brilliant efforts ever staged in the big Armories, where the Prime Minister, according to his own recollection, spoke first to a Peterborough audience, on the occasion of his visit here, many years ago, with Sir Wilfred Laurier. It was the impassioned and virile speech of a man who has a broad vision of the needs of the land he cares for and who sees the inner workings of the minds of its people, its friends, its competitors and its enemies.

The Premier alluded to the many kindnesses received during his visits here and thanked severally all who had assisted him. He spoke especially of the kindness of Mayor Denne in going to the station to welcome him.

"Mayor Denne offered me the freedom of the city and anything else that I wanted. I would like to ask him to give me Mr. Duffus as the new member on July 28th and then I will be quite satisfied with his offer."

Speaking of the presence on the platform of two of his old confreres in Parliament, Mr. Hall and Mr. Gordon, the Prime Minister spoke of the opportunities of meeting worthwhile people and the bonds of friendship engendered in the halls of Parliament. He also spoke with interest of the presence at the meeting last night of Mr. Peck and recommended to the latter, humorously, the change of heart which had lately effected his predecessor in office, saying that Mr. Peck's conversion to the Liberal ranks would make him (Mr. Peck) the happiest man alive.

He also expressed the gratitude of the Liberal party to Mrs. Skaith, the feminine speaker of the evening, for the splendid work she was doing and for the inspiration which the 20th Century Liberal Club, a group of young men and women between the ages of twenty-one and thirty, gave to the seniors of the party. He recommended to the young people in his audience aspirations toward noble ideals directed toward the love of country.

"Let me beg you young people tonight to listen to Mrs. Skaith's description of the difference between Conservatism and Liberalism," he said. "I don't think that Conservatives are all wrong. But I think that Tories are all wrong. They represent the worst form of Conservatism. And you will note that Conservatives always tack on the "Liberal" to their name when they publish it in print.

"Youth looks forward to the best that is in the future. Let me ask you young people to join this procession of Liberalism that marches forward in the fight that has prevailed through the centuries, to battle for a greater freedom for a larger number of mankind, to widen the doors of opportunity for their fellow-creatures in the land."

Vital Issues.

"There are two or three important matters which were not considered last night," said the Prime Minister. "The vital issues were touched upon; the policies which will govern this country for the next four or five years; our representation at the Imperial Conference, and the matters dealt with in the Budget—these are vital issues.

"It was Mr. Bennett who suggested that no Government should be represented at the Imperial Conference without a mandate from the people. I am going to hold him to his words in that regard. He has not said who will be sent to that Conference if his party is returned. I told him last night who would go if the Liberals are once more in power.

"Now you must ask yourselves whether or not the great steps we have taken in this Empire through co-operation and goodwill are to be continued or whether we will govern ourselves by Mr. Bennett's suggestions, who has said that trade should be a matter of bargaining and exacting something in return, that we must blast our way into the trade we are seeking.

"But no one has ever succeeded in getting customers by force and no one has ever succeeded in dealing with another country by wrestling with it and treating it as an enemy. There should instead be a process of good will and a process of co-operation. In dealing with our own kith and kin, it is necessary to lay down what bargains shall be made? What would you think of New Zealand and Australia, for instance, if they came to us and said that we must alter our laws to suit them? Canada has the right to make her own laws and to manage her own affairs but she has not the right to try to change the laws of other lands.

"The more I have to do with public life, the less I am concerned with the names of things and the more I am concerned with the attitude of co-operation and friendliness in dealing with other people and nations.

"You realize that today is a history-making day in the affairs of Canada and the British Empire. At midnight tonight there goes into effect the legislation which the president of the United States ratified today when he signed the new tariff bill.

"For several years the United States has been considering this tariff policy. We learned what the United States was doing and we said to them, in effect, that any changes so made by them might necessitate our taking a point of view that might not be so pleasant for them. In other words, we made it plain that, while we wanted to trade with them on a friendly basis, if possible, that if they imposed certain tariff difficulties upon us, that we were quite justified in seeking other markets for our products and that the Empire would naturally get the preference in such a search.

"There is nothing so complex as a Tariff unless it be a railway schedule of rates. In order to meet the situation which we foresaw, we established in Ottawa a Tariff Board on which were represented many interests, including those of agriculture and the consuming interests. Its duty was to investigate every source which might give it information along tariff lines, but its duty was also only to act in an advisory capacity.

A "Hasty" Budget.

"We are today being told by Mr. Bennett that this Budget was something hastily conceived and brought down for election purposes. That is not true. This Budget is the outcome of the most careful thought and study on the part of experts, during the past year and a half. It was the result of investigations made so that the country might be in a position to act in the right way when the threatened change should come into effect We made it quite plain over a year ago that we were interested in these matters.

"But public men must be careful in their relations to international problems. A considerable measure of restraint is necessary and so the late Mr. Robb, in announcing his budget a year ago, made known the Government's intention along this line, in as mild a way as possible. Last year in Western Canada, I spoke at Winnipeg with regard to the Government's attitude along this line. Dr. Manion, in the House, had counselled a red-blooded attitude in the matter, but we felt that a cool-headed attitude would be much more to the point. He said that the House was ready to sit throughout the whole year, if necessary, to properly consider the problem. That would have meant that for a year and half the House would be sitting continually, still holding this red-blooded attitude, and waiting for this very day to see the end of their session, because it was only to-day that the bill was signed." The Premier quoted from his Winnipeg speech last November, along this line, concluding with the words:

"There should be in Canada the closest co-operation between all parties in seeking within the Empire new markets to replace those that may be lost elsewhere and to place within the Empire at home and abroad as many of the purchases now given to any countries that penalize our trade, as may be transferred without penalizing Canadians."

Another issue which the Premier here touched upon was the matter of prohibiting the exportation of Canadian liquor which was destined for the United States.

"The United States passed a law prohibiting the sale of liquor in that country and we, looking into this question, found that men employed in the detestable business of rum-running were succeeding only through the co-operation of Canadian Government officials, for it was possible to put Canadian liquor on the train at the border only through the issuance of clearance papers on this side. What might have happened in the way of serious catastrophe through such defiance of the laws of another country? Suppose a vessel employed for such a purpose had been sunk and lives lost while our Government officials were a party to the traffic? We knew that we were facing the matter of changed tariff legislation in this country and therefore it behooved us to be doubly careful and to deal honestly and squarely with the American Government in this matter.

'But of course the real reason for our action lay in the business itself. There is not a person in this audience who would stand up and say they wished the government of this country to side with the rum-runners in violating the laws of another country."

St. Lawrence Waterways.

The Premier here adverted to the question of the St. Lawrence Waterways as another contentious matter, not so much between other countries, as between province and province in our land.

In considering this issue, he harked back to the matter of natural resources and the manner in which the Liberal government had sought, throughout its tenure of office, to satisfy the just claims of the western provinces in this regard. Settlements had been made that were fully satisfactory to provinces governed by Conservative and Progressive parties, by a Liberal Government intent on preserving at all times the unity and harmony of the Dominion. In dealing with the Western provinces and also the Maritimes, questions had been settled in a statesmanlike manner. Differences had been adjusted after minute investigations had been made of Provincial claims and these settlements, as he had said, had proved satisfactory, even to rival Governments in the several provinces interested.

With regard to the St. Lawrence Waterways issue, it had been discovered to be a matter involving problems of an economic, financial and engineering type. The Canadian interests preferred a different type of construction to the American interests involved and international issues were at stake.

But the main question was the one in which the provinces were involved, and had to do with the question of ownership of the power generated by navigation of the St. Lawrence River. The matter had been referred to the Supreme Court of Canada, which, after consideration, could only decide that it found it impossible to define clearly a matter concerned with such abstract questions.

Finally, conferences beginning January 24 to reach a practical basis of agreement regarding the development of water power in navigable waters were held. A memorandum setting forth the policy which the Dominion Government is prepared to adopt as a basis of agreement with the provinces, without prejudice to the legal rights of the parties, was drawn up and was read by the Premier as follows:

"Where a province desires to undertake power development in navigable waters, its right to do so shall be recognized, conditional on the provision of the necessary navigation requirements.

"Should the Dominion Government at any time undertake or authorize the construction of any canal or other work for the improvement of navigation, it would be prepared to make available to an approved provincial agency the surplus water power developed, beyond that needed for the operation of locks and purposes of navigation, on a basis equivalent to that which would govern if the provincial agency had itself undertaken the work as a power development scheme.

(3) "In either case, should the use of Dominion or Provincial property be required or the riparian or other property rights of the Dominion or province be interfered with or affected the acquisition of such property, or the authority to interfere with or affect such rights, could be made the subject of a special agreement in the particular circumstances of each case.

But this policy was not accepted by either province, and the matter still remains in abeyance, in consequence of the difficulties in reaching an agreement on this issue.

Proper Atmosphere.

"I don't think," said the Premier, "that within the past two years there was any time in which the Government could have worked out a satisfactory agreement with the United States. There has to be a proper atmosphere for such things, and this was lacking. But after the 28th of July, I hope there will be no obstacles in the way of the governments getting together."

Going on to speak of the unemployment issue, the second new element introduced into last night's speech, Premier King remarked on the capital which the Conservatives were making of this for political purposes, and deplored their attitude in so using such a matter, which would be sure to redound to the discredit of their own land. He also said that the unemployment question in Canada was not nearly on a par with that in the United States, or in Great Britain, and spoke of a projected conference of many elements in the question, which would serve to investigate the matter to the fullest.

"Mr. Bennett has been saying a great deal of conditions of unemployment in Canada, during the course of the last few months. I have no complaint to make of the attention he has directed to this great economic problem, but I do object most strenuously to the manner in which he has exaggerated it out of all proportion, and to his attempt to convey the impression that the present unemployment in Canada is due to any neglect or failure upon the part of the present administration.

"As is well known by all students of economic conditions, the world is now passing through a period of price dislocation, following the recent financial crisis from stock markets. In some countries this price dislocation has led to a pronounced industrial depression and to widespread unemployment. It would be unreasonable to expect that Canada could remain entirely free from the effects of a situation which is universal in its application. At the same time, Mr. Bennett is perfectly aware that no country in the world has suffered less from the present depression that this Dominion and, were it not for his desire to exploit unemployment for political purposes, he would, I think, as a Canadian, be proud to acknowledge and to assert that there could have been no greater tribute to the stability of our industrial and commercial foundations of our prosperity, than the manner in which we have met the slackness of business which has taken place within the recent months.

"I make this statement without any reservation, that no country in the world has come through the recent financial crisis, with more creditable showing than Canada. This is not merely the testimony of Government officials, but it is the unanimous verdict of presidents and general managers of financial institutions and the heads of investment houses whose business it is to study comparative statistics of trade and industry.

"Before leaving Ottawa a few days ago, I asked the Bureau of Statistics to prepare for me a statement dealing with the position in this country with respect to employment and unemployment during the recent years. The Bureau of Statistics collect monthly reports on the number of employees of over 7,000 firms who employed, on May 1st, 1930, some 976,000 persons. These statistics have been collected monthly since 1921 and are expressed as index numbers with the average for the calendar year 1926, taken as 100. I should like to point out to Mr. Bennett that for every 88 persons employed in these industries when the last Conservative government was in office, there were 119 persons employed in the year 1929. I should like further to point out that, for every 85 persons employed in April 1921, there were over 111 employed in April 1930. In other words, during the period of this administration in this country, employment in these manufacturing industries has increased by 30 per cent., while the population of the country has only increased at the rate of 15 per cent. These are figures in which Canadians should take the greatest pride, while realizing to the full, the necessity of meeting the existing conditions of unemployment, this evidence of stability should give us cause for faith and confidence in the sound and unassailable economic structure of our country."

Railway Men Involved

When Sir Henry Thornton came to him last year, declared the speaker, and told him that he must either allow a large number of the railway men in his employ to be removed from their positions, in order that the surplus of the company might not be lowered to too large a degree, the Premier said that he asked Sir Henry to retain the men and that he would take the responsibility for the deficit if any, in the House. This was done and many men who might otherwise have been added to the ranks of the unemployed were retained in their positions.

Referring to the attitude of Premier Ferguson toward what he termed Premier King's "five cent" speech, the latter went on to give figures showing just how much money had been paid, during the administration of the Liberal Government, into the coffers of the province of Ontario alone.

The itemized list included the following: Subsidies to the province of Ontario during the years from 1922 to 1930; $21,140,893; to Highways: $4,550,935; for agricultural construction: $590,304; for Technical education: $2,400,024; for unemployed offices; $519,411; for unemployed relief: $565,446; for eradication of certain diseases: $336,938; for Old Age Pensions: $1,127,844. The total reached the sum of $31,231,805 "paid to a province with a Tory government".

"And this is not all", asserted the Premier going on to give further figures not included: For unemployment relief for overseas men: $1,986,773 and for War pensions: $96,865,940, or a grand total in the eight years of 130 million dollars.

To the provinces as a whole subsidies of 99 millions had been paid from the Federal coffers, realized from the taxes of the people; with special subsidies of $4,800,000; highways, 16 millions; agricultural construction, 2 millions; technical education, 7 millions; school debt amortization, $133,000; unemployment relief; $1,337,000; eradication of disease; 1 million; old age pensions, $3,700,000; war relief, $1,874,000; Pensions, $3,858,000. Total: $373,000,000.

"And that is your money", declared the Premier. "For it is gathered from the taxes paid into Federal coffers by the people of the Dominion. I did not feel justified, in the fact of such payments to the different provinces as I have just outlined, in going any farther with disbursements. Premier Ferguson has brought this matter to the public platform, but Premier Ferguson should learn that the people of this province expect him to attend to his own business, just as they expect me to attend to mine."

The Premier concluded his speech with the words quoted in the opening paragraphs, and closed it to the sound of deafening applause from the audience. Three cheers for the King were followed by another trio and a tiger for Premier King.

RECORD FISH CATCH MADE AT HASTINGS

Numerous Complaints Heard Against Ban Forbidding Sunday Fishing From Bridge.

HASTINGS, June 18.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The fishing season is in full swing at Hastings at the present judging from the luck of a party of fisherman from Toronto had here over the week end, getting seven pickerel with a total weight of 59 pounds, which will take some beating.

Numerous complaints were heard on Sunday from visiting fishermen as well as some of the citizens on the ban that is placed on Sunday fishing on the bridge and dam. Several of the tourists that come to Hastings are Toronto people who come down for a little fishing over the week end and if this is stopped Hastings will certainly be marked off their list.

demands are responsible to a great extent. As a result of not being familiar with the demands, levies were set too low to meet new obligations in 1929.

"From a county legislation standpoint your taxes have not increased. You must bear in mind that the following demands are fixed by statute, namely: administration of justice, schools, Provincial highways, municipal indigents, mothers' allowances and old age pensions. The last three are new obligations and to make an estimate prior to the present time was very much a matter of conjecture hence rates too low were struck. The chairman has taken the trouble to itemize each claim and in his set out will show the different demands with the mill rate and the amount required for each set opposite to each. I would suggest that the Local Tax Bills be sent out as explanatory.

Roads and Bridges

"The chairman of the Roads and Bridges will explain to you the delay in action with regard to the Lock's and Bensfort bridges and will also state what was recommended with regard to other bridges or roads. His report can only be verbal now followed at the Fall session with a written report. Other chairmen will kindly transmit the matters in their hands to the council.

"It is very gratifying to note the improvement in the county and suburban-area roads and the commissions and road superintendent will, no doubt, have the endorsement of this council in regard to the amount of good work accomplished with the money placed at their disposal.

"All appreciate the material progress of our nation and, due to her great resources and aggressiveness of her people, she is returning to normal conditions more speedily than any other nation that was involved in the World War.

He concluded, "I again thank you for the honor you conferred on me and for the confidence so placed and I can assure you that the undivided support I have received from all has made my duties not only light but of a pleasant character. Any credit is all yours and I trust that the County will progress in the future as she has done in the past."

New Correspondence.

The new correspondence was dealt with after Mr. Hawthorne's address. A communication from the Department of Education notifying the council that after July 1 the County would be relieved of the salary and all expenses of the county public school inspector in accordance with the Provincial Public School Act, was received. The letter stated that the Government hoped to equalize the work of the inspectors more readily under such a system than under the county form of administration.

A communication from Richard Lees stating his withdrawal from the position of county public school inspector when his term comes to an end this year, was received. Mr. Lees has held the position for 25 years.

A petition from motorists and taxpayers at Young's Point asking that the Lakefield—Young's Point road be maintained to allow free traffic in winter, was read. Also a resolution from the Peterborough City Council asking for assistance in improvement of the River Road from Peterborough to Lakefield, was read. No action was taken on the communications.

After hearing representatives of the Canadian General Insurance Company and the Globe Indemnity Company the council voted for the renewal of the contract for municipal insurance with the Canadian General Insurance Company again this year.

FORMER RESIDENT VISITS DISTRICT

Henry Finlay, Head of Finlay Engineering College, Staying at Fraserville.

Born in Cobourg and raised on a farm near Fraserville, Henry Finlay M. E., D. Sc., president of Finlay Engineering College, Kansas City, is at present on a short vacation and is staying at the home of James E. Clarke at Fraserville—the little village in which as a boy he was unable to find a suitable outlet for self-expression, with the result that he left this district in the year 1886 and after many vicissitudes of fortune has reached the pinnacle of his life's ambition.

Seeking an interview with Mr. Finlay an Examiner representative was introduced to an alert and keen-looking man whose fund of reminiscenses provided food for inspiration and revealed a human and sympathetic nature. One detected a certain bull-dog tenacity in his make-up, which had helped him to follow an unswerving course to the goal of his boyhood ambitions.

"I regard Peterborough as my home town and have paid several visits to the district in past years although I was unable to get back for the 'Old Home Week' celebrations last July."

He recalled the days when as a callow farm boy he used to drive into this city from Fraserville with potatoes—the day on which he made the great decision to face the world and be master of his own destiny. Going south of the International boundary he applied for a position with a firm of electrical engineers, blissfully ignorant of the fact that his lack of training in this direction was little recommendation for him. "What do you know about machinery," thundered the manager, to which the applicant had to confess that he knew absolutely nothing, although he added hopefully, he proposed to learn the business. After much pleading during which time his prospective employer was fully convinced of the boy's sincerity and determination he was taken on the payroll. Ten years later saw his advancement to an executive position with charge of three plants situated at Omaha, Chicago and St. Joseph's, Missouri. During his residence in Omaha Mr. Finlay was a charter member of the Omaha Technical Club and secretary of the Electrical Club. He is a past president of the International Association of Inventors and is an active member of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce, which boasts a membership of 2,000.

The Engineering College which bears his name was founded by him in Kansas City in 1903 and includes in its quota of past and present graduates, pupils from 21 states and ten foreign countries including Canada.

The Fifteenth Anniversary Birthday Tea of the Otonabee Chapter I.O.D.E. was an entertaining event of yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. R. R. Hall, Reid street. There was a large attendance in the spacious rooms which were arranged with quantities of huge red and white and pink peonies and flaming Oriental poppies. Bridge was played at several tables and later the ladies strolled through the grounds. Bordering the front lawns are formal beds of geraniums and petunias, while the sun garden, with its entrance of a double archway over which roses climb, has its long rows of flowers; velvety crimson and pink roses, peony bushes filled with red, white and pink blossoms, tall ranks of mauve and cream and Japanese iris, Oriental poppies and rose-mauve pyretheum. In the tea room, the table was attractively arranged with a lace cloth centred by a circular mirror reflector holding a large bowl filled with pink and white peonies. The guests were received by Mrs. Hall and the president of the Chapter, Mrs. C. A. White, while Mrs. J. Garbutt ushered them into the tea room. Mrs. B. W. Harvey and Mrs. J. D. LARGE AUDIENCE GREETS PREMIER

TWO BANDS OUT.

Three cheers for the Prime Minister! A lusty response echoed and re-echoed around the C.P.R. station precincts as it was caught up fervently by the large crowd, who witnessed the arrival of Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Prime Minister of Canada last evening.

Stepping from his private official coach which had come over C.N.R. lines, the Premier was escorted to a large open car, wherein he stood with bared head in acknowledgment of the tributes paid to him by his political followers. He was accompanied in the tonneau of the car by Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C.

The triumphal procession headed by a snappy little sports roadster, in which Police Chief Samuel Newhall rode, swung off to the martial strains of the Rangers' Regimental Band. Immediately to the rear of the red coats, the tartan-clad pipers of the Caledonian Pipe Band swung along, adding a touch of the picturesque, to the animated scene.

The car bearing J. J. Duffus, Liberal candidate for West Peterborough and numerous other cars packed with his supporters followed immediately in the wake of the Premier's automobile, which was gaily decorated with bunting.

Lining the route from the C.P.R. depot to the Armouries where the distinguished guest was scheduled to speak at 8.30, was a continuous stream of cars parked bumper-to-bumper, while the sidewalks which were lined with people all along the lower section of George street became almost impassable as the procession reached the objective.

Clad in a light grey suit with a Stetson hat to match, the Prime Minister engaged in earnest conversation with Hon. G. N. Gordon from the moment the procession moved off, and would occasionally raise his hat and smile broadly in acknowledging the salutations of the crowd.

His train steamed into the Canadian National station at 5.15 eastern standard time, where on descending to the platform he was surrounded by stalwarts of his party including Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C.; R. R. Hall, K.C.; J. J. Duffus, the candidate; V. Eastwood, J. Wearing, W. G. Morrow, F. D. Kerr, K.C.; ex-Mayor Holloway, and Dr. J. J. Craig.

His Worship Mayor Roland Denne was also present on behalf of the city to tender a welcome to the Prime Minister; as also was E. A. Peck, M.P., Conservative candidate for this constituency, who despite his political differences, anxiously waited long before the train was due, to personally welcome the leader of the Commons.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

WE READ A GREAT DEAL about reading matter for children. There has also been a number of letters in the mail regarding the right kind of books to obtain for the children.

• • • • • • •

We find that books for children have fashions as well as those for adults. Just now the demand for fairy tales is very small.

It does not mean that the unnatural and the fantastic, the stories at odds with nature, and apart from realism, are no longer wanted, but the good, old-fashioned fairy story is definitely out of vogue.

• • • • • • •

In these there is no attempt to suit the tale to the bounds set by nature, but there is an element of rightness in them just the same.

• • • • • • •

The bad is overcome by good, the unworthy succumbs to the worthy. There is a premium set upon goodness. Yet all is so subtly worked out that the little folk (and many an adult, too) is scarcely aware that these elements are the very essence of the story.

• • • • • • •

One of the delightful qualities of fairy stories is that they encourage the imagination.

• • • • • • •

Most children have vivid imaginations it is true, but there are many children sadly lacking in this great help in a work-a-day world.

• • • • • • •

Apparently parents do not recognise the value of imagination, or they would encourage its development.

• • • • • • •

Like everything else it can be carried beyond bounds. This is a youthful trait. It passes with the years and a vivid imagination then settles down into an appreciation that there is a world of the mind in which pleasure can exist apart from the mundane experience of the world about them.

• • • • • • •

Such an appreciation is a God-send in periods of stress. Persons lacking in imagination are phlegmatic and commonplace.

• • • • • • •

It is the imagination that fires the mind of inventors so that they realize new ideas can become realities. The home of these realties is in the imaginative brain.

• • • • • • •

Fairy stories stir the imagination along fine lines, and I think it is well for parents to see that fairy stories are not left off the book shelves of their youngsters.

RIVAL HURLERS HOOK UP IN PITCHING DUEL IN TUSSLE MARKED BY SMART FIELDING

Vinnie Utronki and Jack Billingsley Allow But Two Hits Each.

FINAL COUNT 2-0.

(By F. D. C.)

Art Primeau's C.G.E. team continued their winning parade in the East Peterborough League last night by defeating the Cognawagas nine 2 runs to nil in the smartest played game of the season.

This fifth win in a row for the Electricians was a pitchers' battle between Vinnie Utronki, the former Belleville right hander and Jack Billingsley, the Cogs' port sider, and both heavers were always in front of the batter, each allowing but two hits.

C.G.E. gained their margin of victory because one of their hits was a slashing double following on the heels of a base on balls, to give them an earned run and because a wild throw by Meldrum with two out gave them a second counter later in the game that was not earned.

Cogs could do little against Utronki's smoke and effective curve ball and only one of the losers got as far as second and none got closer to the plate. The ex-Belleville twirler burned them in and in addition fielded his position smartly.

Billingsley's slower repertoire was almost equally effective and had it not been for a slight lapse in control represented by two passes that blossomed into the C.G.E. pair of counters would have emerged with honors even.

There was some fast fielding by both teams with the Electricians giving their best defensive exhibition of the campaign. They had Fred Ash at first base and although he went into the game without practice his presence seemed to inspire the winners, who fielded with a snap that has been lacking. The stellar play of the night was turned in by Verne Beavis, who covered acres of ground in the seventh to make a sparkling catch of Baker's hard smash, turning the grab into a double play that checked a threatening Cog rally.

Game Opens Slow

Both were easy in the first. For C.G.E. Rose fanned, Johnston popped to Corbett and H. Hollingsworth was called out on strikes.

The winners got their first run in the second. Beavis drew a pass. Billingsley struck out both Ash and L. Hollingsworth, but Harmer doubled sharply to right centre to send the run in. Hatton flied to Cripps.

The Cogs lost a chance. Rooke opened with a clean single past second but Baker struck out and Wilson forced Rooke, Utronki to Rose, Wilson being nearly doubled at first. Cripps singled off Utronki's glove but Meldrum struck out.

In the third Utronki rolled to Corbett, Rose skied to Billingsley and Johnston fouled to Rooke.

For the Cogs Grant flied to Beavis and after Rose had tossed out Williams, Billingsley also lifted to the centre fielder.

H. Hollingsworth flied to Grant in the fourth and Beavis and Ash were easy on infield rollers.

In the loser's end Corbett rolled to Utronki, Rooke grounded to Ash and Baker popped to H. Hollingsworth.

C.G.E. got a soft run in the fifth. L. Hollingsworth walked. Harmer struck out and Hollingsworth was forced at second on Hatton's tap. Hatton stole second and scored when Meldrum tossed high over first after fielding Utronki's roller. Utronki stole third but Rose struck out.

For the Cogs Wilson was out, Ash to Utronki, a fast play by the pitcher. Cripps rolled to Rose and Meldrum fanned.

In the sixth Johnston popped to Billingsley, and H. Hollingsworth rolled to the same player. Beavis singled over third and stole second but Ash's fly was taken by Meldrum.

Grant, first up for the Cogs, rolled to Utronki and Wilson was tossed out by Johnston. Billingsley drew a pass. Corbett lifted one to Harmer.

The seventh was soon over, For C.G.E. Ashmore, batting for L. Hollingsworth, fanned. Harmer rolled to Rooke and Hatton lifted an easy one to the third baseman.

Johnston made a great stop of Rooke's hard smash but his throw pulled Ash into the air and the runner was safe. Beavis, however, made a great running catch of Baker's smash to right centre and Rooke was doubled off first. Wilson lifted to Beavis for the final out.

READING, June 18.—The Toronto Baseball Club will be forced to complete its southern trip with one catcher — Manager Steve O'Neill.

Yesterday afternoon Eddie Phillips was reported to have received two fractured fingers as a result of being hit on the hand by a foul tip off the bat of Bill Jurges. Phillips was unable to have an X-ray picture taken last night, it was announced at Toronto headquarters, as more tragedy stalked into his life. Phillips was called home because of the serious illness of his wife and he left for Toronto last night.

At the same time Manager O'Neill announced that Catcher Bill Steinecke, third-string receiver, had been given his outright release, so Toronto has only one catcher, but O'Neill says he will be able to handle the job.

"Barring accidents I'll be able to catch every day", he said with a smile last night.

OLD COUNTRY PLAYERS LEAD BRITISH PLAY

Brilliant 141 Places Compston First in Open Qualifying Round.

COTTON SECOND.

HOYLAKE, Eng., June 18. Archie Compston, giant golfer from the English Midlands, with medal rounds of 70-71—141, led the qualifying round for the British open yesterday.

All the serious contnders were last night in the select company of 112 who comprised the 100 lowest scores and ties for the 100th place.

Others of the 290-odd who started to-day are free to go home with their alibis while the rest fight the real championship battle—72 holes medal play—during the coming three days.

Cotton Second

Compston not only led the field, but Henry Cotton, young British pro, was second with 143, and W. T. Twine, former Kent professional champion and yesterday's leader, stood third at 144. with the first three places occupied by Britons, there were hopes of regaining for the Old Country the open title, which has gone across the Atlantic in eight of the last nine years.

Leo Diegel tied with Percy Alliss, British pro, resident in Berlin, at 145 to lead the American group, while George Von Elm tied with Cyril Tolley with 147 to lead the amateurs among the qualifiers.

Bobby Jones was tied with six others for twentieth place in the qualifying lists. He was not a golfing machine to-day as he scaled the heights of Wallasey, and finally checked in with a round of 77, which he considered about the worst he played in Britain

They made him a life honorary member of the club when he finished, but he did not make a speech about how he loves the Wallasey fairways as he did at St. Andrew's.

DOUBLE WIN FOR BOSTON BRAVES

Cincinnati Pitchers Ineffective —Phillies Beat Pirates in Extra Inning.

BOSTON, June 18.—Aided by Fred Frankhouse, who came here today from the Cardinals, the Braves managed to take a donbleheader from the Cincinnati Reds. The scores were 6 to 4 and 10 to 5.

Frankhouse, who came here with Sherdel in a trade which sent Burleigh Grimes to St. Louis, made his debut in the sixth inning of the first game, which Bob Smith and Ed Brandt were letting slip away from them.

Eppa Rixey failed to hold a three-run lead in the second game, and the heavy-hitting Braves garnered 16 safeties off three pitchers before the game was over.

PHILIES WIN IN TENTH

PHILADELPHIA, June 18.—"Lefty" O'Doul's tenth inning single broke up a pitchers' battle and gave the Phillies a 5 to 4 decision over the Pirates today. Chester Nichols and Larry French locked in the hurlers' duel, and although hit hard at times, kept the batters' hits well scattered. The Phillies got eleven hits off the Pirates' southpaw while Pittsburg got to Nichols for ten safeties.

"Pie" Traynor hit a home run in the sixth—the inning in which the Pirates scored all of their runs.

O'Doul's single in the tenth scored Denny Southern, who led off the round with a single and advanced to second on an infield out.

Softball Notes.

To-night's softball bill will bring together Belmonts and Harrison's. This game should be one of the outstanding games of the season. Belmonts are in second place while Harrison's are in third and both are playing good ball at the present time. The game will be played at Central School Grounds and will start at 6.30 sharp.

Thursday night C.G.E. and Westclox will be opponents.

Resulting in a complete walk-over for the Brinton Carpet team, last night's softball game with Westclox was something of a fiasco, ending in a 25-9 victory for the Carpetmakers.

Loose ball with very few redeeming features was the fare served up in the one-sided contest, which was staged on the Brinton's home ground.

Sturgeon, on the mound for the Brintons, twirled a fairly consistent game, but Curry on the mound for the Clockmakers blew up and was replaced by Darling in the fourth innings. The latter was also badly off form, and his wild pitching had the effect of causing his teammates to lose their morale, with disastrous effect. The line-up:—

Umpire—Ted LeBarr at the plate.

Score by innings:—
Brinton ..... 14081521x—25
Westclox ..... 300082001— 9

Japan Meets Italy in European Zone

PRAGUE, Czecho-Slovakia, June 18.—Japan clinched its Davis Cup tennis series with Czecho-Slovakia yesterday when Takeichi Harada defeated Jan Koseluh, 6-2, 6-3, 6-2. This gave the Japanese the necessary three victories and carried them into the European zone final, where they will oppose the Italians for the right to play the United States in the inter-zone final.

The Japanese, with a well-balanced team, broke even in the first two singles matches, took the lead by winning the doubles, and then made certain of success again Czecho-Slovakia by Harada's victory today.

ENGLAND WINS FIRST MATCH

Australia, After Good Stand, Loses By Ninety-three Runs.

BREAK FINAL RALLY.

NOTTINGHAMSHIRE, Eng., June 18.—England triumphed yesterday in the first cricket test match with Australia at Trent Bridge by 93 runs after a day's play which left the issue in doubt until tea time. At that interval Australia required 112 runs and had four wickets in hand. The English players twisted the Kangaroo's tail in the final hour of the match with such vigor that the Antipodeans did not make the resistance expected. Aggregate scores were: England, 572; Australia, 479. The Australian inning today yielded 335 runs, which was a big improvement on their first effort of 144.

The final day of the match was crowded with dramatic incidents, the chief of which was the bombshell dropped into the English camp this morning which robbed them of the barb of the spear of their attack, Harold Larwood the fast bowler. Larwood was too ill to play. Herbert Sutcliffe, injured yesterday, was also an absentee. The twelfth man, Prince Duleepsinhji, was called in to field, while J. Copley, a young player on the second eleven of the Notts County team, won the most envied chance to play for England simply because no one else was availale.

YANKEES IN SECOND PLACE

Score Overwhelming Victory Over Indians—Senators Beaten By Browns.

CLEAN SWEEP FOR SOX.

CLEVELAND, June 18. The New York Yankees continued their heavy bombardment of Cleveland pitchers yesterday, taking the third and last game of the series by 17 to 2. The victory put the Yankees in second place.

Twenty-one hits, including Lou Gehrig's eighteenth homer of the season, rang off the Yankee bats, as Clint Brown, Pete Jablonowski, Ken Holloway and Sal Gliatto paraded from the bullpen to the pitcher's mound and back again. Roy Sherid went the route for the Yanks, holding the Indians to seven hits.

BROWNS WIN SERIES.

ST. LOUIS, June 18. — The St Louis Browns won from the Washington Senators 12 to 9 here yesterday in a game which developed into a free-hitting, free-scoring contest in the final innings. The victory gave the Browns the series, three games out of four.

The Browns went into the eighth inning with a 6 to 4 lead as a result of "Goose" Goslin's first homer since changing over to St. Louis, and piled six more runs atop their lead. The Senators answered the challenge by scoring five runs in the ninth, just 3 short of a tie.

Cronin also hit for the circuit.

RED SOX MAKE CLEAN SWEEP.

CHICAGO, June 18. — The Boston Red Sox defeated the White Sox 8 to 5 here yesterday and swept the three game series.

Three Chicago pitchers were ineffective in the first two innings during which Boston scored six of its runs. Caraway worked the rest of the day.

The game ended the White Sox first home stand against the Eastern clubs with only four victories in 12 games.

TORONTO CLUB BUNCHES HITS TO BEAT KEYS

HERD DEFEATS BEARS.

READING, Pa., June 18. Pounding out 16 safe swats, the Toronto Maple Leafs evened the series at two-all by slaughtering the Reading Keystones here yesterday 10 to 2. It was a costly victory, however, as Catcher Eddie Phillips received two fractured fingers on his right hand when hit by a foul tip off the bat of Bill Jurges in the second inning.

The Leafs set up a terrific base hit barrage on George Bell, former Chicago Club right hander. After three runless innings, the Leafs scored clusters of three runs in the fourth, seventh and ninth innings and tallied a singleton in the fifth.

Leading the Toronto attack were Ruble, Cote and O'Neill, each of whom drove out three hits. Cote and O'Neill had perfect days at bat, but it remained for Joe Rabbitt to cause the most damaging work. He drove in four runs.

Guy Cantrell, who was knocked out of the box Sunday, came back to hurl a masterpice. He allowed ten hits, but seldom was in trouble. He had remarkable control, passing only one man. This walk came in the eighth.

Bisons Defeat Bears

NEWARK, June 18.—Buffalo Bisons came to life here and defeated the Newark Bears 6 to 1 in what was to have been the first game of a doubleheader. A light, drizzling rain fell all through the nine-inning contest and the second game was called off, to be played as part of a double bill to-day.

Buffalo's victory is the first time this season the Bisons have beaten the Bears on their home field.

Leo Mangum, ace of the Bisons' staff, held the rubber and yielded 10 hits, but kept them widely scattered. Lucas and Brennan worked for the Bears and were nicked for an even dozen safeties.

Thomas, with four hits out of five times at bat, led the attack of the winners. Jordan, the Bear third-baseman, had a perfect day at bat with four singles.

PICTORIAL GOLF

WAGGLE VALUABLE BUT SHOULD NOT BE OVERDONE.

Golfers look upon the waggle sometime as unnecessary and probably it is when overdone. Everything in golf playing when carried to a point of exaggeration is usually worse than if it were not done at all. The waggle is valuable only for the purpose of settling our nerves and getting the proper grip and stance settled in our mind.

Two or three movements of the club is quite enough. Some carry it so far that they look up towards the hole and then down to the club a dozen times before hitting the ball.

This is almost as bad as the billiard players who draws his cue back fifteen or sixteen times before shooting. I have never seen a billiard player who did not draw his cue back at least three or four times nor a golfer who had no waggle at all.

Chicago Mooted As Next "Heavy" Site

CHICAGO, Ills., June 18.—(C.P.).—Chicago and the Soldier Field stadium are under consideration as the site for another world heavyweight championship battle this time between Max Schmeling and Jack Sharkey.

General John V. Clinnin, chairman of the Illinois State Athletic Commission, last night said William F. Carey, president of the Madison Square Garden Corporation, had asked if the Illinois Commission would sanction such a bout for Chicago. Gen. Clinnin said a license would be granted if the Garden complied with the commission's rules.

The bout would be staged under the same charter as the second Dempsey-Tunney fight, which drew a world record gate.

President of Ontario Association Congratulates Members on Fine Greens.

MATCHES NEXT WEDNESDAY.

Bowlers From Oshawa, Port Hope, Stirling, Campbellford and Lindsay Present.

The Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club's new quarters on McDonnel street, were officially opened this morning by L. J. Harrington, president of the Ontario Lawn Bowling Association, but rain caused the postponement of the opening tournament, which was to be a big feature of the event, until next Wednesday.

Mr. Harrington, who is a member of the Hyde Park Club in Toronto, congratulated the members of the Peterborough club on their new plant claiming that in all Canada he has never see finer greens. He said that the city ought to have a pride in the property.

More than 60 members had gathered, despite the drizzling rain, to hear Mr. Harrington and to be present at the opening ceremonies.

Mr. Harrington was introduced by Mark Bredin, president of the local club. He stated that the Board and the members of the club were proud of the club plant and opined that there was also a feeling of pride throughout the city. He expressed regrets that weather conditions were such that the long-awaited opening tournament had to be postponed.

Congratulations Opened

Congratulations were extended to the local bowlers by Dr. Daly of Port Hope and O. A. Alger of Oshawa, bowlers who were scheduled to take part in the tournament. Bowlers from Oshawa, Port Hope, Stirling, Campbellford and Lindsay were present.

The tournament will be held on Wednesday, next week, commencing at 9.30 o'clock daylight time. A new draw will be made and announced on Monday.

The large club house on the property was this morning almost entirely completed. It had been temporarily furnished by the T. Eaton Company. The club's two greens which provide a total of twenty playing greens were in excellent condition.

NEW YORK PLANS TO GREET BYRD

Greatest Welcome Since Return of Lindbergh Is Being Planned.

ARRIVES THURSDAY.

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 18.—(C.P.)—Returning home after sixteen months of exploration in the Antartic, Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd and the members of his expedition will be received by the city of New York at noon to-morrow.

Expectations were that the city's welcome would surpass all receptions here since that accorded Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh upon his return from his flight to Paris.

A marine parade up the harbor, a salute of thirteen guns from Governor's Island and a guard of honor including 3,000 troops for a procession up Broadway to City Hall have been arranged in honor of the man who flew over the earth's two poles.

First greetings to the returning explorers, however, will be extended from a big navy amphibian plane carrying former Governor Harry F. Byrd, brother of the expedition's commander, and officials of that State.

Admiral Byrd's wife, children and mother will meet the explorer.

A painting commemorating his achievement will be presented to Admiral Byrd by Mayor Walker, while each of the expedition will receive the city's medal of valor. An honorary degree of Doctor of Laws will be presented to Admiral Byrd by Chancellor Elmer E. Brown, of New York University.

The Maple Leafs snowed the East City Dare Devils under an avalanche of runs in a bantam series, City League game at James Stevenson Park last evening, winning by 19 runs to 2. Hits came freely off the two Dare Devil hurlers, Ayotte and Lesurf, and the losers were powerless to stem the tide.

Calladine, on the rubber for the Leafs, ran up a total of 15 strikeouts, and allowed but two hits.

JONES AGAIN IN FOREGROUND

Turns in Card of 70 Along With Henry Cotton and Macdonald Smith.

IN FIRST ROUND.

HOYLAKE, Eng., June 18. (C.P.)—Henry Cotton, young British professional, Bobby Jones, golf wizard from the United States and MacDonald Smith also from the United States, turned in cards of 70 in the first round of the British open golf championship to-day, to lead the field.

Cotton and Smith played sterling golf through a storm which swept the links. Jones, an early finisher, had given the rest of the field a low mark to shoot at.

Jones held the lead by one stroke over the veteran pro, Fred Robson, and Norman Sutton, another British pro, was two strokes behind the United States amateur.

PLAYGROUNDS OPEN JULY 7TH

James Abraham Has Been Appointed General Superintendent For City Grounds.

FOUR SUPERVISORS.

Full recreational facilities will again be afforded the youth of this city during the summer vacation period, by the opening on July 7th of the School Playgrounds, each in charge of a competent coach and instructor. The playgrounds will remain open for the six succeeding weeks following the official opening.

The appointment is announced of James Abraham, who will assume the office of general superintendent of playgrounds, and a supervisor for each of the public schools in the city, as follows: Miss Clara Patterson, Miss Ruth Sutton, Alex Rogow and Howard Macdonald.

Softball, hardball, tennis, horseshoe pitching, football and various other forms of health-giving sport will provide recreation of the highest order to while away the fleeting hours of the mid-summer recess and to prepare the pupils for the long session ahead between now and Christmas, for which their constitutions will have been fortified against the cold weather of the fall and the even more rigorous winter.

Swimming classes will again be a feature of this year's activities and will be held at Inverlea Park on Tuesday and Friday each week during the six weeks. Each of the instructors are competent swimmers, having satisfied the Board of Education on this point as part of their test for qualification for the appointments.

A BEDTIME STORY

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S HOT GLASS.

"What was that noise?" cried Uncle Wiggily, almost jumping out of his easy chair as a bang sounded in the kitchen.

"It must have been something the baby dropped," said Mrs. Longears hurrying from the room. Uncle Wiggily followed. Sitting in her high chair, near the kitchen table was Toofy, the newest of the little bunny children in the hollow stump bungalow. She was called Toofy because she had two teeth, like little pearls, in her mouth. They were her first teeth.

Standing near Toofy, and looking at the floor, with a queer smile on her face, stood Jingle. Toofy seemed about ready to cry.

"What's the matter, Jingle?" asked Mrs. Longears. She could see that Toofy was all right so she didn't worry any more.

"What made that banging noise?" Uncle Wiggily asked.

"That," said Jingle slowly, "was your flashlight, Daddicums."

"How could my flashlight make such a loud noise as that?" the rabbit gentleman wanted to know. "It was a loud bang."

"Yes, I know," spoke Jingle with a

In another moment the paper burst into flames.

sorrowful sigh. "Toofy banged your flashlight on the floor, Daddicums, and now it's all gone bust!"

"Gone bust! That isn't any way to talk," chided Uncle Wiggily. "I suppose you mean my flashlight is broken."

"Its worse than broken, its busted, I tell you!" said Jingle. "It's all busted in pieces on the floor—look!"

Truly enough the big glass lens, like a bull's eye was in one corner of the kitchen The little electric light had popped out from inside the flashlight case and the shiny, nickel ends were in other corners.

"Oh, my nice flashlight!" cried Uncle Wiggily, picking up the pieces. "How did it happen?"

"I gave it to Toofy to play with," explained Jingle. "I thought maybe she could cut some more teeth by biting on it. But, all of a sudden she dropped it and she blinked her eyes as she always does when she knows anything is going to hang hard. And then the light all went bust busted."

"Don't say busted," begged Uncle Wiggily. "Say broken."

"Well, busted is worse than broken and that's what your flashlight is," said Jingle. "I'm sorry, Daddicums—" She was almost ready to cry and Mrs. Longears knew if Jingle began to cry that Toofy would do the same so quickly the rabbit lady said:

"Pick up the pieces, Wiggy, my dear. Perhaps the light can be fixed."

"Yes, I think it can," Mr. Longears said, not wanting Jingle to feel unhappy. "The big, thick glass from the end isn't broken, anyway. And the dry batteries are all right. I guess if I get a new little lamp for inside my flashlight will shine again. But please don't let Toofy take it any more."

"I won't promised Jingle.

"And now come along with me and we'll go to the store and get a new lamp for inside the light," Mr. Longears said to Jingle as he picked up the pieces.

"Oh, thanks for asking me, Daddicums!" cried Jingle, who was happy again. Soon she was hopping along through the woods beside her father who carried the pieces of his flashlight in his pocket.

All of a sudden, as Jingle was running along, she tripped and stumbled and, before Uncle Wiggily could catch her, the little rabbit girl fell into a deep, puddle of water.

"Oh, blub! Glub! Wug! Help me out" blurted Jingle.

"Don't be afraid! I'll save you! cried Uncle Wiggily. Standing on the edge of the puddle, Uncle Wiggily lifted out his little rabbit girl. She wasn't hurt any but she was quite wet and so was her father, for she splashed him.

"Oh, I'll never get dry again! Never!" sobbed Jingle.

"Nonsense! Of course you'll get dry, and so will I" chuckled Uncle Wiggily. "I'll build a little bonfire here in the woods and we'll both get dry. Sit down on that stone and I'll make the fire."

But when Uncle Wiggily looked for his matches they had all fallen out of his pocket into the puddle. And you can't light wet matches.

"Oh, now we can't have a fire—" sighed Jingle.

"Yes we can!" her father said with a laugh. "The sun will light the fire for us through this hot glass I have." He took from his pocket the lens, or bullseye, glass from the flashlight. Gathering some sticks and a bit of dry paper, Uncle Wiggily held the lens glass in a bright ray of sunlight that shone on the pile. A tiny hot spot of light shone on the paper through the glass. Soon a little curl of smoke arose. In another moment the paper burst into flames which caught on the wood and soon there was a fine fire to dry Jingle.

"How did the glass from the flashlight make fire?" asked the bunny child. Then Uncle Wiggily told her how the curved glass, or lens, gathered a lot of sunshine into a tiny spot which was so hot that it set the paper on fire. The bullseye was a burning glass. Soon Jingle was dry.

Then she and her daddy hopped to the store and bought a new little lamp bulb for the flashlight and all was well.

'Fraid I can't stop and talk very long just now. Mother told me to hurry back. You won't think badly of my manners, if I do?

Oh yes, we always get both kinds of Bon Ami. Mother tells me, Remember, Bonnie, get both the Powder and Cake. But she doesn't have to, 'cause I get so much fun in cleaning with both of them. Mother and I go round the house together, cleaning the white woodwork, windows and mirrors with the Cake; and the bath-tub and all the have-to-be-shiny bathroom tiles with the nice, soft Powder. I never get tired with Bon Ami—it's so easy to use.

IN POLICE COURT

Fifteen cases were up before Magistrate Langley this morning in Traffic Court. Most of the cases were the result of vigilance on the part of Provincial Traffic Officer Hornick, but there were also several cases of speedsters in the city. In every instance a plea of guilty was entered. Fines ranged from $10 to $20 depending on the circumstances. The highest fine went out to a former local man, now resident of Toronto, who was given a chase down the Port Hope highway to a wedding party. In passing a car his speed carried him across the highway in corkscrew fashion several times, said the officer. An accident was narrowly averted.

Canada's Queen in the South was Miss Miriam Louise Cook, daughter o. Mrs. Cook and the late W. S. Twenty-five years ago the bride's parents were married in the same church by the Rev. Dr. S. Cleaver, who also performed the ceremony at Miss Cook's wedding.

The wedding music was played by Miss Ruth Cully. The bride wore a smart French jacket frock of printed silk in brown and yellow on a white ground. The long coat was of brown. With this costume, she wore a Baku hat in eggshell, with shoes to match. She wore a corsage bouquet.

HOLD TAG DAY IN SEPTEMBER

SHELTER REPORT.

At the regular meeting yesterday afternoon in the City Council Chambers of the card of Management of the Children's Aid Society, the last meeting of the Board until the Fall months, it was decided to hold the annual tag day sometime during the last of September, with Mrs. S. Newhall as convenor.

The Rev. Dr. R. C. Blagrave, president, was in the chair, and others present were Mesdames W. H. Gibbs, C. Wiggins, J. J. Lynch, L. Yeotes, J. Welsh, Messrs. J. Edgar, F. H. Dobbin, Jas. Abraham and Alderman Stocker.

The appointment of Mrs. W. H. Gibbs as supervisor of the interior of the Shelter was confirmed, as arranged at the last meeting.

The report of the Purchasing Committee was read by Mrs. Gibbs and Mr. Edgar gave the secretary's and superintendent's reports, also recording a bequest of $500 from the will of the late H. C. Stabler and the sum of $21 received from Norwood's tag day in aid of the society.

Mr. Edgar read a note from J. J. Kelso of Toronto, superintendent of the Children's Aid Societies of the province, saying that Hazel Clapper, a ward of the society who was recently involved in a fire in the district was getting along very well under supervision.

The members discussed the question of freeing themselves, if possible, of responsibility for a troublesome ward who is creating a great deal of inconvenience for the society, in various ways. The secretary was empowered to write to Mr. Kelso for advice on the matter.

There were 14 children in the Shelter during the past month, with 11 remaining at the end of May.

Mr. Edgar reported as follows: Applications for children, 2; children brought to the Shelter (not wards) 4; children placed on parole (not wards) 1; children returned to parents, 1; children involved, 27; sent to the Industrial School, 2; complaints received, 7; investigations made, 8; mail received, 49; mail sent out, 79; mileage covered, 1,050; Police Court attendance, 6; wards in foster homes heard from, 2; wards returned to the Shelter, 1.

LUX WINDOWS ARE ATTRACTIVE

WELL WORTH SEEING.

Shoppers have probably noticed some very attractive windows, put up by local window dressers for the grocery stores, featuring "Lux" soap. These windows are entered in a competition for three prizes, totalling $22.50, offered by The Examiner, and are also entered in a province-wide contest arranged by Lever Bros., makers of "Lux" soap. The windows so far prepared are all well worth seeing, and represent careful and artistic work by the window dresser. The Examiner hopes Peterborough will be successful in bringing one of the big cash prizes or more in response to the really creditable effort put forth by the local artists.

Stores whose window has not yet been put in, are advised to work out their idea of what such a display should be as soon as possible, and let The Examiner have the photos, as the contest ends July 5th.

REPORTERS BUSY AT BIG RALLY

Large Staff of Reporters Take Notes at Mackenzie King Meeting.

WIRES ARE RUSHED.

From Atlantic to Pacific, in the fishing hamlets of the Maritimes to the lonely farm dwellings on the prairies and the thriving ports of Vancouver and Victoria, Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King's speech delivered before a vast audience in this city last evening, appeared in print a few hours afterwards to be eagerly read by Liberals and equally eagerly looked over for loopholes by his opponents in the political fight.

The noon edition of The Examiner which has a wide circulation throughout the thriving farming communities of the four United Counties carried a comprehensive report of the meeting—the largest held in Peterborough for many years. Doubtless the many subscribers of The Examiner in common with the vast army of other newspaper readers throughout the Dominion, would take their papers and devour the political contents, unmindful of the twelve persons whose stock-in-trade comprised note book and pencil—the reporters, whose swiftly fleeting pencil points traced the main points of the speeches for reproduction in the daily press. Seated at the press tables they were at the same time amongst but apart from their fellows catching every word, carefully discriminating between those which would make 'copy' and those which of necessity must be discarded.

There was two Examiner reporters present, each of the four Toronto papers was represented and also the Canadian Press along with the Border Cities Star and one of the Montreal dailies.

Work for this little band started in earnest at the conclusion of the meeting and a return to the office saw reams of 'copy' churned from typewriters, in readiness for the linotype machine operators who transfer the spoken word, through reporter to cold hard print.

The onerous task of flashing the high lights of the Premiers wonderful oration, across the continent, devolved upon the telegraph operators of the C. P. R. and C. N. R., whose staff were augmented by reliefs from Toronto for the occasion.

DUNNING BUDGET GREAT STEP TOWARDS INTER-EMPIRE TRADE

Hon. W. R. Motherwell Declares Conservatives Would Jeopardize Trade if Elected.

IN MOOSEJAW SPEECH.

MOOSEJAW, Sask., June 18 (C.P.). —Speaking at a Liberal convention here last night, Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, declared that should the people of Canada put Hon. R. B. Bennett and the Conservative party into power at the election on July 28 they would jeopardize inter-Empire trade, the Hudson's Bay port and railway and grain standards which the Conservatives had interpreted in a lax manner every time they had been in power.

Hon. Dr. Motherwell was addressing the meeting which followed the nomination convention of the Moosejaw Federal Liberal constituency at which J. Gordon Ross, M.P., was again selected as standard-bearer.

The Dunning budget was the greatest forward stride towards inter-Empire trade ever taken by any commonwealth, was an outstanding declaration of Hon. Dr. Motherwell.

WEDDING BELLS

McMAHON—SCOTT.

A very pretty wedding took place at eight o'clock Tuesday morning, June 1, at St. Joseph's church,Douro, when Charlotte Agnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Scott, Douro, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Francis Joseph McMahon, son of Mr. and Mrs. John McMahon also of Douro. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father McGuire.

The bride, who was prettily attired in a beige dress of silk fist crepe, with hat, shoes and hose to match, entered the church to the strains of the Wedding March played by Miss Mabel Allen. She carried a beautiful bouquet of bridal roses, lily of the valley, and maiden-hair fern.

The bridesmaid, Miss Marie Leahy, was in a lovely gown of blue silk canton crepe, trimmed with sand, with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations and maiden-hair fern.

Mr. David McMahon acted as best man for his brother.

After the ceremony the bridal party motored to the home of the bride's parents, where a dainty repast was served to their many friends and relatives. The table was prettily arranged with flowers, and was centred by the bride's cake.

Mr. and Mrs. McMahon received a large number of gifts from their many friends. The gift of the bridegroom to the bride was a green gold necklet with topaz drop and tiny diamonds. To the bridesmaid, a white gold pendant with blue sapphire stone, and to the best man a pair of gold cuff links.

In closing, he spoke of the many excellent qualities of the deceased gentleman, who was one of Peterborough's most highly respected pioneers, and had reached the great age of ninety-four the day previous to his death.

The many beautiful floral tributes testified to the esteem in which the late Mr. Byers was held.

CONSERVATIVES OPEN CAMPAIGN

E. A. Peck Will Address Saturday Rally in Committee Rooms.

CONFIDENT OF SUCCESS.

"Having heard the Hon. W. L. Mackenzie-King express himself on the tariff question, I am now preparing to open my campaign," declared E. A. Peck, speaking to The Examiner this morning.

While realizing that a hard fight is to be fought in this constituency Mr. Peck is extremely optimistic as to the outcome. Organization work is now in progress and Mr. Peck will make his campaign headquarters in the office formerly occupied by F. G. Oke and Company, 390 George street. A customary Saturday night rally, to be held this week, will inaugurate the Conservative candidate's election addresses and will be followed by other meetings at which it is probable some of the outstanding speakers in the Consevative ranks will address Peterborough electors.

CITY CHURCHES

Evangelistic Services

The evangelistic services, which are still being continued in the Grand Opera, were well attended on Sunday. Rev. G. A. Chambers of Kitchener, Ont., spoke both afternoon and evening. In the afternoon on "The Sower and the Seed"—Matthew 13:1. He showed from the word of God how only ¼ of the people who listen to a gospel message, receive it into their hearts that it may bring forth fruit; verse 8. Also that only 1/3 of this ¼ are what God wants them to be—100 per cent. See verse 23.

At the evening service he spoke on "The Enduement of Power and what it means." This message was thoroughly enjoyed, and at the close a number sought God for a deeper experience. Rev. Chambers said in part: "I was pastor of a church for a number of years, and was all dried up and about done, when I prayed to God and told Him, I had to have more from God or quit preaching. God heard and baptized me with the Holy Ghost, and set me on fire for Him. I've been on fire ever since.

Beginning to-night for two weeks Evangelist Morris Ward and wife will be present. Both are accomplished musicians and Mr. Ward, a good expounder of the Word of God.

Everybody is heartily welcome to attend the services. Rev. and Mrs. Watson are in charge.

FERGUSON REPLIES TO MACKENZIE KING

Duty is to Defend Ontario Against Unfair Attacks

Ontario's Premier Issues Statement in Reply to Criticism of Prime Minister Mackenzie King in His Address in Peterborough on Tuesday.

DOMINION WAS CREATED BY PROVINCES AND FERGUSON IS INTERESTED IN ONTARIO'S RIGHTS

Premier King's Speech in House of Commons is Freely Quoted By Ontario's Premier in Showing Why His Government is Interested in Dominion Politics.

TORONTO, June 19. (C.P.) — "When the Prime Minister of Canada makes a statement on the floor of Parliament, declaring discrimination against any province, it is the bounden duty of the Prime Minister of that province to protest by voice and effort to defeat such unfair discrimination against the people whom he represents," says Premier G. Howard Ferguson, of Ontario, in a statement issued yesterday.

Mr. Ferguson's statement comes as the result of a speech made by Premier W. L. Mackenzie King at Peterborough on Tuesday night. The statement quotes Mr. King as saying — "Since when has the Premier of a Province dared to interject the management of the affairs of his Province into a Federal campaign. Let Mr. Ferguson look after his Province's affairs. I will attend to my business and look after the affairs of the Dominion. I was put into office to try to keep peace and not stir up ill-will."

Dominion Created by Provinces.

Mr. Ferguson says: "Mr. King appears to forget the fact that the Dominion of Canada was created by the Provinces. An agreement to combine into confederation was entered into and the respective rights of the newly created Dominion were distinctly defined. The Prime Minister of a Province represents all the people of that Province with respect to its rights just as fully as the Prime Minister of Canada represents the Dominion in dealing with its affairs. The attitude of Mr. King apparently is that the Federal Government is supreme in all matters. This is clearly indicated in his 'Five cent speech,' as well as by his statement with respect to the St. Lawrence development. I will deal with the latter matter on another occasion. Mr King says: 'Let Mr. Ferguson look after his Province's affairs.' I answer that that is exactly what I am doing. I am endeavoring to see that provincial rights are respected and that no unfair discrimination be shown against the Province I represent.

"Mr. King has endeavored to explain, excuse and deny the charge that he declared a policy of discrimination," the statement continued.

Shortly to Pass Judgment

"Since the people of Canada will shortly pass judgment on Mr. King and his government, I deem it my duty to recall to the public mind the incident in Parliament which will undoubtedly have an important bearing on the campaign. It is an issue which Mr. King has deliberately created and which touches the very foundation of our public life, and public morality.

Quotes Hansard.

Speaking on the subject of unemployment relief on April 3rd in the House of Commons, Mr. King said, according to the Hansard report:

"So far as giving money from this Federal treasury to Provincial governments is concerned, in relation to this question of unemployment as it exists to-day, I might be prepared to go a certain length pos-

GANGSTERS AND OFFICIALS ARE IN POLICE NET

Underworld Leader Confesses to Torture Methods Used By Kidnappers.

SEVERAL ARRESTS MADE

Tells Detailed Story of Kidnapping Racket in Detroit Over Ten Year Period.

DETROIT, Mich., June 19 (C.P.)—After police officials had made public a confession detailing torture methods used by a gang of kidnappers and murderers, a warrant charging Harry Hallisey, Howard Barklez, Ben Rubenstein, Joe O'Reardon, Stanley de Long, Jerry Mulane and Roy Cornelius with kidnapping and conspiring to kidnap was recommended to-day by James E. Chenot, Prosecuting Attorney.

The warrant is based on the complaint of Reuben J. Cohen, who was abducted August 2, 1928, and released two days later.

Mulane and O'Reardon are being sought. The others are either held on suspicion or in prison on other charges.

Police to-day announced they had obtained confessions involving a high police official and prominent attorney from Joseph (Legs) Laman, convicted kidnapper, and other members of Laman's gang of kidnappers and murderers.

Laman told a detailed story of the kidnapping racket in Detroit covering an almost ten years' reign of terror which culminated last year in the kidnapping and murder of David Cass, son of Gerson Cass, wealthy retired real estate man.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars ransom money was collected by the gang.

Laman said he decided to tell all he knew after he found he was "double crossed" by the police official in a kidnapping. Laman said $20,000 ransom money was left in an automobile and taken by the police.

Cohn was freed, but Laman received none of the money.

Torture Methods

Laman told of methods used to make victims write ransom letters. He said lighted matches, cigars and cigarettes were applied to their bodies. Eyelashes were pulled out. A hot iron was held close to their eyes or used to sear arms and legs. They were shown open graves and in several cases trussed up and made targets for "fancy" shooting, with bullets grazing their bodies.

Nearly all of the victims were tortured before they were asked to sign letters, Laman said, and most of them were eager to sign.

WOLF STORIES OF SOO ONLY PUBLICITY PLOT

TORONTO, Ont., June 19 (C.P.) — The truth is out.

On its editorial page The Sault Daily Star at last confesses that the wolf campaign was a successful plot to interest the rest of Canada and United States tourists in Algoma.

That campaign has been so successful that a bounty has been obtained from the Ontario Government on Canadian iron ore; new tariff provisions have been secured from the Dominion government for the Algoma steel plant, and tourists the continent over have heard about the incomparable playground.

Harris decided to-day.

OFFICIAL EMBEZZLES CITY'S RELIEF FUNDS

VANCOUVER, B.C., June 19 (C.P.)—George D. Ireland, discharged city relief officer, is under arrest on six charges of converting departmental trust funds to his own use. The sums named in the various warrants total $3,000.

The additional charges against the former relief department head were placed in connection with admissions made by him Tuesday to the City Council's select committee of enquiry.

Ireland was recently committed for trial on a charge of accepting commissions from restaurants handling relief department business.

PENSION BOARD GIVES REPORT TO COUNTY COUNCIL

211 PENSIONS GRANTED.

One Hundred and Twenty-seven Are Receiving the Maximum Amount.

The number of inmates in the House of Refuge is lessening as the Old Age Pensions Act continues to function in this County, Warden James Hawthorne declared in commenting on a report on the local County Pension Board presented to County Council in its session this morning. It is apparent that the assistance given to the old people in a direct way is making it possible for them to avoid the House of Refuge, he said.

H. B. Rye, chairman of the Board, made the report. A total of 211 pensions have been granted in the County, he revealed. Nine pensioners have died since their pensions were granted.

The pensioners are distributed over the County as follows, according to Mr. Rye's report: Asphodel, 6; Belmont and Methuen, 25; Burleigh and Anstruther, 12; Chandos, 16; Douro, 9; Dummer, 20; Ennismore, 12; Galway and Cavandish, 5; Harvey, 7; North Monaghan, 15; Otonabee, 16; Smith, 16; Lakefield, 3; Norwood, 9; Havelock, 22; House of Refuge, 12; House of rovidence and Ontario hospitals, etc., 6. One hundred and twenty-seven of the pensioners in the county are receiving the maximum pension allowance, $20 per month, Mr. Rye reported.

Few Appeals Made

"Few appeals have been made against the decisions of the Board" Mr. Rye said. "Some of our decisions have been revised by the Ontario Board but most have been sustained. We have also received a few notices from Ottawa suggesting reconsideration in certain cases."

"Do you think that a great many pensioners in the County are getting a square deal?" asked Councillor W. E. Griffith from Belmont and Methuen. He spoke of several pension cases were he claimed were of a very similar nature but had received different treatment by the Board.

Has Right to Appeal

"A lot depends on the information the Board gets and the information the applicants give themselves" Mr. Rye replied. "Every applicant has the right to appeal against the decision of the Board. We some times even find it very difficult to get reliable information from the officials of some of the municipalities in regard to the applicants."

TWO MOTORISTS DIE INSTANTLY AFTER BAD CRASH

Automobile and Truck Collide on Highway Near Springville.

GOING TO TORONTO.

Auto is Alleged to Have Swerved Into Path of Large Transport.

James J. Greer of 2095 Danforth avenue, and A. W. Peterson, commercial traveller, also of Toronto, were instantly killed when the sedan car in which they were travelling toward Toronto, was involved in collision with a transport truck and trailer owned by the McGlashen Transport Company, of Toronto, and driven by Percy Campbell of Bewdley.

The fatality occurred on the Peterborough-Port Hope Highway, less than one hundred yards north of the spot where T. R. Smith lost his life in another recent accident. The exact location was outside the residence of Harry Clarke.

Received Slight Injuries.

The truck driver, who was unaccompanied, received slight injuries from flying glass. His escape may be termed almost miraculous as his truck and trailer turned completely around and faced the opposite direction before it careened over on its side littering the roadway with all kinds of merchandise. Campbell was brought into the Standard Medical and Surgical Clinic in this city, by Dr. G. Murray-Fraser. The man afterwards left the Clinic and proceeded to the office of the Conger Coal Company, from which place all trace of him has been lost, by the Examiner and police, who endeavored to obtain his story of the accident.

It is learned that the automobile travelling south suddenly swerved over as it approached the transport. The driver of the transport endeavoring to avoid a smash, swerved but was hit broadside on the left side of the bonnet. The truck made a complete turn on the roadway, a remarkable fact due to its great length, while the car hurtled into the ditch on the east side of the road, landing on all four wheels and coming to rest facing in the same direction and parallel with the truck. The automobile was badly wrecked as also was the front part of the transport.

Comstock's ambulance was rushed to the scene to be closely followed by Provincial Police Constables H. Thompson and A. Somerville along with Traffic Officer Ted Hornick. The officers kept the traffic moving past the wrecked vehicles and proceeded to take measurements. Fred L. Roy was also summoned to take photographs of the disaster.

Rumor had it that a third man was riding in the automobile with the two victims of the fatality, although this is hardly thought to be a possibility as no third body was found in the vicinity.

Mrs. Harry Clark said that she heard the crash quite plainly. It happened at about 10.45 eastern standard time. She thought that it was her husband shovelling outside the house. As soon as she knew of the smash she phoned in to the Clinic at Peterborough.

Dr. Herbert Young, acting coroner, viewed the remains and stated death was due to skull fractures. An inquest has been ordered.

DATES ARE SET FOR EXHIBITION

Board Decides on Days Extending From September 8 to 15.

MIDWAY SECURED.

The six days extending from September 8 to September 15 were definitely fixed as the dates of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition at an overflow meeting of the Exhibition Board held last night. At a previous meeting there has been considerable discussion as to the advisability of changing the time of the exhibition to the last week in August, but last night after a week of individual consideration of the change it was unanimously decided that the exhibition be held in the second week in September.

A midway has been secured and it is thought that plenty of entertainment of a wholesome nature will be offered to every fun-seeker.

Chicago Police Commissioner Plans Extensive Campaign Against Crime

CHICAGO, Ills., June 18.—(C.P.)—John H. Alcock, the "Iron Man" who as been made acting commissioner of police today swung a two-edged sword that aimed at gangsters without the law and dishonest officers within.

The new commissioner had this injunction from Mayor Thompson:

"Your first job is to capture every gangster in Chicago. Your second is to get the evidence that will send every one of them either to the penitentiary or to the electric chair. You have a free hand. You will not be interferred with."

The murder of Alfred (Jake) Lingle, Tribune reporter, will have a prominent part in the investigation of gangster-political alliances, Alcock said, for authorities believe this slaying may provide the key both to gang domination and to police scandal.

In Alcock's opinion, 500 crooks cause virtually all the criminality in Chicago.

The acting commissioner, like his predecessor, William Russell, blamed prohibition and the selling of beer by means of syndicates for Chicago's recent crime situation.

MILEAGE ON SPEEDOMETER OF ROTARY CAR WAS 1841

Speedometer of Pontiac De Luxe Sedan Was Unsealed Before Huge Crowd of People at Rotary Carnival Last Night.

BIG TIME IS HAD BY HUNDREDS WHO ATTENDED FIRST CLUB CARNIVAL

Eighteen hundred and forty-one miles, was the speedometer reading on the Rotary Pontiac De Luxe Sedan, when the seals were removed last evening by His Worship Mayor Roland Denne in the presence of a vast gathering of people, who stood shoulder to shoulder in the lower end of the Market Square. Official witnesses to the breaking of the seal included Ross L. Dobbin, president of the Peterborough Rotary Club, Chief of Police Samuel Newhall, Alderman R. S. Cotton and Carl S. Browne. The announcement was made as the hands of the Market Town Clock pointed to 11.08 p.m., and provided a fitting finale to the Rotary Street Fair, which was in full swing from an early hour in the evening, and which was without doubt the most successful effort of its kind ever put over in this city.

Since May 19th last, on which day the car was placed on display at the corner of Charlotte and George streets, and started with the wheels jacked up and running by a pulley attached to an electric motor, and after the speedometer had been sealed by the Mayor in the presence of His Honor Judge Huycke and the Chief of Police, the car has completed 115 hours on the block, in addition to taking a trip to Belleville by way of Port Hope and Cobourg, returning by Campbellford and Norwood, and one trip to Lindsay, and a journey to Lakefield. Several trips were also made around this city for the purpose of ticket selling.

The ticket sale, which amounted to several thousand, has placed an onerous duty on the hands of the judges of the contest, who will perforce have to scan and sort each individual ticket in order to arrive at a just conclusion. It naturally follows that with such an enormous number of entries, there are bound to be several people with the correct mileage, as well as several hundreds of contestants whose guesses were miles off the mark; therefore it will be some days before an official announcement is made as to the holder of the ticket or tickets bearing the correct guess. Should there be more than one correct estimate, the winners will be obliged to draw for possession of the automobile.

On all hands people were heard discussing the result of the contest, and it was a common thing to hear them say that they were only a few miles out in their surmises.

All proceeds from this great and united effort are for the crippled children's work of the Rotary Club, and the car was sold to the club for this purpose by Andrew Brown for less than cost.

Boy Scouts Help.

From thirty to forty Boy Scouts, representative of all troops in the city, were marched from the Armouries under the direction of Scoutmaster G. Johnson of the 1st Peterborough and Troop Leader Francis McPherson. Headed by the Peterborough Rangers Regimental Band, the boys made a smart appearance and were invaluable in the assistance rendered

LIVES OF THREE CLAIMED IN CRASH AT R. R. CROSSING

Fourth Passenger Badly Injured in Accident Near St. Thomas.

DETROIT PASSENGERS

Automobile is Directly on Crossing When Struck By Locomotive.

ST. THOMAS, Ont., June 19.—(By the Canadian Press.)—Abe Lookman, aged about 38 years, and his wife, Mrs. Ida Lookman, aged about 36 years, 9640 Martindale North, Detroit, and Maurice Eisen, 398 Court street, Brooklyn, N.Y., were almost instantly killed about nine o'clock this morning when the automobile in which they were travelling from Detroit to Brooklyn was struck by Pere Marquette west-bound freight train No. 3, on what is known as the Shedden crossing, on King's Highway No. 3, about ten miles west of this city. Gertrude Swarzenger, aged 14 years, of St. Clair Shore, Michigan, the fourth passenger in the car, suffered a fractured limb and other injuries. She was brought to the Memorial hospital and is expected to recover.

Travelling in a Sedan.

The party was travelling in a sedan belonging to the Lookman's, and left Detroit early this morning. Lookman was driving while Eisen was in the front seat beside him. The two women were in the rear seat of the car, Mrs. Lookman sitting directly behind her husband.

The automobile was almost directly on the crossing when the locomotive struck it, carrying the car 187 feet along the tracks. The front right side of the automobile was jammed into a mass of wreckage. Eisen was still alive when taken from the car but died within a few minutes, before the ambulance arrived. Mr and Mrs. Lookman are believed to have been killed instantly, Lookman being crushed in behind the shattered steering wheel. Mrs. Lookman's head was horribly crushed.

Wearing apparel and luggage that was in the car was mixed in the wreckage and scattered about the ground.

Fast Rate of Speed

Witnesses of the accident reported that the automobile was being driven at a very fast rate of speed and did not slacken down for the crossing, although an eastbound and a westbound automobile were standing at the crossing, waiting for the freight train to pass.

A heavy rain was falling at the time which probably impaired the

BYRD WELCOMED BACK TO AMERICA

Antarctic Explorer Receives Big Ovation on Arrival in New York.

AWAY 18 MONTHS.

R. E. BYRD

The City of New York, with Byrd aboard, floated abreast of Quarantine at 4.07 a.m. (E.S.T.) with the first rays of a ruddy sun which dispelled the fog that had held the vessel outside the harbor since before midnight.

Awaiting the Byrd ship at quarantine were the Eleanor Boiling, the other vessel of the Antaretic expedition, which had arrived last night, and a host of craft gathered to escort the two barks of the exploring party on a gala procession up the bay.

Aeroplanes banked and shuttled overhead, private and commercial watercraft flanked the Byrd ships in irregular rows, and from the lower tip of Manhattan the official welcoming squadron of the City of New York, including on this occasion the municipal boats Macon, Riverside and Manhattan, started down the bay with bands playing and flags waving to greet the explorer and his party in the name of the city from which they departed almost a year and a half ago for the Antarctic.

SPECIAL AUTO HORNS ARE PLACED ON QUEEN'S CAR

LONDON, June 19 (C.P. Cable).—Something different in the ordinary routine of police training and instruction has appeared in the duties of the district police stations of the London area. Constables are hearing rehearsals of the special tune played by the unique horn which has been attached to the motor car used by Queen Mary.

The Queen, when on shopping tours or visits in London, uses an inconspicuous motor car and frequently has been held up in traffic. The only thing about the car to denote the identity of the Queen has previously been the absence of number-plates. Now, however, the car has been fitted with a special horn which comprises four small horns, producing a cheerful little tune which henceforth will be immediately recognized by policemen.

GERMANS WILL ATTEND OXFORD

ANNOUNCE DECISION.

LONDON, June 19 (C.P.). — Announcement of the decision to restore the German Rhodes Scholarships, suspended since the war, was made at the annual dinner of Rhodes Scholarship Trustees at Oxford last night.

Rt. Hon. Herbert Fisher, distinguish historian, warden of New College, Oxford, and former president of the Board of Education, in making the announcement, said that a certain number of German scholars would return to Oxford next term.

The Rhodes Scholarships at Oxford, Cecil Rhodes' old university, of a value of $2,000 annually, were originally founded for students in the British Dominions and Colonies, the United States and the German Empire. About 100 students from the British Empire and 96 from the United States have been in residence in the past few years.

AYRSHIRE MEN STUDY BREEDING AT LARGE PICNIC

AT MANN FARM.

Hear Instructive Addresses By Leading Cattle Experts.

The picnic held at the beautiful farm of Gordon Mann of Bridgenorth yesterday afternoon, under the auspices of the Central Ontario Ayrshire Breeders' Association, although somewhat marred by the inclement weather, provided the opportunity to a representative gathering of Ayrshire breeders and stockmen of hearing some splendid addresses relative to the breeding of this type of cattle.

It was intended to have dinner at noon, but this was dispensed with. Refreshments were available at a booth on the grounds.

After the barns and stables had been inspected, a tour which brought forth many favourable comments from the guests who were impressed with the care and consideration given to the farm home and its surroundings, Professor W. J. Bell, principal of Kemptville Agricultural School and Mr. Hunter of Grimsby district, recently appointed Provincial field man for the Ayrshire Breeders' Association, gave talks on type and the possibilities connected with the breeding of Ayrshires. They also conducted a judging class, which was divided into three sections after which they made special mention of the sire and stated that they found the remainder of the stock to be in the pink of condition. The mature class of cows were placed by the ladies present.

J. B. Nelson, agricultural representative for Peterborough county addressed the gathering and in an interesting manner placed before his audience the need of better live stock and of the condition in this direction as he finds it in this county.

J. F. Strickland, K.C., M.P.P., E. A. Peck, M.P. and J. J. Duffus also contributed to the success of the meeting by their addresses on matters of interest to agriculturists and stockmen.

Wm. Knox, livestock field man for the county was present along with a number of directors of the Peterborough Exhibition Board, including Tom Brown, Tom Cruickshank, V. Eastwood, J. B. Cowan, Ernest Smith, D. B. Falkner manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Peterborough.

Aleck Hume of the firm of Aleck Hume and Son, of Campbellford, one of the oldest Ayrshire breeders in the district, was an interesed participant in the proceedings and was accompanied by the Peoples Brothers and Mr. Stuart, also of Campbellford.

Accident Mars Outing Of Ex-Kaiser Family

AMSTERDAM, Holland, June 19 (C.P.). — An accident which brought injuries to several of his guests and servants marred an outing of the former Kaiser, William Hohenzollern, and his family yesterday.

Wilhelm, with his wife, the Princess Hermine, and about ten members of his household were guests of the Countess Pannewitz in two boats on Lake Kaag, near Layden, when an explosion was heard on one of the boats.

The boat, which was not that on which the former Kaiser and Princess Hermine were riding, burst into flames and sank rapidly. The other boat immediately went to the aid of passengers and crew and pulled them aboard.

TO TAKE NO PART IN LABOR PARLEY

Baldwin Declines to Accept MacDonald's Bid to Unemployment Meeting.

ASKS FOR DATA.

(Canadian Press Cable)

LONDON, June 19.—It is understood that the Right Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Conservative Leader, has declined to accept the invitation of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald to participate in a conference of the three party Leaders on the emergency of unemployment.

Mr. Baldwin's reply was sent to the Prime Minister after consulation with leading Conservatives.

These advisers, it is said, took the view that Conservative abstention from the conference would not prevent the Government from introducing to the House of Commons any measures they might evolve to meet the critical situation. The Conservatives pointed out that these measures, should they win the support of the Right Hon. David Lloyd George and his Liberal followers, Mr. Lloyd George having pledged cooperation in any "sound and effective" legislation would be passed by the House.

The Conservatives feel the present Government is incapable of dealing with unemployment, and resent Mr. MacDonald's refusal to allow the Opposition access to official data on the present condition of trade, industry and unemployment. With insufficient material to go upon, the Conservative chieftains submitted, the party could not promulgate any constructive action, as it would like to do, but must be merely a rubber stamp for the Labor Government's plans.

GLIDER PLANT PROVES FAKE

Employees Were Asked to Invest $100 Each and Then Men Got Out.

TWO UNDER ARREST.

TORONTO, Ont., June 19 (C.P.) — A new racket has been uncovered here by the arrest of R. McKay Turnour and J. V. Hill at Hamilton. The men were brought to Toronto this morning by police who charge the pair with fraudulently securing monies to the amount of $5,000.

Their racket, according to the police, was to open up a plant where gliders were to be manufactured. Employees, of whom there were 35, were requested to invest $100 each in the business, it is alleged.

Last week a bailiff took possession of the factory and the doors were locked. Turnour and Hill left the city and yesterday it was learned they were in Hamilton presumably on their way to the United States with $5,000 invested by the employees.

DISCUSS NIPISSING NOMINATION

OTTAWA, Ont., June 19 (C.P.).—Conferences were in progress yesterday with Liberal party leaders in an effort to reconcile the two factions for the Liberal nomination in Nipissing. At the convention recently, Theo Legault won the nomination by one vote over E. A. Lapierre, the former sitting member for the riding. Owing to the close result it was decided to discuss the candidature with Senator N. A. Belcourt and Senator Andrew Hayden in Ottawa. Neither Mr. Legault nor Mr. Lapierre would say anything regarding the matter last night, pending conclusion of the conference to-day.

COUNCIL ASKS GOVERNMENT TO REVISE ITS OWN VOTERS' LISTS

Finance Committee of County Council Believe Assessment on Townships is Unfair.

GRANTS RECOMMENDED.

A resolution asking the Ontario Government to take over the expenses of revising voters' lists for Provincial elections and any other expenses which the townships at present are forced to bear, was unanimously passed by the Finance Committee of the Peterborough County Council yesterday afternoon. It reads:

"Be it resolved that this council memorialize the Provincial Government to take over all the costs of Provincial elections including those incurred in the revision of the voters' lists."

The resolution was proposed by F. D. McIntyre (Otonabee). During the discussion on the question sums between $120 and $180 were mentioned by councillors as the costs of the last Provincial election to their townships. The view that the Provincial elections are entirely Provincial matters and that all expenses should be borne by the Province, was general among the councillors. The Government has enough money to pay its own costs, it was claimed.

The resolution will be forwarded to the Attorney-General's department and to all the counties of Ontario.

The Finance Committee passed a motion endorsing a resolution of the Wentworth County Council which asks the Ontario Government to take over the entire burden of the maintenance of Provincial highways.

Reasons given with the resolution passed by the Wentworth Council were generally endorsed by the local men. With the resolution is the declaration that taxation is so heavy in rural municipalities that the rural population is finding it difficult to remain on the farms and that the heavy cost of maintenance of Provincial highways is being greatly increased on account of increased mileage and must result in further increases in rural taxation. It is also stated in the resolution that the Government has increased the gasoline tax for the purpose of providing a measure of relief to rural municipalities in road expenditures.

The following resolution made by the Lincoln County Council and forwarded to the Peterborough County Council was also indorsed by the Finance Committee:

"That sub-section 1, of Section 20, chapter 28, R.S.O., dealing with the registration of births by medical practitioners and Section 21 of the same Act dealing with the registration of births by parents be amended so as to read: "That such registration should be made in the municipality in which the parents reside."

The sum of $150 to the Canadian Legion in Peterborough and $100 to the Legion in Lakefield was granted. The Red Cross Outpost Hospital at Apsley was granted $350.

McINTYRE PORCUPINE MINES TO BUILD 2,000-TON MILL

TORONTO, Ont., June 19 (C.P.)—Officials of McIntyre Porcupine Mines, Limited, have announced a new mill, with a capacity of 2,000 tons is to be constructed at once in the vicinity of the No. 11 shaft on their property in the Kirkland Lake district.

A new dryhouse will be erected, it was said, and the office and shops removed from their present location. The present mill has been operating at about 1,500 tons daily and, when the new mill is completed, the present one will be salvaged. The new flotation process, with which McIntype engineers have been experimenting, will be used in the proposed mill.

BUMPER CROPS ARE EXPECTED

Present Rains Most Beneficial to Farmers of This District.

MOISTURE IN THE WEST.

Farmers' smiles grow wider and farmers' hopes mount higher to the tip-tip tune of the gentle falling warm rains. Every-where throughout this wide district this week's rains were greeted with heartfelt thanks by farmers. The rains are at this time of inestimable value to the crops, stated William Knox, field man of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition, today. It will help the heading wheat, give the root crop a great start, and bring along a rich clover crop. "Certainly these rains could not come at a better time and their worth cannot be estimated in dollars," said Mr. Knox.

According to the weather reports, the West is enjoying the same fine rains and everything is propitious for big crops.

ILLINOIS CASE THREATENS BILL

Canadian Interest in Michigan Water "Grab" Discussed at Washington.

IMPORTANT PROBLEM.

WASHINGTON, D.C., June 19 (C.P.)—The great struggle over diversion of water from Lake Michigan between Illinois and the other Lake States with Canada as an interested observer, threatens to prevent passage of the $122,000,000 Rivers and Harbors Bill.

Canadian interest in the abstraction of water from Lake Michigan and its diversion from the St. Lawrence to the Mississippi watershed has been made ample use of in the course of debate.

Senator Blaine has said that if power over the amount of diversion were lodged in the War Department it might bring the United States into conflict with Canada, which would "of course have no other recourse than a recourse to arms."

Senator Norris of Nebraska intervened to say he thought a tribunal would be appointed to decide between the two countries.

DHARAR TRIBE STAGES REVOLT

Considerable Damage Done to Villages in Kaira District By Rioters.

NATIONALIST PROPAGANDA.

LONDON, June 19 (C.P.)—A Bombay dispatch to The London Daily Mail to-day said the Dharar tribe in Gujerat had revolted. Excited by Nationalist propaganda urging them to boycott the police, 500 members of the tribe, armed with guns, bows, arrows, and bill hooks raided a village in the Kaira district and another village nearby. They did considerable damage.

WARDEN NELSON HOST AT PICNIC AT PRESQU'ILE

Council of Northumberland and Durham Takes Day Off.

NOTES OF SESSION.

How Valuators Applied Their Method to Campbellford.

(By a Staff Reporter)

COBOURG, June 19.—The counties council precincts were deserted Wednesday while the members and their friends were off to Presqu'ile as guests of Warden W. H. Nelson.

For years the warden's picnic has been traditionally across the lake to Rochester, but it had lost its novelty and appeal, and during the last few years some of the members had passed it up. Warden Nelson decided to break away from the picnic precedent that had come down to him, and selected Presque'ile for his outing. The weather failed to co-operate with him until about two o'clock when the rain cleared and the sun broke away from the clouds and fog for the rest of the afternoon.

Only the three valuators remained in the council chambers, engaged in preparing estimates of a proposed equalized assessment should their help be desired.

Thursday morning the equalization committee return to its task, and several other committees, schools and Roads and Bridges will meet for the first time. At this session they have been forced to wait on the background until the equalized assessment was adjusted as the basis of the county tax rate.

The following tabulated lists are a continuation of extracts from the valuators' statements:—

Cavan Township

The following table sets out the names of farm owners in Cavan, acreage, local assessment, and the valuation reported by the three valuators:—

	Assess.	Value.
F. Dawson (140)	$6,900	$10,000
D. McGill (100)	4,000	5,000
D. Larmer (100)) ..	3,900	6,000
E. Eagleson (100) ...	4,500	6,500
R. Greer (100)	5,400	7,000
T. Donaldson (100) .	2,500	5,500
T. W. Belch (175) ..	7,200	10,000

W. Elson (150)	5,100	8,300
H. Dawson (97)	2,800	5,000
L. Sutton (100)	100	200
P. H. Snider (236) ..	6,900	11,500
W. Nill (150)	4,800	8,000
E. Allen (150)	6,100	10,000
H. Rowan (100)	3,700	6,000
R. C. Hanbidge (100)	3,000	5,000
J. Sanderson (100) .	4,000	6,500
T. H. Seney (100) .	3,600	6,000
R. D. Armstrong (147)	3,000	6,800
F. Fallis (200)	8,400	11,500
H. Ball (150).....	5,700	10,500
	$100,000	$160,800

If $100,000 was adopted as 6 per cent of Cavan's local assessment, then $160,800 was approximately 6 per cent. of the actual value of the township. The valuators fixed this total at $2,677,500 without business or income figures. The present equalized assessment is $1,931,765.

FRONTENAC COUNTY WOMAN CELEBRATES 97TH BIRTHDAY

Mrs. William Middleton Quite Active Despite Great Years.

ENJOYS READING

KINGSTON, June 19.—(Special to The Examiner.)—Mrs. William Middleton, Verona, in Frontenac county, to-day celebrated her ninety-seventh birthday. She is quite active, can go up and down stairs and help in the household work. She is interested in reading and can do so without using glasses. She likes the newspapers, likes her Bible and Christian literature and spends much time in this delightful occupation. She enjoys company, is a ready conversationalist and can recall the sturdy pioneer days when she helped in developing Ontario, and bringing it up to a splendid state of efficiency. She has seen the meagre farm utensils magically been transformed and the hand has been replaced by the machine.

Mrs. Middleton was born in Leeds county, near the village of Elgin. Her maiden name was Clarisa Wheeler. About 76 years ago she married and located at Sharbot Lake, where she raised a splendid family, seven of them living. She lives at Verona—and has for the past fifteen years—with her daughter, Mrs. Jones, who has most faithfully cared for her as well as for an invalid sister, Miss Sophia Middleton. The others of the family are Schuyler, Verona, aged 75; Albert and Henry at Sharbot Lake. The daughters, besides the two mentioned, are Mrs. John Smith and Mrs. William Jackson, Brockton, Mass. Mrs. Middleton has been a widow for over thirty years.

The people of Verona were greatly interested in the notable event and warmly congratulated Mrs. Middleton on her great age, accompanied by such vivacity of manner and physical endowments. The elderly ladies of the village in the afternoon turned out to assist in the celebration of the anniversary. Mrs. Middleton was brought up a Baptist, but that denomination not being available she has found comfort and happiness in the United church.

BENNETT WILL VISIT COBOURG

Campbellford Conservatives Hold First Get-together—Milton Maybee, M.P., Present.

Bennett To Be Broadcast.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 19. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent.)—A large and enthusiastic committee meeting of Campbellford Conservatives was held on Tuesday evening in the local committee rooms, when business was discussed and arrangements for the coming campaign made. Robert Lowery, president of the Conservative Association was in charge, and other prominent men included Milton Maybee, M.P., J. F. McArthur, of the Provincial house, Mayor Belford and Mayor C. H. Davidson, who in turn addressed the gathering. Mr. Maybee, during the course of his address stated that it had been arranged that the Hon. R. B. Bennett, would speak once in the riding during the campaign. This date had been set for June 24th, and the place Cobourg. It would be an evening meeting, and a National Broadcast.

REV. L. MORROW TO BE GUEST PREACHER

Dr. Scott McKenzie Unable to Attend St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Anniversary, Campbellford.

Campbellford, June 19. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent.)—Word has been received here by the Rev. Dr. W. J. Mark, that the Rev F. Scott McKenzie, principal of Montreal College, who was to have been the guest preacher at At. Andrew's Presbyterian Church anniversary services on Sunday, June 22nd, will be unable to be present. Dr. McKenzie, in his communication, expressed his regret to the Session and Congregation for his absence, but intimated that he had received a call from the Maritime Synod, now in session, that he was required there in the interests of the college.

To overcome this difficulty, Dr. Mark has made arrangements for the Rev. Lloyd Morrow, M.A., Phd., of Knox College, Toronto, to fill the pulpit on the 22nd. Dr. Morrow is a well known figure in the church, and a preacher of outstanding ability.

ST. ANDREW'S Y.L.M.C. HOLD FINAL MEETING

Campbellford Society Hear Report of Provincial W.M.S. and Appoint Supply Secretary.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 19. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent.)—The final meeting of the summer season for St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Young Ladies Mission Circle, was held on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Walter Badgley, at the electrical power plant No. 6.

One of the matters taken up at the business session was the shipment of the Bale. This was left to the care of Miss Minnie Stephens. The bale allocation report was read by the secretary, Mrs. Cecil McLean, which proved very satisfactory.

A report of the Provincial Annual W.M.S. held recently in Toronto, was read by the society's delegate, Mrs. John Storie. This was interesting to the extreme, and showed the work that was being accomplished by the women's organizations of the Presbyterian Church.

At the close of the meeting, a very dainty lunch was served by the hostess, Mrs. Badgley, before the guests departed.

Council Notes

The rural members yielded to an odious innovation and moved their watches an hour ahead of the inviolate clocks back home. At that, some of them forced the issue to a vote; others were willing to compromise in the spirit of "in Rome fall in line with the Romans".

Reeve M. J. Holman of Clarke township has received the congratulations of most of his colleagues upon his nomination as Liberal candidate in Durham county. An ultra-hardshell Tory or two were apparently unaware of Mr. Holman's venture. Seemingly the news had not got round to them. Others were probably more inclined to commiserate him in his invasion of the field where the Hon. Vincent Massey fell four years ago.

Fred Bowen, a former Warden of the United counties, has been the federal member for Durham nearly ten years, but in spite of this formidable opponent, Reeve Holman decided to keep the Liberal flag flying in Durham.

Mrs. Edith Kerr Macdonald, Reeve of Cobourg, obviously sacrificed her personal feelings to her sense of public duty by attending the present sessions, which opened Monday ,only two days after the death of her brother, the late crown Attorney W. F. Kerr, K. C.

Reeve J. M. Bygott of Campbellford was informed by counties clerk MacNachtan that the present printing contract does not terminate until Feb. 28, 1931.

Major MacNachtan turned a little nestegg of $71.70 to the treasury. In going through the drawers of his office he found a bank book which had been kept by his father, the late Col. N. F. MacNachtan, whom he succeeded. It was the account book of the Patriotic Fund during the war, disclosing its small balance.

R. A. Hutchinson, turnkey at the jail, asked for an increase of $200 a year, His salary is $800.

The Council approved the recommendation of the Finance Committee to issue $100,000 ten-year debentures as a means of reducing the counties' debt for provincial highway construction and maintenance.

By standing votes the Council expressed its sympathy to two of its members recently bereaved: Mrs. Edith Kerr Macdonald, reeve of Cobourg, in the death of her brother W. F. Kerr, K.C., and Frank Rickard, reeve of Newcastle, in the death of his wife.

Band Grant Requests.

Major F. W. McMahon of Port Hope and Major Bygott of Campbellford asked for grants of $250 each for the regiments of Durham and Northumberland. This money was especially needed for the maintenance of the regimental bands.

The Department of Education assumes after July 1 the appointment of public school inspectors and also the payment of their salaries. The letter conveying this announcement was referred to the Schools Committee.

DUTY IS TO DEFEND ONTARIO

sibly in meeting one or two of the western provinces that have Progressive Premiers at the head of their governments.

"Some Hon. Members—"Oh!"

Mr. Mackenzie King—"But I would not give a single cent to any Tory Government."

Mr. Bennett—"Shame!"

Mr. Stevens—"Shame!"

Mr. Mackenzie King—"Do my hon. friends say 'Shame'?

Mr. Bennett—"Yes, shame!"

Mr. Mackenzie King—"What is there to be ashamed of?"

Mr. Stevens—"You ought to be ashamed of that."

Mr. Mackenzie King—"My hon. friend is getting very indignant. Something evidently has got under his skin. May I repeat what I have said? With respect to giving moneys out of the Federal treasury to any Tory government in this country for those alleged unemployment purposes, with these governments situated as they are to-day, with policies diametrically opposed to those of this government, I would not give them a five-cent piece"

Are Remarks to Be Tolerated

As I am not aware of any situation which would justify Mr. King's extraordinary utterances, I propose to ask the people of Canada to consider and decide whether he actually made those remarks, and whether they are to be tolerated by a British community.

"What evidence is necessary in addition to the official record to establish that Mr. King delivered the utterances attributed to him; one turns naturally to the daily press, which has its representatives in the Press Gallery of the House of Commons, and one may check up their reports with the notes of Hansard stenographers sitting on the floor of the House.

With the statement: "Will not be accused of going to an unfriendly source if I put Liberal paper in the witness box," the Ontario Premier, to substantiate his argument, then quotes the Ottawa despatches to The Toronto Globe and The Toronto Star in connection with the "five cent" incident appearing in the issues of the papers on April 4. He also quotes editorial comment under the heading "Muddled by Politics" appearing in The Globe of April 5.

Mr. Ferguson concluded:

"I could quote many other newspapers to the like effect. Indeed, I venture to say that no newspaper in Canada containing a report of the proceedings in Parliament on that day failed to report the astounding utterance of Mr. King, or placed anything other than the obvious interpretation upon it.

"I submit, therefore, that this offensive statement uttered by Mr. King in declaring his policy and attitude towards the people of the various provinces is proved beyond any possible contradiction.

"In bringing this matter to the attention of the electorate, I am to quote Mr. King 'looking after the affairs of my province. I leave it to the people, not only of Ontario, but of Canada as a whole, to say whether they will tolerate such a vicious doctrine."

QUICK PILE RELIEF

No Salves or Cutting

Pile sufferers can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—bad blood circulation in the lower bowel. Cutting and salves can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, succeeds, because it removes this blood congestion and strengthens the affected parts

HEM-ROID tablets as sold by druggists everywhere, have such a wonderful record for quick and lasting relief, that McDermid & Jury, Bond's Drug Store always sell them with guarantee of money-back if they do not end all Pile suffering.

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

TORONO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, June 19.—Receipts at the yards yesterday morning were 364 cattle, 76 calves, 755 hogs, 275 sheep and lambs.

The fresh supply of cattle was light as the result of a weak market earlier but there were some 1,200 head held over from Tuesday, added to the offering fresh supplies at the opening. Trade continued inactive with practically no sales of cattle up to 11 o'clock. Bids are slightly lower than the 75 cents a hundred weight decline of the week and prospects are that prices will show a falling off of nearly one dollar for the week's trading. At Tuesday's close choice veals were selling at 9 cents a pound and best cows at 7¼ cents. Common steers were low at 6½ cents a pound. There were not enough sales yesterday morning to provide definite price quotations

Calves were in light supply with a weak market. Good calves in the early sales showed a decline of 50 cents a cwt., prices ranging from 8 to 9 cents a pound. Common calves sold downward to 5 cents. Spring lambs are selling steady with Tuesday's advance at 13½ cents a pound for the bulk of choice, with culls downward to 6 cents. Sheep were in a very poor demand with none sold up to 11 o'clock and bids were as low as 4 cents a pound on fairly good light ewes.

TORONTO PRODUCE.

TORONTO, June 19. — Canadian cherries and gooseberries, both sweet and sour, made their appearance on the local market yesterday, and joined strawberries in the domestic fruits class. But there were only a few 6-quart baskets offered, and the demand was only fair. The sweet cherries looked as if they had been picked too soon, but they were offered at $1 to $1.50 a basket, and the cooking cherries were quoted at 75c to $1 or $1.25. Six-quart baskets of gooseberries sold at $1.25 to $1.50, and looked to be of high quality.

Strawberries were arriving in good-sized lots at all the dealers, and prices were lower on quarts only. Pints sold from 7½c to 15c for good quality, with some small, poor berries as low as 6c. Quarts were offered at 15c to 20c, a 5c drop from Tuesday. Dealers reported the demand as only fair for this fruit, but expected to clear the stock arriving.

Beets were not quite so plentiful, and the prices ranged from 30c to 40c a dozen bunches, with plenty of sales made at 40c.

Green peas sold from $1 to $1.25 for 11 quarts, and 60c to 75c for 6 quarts; quality good, but not very large. There was a good supply on hand and the demand was fair.

Asparagus, 11-quart baskets, dropped to $1 to $1.50. There was plenty of good stock offered, but the demand seemed to have shrunk. Buyers were indifferent.

Hothouse tomatoes were arriving in fairly large quantities from local points, and were quoted at 15c to 20 per lb.

Canadian cabbage was selling well at $3.50 a case, and the lots offered were of good quality.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, June 19.—A feature of the Canadian cash grain trade here yesterday was the weakness that developed for all grades of wheat, and values were reduced 2 cents per bushel.

Potatoes held the center of the stage on the local dairy and produce markets. No. 1 quality new potatoes from Virginia arrived today, and were offered at $8 per 160-lb. barrels; while No. 2 grades sold at $5.25. There were good arrivals of old potatoes from New Brunswick, and prices eased 10 cents to $2 per 90 lbs., in bulk.

The trade in butter and cheese was moderately active, and values were steady. Butter receipts were 121 boxes, and cheese receipts were 1,619 boxes.

There was little demand for eggs, and values for all grades unchanged. Receipts were 1,109 cases.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 19.—Record low prices for grain went hand-in-hand yesterday, with fresh severe flattening out of stock market values. Much notice by wheat traders was also taken of statements ascribed to Chairman Alexander Legge of the Federal Farm Board that no Government sponsored purchasing of surplus domestic wheat would be dont until an emergency be declared.

Evidence of sharp curtailment of foreign buying of United States wheat had a further bearish influence, and so, too, did measures taken abroad, apparently as a counterbalance against effects of the new tariff enacted at Washington.

Following a maximum downward smash of 4¼c a bushel, however, wheat partly recovered, owing more or less to reports that the Canadian outlook is still dubious. Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, 1⅝ to 2¼c lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed ⅝ to 1¼c down; oats, ¼c to ⅝c off; and provisions showing 10c to 25c drop.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, June 19. — Most of Tuesday's gains went by the board as bears rushed the wheat market yesterday, pounding prices back to near the dollar-a-bushel mark. Only a late session move from the low levels saved the market from finishing at close to its record depths.

Disappearance of export demand, weakness at Liverpool and plunging stock quotations in the principal financial markets contributed to wheat's weakness. Volume of business was heavy, with more of the heavy offerings coming from commission houses.

Cash wheat attracted little attention, holders refusing for the most part to part with their stocks, and the demand being light in any case. Coarse grains eased off.

MILLERS WIN O.L.A. GAME BY 7-2 COUNT

First Game of Intermediate Lacrosse Schedule Played at Campbellford.

HOMESTERS HOLD EDGE.

Cowell, Whitton and Copperthwaite Play Good Combination For Winners.

(By Examiner Staff Correspondent)

CAMPBELLFORD, June 19.— The first home game for Campbellford in the schedule of the O.L.A. was played here yesterday evening, when Millbrook took the field against the home team, and went down to defeat with a score of 7 to 2. The game, which was watched by a large crowd of fans, numbering among them old lacrosse players of many years ago, was quick and to the point, and proved the strength of both lineups.

As the score implies, Campbellford had the edge on the game, but in the first two periods both nets received their share of shots. Millbrook put up a strong defence, and some of their rushes and long shots were dangerous and tried the ability of the Campbellford net keeper, Sanders. Fisher and Tate for Millbrook, played a good combination, and kept the play going, while King specialized in lone rushes. For the Campbellford aggregation, Cowell bore a great deal of the play, with Whitton and Copperthwaite displaying some fine pass work.

The teams were as follows:

Campbellford— Goal, P. Sanders; point, T. Little; cover point, Huck McArthur; 1st defence, V. Cochrane; 2nd defence, L. Blanke; 3rd defence, J. Cowell; center, S. Flint; 3rd home, Owen Hendy; 2nd home, L. Copperthwaite; 1st home, M. Reid; outside home, Buster Whitton; inside home, Bechie Jack; subs., W. Blue, H. Lambert and L. Bush.

Referee—Albert Armstrong, Havelock.

The Play

In the first period, Whitton led off for Campbellford, but was checked before he reached the Millbrook goal. The play then passed to the other end of the field, and for some minutes it became hot round the Millers' net. After about five minutes play, Flint got the ball and passed to Copperthwaite, who rushed up field and passed to Cowell, but he shot wide. The play then ranged all over the field, until Flint again obtained possession of the ball, and passed to Cowell, who rushed and scored, drawing first blood for Campbellford. Millbrook then stood on her toes, and the game became a tussle in front of Campbellford's net, with a break away by Blue who was checked. Millbrook scored their first goal a little before the end of the period, when Sloan shot a low drive from a pass from Shaw. Fisher made several rushes for Campbellford's goal, but was checked. These were returned by Hendy and McArthur, but with no effect.

Score at the end of the first period, 1-1.

Second Period

In the second period Copperthwaite netted the ball for Campbellford after five minutes of play in centre field. This was followed by a run from centre line by Shaw of Millbrook, who shot, but carried high. The game then became a series of rushes by Blue, Whitton, Shaw and Goodfellow, which all received checks. Ingram made a pretty long shot at Campbellford's goal, which missed, and Cowell proved a strong defence against the Millbrook rushes.

Jack scored the second count for Campbellford in this period, from a pass from Whitton, which was followed very closely by a third which was netted by Blake from a pass from behind the net. The rest of the time the play was in front of Campbellford's goal, Millbrook making a determined effort to break the score. Score at the end of second period, 4-1.

Third Period.

The third period started off with some stiff play in front of Campbellford's net. This ranged to centre field after some minutes when Millbrook made a determined struggle to net the ball, but after play in front of the Campbellford house was checked. Then started a series of rushes on the Campbellford goal which ended in Fisher scoring the second goal for Millbrook. This was again closely followed by another count for Campbellford, when Cowell scored on a pass from McArthur. After this the play became brisk, most of it being in centre field, King of Millbrook put all he had into reaching the Campbellford goal but came up against McArthur, who proved too strong a defence. Score at the end of the third period, 5-2.

In the last period the play was fast and furious, and ranged from net to net. Millbrook did their best to break away and score, but were met with too strong a defence. Before the first half of the period was over, Cowell had netted the ball twice for Campbellford, despite several fine pieces of play by Fisher, who worked hard enough to net the ball but failed. The latter half of the period was featured by a pretty shot by King which proved too high, and a long shot by McArthur, which was too wide. Before the bell rang, Campbellford had punished the Millbrook goal, but were driven off in a splendid defensive play.

Game Was Clean.

The game as a whole was clean, and comparatively free from penalties, there only being four, all for Millbrook. In the first two periods the play was smooth, and evenly divided, but toward the end of the game became bunched, and lacked the combination and style that marked the start. Ab Armstrong handled the whistle with a good grace.

to the Fair Committee throughout the evening.

All roads seemed to lead to the Market Square, where King Carnival reigned supreme. Even the weather man who scowled on the workers as they erected the booths in the afternoon, was carried away by the spirit of the occasion and provided an interval of perfect weather in his wholehearted co-operation.

It is too early to hazard any idea as to the amount of money raised for the crippled children, yet it must run into a considerable sum. The ticket selling competition was participated in by five teams headed by Chris Graham, Tom Dutton, E. G. Gordon, Jack Gillespie, and C. H. Roger, who disposed of thousands of tickets in all parts of the district.

Wondeffal Enthusiasm.

Giving ample evidence of the wonderful community spirit of co-operation and goodwill, the citizens who attended the street fair and who did not attend, opened up their purse strings in their willingness to forward the Rotary work among the crippled children.

Stalls gaily decorated with the tricolors sprang up on the Market Square in the afternoon under the direction of the Street Fair Committee, whose chairman, J. H. Seels, handled arrangements in a manner which would have done credit to a circus "boss." Volunteer helpers were not lacking when the Fair got in full swing at seven o'clock, and each of the numerous stalls was taken over by a gang of competent "barkers," each trying to outdo the other in their insistent bids for patronage.

One of the most attractive stalls in the Fair was that of the Rotary ladies' flower and sandwich stall under the direction of Mrs. Rogers, which was situated next to the Peek Inn, a stall with a decidedly Oriental atmosphere, in charge of Mrs. F. L. Roy and a number of willing helpers.

THE NEW AMERICAN TARIFF.

The coming into effect with the signing of the Hawley-Smoot bill by President Hoover of the new United Statts tariff schedule will have a marked effect upon many Canadian products.

It is estimated that Canadian trade to the amount of $75,000,000 a year will be affected by the tariff increases, which run all the way from 20 to 180 per cent.

To show how the new scale will concern Canadians the following figures referring to exports from this country into the United States last year may be quoted: Cattle, $13,906,547; beef, $4,400,000; hides, $9,244,000; leather, $7,091,000; lumber, $10,000,000; potatoes, $3,800,000; maple sugar and syrup, $2,800,000; cream, $5,225,000, and fish, $1,000,000.

It will be seen that all sections of Canada are to some degree hit by the change; the Maritimes in the matter of fish and potatoes, our own Province and Quebec by reason of the increased duties on milk and cream and maple syrup, British Columbia by the duties on softwood lumber and the Prairie Provinces because hides and leather have been removed from the United States free list.

THE GROWTH OF TOURIST TRADE.

Figures compiled by Natural Resources indicate that the rise in the value of Canada's tourist trade during the last ten years has been little short of phenomenal.

Estimates of the expenditures made in the Dominion by visitors from other countries run back as far as 1920, and it will be found that during this period tourists are estimated to have spent in Canada a total of roundly $1,682,400,000.

Such a sum of money is almost staggering; it is difficult to find comparisons enabling us to realize its immensity.

Perhaps the most startling comparison that could be made is to place this sum alongside the enormous outlays that Canada was called upon to make in connection with the Great War.

According to the federal public accounts, the total expenditure made by the Dominion Government under the heading, "War and Demobilization," is placed at $1,695,000,000.

Thus the expenditures made in Canada by tourists from other countries within the last ten years are estimated at an amount which falls only a few thousand dollars short of equalling Canada's outlay for war and demobilization purposes.

It is not to be wondered at that the highest financial authorities in Canada have recently made it a special point to direct public attention to the growth and possibilities of this comparatively youthful recruit to the ranks of the Dominion's major economic interests.

SUPERVISED PLAYGROUNDS.

The announcement that the supervised playgrounds will be opened on July 7 for six weeks, will be welcome news, not only to hundreds of children, but to their parents.

The only regrettable feature is that there are not more than two such recreation areas available, and that all sections of the city are not provided with safe playing grounds.

With the facilities now provided splendid work has been done, and the playgrounds have not only furnished a chance to play without risk to the participants but have proved of great benefit in building up the health and developing the character of the children who attended them regularly.

Supervisor Abraham's interest in the work has been constant and effective, and with the assistance of the very able staff appointed for this season there is every reason to expect even better results than usual during the summer.

Especially worthy of note is the attention that is to be given to swimming instructions for the youngsters; all the supervisors are qualified swimmers, and children who have not learned to swim should succeed in mastering the art before the supervised grounds close for the season.

It will be the duty of parents to see that their children make full use of the facilities provided for them.

ASKING FO RELIEF.

Indicative of the growing feeling that the provincial administration is throwing too many financial responsibilities upon the municipalities were the resolutions passed by the Peterborough County Council yesterday calling upon the Ontario Government to relieve municipalities of the expense of preparing voters' lists for provincial elections, to assume the whole cost of provincial highways and to take over the whole cost of the provincial share of old age pensions.

With the first request there will be no quarrel.

There is no reason why the municipalities should be saddled with the expense of a provincial election, which is surely a matter that concerns only the Provincial Government.

As to the other matters there is room for a difference of opinion, especially in regard to old age pensions.

Members of the Council who sought to secure the passing of an amendment asking that the municipalities should only have to pay 10 per cent. of the cost of these pensions were perhaps advocating the soundest policy.

To have control of the administration of old age pensions is an advantage that municipalities should not lightly toss away; municipal control is probably worth paying for on the basis of ten per cent. of the total.

When municipalities seek to rid themselves entirely of the cost of pensions and still hang on to the control of pension boards they are asking for much more than they are likely to get.

DECADE OF RADIO.

Ten years ago radio was an attic plaything of tinkering schoolboys. Parents looked on with pardonable pride and outsiders with amusement as Junior manipulated cat's whisker and crystal and, if luck was with him, extracted squeaky music from the atmosphere. Today, announcement is made that the Rockefeller interests have completed plans for a $250,000,000 building project in New York that will embrace three entire city blocks and will be devoted chiefly to radio. There will be four theatres, a public auditorium and vast symphonic hall, but these will be incidental to the 27 broadcasting studios that will be housed in the great pile of steel, bricks and mortar. Mr. Merlin Hall Aylesworth, president of the National Broadcasting Company, asked about the ultimate uses of the proposed radio centre, is reported to have said: "Broadcasting must look forward to the day when both sight and sound will be transmitted through the medium of the air. With the theatrical and musical enterprises to be created in this development, the broadcasting centre will be joined in a vast artery of communication with the dramatic stage, with variety, with talking motion pictures, with the symphony hall. The artist will be at the door of the broadcasting studio." Looking back over the last decade, one sees that a remarkable change has come over the theatrical business. Ten years ago, moving pictures had become definitely established as a medium of entertainment, but the producers of legitimate theatrical entertainment refused to admit that the screen would ever become a serious competitor of the living art. To-day, the legitimate stage is not only playing second fiddle to the moving pictures, but having a struggle to survive. Only the outstanding theatrical successes go on tour and then only visit the larger centres of population. But the folks in the hinterland, entertained by the stars of stage, screen and concert platform, through the medium of talking pictures, aren't doing very much repining. In luxurious surroundings, they see and hear the big-timers of the entertainment world, at a price that formerly wouldn't have admitted them to the upper reaches known as the "gods." Or, sitting at home, the public turns a knob and takes its pick of the programs that come over the ether lanes. The world's greatest artists, who formerly snorted disdainfully whenever radio was mentioned, now have long-term and attractive contracts with the big broadcasting studios. And not far distant, we have it on the authority of the experts of this new entertainment medium, television will permit us to see as well as to hear. When that day comes, radio may do to the talking picture industry what moving pictures did to the legitimate stage.—Hamilton Spectator.

NOW WE KNOW WHAT'S WRONG.

We notice in the Brandon Sun, a paper printed away out where the West begins, an advertisement showing a picture of a young man dressed in that new kind of underwear—little gaily colored pants and a sleeveless shirt.

We had no idea that the fashions of the effete East could bust through and invade the great West.

Perhaps that's what's gone wrong with that great land because there is something wrong with it. The Wheat Pool has had to take a lot of blame, and bankers have informed us that too many farmers were taking a fling at speculation.

Then, too, with four or five political parties out there running around with four or five platforms, the evidence of something wrong grows apace.

We bet the invasion of the West by those fancy suits of colored underwear has something to do with it. Those things have a disquieting effect on the mind. It is not easy for a man to jump into them and then cover them all up with overalls and be off at once about the chores. The temptation is too great to prance around in front of the looking glass.

Then, too, this young man pictured in the Brandon paper, has a golf stick in his hand. That makes it worse. If the agricultural belt in the West ever takes to golf the world will be so reduced in wheat tonnage that it may well nigh starve.

It wasn't until we started to look over the ads in that Brandon paper that we found out what was really wrong with the West.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

APRIL ESCAPADES

CHAPTER XXXIX

The color had drained from Mary Kate's face, and she looked young too, with her pale cheeks and dilated dark blue eyes, and her soft tumble of hair, as she sat on her mother's lap, one slender arm still lying about her mother's neck.

"Oh, thank you, Chris," she said very faintly. "But—but—" She stopped short. "But thank you very much!"

And she looked at her mother in perplexity, like a child who is about to cry.

"Since I came here to-night," Chris said, "I've come to realize what—what your family means to you, and what you mean to them—

"I don't believe I have much to offer you. Money, of course—"

Another silence.

"Money," Mrs. O'Hara pronounced superbly, ending it, "buys very little."

And suddenly they were all in a gale of laughter. Martin laughed, Cass laughed, and Mary Kate laughed almost hysterically. Even Chris laughed, caught by the contagion of their mirth.

"Ma, you are priceless!" said Mary Kate.

The atmosphere cleared. She and Cass and Chris were all on their feet. MaryKate lookedat herself in a littlemirror by the sink, and made a few quick adjustments of collar and hair, and Cass held Chris' coat for him. Martin, his wounded arm strapped over his breast, watched them from his chair, and Mrs. O'Hara, fallen into deep thought with the amazing easiness of her mystical race, continued to occupy the shabby old piece of furniture known for many years as "Ma's rocker,"her eyes narrowedthoughtfully, her full, disciplined, patient mouth slightly pursed.

Chris, overcoated, hat and big creamy gloves in hand, went over to Mart.

"Good-by, and good luck!" he said. "I hope—I hope you'll decide for Germany."

"Thank you," Mart said, gruffly, but in a friendly manner, too. "I'm sorry if I blew up," Mart continued, awkwardly. "We have no father, you know, Molly and I, and maybe—maybe I forgot that she's perfectly able to run her own affairs."

"Oh, that's all right!" Chris said. He turned to Tom.

"I know Throckmorton," he said.

"What!" Tom shouted.

"If you really want to go in for aviation," Chris continued, "I'd be glad to give you a letter—

"Let me know, will you?"

"Oh, Ma!" Tom said, almost crying.

Chris shook hands with Cass.

"I don't have to tell you that I congratulate you," he said. "You have my best wishes. You're—" He paused. "You're very fortunate," he said simply.

"Thanks," Cass responded.

"Good-by, Mrs. O'Hara," Chris was bending over her, he had her hand. "I—I certainly admire your family," he said, with a brief laugh. They all laughed. "I think they're all stars. They have the—the vitality of—of—

"Anyway they're all stars."

"You've seen us at our worst to-night," Mrs. O'Hara assured him. "Maybe you'd come out and have dinner with us some night and we'd treat you a little better?"

"I'm sailing on Sunday."

"Well, good-by and God bless you then," Mary LKate's mother said, with a sudden penetrating glance that saw through all the layers of veneer to the lonely, little-boy heart of the child inside him. Her changed, lowered tone spoke only to that.

"Thank you," Chris said, stirred, clearing his throat. He blinked his eyes as he smiled at her, and bent his head suddenly over the fine work-worn, capable hand.

Then it was Mary Kate's turn. She stood by the door, and Chris took both her hands, and looked down at her, as he said, unexpectedly, incoherently:

"And you won't marry me?"

The girl looked very tall and very pale, and was oddly unsmiling as she answered, conventionally.

"No. But thank you for asking."

"Thank you." His face reddened and his voice thickened, and for a moment their hands held them united, and their bewildered eyes were fixed upon each other.

And it was as if both were asking the same question.

"What are we saying? What does all this mean! Is this goodby?"

Suddenly Chris, laying aside hat and gloves with a quick gesture, gathered both her hands, against his heart, and bent over her, so that his browned almost stern face was close to her own.

"There's one thing I left out, Mary," he said. "They may as well hear this too.

"It's this," he went on, in a dead silence. "I didn't count on this. But I love you very much. Did I say that?"

The ground began to sway gently beneath Mary Kate's feet. Waves—waves lifted her from the floor, and the drumming and rushing of many waters was in her eyes.

"No," she whispered. "You did not say that!"

She turned to face the others in the kitchen; her shoulder almost touching Chris as she leaned back against him, his hand, that has been holding hers, still gripping her fingers, and his arm half about her. And it was as if, standing there, she measured two worlds—the one against the other.

On one side was only this protecting arm and this gripping hand. She knew little more of him.

And on the other were all the associations that she knew, were all the happy, adored, protected years. The kitchen, with its worn linoleum and familiar frying-pans and chairs and oil-cloth-covered table. Mart; handsome and resolute and fiercely protecting; Tom, who was developing so rapidly now, who had come, just of late, so much more close to his older sister, who had seemed, just of late to need her. Cass, clever and successful and devoted, planning a happy normal life with her—a forty-dollar flat, curtains, dishes, a white wedding in the new Dominican Church in a few weeks' time, years of love and labor shared, children, some day a country home.

And last, and first, and all the time, Mother. Mother, with whom she hurried, sleepy and chilly, to early church, and with whom she walked home, at peace, for hot coffee and special Sunday rolls. Mother, who had taught her, talked to her, scolded her, praised her, all her life long, even while she fumbled in her flat purse for movie money for "Mart and Mary Kate," or patiently thumped the heavy iron that meant exquisitely fresh frills and blouses for the beloved eldest daughter.

To choose Chris meant no more kitchen no more Cass, no more Tom—and in the dear home sense, at least, no more eager, ambitious, headstrong Marty.

It meant that she chose exile, alienation, distance. It meant no more Mother.

"Even if the world was flat," says meditative Meg, "some people wouldn't be on the level.—By Gettier.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND BRIEFS

A SPECIAL SERVICE TO THE EXAMINER

In an analysis of the cost of capital at the present time, Moody's Investors Service finds an abundance of short term funds, but a relative lack of available long term capital. This is true not only in the United States, but also in foreign countries. Despite the cheapness of short term credits, particularly in the larger financial centres, there has been no substantial easing in long term rates. From their investigations, Moody's conclude the current notion that capital is very cheap is largely erroneous. The peak of price of capital usually occurs some time after the peak in money rates has been reached, and the easing of capital rates takes a considerably longer time than the fall of money rates. The main reason for this discrepancy Moody's find, is the difficulty of the capital market to absorb new issues at times of industrial recession. At such times "money" seems abundant, but this is due to lack of demand for funds for business transactions. On the other hand, it is not easy to obtain funds at low rates through flotation of new securities, for these are ultimately financed out of people's savings which, at such times, are greatly curtailed.

Loblaw Dividends.

Preliminary figures concerning operations of Loblaw Groceterias for the year ending May 30, 1930, indicate that profits will be in the neighborhood of $1.40 share on the outstanding stock. This amply ensures the dividend of 80 cents share of the "A" and "B" stock. A substantial increase in sales was recorded over the previous year while profits were up even more. The fact that commodity prizes have been steadily falling, means that the physical volume of business has grown on sales, even greater than the sales figures would indicate. The stock, both "A" and "B" had been remarkably steady around $14 to $15 until this most recent break, when it sold under 13 and to-day was back to that price. At $13 the yield is more than six percent.

Have Losses Recovered.

Stocks rebounded at the opening this morning, recovering a substantial part of the ground lost Wednesday. Practically all the recovery was made in the first half hour of trading however, as the market settled down to more conservative trading during the balance of the morning. The volume was on a smaller scale than yesterday, the halt to the decline resulting in a reduction of selling, especially forced selling which had been brought out on each setback. There was no great buying on the upturn. As prices strengthened, purchasing lagged, the public placing orders at prices under the market in the hope of filling on dips. At midday practically all the pivotal stocks were selling at or within a small fraction of the price they had commanded after the first fifteen minutes.

A feeling of uncertainty regarding future business prospects seems present, which is probably one of the worst features of the situation, comments Laidlaw and Company, members of the New York Exchange. Under such conditions, they point out, there is little basis for trying to gauge what the market may do. The rally, they believe, has greater power than previous moves of this kind. 'The Wall Street Mirror states that news from the steel industry from which hopeful news had been received for several weeks is now quite bearish. A period of small earnings because of reduced operations during the summer months is bound to have an effect in the way of business improvement until September at the earliest. Slowing down of operations is something more than seasonal. One of the really bad features in the situation is the shading of prices which is being done by all classes of mills. The mirror also sounds a word of warning to stock market follows when it states that the rally expected is worth playing for but traders should not stay too long.

New Price List.

Since the beginning of the present month a new schedule of prices for denatured alcohol has been in effect. This will undoubtedly work to great advantage for Canadian producers of industrial alcohol who have in the past two years been faced with a most difficult situation caused by price cutting tactics, last winter prices dropped to new low points with the quotations around 50 to 65 cents a gallon, according to grade. The new price schedule recently adopted shows an average improvement of about 20 cents per gallon, placing the quotations around 70 to 85 cents. It is obvious that such producing companies as Canadian Industrial Alcohol, Hiram Walker Gooderham and Worts, Commercial Alcohol will reap substantial benefit from this price change.

GOOD GAINS ON TORONTO CURB

SOME LOSSES

TORONTO, Ont., June 19. (C.P.)—Prices were firmer, in duller trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange, during the early session to-day. The rally that started near the close yesterday was continued at the resumption of trading this morning, and several good gains were made. The list, however, was not without losses, some of which were large.

International Nickel took its old place as leader of the market, strong buying in New York sending the price up there to 24, at which figure it opened, up 2 1-8 points. City Dairy, Bell Telephone, Ford, and Brazilian were firm ,the latter issue up almost a point at noon. Dominion Stores, Westons and Bakeries, in the foods, were firm. Western Canada Flour made a 2-point advance to 19, in light trading.

Listed industrials were mixed, building Products off 2, Burt up ¾, C.P.R., New, ½; and Canadian Dredge, 1¾. Consumers Gas was up 1½, but Utilities "A" lost a point.

STANDARD LIST HOLDING FIRM

Nickel, Hudson Bay and Noranda First to Start on Upward Swing.

TRADING LIGHTER.

TORONTO, Ont., June 19. (C.P.)—Marked by a distinctly stronger tone during the first hour or so of trading, the mining list was holding firm at mid-day at levels above yesterday's close. Trading was lighter than yesterday.

International Nickel, Hudson Bay and Noranda helped to keep the trend upward, the former advancing a point to $23 and the latter two stocks 25 each. Lindsleys improved Ventures up 15, Sudbury Basin 10, and Sherritt Gordon 4, while Falconbridge held unchanged.

Strength was evident in golds, Hollingers advancing 35 and Lake Shore 30. Dome and McIntyre were unchanged, while Teck Hughes lost a small amount to 6.35. In the lower-priced section, Howey was up 3, Wright Hargreaves 6, and Vipond 1. Kirkland Lake lost ½; Pend Oreille was 4 higher. Big Missouri holding unchanged.

BROKERS LOOK FOR STRONGER MARKET

Security Prices Take Upward Swing in Early Trading This Morning.

TORONTO, June 19. (Special to Examiner.)—Has the market hit bottom yet, was the question heard on every side along the street to-day, as security prices took an upward swing at the opening and maintained their advances at midday. Answers varied considerable but the general consensus appeared to be optimistic, little hope is held out for rapid improvement as long as commodity prices hold their present depressed and fluctuating position, but opinion is that most of the distress selling of stocks has been absorbed and that conditions will assume a more normal appearance from now on.

A glance over the trend of security prices in the past few years shows a downward tendency at this time of the year with the major improvement becoming noticeable during and at the close of the summer season. Unusual business conditions are now making themselves felt, and the recovery, according to some market followers will depend entirely on this general trend. Wheat is looked to as the keynote of the situation in some quarters, and any change in the grain outlook should, they believe, make its influence felt immediately on sentiment towards the markets.

Reaches Lowest Level.

New York advises state the quick rebound of copper metal prices to-day from 11¼ cents at which a few sales were made to 12 cents indicates that the bottom level in this industry may have been reached. Copper spot and future in London rose sharply and the indication on this side is that the 12 cent price will be maintained. It is felt, however, that this does not mean anything more than a technical rally in copper stocks.

Liverpool Upturns Affects "Chi" Trend

CHICAGO, Ill., June 19. (C.P.)—Wheat values here averaged higher early to-day, helped by upturns in Liverpool wheat quotations and by stock market rallies. Reports of crop damage from soil drifting in Alberta and Saskatchewan provinces, Canada, with less favorable crop advices from France and Germany, were also a factor tending to lift the wheat market. Opening unchanged to ¼cent up, Chicago wheat afterwarf showed moderate gains all around. Corn, oats and provisions were likewise firmer, with corn starting 3-8-1 1-8c higher, but subsequently reacting.

JONES HOLDS LEAD.

HOYLAKE, England, June 19.—(A. P.)—Bobby Jones led the field by one stroke, just topping Fred Robson, veteran British Yo, at the conclusion of the second round of the British open golf championship played to-day. Jones scored 72 to-day for a 36 hole total, while Robson had 143.

German fairs are being rationalized.

Woman Motorist is Given Spanking

HANFORD, Calif., June 19.—(C.P.)—It finally happened, exasperated by a woman driver, John Sorder, 44, forced her to the curb, yanked her from the car and turned her over his knee, and spanked her.

At least that is the story of Mrs. Merle Fitting, who had Sorder arrested. She said she and a woman companion were motoring when her car collided with Sorder's. She continued on her way after the accident but was overtaken. Sorder maintained that the spanking was justified.

LIST RAPIDLY ADVANCES IN HEAVY BUYING

Firmer Tone in London Markets Prompts Flurry of Short-covering To-day.

ON WALL STREET.

Market Turns Comparatively Dull After Early Morning Trading.

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 19 (C.P.)—The stock market snapped back with a bang to-day, a familiar phenomenon at the end of a phase of liquidation. The lifting of selling pressure late yesterday, and a firmer tone in the London markets before this market opened, prompted a flurry of short-covering at the opening, when prices jumped forward as buying orders of 1,000 to 10,000 shares were executed.

After the initial buying orders were disposed of a little more hangover liquidation had to be absorbed, but it was not of important proportions, and by midday many professional traders took the bull side of the market in the belief that a substantial technical recovery might be expected. Belated short covering continued to appear. The market turned comparatively dull after the morning trading, however, as it closely followed the pattern which it uses at such times.

There was practically nothing in the day's business news to influence the market, and Wall Street was left to conclude that the recovery was purely a correction of an oversold condition.

I.O.D.E. CHAPTERS SPONSOR TAG DAY

7,000 Sightless Persons Are to be Found in Dominion of Canada.

SATURDAY IS TAG DAY.

The 57th Regiment Chapter, the Otonabee Chapter, the Peter Robinson Chapter and the Major Bennett Chapter, Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire, are sponsoring a Tag Day, to be held on Saturday, June 21st, in aid of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

The general public is urged to assist in this worthy cause. Few realize that there are seven thousand sightless people in the Dominion of Canada. The present endeavors of the Canadian National Institute is to do everything that may be done to prevent blindness which is becoming an increasing calamity. An examination which took place recently of 30,000 school children in Toronto to check up the cause of blindness and work out preventive measure to stop the spread of this dire affliction.

Another endeavor of the Institute is to place sightless people in work that suits them and which they can manage easily. Many are working in canteens and cafeterias; and one man is running a chicken farm near Kingston.

CHILD TURNS ON FAUCET AND DROWNS IN BATHTUB

DETROIT, Mich., June 19.—While his parents were playing bridge in an adjoining room at the home of friends, their 10-month-old son awakened from his slumbers in an improvised pillow bed in a bathtub, turned on the shower faucet and was drowned.

The parents Mr. and Mrs. Hoener, said he was quite strong for one of his age. He apparently awakened from his sleep. Removed his stockings, one of which clogged the water drain, and then turned on the shower.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

FRENCH MINISTER IS RECALLED TO HIS NATIVE LAND

Hon. Jean Knight Will Enter Foreign Affairs Ministry in France.

CAME TO CANADA IN 1928.

French Minister to Canada Has Great Task to Perform, He States.

OTTAWA, June 19.. — (C.P.) — Hon. J. Knight, French Minister to Canada since 1928, has been recalled to Paris to take over the post of chief of press services in the foreign affairs ministry. Announcement of the minister's appointment to the high position was made known here to-day.

Hon. Mr. Knight will likely say "adieu" to Canada within a fortnight. Henri Coursier, secretary of the legation, will be charge d'affaires pending appointment by the French Government of a new minister plenipotentiary to the Dominion.

Mr. Knight came to Canada as the first French Minister on November 15, 1928. Since the departure of Hon. William Phillips, U.S. Minister, Mr. Knight has been the dean of the diplomatic corps here. Before coming to Ottawa, Mr. Knight had been in charge of the American services, in the Foreign Office, and previous to that commercial attache to China. He has been exceedingly popular in Ottawa official circles, and has travelled quite extensively through Canada.

"I am very sorry to leave Canada," Mr. Knight stated to-day, adding that opportunity of working directly with Mr. Briand was the one point that weighed in favor of the new appointment. He spoke feelingly of the sympathetic and kindly attitude of the Canadian people to himself and to the French nation. The Canadian post he considered a very important one. The large French-Canadian population here and the prominent part Canada was taking in world affairs made the good relations between Canada and France of special importance. That was also the view of the French Government.

Another reason why his country felt that its minister here had a great task to perform was the effect the relations with Canada would have on the relations between France and the British Empire as a whole. Cordiality and co-operation between Britain and France was of the greatest interest not only to the nations concerned but to all the world, Mr. Knight stated.

"I have always felt that my mission here was of utmost importance for those reasons in particular", Mr. Knight emphasized "and these views were absolutely shared by the French government". It would always be a source of pride to himself that he had been so comparatively short, but he hoped in his new position he would be able to continue the work he had carried on here of seeking to develop cordiality and good will between the two countries.

Mr Knight had a conference with Premier Mackenzie King last night when he made known to the Prime Minister that he was to return to France.

"I find that the immense salaries of the members of the Board are the cause of severe criticism" Mr. Rye continued. He asked, "Do you think we make money coming up here for two or three days for five dollars a day? I am losing money every time I come up. It is not the easiest kind of a job either.

"Where this Board has been lax in my opinion is that we have not put some of these cases before the magistrate" Mr. Rye said, commenting on the trouble the Board is caused by the unwillingness of children to support their parents. "If much more goes on we are going to put the cases before the magistrate."

Mr. Rye was asked if he thought the Government would allow the local boards to remain in the event that it took over the entire Provincial share of the Old Age Pension costs. To this he replied, "Not likely."

Why Not More Generous?

Councillor Griffith asked why the Board is not more generous. The law entitles every pensionner to $20 a month, Mr. Griffith claimed and he asked Mr. Rye why more pensioners in the County are not given the maximum.

"Show me the section of the Act which says the pensionner is entitled to $20 a month" Mr. Rye replied. "Why give more than is necessary for them to get along? Many are getting more money through pensions than they ever got before."

Mr. Griffith: "It is a peculiar thing that so many members of parliament and prominent men don't thing the local Board interprets the Act correctly."

Mr. Griffith charged the Board with unfairness in a pension case in Belmont.

"That charge is not fair" said the warden.

"It is unnecessary," Mr. Rye said. "This Board errs on the side of leniency if anything."

Councillor Tedford: "I think the Board is doing its very best."

Warden Hawthorne: "I think the gentlemen on the Board are doing the best they possibly can. If there is any doubt with regard to any decisions of the Board it will be cleared up on an investigation of the correspondence and information on hand regarding the case, I think."

A vote of confidence in the Board was passed by the council after the report had been accepted.

The complete guide-book

If YOU'VE been a tourist in foreign lands, you've probably come to have a high regard for one or another of the standard guide-books. Surrounded by strange scenes, strange names, and with your time limited, you have turned with relief to any volume which tells you on good authority where to go and what to do.

Consider your ordinary shopping tours in the same light. Without an up-to-date guide-book of merchandise appearing daily within the pages of this newspaper, your most casual trip to the stores would be more or less like a ramble in foreign countries.

We're speaking of the advertisements, of course. If it weren't for the advertisements you would be a stranger in the market, surrounded by strange names, strange brands. Buying would be guessing, unless you tested every article you wanted before you bought it.

As it is, you can make up your shopping list in a few minutes, and buy with confidence instead of suspicion—knowing what you're getting—knowing that consistently advertised goods must maintain standard quality.

Take full advantage of the great guide-book of this modern age . . . read the advertisements every day

JIM IS PROUD OF MARY!

"My goodness," thought Mary, after Jim had 'phoned that he was bringing a special guest home for dinner, "I must think up a nice meal."

Ah! baked spaghetti . . . that was it! She made some soda biscuit crumbs, then put some Clark's Cooked Spaghetti into her Pyrex dish.

She covered the spaghetti with the crumbs and popped the dish into the oven. She let it bake for twenty minutes while she prepared the table. Then she took it out.

And what an appetizing dish it looked! . . . with its sweet, tender spaghetti, luscious tomato sauce and rich, creamy cheese, inside . . . all ready . . . shhh! here they come now!

When you first taste Clark's Cooked Spaghetti you'll notice something else beside the sweet, tender spaghetti and the luscious tomato sauce . . . something that gives it a delicious tang, oh, that's it! . . . a rich creamy cheese flavor! It's a flavor you won't find in any other brand.

. . . it must be good!

SIX BRANCHES REPRESENTED AT MEETING

East Durham Women's Institute Hold Annual Convention at Millbrook.

SEVERAL SPEAKERS

Reports and Work of Year Fully Discussed By Members.

MILLBROOK, June 19. (Examiner Correspondence).—Six out of the eight branches of the East Durham Women's Institute were well represented at the annual meeting held in the Town Hall, Millbrook, on Tuesday, June 17, an all day gathering being arranged for, though one session has been the plan usually followed, the president, Mrs. T. A. Skitch, Bailleboro, occupying the chair.

The morning meeting opened at 9.30, with the singing of "The Maple Leaf" followed by the reports from the various branches which were most inspiring and interesting, and showed a fine spirit of community service, and a vast amount of work being accomplished.

Miss Eileen Hunter, secretary, reported for the Cavan branch, which has forty-three members, held eight regular meetings with a total attendance of 166; six papers were given, total receipts were $254.00; expenditures $112.65, balance on hand $141.35.

Mrs. Sculthorpe read the report of the Charlecote branch, and number of members being 55; meetings held, 11 regular and 2 special; attendance, 369; receipts, $213.64; expenditures $132.30; amount on hand $81.34. A feature of outstanding interest in this report was the birthday party held to celebrate the twentieth anniversary of the branch, when two charter members were guests of honor; the gathering was held at a private home, and the entire community invited, the Institute being responsible for program and refreshments; there was an attendance of nearly two hundred and a most enjoyable time was spent.

Branch Attendances

Bailleboro branch was reported by Miss Jackson, and has 103 members; held 9 regular and 1 special meeting, with an attendance of 206; amount raised, $183.53; expenditures, $74.38; on hand, $109.15.

Millbrook branch report was read by the secretary, Mrs. W. H. Armstrong, its membership list being 99; 12 regular meetings with an average attendance of 43; and 1 special meeting, the total attendance for the year being 568. The expenditures were $304.24, and there is now on hand $490.06.

Elizabethville branch has 33 members, held 12 meetings with an attendance of 171; papers and addresses 3; total receipts, $101.04; expenditures $35.86, on hand $65.18.

Garden Hill branch had no delegates at the meeting, the district secretary, Mrs. J. R. Eakins, reading the report: Members 26; 10 meetings with an average of 28; papers and addresses 5; receipts, $221.17; expenditures, $211.12; on hand $10.05.

Mount Pleasant branch has 32 members; held 12 meetings with an attendance of 204; receipts $174.15, expenditures $172.57; on hand $1.58; this branch has in recent months had presented to it a hall which it has fitted up, and thoroughly renovated for community hall purposes; expense has been heavy, and the branch is doing a fine service by this worthwhile work.

Bethany had no delegates at the district memeting, its report being read by Mrs. Eakins. There are 22 members enrolled; 11 meetings were held, with a total present of 110; amount raised $541.22; expenditures $403.91; on hand $137.31. This branch bears the expense of the street lighting, has put an ornamental fence round the Town Hall, has looked after cemetery renovation, and war memorials.

Charlecote branch was questioned as to money given to schools, the delegates explaining that once a year they ask the five schools in the vicinity to prepare a program, the entertainment is given under Institute auspices and the proceeds divided among the teachers to purchase necessary equipment for their respective schools. Another item from this branch that was of interest was the fact that each spring the names of all paid-up members are given the nearest florist, and each may call and receive plants to the amount of the yearly fee, paying anything over that sum out of their private purse, the Institute discharging the bill when received by the secretary. This plan has worked well, and saves having the plants shipped to the branch for distribution as well as allowing individual choice.

Fully Discussed

During the discussion, which was lively and helpful, one question that was of wide interest was: "Do you think giving a dance a good way to raise Institute money?" A number of delegates said the department speakers do not approve of this method; the local branch reported that mothers were usually willing to allow their daughters to attend dances under Institute auspices knowing they are suitably chaperoned, and that such dances are always by invitation. Mr. Putnam was quoted as not favoring this means of adding to the funds. Individual branches were apparently divided on the matter, and the president, in summing up, noted that money is not the sum total of the Institute's existence, but service; an educated conscience was the guide recommended.

Selling tickets on a quilt also came up for discussion, and on the whole opinion seemed to be against this plan. Mrs. Skitch made a strong plea for care and wise forethought in dealing with the young people of the present day, personal influence being stressed as of vital importance.

The combined financial report, given by the secretary-treasurer showed a total raised, $2,607.90; expenditures $1,519.15; on hand, $1,065-50. During the year each branch contributed one dollar toward the cheque presented to Mr. G. A. Putnam, at the provincial convention last November, in recognition of his services during twenty-five years in office, as the general secretary of all Institute work.

Two executive meetings were held during year, and necessary plans laid. The roll call of branches was as follows: Charlecote 4 present; Bailleboro 4 delegates; Cavan 6; Mount Pleasant, 1; Millbrook, 11; Elizabethville 4; Bethany and Garden Hill, none.

Officers Elected

The election of officers was by ballot, and the list for 1930-31 is:

President — Mrs. T. A. Skitch, Bailleboro.

Vice-Pres.—Mrs. Garnet Shields, Mount Pleasant.

2nd Vice-Pres.—Mrs. C. Williams, Charlecote.

3rd Vice-Pres.—Mrs. R. Matchett, Cavan.

Secretary-Treas. — Mrs. J. R. Eakins, Millbrook.

District Representative—Mrs. A. C. Beatty, Garden Hill.

Auditors—Miss Margaret Whyte, Millbrook, Mrs. Ray Syer, Cavan.

It was decided, on motion, that in place of sending a delegate from the district to the provincial convention in the fall, each branch appoint a representative for this gathering so reports of proceedings might be brought back to the individual Institute, more good being accomplished in this way.

The president and secretary-treasurer were urged to visit each branch in the district during the year, and this was promised, if possible in the summer months. The convention then adjourned for lunch which was served in the Town Hall, when a very enjoyable social time was spent.

Afternoon Session

The afternoon session opened at 2.30 p.m. the opening ode being sung and the first speaker, Mrs. Eades, who is the representative of Subdivision Number 5 on the Federated Women's Institute Board, addressed the gathering.

Bringing greetings from the W.F.I. Board, and urging co-operation by affiliating with the Federated Institutes, the speaker went on to quote from a speech made in the Ontario House by T. J. Mahoney, of Hamilton, in regard to the Institute motto which he believed would be a good one for the Legislature to adopt, "and if it were kept as unselfishly as it is by the W.I. members we need have no fear for the future of our country."

"No other organization reaches out so widely in its avenues of usefulness as does this one—we are "An understanding throng, helping the good along, with all our might. All good work is God's work, so we should be, and are, willing to carry on."

Mrs. Eades briefly reviewed some of the work done by the Federated Board, declaring it to be an inscription, the Institutes being a constantly-growing factor in national service "and we feel their value as the work goes on." Explaining that some years ago the provinces was divided into subdivisions of which there are now twenty, with number 5, the one which she heads including Victoria, Haliburton, Durham and Peterborough counties, Mrs. Eades explained that one member from each district makes up the board from which group one member is again chosen to represent that section on the Federated Board in its sessions at Toronto. East Durham is the only district Institute that has not yet linked up with the Federated organization, and the speaker urged affiliation, "so you become an integral part of a vast, and very far-reaching organization, engaged in a real task, and inspired to go on to greater achievements that have yet been reached."

"Village life in England has been different than before the Institute came, hence I claim that Canada has given nothing better to the Mother Land than this inspiration and work". Mrs. Eades quoted an English worker as saying. The withdrawal of Dr. Fisher from Tobermory hospital in northern Ontario, after thirteen months' services, was explained, on the ground that this venture had been an experiment from the results of which the Institute Board wished to make recommendations to the Legislature.

"Look well to your local needs before you undertake outside relief" is Mr. Putnam's injunction, and Mrs. Eades showed that $13,000 was spent last year by Institutes on work outside their several constituencies, while $100 000 was the amount expended in home communities and centres.

As the annual meeting marked the beginning of a new year, the speaker closed with a strong appeal to the members to take stock and see how obligations are being measured up to, and to remember that service is the underlying principle of all Institute activities, and the motto "For Home and Country" really meaning nothing but this.

Coaching Classes

A number of questions were asked as to the advantages of linking up with the Federated Women's Institute, and Miss Edith Hopkins, who is so well and favorably known throughout a large part of the province for her work among the juniors, spoke on the coaching classes which are shortly to be held in this and neighboring counties; on the Home Garden and Canning Club recently started in her territory (only one to a county). Twenty-five girls are given seed to plant according to a plan, the plot being examined and marked on care, and four pints of vegetables canned and shown perhaps at the school fair. The high girl is given a two-weeks' free trip to Guelph; the age limit is 14 to 26 years. A number from this section are entered in the club formed this year, and Miss Hopkins suggested a "Perennial Border" Club as an idea that might be successfully worked out another season.

Some new features of the Girls' Judging Competition for this year were outlined by Miss Hopkins, with illustrated charts, and the dates announced for the coaching classes as follows: August 1, Orono; August 2, Canton; August 4, Millbrook; August 5, Cavan; August 6, Bailleboro; August 7, Mount Pleasant. Millbrook will probably be chosen for the final competition, and the date is August 9. The speaker strongly urged the members to see that all the girls in the several communities were interested and in attendance, and invited the mothers to be at the classes as well for value of the instruction given.

Choosing a life vocation, and avoiding misfits, was given attention in the closing part of Miss Hopkins' address, part of her work being to help the young people in this important decision.

J. Y. Kellough, Agricultural Representative for Durham county, was the concluding speaker, his remarks being confined to seconding Miss Hopkins' appeal for a large attendance at the coaching classes, and explaining that the record of former years had been good, but this one should eclipse all previous standards. The annual Field Day, with a fine program of sports, will be at Presqu'Ile again this year. Last year Durham County won the silver cup for highest standing in the standard events. A general invitation to attend this outing was extended.

After considerable discussion it was decided to present the matter of joining the Federate Women's Institute to the individual branches before any definite action is taken; when each branch reports to the district secretary a special meeting may be called, perhaps in the form of a picnic outing, and the decision will then be arrived at.

The gathering closed with the National Anthem.

"When women come to me for advice, I always impress on them the need for soap and water, as cleanliness is the first step to beauty. By using Palmolive you can always be sure that your skin will retain its naural freshness of beauty."

Bertha Jacobson

MAISON DE BEAUTÉ POMPADOUR, LTD., 11/12 DOVER STREET, LONDON, ENG.

Every skin needs the deep cleansing which only the pure vegetable oils of palm and olives can give. These cosmetic oils have been known for generations as nature's greatest beautifiers.

"BUT I warn," says Mme. Jacobson, "against the harsh effects of soaps not made exclusively of olive and palm oils. Other soaps may irritate the skin; may cause coarse pores and an unpleasant feeling of roughness. Palmolive, on the other hand, leaves the skin delightfully smooth. It is refreshing, pure, safe. Your skin needs its gentle lather, for true cleanliness, twice daily." After this cleansing, Mme. Jacobson advises the use of her Skin Tonic Pampadour—and, at night, her own special Skin Food Crême Pompadour.

For 24 years, Mme. Bertha Jacobson has conducted the Maison de Beauté Pompadour, Ltd., Mayfair's famous Beauty Salon. Here she has served many Royal personages of Europe and the leaders of British Society.

All over the world, skin specialists endorse the use of Palmolive Soap. Have agreed that this home beauty treatment will do much to create a lovely complexion.

Massage a smooth lather of Palmolive Soap and warm water gently into the skin, letting the lather get deep into every pore. Then rinse away soap, dirt, make-up with warm water, finally cold. And you'll find that your skin is wonderfully soft, smooth—protected against the vagaries of weather conditions.

Why 23,720 Beauty Specialists prefer Palmolive

Since Cleopatra's days, palm and olive oils have been famous as beautifiers. Nothing has ever supplanted them. Palmolive is a pure vegetable oil soap. Its color, its odor, its very feeling is that of nature's great cosmetic oils. It cleanses safely, beautifies easily.

You can follow such expert advice without doubt. You will like Palmolive—and find soon that you use it also for the bath. It costs no more than ordinary soap. Begin to use it right away.

Avoid Gas—Indigestion.

Strict diets are often unnecessary in stomach trouble. While some foods do produce excessive acidity and many stomachs do generate "too much acid" causing gas, sourness, bloating, and after-eating pains, the trouble may be safely and quickly corrected by the use of a good alkaline. Bisurated Magnesia — powder or tablets — is ideal for this purpose. Just a little after meals neutralizes all the excess acid, prevents souring, breaks up gas and ends indigestion. Favorite foods no longer upset stomach and digestion is easy and painless. It will do all this for you or money back. Reliable druggists everywhere sell Bisurated Magnesia with this guarantee.

MRS. GORDON WRIGHT ADDRESSES PROHIBITION UNION OF DURHAM AT ANNUAL MEETING HELD IN ORONO

Dominion President of W.C.T.U. Returns From Campaign in New Brunswick.

Canada Heading Downward.

H. G. Macklin of Tyrone is Re-elected President of the Organization.

MILLBROOK, June 19.—(Examiner Correspondence.)—Mrs. Gordon Wright, Dominion president of the W.C.T.U. was the chief speaker at the annual convention of the Durham County Prohibition Union held at Orono, on Wednesday, June 18, beginning at 2.30 p.m., with the president, H. G. Macklin, of Tyrone, in the chair.

Mrs. Wright came to the convention full of fire, having just been in the thick of the fight in New Brunswick where the Baxter government "elected on the promise of the premier to enforce the prohibititory law, has instead written a government control law on the statute books, and is strongly entrenched, neglecting nothing to ensure its return to power when the election takes place on Thursday of this week."

Having been addressing capacity audiences for some weeks past, and having left New Brunswick in a critical time in the last stages of the campaign in order to keep her promise to speak in Durham county, Mrs. Wright was not too pleased at seeing a number of vacant chairs in the Orono Hall, urging that it indicated a lack of interest on the part of Christian people on the great prohibition issue as affected by the outcome of the present election contest.

Eight Provinces Act.

'Canada is heading downward", the speaker asserted, "and we will not go out of our way, nor alter our plans at all, though eight of our provinces have gone wet, and our homes are jeopardized by this liquor evil. Canada needs to be roused as to the rocks upon which, as a nation, she is drifting."

Mrs. Wright spent some tine on the contest in New Brunswick, declaring that "never before have I seen the heinous effects of liquor as in that province. Even 'teen age boys without permits evidently secure drink and were seen under its influence. The question is often asked. How shall we get this liquor question out of politics—I will tell you how—when we are willing to sink party for principle, and to work and vote as we pray."

'Except for the garden province of the Gulf Canada is soaking wet", Mrs. Wright said, and made a strong appeal to her listeners to pray urgently for the defeat of the Baxter government in the present election in the Maritime province where she had just been working. "In its closing session, this government voted ten milliuon dollars to be spent on the New Brunswick roads, giving farmers and farmers' sons more money to spend than they have ever before had in their lives, because it is depending on the rural community to support its candidates in this election campaign."

Baxter a Dictator.

Laughter and applause greeted the statement, "The Cabinet Ministers did not like it when I called them 'wet'; I would like to qualify this in the superlative degree, and say they are wet, and dripping wet. There were two dictators holding the world stage to-day—one is Mussolini, of Italy, and the other Baxter, of New Brunswick. Of the two I think I prefer Mussolini because when in Italy I saw signs which read, "Do not give our children wine"; and this leader of his country has said, 'During my dictatorship I have closed 27,000 saloons in Italy; give me time I will close them all, but the New Brunswick premier promised to give the prohibitory law a fair administration; he has not done so, but has placed a government control act in force instead."

Urging the power of prayer as a vital force in providing a channel through which God can work, forgetting party, and thinking only of singing the requiem of government sale and control forever in this election, the speaker mentioned her own party affiliations as "a Liberal by birth: a Conservative by marriage; and a Prohibitionist by conviction." (Applause).

"The government complicity in the liquor traffic declares it to be respectable; it deceives the very elect; it has laid its paralysing hand upon our finest asset, the youth of our land, and yet the church, and Christian men and women, slumber on."

Endorsing the evidence given by ex-Premier E. C. Drury before the committee at Washington, the speaker said that thirty-six thousand boys in Ontario came of age last year, and took out permits; "that touched me, as a mother, terribly; this evil has climbed even into our rectories, parsonages, and manses, and laid low some of their highest hopes." Scoring the ministers for not speaking out more plainly on this subject from their pulpits, and condemning the government control system as 'the worst form in which liquor can be forced upon a nation', Mrs. Wright said she had dedicated her life to get liquor out of Canada because her own family had not been touched by it, and in gratitude she wanted to help others who did suffer from the scourge.

In her closing remarks, the Dominion President declared the situation to be not all blackness, or disappointment and defeat. "There is a rainbow of promise in the smallest province maintaining prohibition though the campaign was one against great odds; there are a few names who have never dipped principle to party issue; we failed in this in Ontario and we are never going to get anywhere until we are willing to sink party affiliations deeper than the sea, if need be, and set principles in advance. There are not enough wets to carry the election if the church people did not held them. Christian men and women, touch God in prayer, for I believe the day of miracles is not yet passed; forget you belong to a party, and pray and vote as you work."

Mrs. Wright was heartily applauded as she took her seat on the platform at the conclusion of her address, and Mr. Macklin brought up the subject of finances, after paying a warm tribute to the work of the W.C.T.U. in the county "changing election results so far as the last provincial campaign was concerned."

The treasurer, Thomas Moffatt, had presented his report earlier in the meeting, showing a balance on hand of $18.39, and telling of a cheque received from Trinity United Church, Bowmanville, for $100, and from the W.C.T.U. for $16, the collection at last year's convention was $17.38. This was not considered wholly satisfactory, and the president said a complete report was never available as no full acount of the money subscribed in the county, as the result of Field Days, had been received from the Toronto office. This was promised by Rev. R. A. Whattam, Field Secretary of the Ontario Prohibition Union, for another year. A full discussion of the whole question took place before the resolution on the matter, later brought in, was adopted.

Unable to Attend.

Rev. Dr. Irwin, General Secretary of the Ontario Prohibition Uuion, and Acting Secretary of the Canadian Temperance Federation, was unable to keep his engagement to be present, but was represented by Rev. Mr. Whattam, whose particular task in this campaign is to supervise organization throughout the province, and who gave a very able address.

Mr. Whattam devoted his time particularly to the plans for the future which have been laid, stating "we are engaged in a great crusade, seeking to stem the tide of intemperance as it comes into our province through the medium of government sale. People are drinking to-day who never drank before, a close scrutiny of 437 permits showed that 234 were held by people who never previously drank liquor; 97 were held by girls, and 77 by married women. Social life to-day makes it hard for a young woman to remain an abstainer; life is made miserable for her among those with whom she associates."

F. W. Lewis, who is one of the organizers working with Mr. Whattam in the campaign, briefly addressed the gathering, making a strong plea for systematic and definite organization all the year round and thus be always ready when an election is announced, adding the information that one thousand young men and women come of age in this province every week, and from their ranks the drinkers are recruited. Two instances were related from personal experience, where in one home a daughter, and in another a son, had come in contact with the liquor issue in a way of which their parents were absolutely unaware; one home was in the city, and the other in a rural section, both were marked by wealth, culture, and refinement, "The parents, apparently, do not always know."

Resolution Passed.

The Resolutions Committee, W. C. Ferguson, Bowmanville, F. R. Currelly, of Clarke, Mrs. Tole, and Rev. R. A. Whattam, brought in its report, and with some slight changes the following, as amended, were passed:

1. Resolved that we reaffirm our belief that abstinence for the individual, and prohibition for the state, is the only consistent attitude for the citizen and the nation.

2. Resolved that this convention place on record their appreciation of the action of the Canadian Parliament in ceasing to issue clearances for the export of beverage alcohol to countries under prohibitory law.

3. That the local branches plan how all money is to be raised, and that it be paid to the local treasurer; after paying any expenses the balance to be handed over to the county treasurer, and when he has met all obligations any balance will be remitted to the provincial office.

4. Resolved that the Provincial office be asked to explain what action should be taken in reference to the coming Federal election.

The officers as elected for the year 1930-31 are:

President, G. H. Macklin, Tyrone; Vice-pres., W. C. Ferguson, Bowmanville; R. J. Rowe, Newcastle; Secretary-Treasurer, Arthur Annis, Orono; Treasurer, Thomas Moffat, Bowmanville.

The municipal organizations are to be left this year to appoint their own representatives, each of whom then automatically becomes a vice-president on the County Board.

Upon request, Mr. Lewis announced the dates where he and Rev. Mr. Whattam are holding organization meetings this week as follows: Millbrook, Thursday, June 19; Pontypool, Friday, June 20; Bowmanville and Blackstock, have already had meetings and are organized for work.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem, the president previously announcing that Mrs. Wright had promised to return to Durham and speak, provided she was assured a full hall. The applause that followed the announcement seemed a tacit promise that the condition would be more than fulfilled.

PETER'S CASE IS AGAIN ADJOURNED

Wife of Defendant is Missing When Trial is Scheduled to Start.

For the fourth time the re-trial of Ira Peters of Harvey township, on a charge of keeping a still has been adjourned. Everything was in readiness to have the delayed hearing in Lakefield yesterday afternoon before Judge Huycke. Lawyers were present, police and excise officials and Peters, who had been missing on two other occasions, was on hand. But an important witness, Mrs. Ira Peters, wife of the accused, was absent. She had been summoned but failed to appear and it was considered impractical to start the hearing without her testimony.

The case will be heard at some date soon.

HAS LIST OF FOURTEEN

The mysterious slayer in a series of letters to a newspaper announced he would commit his third murder on a list of fourteen at College Point, Queens, last night, but apparently was frustrated by a mobilization of 2,425 police.

As both previous victims were men seated in parked automobiles with women companions, a score of department automobiles occupied by detectives and policewoman were planted in secluded spots in hope that the slayer would pick one of them as his third victim.

Streets Are Patrolled

In addition to the parked automobiles, police on motor-cycles in emergency wagons and on foot patrolled all roads in the borough.

During the day Queens police received a letter apparently from the slayer in which he taunted them and enclosed an empty shell evidently used in one of the two slayings.

A call was sent out by police to all institutions for the insane throughout the east to report any escaped inmate and a house to house canvas was made in Queens for information regarding men who had a reputation for acting queerly.

On Guard in Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, June 19.—Police and neighbors were on guard last night at the home of John Moszczynski, 41-year-old plumber, after he had been informed by telephone by a New York newspaper that he was believed to be included in a list of those threatened with death by New York's phanton slayer.

Moszczynski said he was told by the New York newspaper that a letter it had received from the slayer declared that the lives of "Mozynski's brothers and friends" were in danger. He seemed unperturbed at first but later, when police were detailed to his neighborhood he appeared to give more heed to the warning. Although he spells his name differently Moszczski, one of those believed to have been killed by the phantom slayer. zynski is a brother of Joseph Mozyn-

The crossing is considered a dangerous one, particularly to motorists driving east, as a sharp turn in the embankment, just south east of crossing restricts to view of approaching trains.

LADDER FALLS ON WIRE.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., June 19.—(By the Canadian Press.) — Three men were probably fatally shocked to-day when at work near a bridge adjacent to the plant of the Ontario Paper Company at Thorold. The men, employees of the electrical department of the new Welland ship canal, were attempting to erect an extension ladder at the open air control system which supplies electricity for the bridge and the adjacent locks.

The three men were:

Edward Smith, 28, Fonthill, married.

Lloyd Tice, Fonthill, 28, single.

Shelbourne Hansler, 27, Welland, single.

A heavy wind blew the ladder against a 22,000 volt line, the small wire extension ladder drawing the current into the trio, who were immedately rendered unconsciious.

Smith has a slight chance for recovery, but Tice and Hansler, on whom doctors worked for nearly two hours, are not expected to live.

"IT'S A WISE JUDGE"

"Next case," called out the Judge, and a middle-aged Irish couple was ushered into the courtroom. They made a pitiful picture as they stood there before the bar of justice—the strong, healthy, two hundred pound woman and her poor, meek, battered little spouse.

The judge adjusted his glasses, then turned to the man and asked: "You are accused of beating your wife. Do you wish to plead guilty or not guilty to this charge?"

"Guilty, sir," came back the little man, without a moment's hesitation.

"Five dollars or five days," demanded the judge.

After the session was over one of the court officials asked the judge if he hadn't been a little bit severe in sentencing the little fellow.

"Oh, no," explained the wise judge, "I had to give him something for braggin'."

THE DAY I ALMOST DIED

By Robert De Haven

Before this day Charlotte and I, in that easy and sure way of college, had become closely knit in love.

I remember our first meeting. She was making the air blue in the Octupus office because the editor had changed the line under one of her drawings. As I was not the editor, she directed all her rage at me. When she was done, I said, "Goodness gracious!," and she smiled. This was in the fall.

All winter long we played, and told each other how wonderful we were. I gave my pin to her or tried to give it to her when we were ice-boating one Saturday. She declined because the moment was not romantic enough. She made me wait until prom.

One night I got sick suddenly and was carried out to the infirmary. I forget now what ailed me, but I was not too ill to think of Charlotte. And she didn't even write me a note! Four days I was there without a word.

Then came the day I almost died. A nurse pushed my bed out of a ward into a private room. She gave me an orange for lunch. I was low.

I remember how sunny it was outside. The snow dripped away from the window-panes. I wanted to run out through that slush and tell my girl what I thought of her. Then I got to the swearing stage.

Late in the afternoon when the room was getting gloomy and nurse should have turned the lights on Charlotte burst in the door. I could see that she would be crying in half a minute. She gasped something about telling one of our lunk-headed freshmen to tell me she was going home for a few days to shop. The half minute was up and she took me in her arms and hugged me till I almost died.

That was the day.

Country Girl: Why is it, dear, that you give so many gifts to the trolley company?

Rustic: Why, didn't you tell me that every time you got on a trolley car, you gave the conductor a token?

MOUSE CONTRAPTION

Our next door neighbor has a phonograph with a cover that falls down upon the slightest touch. Being the kind of guy who always finds a use for something, he has hit upon an excellent way of taking advantage of its infirmities.

Every night at taps, he is going to open the cover and put a piece of cheese on the turn table. During the night a mouse will enter. The vibration of his molers masticating the bait will cause the cover to fall. In the morning the victim may be humanely disposed of by submerging the phonograph in the washbowl.

Annual Convention Women's Institute

Officers Elected for West Northumberland Society at Harwood Gathering.

PENELLA, June 19 (Examiner Correspondence)—The annual convention of West Northumberland Women's Institute was held in the Town Hall at Harwood on Thursday afternoon, the District President, Mrs. Sully, of Baltimore, presiding.

The reports of the different branches were given, the treasurer's report showing the amount of money raised during the past year to be $2,074.95, an increase over last year of $300.

Officers Elected

The election of officers resulted as follows: Mrs. Sully, of Baltimore, president; Mrs. R. Runciman, of Grafton, 1st vice president; Mrs. Wicks, of Cobourg, 2nd vice president; Mrs. R. C. Allan, of Cobourg, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Wicks and Mrs. Barton, auditors.

Miss Hopkins, who is sent out by the Department, spoke on the subject of coaching classes for girls, urging each branch to get behind the movement and form classes to take up this work.

Mrs. J. Deviney, of Veronville, gave a very interesting talk on aims and objects of the Federated Institutes of Canada. A program consisting of a solo by Miss Ina Rosevear; vocal solo, Miss Evelyn Young; reading, Miss Lily Stevenson and a vocal duet by two little girls, Misses Eileen Brisbin and Lettita Drope, was very much enjoyed.

At the close of the session the ladies of the Harwood branch served a delicious supper and a social hour was enjoyed.

INTERESTING TALK AT BRANCH MEETING

Mrs. S. L. Terrill is Speaker at Wooler Women's Institute Gathering.

WOOLER, June 19. — (Examiner Correspondence).—A talk on textiles, woollens, linens and cottons was given by Mrs. S. L. Terrill, at the Wooler Women's Institute meeting which was held at the home of Mrs. William Ruttans.

Mrs. Terrill said, "In considering the instruction program for homemakers it was felt that the various phases of the textile industry had not been kept proportionate to their importance to the homemaker. A study should be made of Canadian industries—study Canadian made fabrics, the best blankets in the world are made from Canadian wool in Canadian mills. If consumers would waken to the fact that employment would be speeded up and farming made more profitable by the purchase of Canadian made articles, it would be a boom to everyone. Patriotism is good business when applied to our purchasing and helps to create a prosperity in which every class can share. Learn the best grade of cottons—those with a straight even weave. A good piece of linen will be flat at the edges. Cottons and linens are universal."

Mrs. W. Sharpe presided for the business session which included the discussion regarding the sale of gasoline lanterns which are being disposed of owing to the installation of the electricity. More shrubs and bulbs were purchased for the park and the caretaker demanded a higher wage. A bale is to be made ready for hospital needs.

The lunch committee included Mrs. W. A. McColl, Mrs. C. Cole and Mr. Ezil Terrill.

SPEAKERS STRESS IMPORTANCE OF SUNDAY SCHOOL AT MEETING

Annual Convention of Cavan and South Monaghan Religious Education Council.

GOOD ADDRESSES

MILLBROOK, June 19 (Examiner Correspondence).—The fortieth annual convention of the Religious Education Council of the townships of Cavan and South Monaghan, met in the United Church, Mount Pleasant, on June 11, at 2.30 p.m.; the president, T. H. Aiken, occupying the chair.

After the worship service and the reports from the department superintendents, the addresses of the afternoon were given by the provincial representative, Rev. C. B. McClelland, and Rev. E. F. Syawne of Fraserville.

Mr. McClelland, who is an inspiring speaker, emphasized the fact that the Sunday School is a recruiting ground for the membership of the church, and urged the teachers to recognize their responsibility in presenting the obligation of the Christian life to the individual pupils; and also the opportunity of enlisting the scholars in the task of winning new pupils for the school from among children in the community not connected with any other school or church. Boys can win boys with whom their chum at school and sports.

Sunday school scholars need, too, the worship of the church. Teaching stimulates the mind to receive truth; worship stimulates the soul to the consciousness of the presence of God, and communion with Him.

During the past fifty years the scientific spirit has relegated God to a position of impotence, but to-day this attitude is changed and scientists are now writing religious books, so we are entering upon a new period of research in regard to spiritual realities. After all, life is bound up with God.

Aim of Teaching

Rev. Mr. Swayne spoke on the "Aim of Teaching"; he began with the beginning of Sunday school work, and quoted John Wesley as coming to the conclusion in his day that the Sunday school is the greatest organization Europe has seen in the last one hundred years. Man has four natures—physical, mental, social and spiritual. In all four aspects the crisis time comes in youth.

Life is a palace beautiful with four kinds of children (a) the child of fancy; (b) the child of memory; (c) the child of experience; (d) the child of vision, all combining to make the child that is, and the child that is to be. The boy pulling hairs out of the cat's tail is a puzzle to his teacher, but out of these hairs he makes a brush, and with this brush and the juice of berries he paints pictures that reveal to the world of Benjamin West, the great artist.

The challenge is to capture the imagination and dreams of childhood for Jesus Christ. The teacher of little beginners has the larger opportunity because first impressions are lasting. Illustrating this point, the speaker told of taking a picture of a boat, and forgetting to change the film; he later took a wedding-party on the same film; when developed, both pictures were visible but the one first taken was the clearer.

To teach—it is to reach,
To find the hidden laws of growing mind;
In boy, to see the coming man,
Then shape him to a splendid plan,
This is "to teach."

Evening Program

The evening program opened with a worship service led by Rev. E. J. Whitham of Cavan, the choir of the convention church furnishing music with Mrs. Jameison at the organ, and Mrs. Herbert Lowes singing "My Task" as a special number.

The installation of officers followed, the list for 1930 being:

President, William Finnie, Ebenezer; Vice-President, Stewart McGill, Centreville; Sec.-Treas., Percy Stewart, Ebenezer; Supt. Cradle Roll, Mrs. James Dougle, Cavan; Supt. Home Dept., Mrs. Robert Hootan, Fairmount; Supt. Girls' Work, Miss Burnham, Millbrook; Supt. Boys' Work, Rev. E. F. Swayne, Frazerville; Missionary Supt., Miss E. McIndoo, Fairmount; Leadership Training, Miss Estelle Hetherington, Millbrook; Temperance Supt., Richard Matchett, Cavan.

Rev. S. H. Moyer of Springville followed with a masterly address on "The Teacher's Preparation"—that is, the preparation of the teacher himself, as well as the lesson. He emphasized the satisfaction the teacher may have out of his work if it is good work; in day school, the standard is set for the teacher and he is required to measure up; in Sunday school the teached also needs a standard, but he must set his own. He must develop his own personality, for he is dealing with personality by the power of personality, and his preparation must be through contact with the Great Teacher.

Knowledge of the literature of the Bible is essential to proper preparation, and this cannot be gained by fifteen or twenty minutes with a lesson help, but through contant daily study, and meditation. The teacher must build up a reserve of knowledge to give power to his teaching as strong pressure of water is necessary to enable a fireman to put out a fire. Just enough water to extinguish the flames is not sufficient—it needs a reserve of water to give the pressure and so make the necessary amount effective.

Mr. McClelland closed the convention with a message of great spiritual power; his theme was "Power in Teaching," as revealed at Pentecost and after. Pentecost changed the disciples to men of power, and it changed their attitude to men, to God, and to Jesus Christ; from a Jewish background of thought of the Jewish Messiah to a new conception of Jesus as a great spiritual leader.

Pentecost will change us from the secular background of life, which is so materialistic that it prevents many from engaging in prayer with earnestness, to an appreciation of Christ in all His power and beauty. The Spirit of God will lead us into all truth; the church has often been mistaken in its attitudes—recall John Newton who wrote "How Sweet the Name of Jesus Sounds," and at the same time was carrying on a traffic in African slaves; the Spirit of God will lead us into a new social order.

The disciples found themselves under a new constraint: "The love of Christ constraineth us"; they spoke with new power and conviction; they could not but speak the things they had seen and heard. This experience of the love of God is essential for effective teaching—through the Spirit in our lives we speak with conviction, with frankness, and with fervor.

There is a contagion in experience; the church is the body of the Spirit in the world, and through it His message must be brought to the hungry multitudes.

The usual votes of thanks, with the singing of an appropriate prayer-hymn, and the Benediction closed a successful convention.

CHARLES WALDON

LAKEFIELD, June 19.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The funeral of the late Charles Waldon took place on Saturday afternoon and was attended by a very large number of friends who wished to pay a last tribute to one held in universally high regard.

The Rev. J. B. McCormack was the officiating clergyman and took his text from Revelations, 14:13, "And I heard a voice from heaven saying unto me, Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth. Yes saith the spirit that they may rest from their labors and their works do follow them."

"This message has come from the broadcasting station of the celestial city and may seem a challenge to the intelligent opinions of men but to deny it means to deny God. Man's opinion is always opposite of God and God fulfills His great eternal purpose and holds out the regard of better things in the city which stands four square, beyond the river of death, where there is no vacant chair and no sorrow, for God is there and life and light are eternal."

Three favorite hymns were sung, "Nearer My God to Thee," "Jesus Lover of My Soul" and "Safe in the Arms of Jesus."

The bearers were Messrs. W. J. Charlton, S. J. Charlton, W. G. Morrison, H. T. Penherthy, P. Spence, and H. Wannamaker.

He is survived by his wife, formerly Ethel Stabler, his mother, three sisters, Mrs. Fred Abbott, Doure, Mrs. Thomas Cheyne, Gore's Landing and Miss Etta Waldon, of Lakefield, and two brothers, Trude of Detroit, and Ernest of Lakefield.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

GETTING AHEAD OF HAY FEVER.

Although this is the month of June and hay fever occurs toward the end of August, this is the time that you should consult your doctor if you are one of the victims.

Perhaps you have been all through the 'cure' by means of the pollen extracts and feel that you spent all the time and money for nothing.

While there was formerly some doubt as to exact cause of this trouble, there is no question now but that the pollen from grasses of various kinds, and also from other plants is the real cause.

The symptoms are known to the sufferer and to his friends and family, because he not only feels miserable but he looks it.

The hard thing to understand of course is why with all this pollen floating in the air that only certain individuals seem to develop the trouble. Often only one member in a family will suffer from hay fever whilst other members not in any better health will remain absolutely free.

As you know it attacks the delicate covering of the eyeball, and the sensitive lining of the nose and throat, and in a few individuals the entire skin surface is irritated.

A research physician has been able to show that by scraping off enough of the upper layers of the skin on any part of the body and exposing the true skin, the pollen will set up the typical irrit ation.

Now what about the treatment?

Well if you can afford the time and money you can move to certain districts and be free from hay fever during its prevalence.

There is less pollen indoors than outdoors, less in the centre of a large city than in the country,less when at rest than traveling by motor or train, less at the seaside, less out at sea than on land,'

However, the time to start taking inoculations to prevent hay fever is six to eight weeks before the regular seasonal onset.

For this reason you should consult your physician at once and get the inoculations under way.

If you have never tried this treatment it is certainly worth the effort, for it is successful in at least half the cases.

If you have tried it once without results it may be worth your while to try one more course of treatments, the second and even the third course have proved finally effectual.

When your hay fever arrives and you want immediate relief, preparations containing adrenalin give most help, or the use of adrenalin internally by mouth or by injection into the skin'

Where there is much discharge from the nose, preparations containing lime are helpful.

However, my hought at this time, is to remind you that now is the time to start inoculations, so as to have them completed before the hay fever season arrives.

District Churches

WOOLER, June 19.—(Examiner Correspondence).—One of the finest services held in the United church was on Sunday morning when the junior congregation was in charge under the leadership of Mrs H. B. Neal. The voices in song and recitation of the little child touched every heart.

A recitation by Dorothy McColl was by a chorus of twenty-five children singing most heartily, "I'll Be A Sunbeam." The Psalm was recited by Lenna Richards and a verse of scripture by Dorothy McColl, Helen Cole, Nadine Cole, Frances Vosburgh, Louise Sharpe. A chorus entitled, "He Loves Me Too", was sung by eight small boys, Freddie Down, Karl Austin, Walter Richards,Wesley down, Raymond Rowe, Harold Rowe, Harold Neal, and Jimmie Scott; recitation, Roma Austin, Hazel McMaster, Harold Neal, and Carmen Richards; vocal solo, Jean Steinburgh; chorus, "Children Come With Song of Praise". Girls' chorus, Helen Cole, Helen McColl, Hazey McMaster, Leila Arthur, Lois Sharpe, Roma Austin, Jean Steinburgh, Gwendolyn Neal and Doreen Steinburgh.

The group of children awarded prizes for regular church attendance were Charlie Way, Donald Way, Helen Bentley, Edith Austin, Gwendolyn Neal and Harold Neal; Frances and Inez Vosburgh, Jean and Doreen Steinburgh, Elsie Ruttan, Karl and Roma Austin, Florence and Clifford Brown, Carmen and Walter Richards, Elsie Ruttan, Lela Arthur, Marjorie and Ray Sharpe, Herman Anderson. OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

KEEP STILL

How often a weary mother or a frazzled teacher driven to desperation orders the troublesome children to keep still, thereby adding grief to trouble. Keeping still was what started the trouble. It is not natural for a child to keep still. He is a bundle of activity. His condition of growth is activity. To keep still is to die. He cannot die because nature will not permit it and nature is stronger than mother and teacher and child.

In dealing with children must we always wait until the crisis arrives before helping the child? Why not set the stage for prevention? When we know that the secret of child happiness is the right activity—and by right we mean the activity that is right for the particular child in question—not for the whole neighborhood of children—why not supply the means for the activity?

When we are taking a child on a long journey, pack a little suit case with interesting things for the occupation and amusement of the child. A doll and a book and a picture puzzle, a pad and some colored crayons, a bit of handwork such as knotting a horse line, a few sweets. Prepare the little outfit thought fully and you and the child will have a pleasant journey and your fellow travellers will call you both blessed.

Rainy days are very trying on parents and children and teachers. For such days there should be special occupations that appear only on such days and become treats. When I was a little boy in the fifth grade, the teacher reserved a set of readers for stormy days. Nothing could keep me home those days. Those readers enticed me through wind and weather. There were other specialties too, but the readers were the heart of the matter.

But it is the day by day demands upon the mother that are so hard to meet. The attention span of a little child is very short and unless the occupation offers a variety of activity it is soon discarded and the child turns to whatever lies at his hand—furniture, walls, dishes, table, drawers, anything that promises opportunity for exploration and discovery.

Supply the child with strong things with which he can do a variety of things. Blocks of different kinds, tinker toys, mechanos, books, crayons and paper. Give the small children floor blackboards and the older ones an easel with large papers and colored crayons. The equipment need not be costly but it must be intelligent.

Avoid saying, 'Go do something." Have a definite job on hand. A little study of the child's interests will help one decide what activities are best suited to him and those are provided. Many children are happier helping about the house than playing with toys, and if they are given furniture suited to their size, brooms and cooking utensils in proportion to their growth, they will learn to be useful and cease to trouble the grown-yp folk quite so much. Some attention we must give them. Let them understand that they will receive their due in full at the right time. Set aside some portion of each day as theirs. But provide for the occasion.

"Easier on the Clothes and it's a great work saver" says Mrs. Rose Freidrick

"You never saw such active, soapy suds as Rinso gives! The water around here is hard, too. Rinso's creamy suds soak out the dirt; clothes come white and clean so easily. This way saves the clothes, saves me work, too. I use Rinso for dishes and all cleaning. It's great!"

MRS. ROSE FREIDRICK.

Thick suds in hardest water

Women like Rinso suds—they're so soapy and active. How they loosen dirt! Thrifty, too.

Cup for cup, Rinso gives twice as much suds as lightweight, puffed-up soaps. Rich, lasting suds, even in hardest water. No softener needed! The makers of 38 washers recommend Rinso. Get the BIG package.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

LAST week we discussed that subject of making money at home in spare time. Since then I have found that a great many of Peterborough's housewives are very much interested in this subject.

• • • • • • •

And so to-day I thought I would continue this subject. Perhaps you know it is the business aspect far more than the actual making of the things themselves, that the homemaker has to study

• • • • • • •

Let us take for granted that housewives can made delicious edibles, such as pies, cakes, etc., fashion dainty articles or do beautiful embroidery work, how are they going to get their wares before a buying public?

• • • • • • •

This is perhaps one of the first essentials and one which must be closely studied if one is to make money at home.

• • • • • • •

This is the business end and making money with homemade articles is as much of a business proposition as any commercial venture.

• • • • • • •

The commercial term for this is known as "marketing one's wares!"

• • • • • • •

In commerce there are no hard and fast rules governing the disposal of goods for profit. Each individual concern has its own problems and it is in the mastery of them that success is attained.

• • • • • • •

Some housewives I know are inclined to feel that business men have some royal road to success. Ask any man who is head of a concern or any travelling salesman, if he finds the way paved for him, as he tries to sell his wares!

• • • • • • •

Does he find it easy to dispose of his goods at a satisfactory profit? Anyone of them would believe you knew nothing of business, even to ask such a question.

• • • • • • •

Business is a constant struggle to create and hold the market for your output. The homemaker and the business man have this in common. But don't be discouraged. There are always ways and means.

• • • • • • •

I am told there are some general rules that can be set down. For one thing a person must know there is a market for what he or she has to sell; or feel an assurance that she can create a demand for something new or better which she has to offer.

• • • • • • •

This is the fundamental principle of "knowing the market."

• • • • • • •

You housewives must consider this aspect, for without having a market wanting what you have to sell, or being able to make a demand for your things a woman cannot expect to succeed any more than a man.

• • • • • • •

Study the market for homemade things by visiting gift shops, women's exchanges, foodshops, etc. If you notice that there is a lack of some especial article or edible that you excel in making, find out if the person in charge of the place would like to sample your make or see some examples of your work.

• • • • • • •

This is one way to discover the open market.

• • • • • • •

Study the needs of your community and many opportunities to sell your goods will present themselves to you.

• • • • • • •

Don't be too versatile. If you can do "almost anything" in what may be termed "women's work" you have a wide field of choice of what to specialize in.

• • • • • • •

But you must specialize to be successful. Many a man's business is founded on some one thing he makes that is especially good, or different from that sold elsewhere.

WEDDING BELLS

PURDY—ROSEBOROUGH.

The wedding took place at one o'cloc' yesterday at George Street United Church, of Eunice Madeline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Roseborough, of 587 Gilmour street, to William Raymond Purdy of Detroit, son of J. Albert Purdy and the late Mrs. Purdy of Bobcaygeon. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. E. J. Millyard. The church was decorated with palms, ferns and peonies.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, entered the church to the strains of the wedding march played by G. F. Liddle. She wore a lovely gown of eggshell satin with hat, shoes, hose and gloves to match and carried a bouquet of Butterfly roses.

The bridesmaid, Miss Guelda Roseborough, sister of the bride, was in nile green satin, with hat, shoes, hose and gloves to match and bouquet of Briarcliff roses.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Purdy left by train for Detroit, where they will reside. The bride travelled in an ensemble of eggshell and blue silk crepe with a mid-brown coat trimmed with pressed lamb and eggshell hat, shoes and hose.

The gift of the bridegroom to the bride was a crystal necklace, to the bridesmaid a silver compact and to the best man a silver cigarette holder.

SAYS PROTECTION IS ESSENTIAL TO AID EMPLOYMENT

Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion Addresses Large Audience in Brantford.

POLICY IS UNCANADIAN.

$40,000,000 Worth of Farm Implements Were Imported Last Year Speaker Says.

BRANTFORD, Ont., June 19 (C.P.)—A protective policy was an essential corrective for the present general unemployment problem, said Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion, member for Fort William in the last Parliament, during an address here last night at the Conservative rally held in support of the candidatures of W. S. Haney, K.C., in Lambton West., and Franklin Smoke in Brant.

Lowering of tariffs by the Canadian Government had proved detrimental to Canadian workmen, Dr. Manion said. Last year alone, he went on, Canada imported $40,000,000 in farm implements, which if made in Canada would have created employment for 10,000 Canadian workmen.

Referring to Premier King's policy on the tariff question, the speaker said it was un-Canadian. He had raised the tariff on steel and iron, but had lowered it through the British preference on such articles.

"What difference did it make of a Canadian's work was taken away from him by a man in Manchester or in Sydney, Australia, or in the United States," Dr. Manion asked. "Workers do not think of imperial sentiment when they were hungry," he added.

POLITICAL GOSSIP.

MISS MACPHAIL TO SPEAK.

WELLAND, Ont., June 19.—(C.P.)—Miss Agnes MacPhail, member for Grey South in the last parliament, will be the guest of honor and principal speaker at the farmers' annual picnic to be held at Crystal Beach on July 4 by the Welland County Board of Agriculture.

PREMIER IS NOMINATED.

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., June 19.—(C.P.)—Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King, who represented this constituency in the last parliament, was the unanimous choice of the Prince Albert convention yesterday as candidate in the July 28 election.

The name of Canada's bachelor premier was placed before the convention by two women delegates, both of whom, however, are married.

Toronto Council Appeal Will Be Heard On Monday

TORONTO, Ont., June 19.—(C.P.)—Appeal of the City Council against the judgment of Mr. Justice Kelly who recently ruled the self-voted salary increases of the council were illegal, will be heard by the First Divisional Court next Monday with Sir William Mulock, Chief Justice of Ontario, presiding.

Mr. Justice Kelly's decision has thrown the civic administration into a state of uncertainties according to the city solicitor, G. M. Colquhoun, the supplementary estimates amounting to some $700,000, approved by the council since the beginning of the year are invalid.

In an effort to secure a promise of legislation to validate the appropriations, Mayor Bert S. Wemp will confer with Premier G. H. Ferguson.

Leafs Defeat Reading in Free-Hitting Contest

O'NEILL CLAN WINS SERIES FROM READING

Make it Three in a Row by Taking Final Game 13 to 10.

WINGS DIVIDE BILL.

Games Are Featured By Home-run Hitting of Hauser and Collins.

READING, Pa., June 19.—Toronto won the series from Reading, three games to two, by pounding out a 13-to-10 decision in a free hitting game here yesterday. Six pitchers worked on the hill, two toeing the rubber for the Leafs.

The Toronto team was outhit, 16 to 14, but bunched its hits in the early innings to run up the one-sided score. The Leafs batted around in two innings, nine men going to the plate in the third when four runs were scored, and in the sixth, when five runs were chased across the plate.

Johnny Prudhomme sailed along smoothly after being given a huge lead by his mates, but he weakened in the sixth and was pounded off the hill. His successor, Kyle Graham, got into several holes, but was able to stop the Reading team.

Every Leaf hit safely with the exception of O'Neill. There was plenty of dynamiting in the early innings to afford a large midweek crowd plenty of thrills. Toronto scored in the first three innings, while Reading put on a four-run attack in the second.

WINGS DIVIDE BILL

BALTIMORE, Md., June 19—Rochester made it 4 out of 5 by taking the second game of yesterday's double-header 5 to 1, after the Birds had grabbed the opener, 9 to 6. "Jim" Weaver held the Red Wings to two hits in the nightcap, but both were home runs by "Rip" Collins. The first came with two on and the second with one mate occupying the sacks.

John Berly allowed the flock only three hits, Gill's home run being the only counter.

In the opening counter, Joe Hauser hit his twentieth and twenty-first home runs in successive times at bat.

JERSEY CITY, N.J., June 19—The Jersey City Skeeters broken even with the Montreal Royals here yesterday, winning the first game behind the masterful pitching of Cy Moore by a 3 to 1 score, and dropping the second in the final heat when the Royals uncorked a two-run rally to score 4 to 3.

George Selkirk hit a home run over the right field fence in the first game with a mate on base and the blow provided the Skeeters with their margin of victory.

NEWARK, N.J., June 19—Buffalo Bisons defeated the Newark Bears 6 to 0 yesterday. The game ended the present series and the Bears had the edge, taking three games to two. "Lefty" Fischer, the Bears' ace, started on the mound, but was taken out in the sixth with one out and the bases full. Harvin replaced him and finished the game, Fred Fussell toiled in the points for the Bisons, and although he yielded 11 hits, kept them well scattered.

Great Goalkeeper Nears End of Hockey Trail; Clint Benedict Likely To Retire This Year

TORONTO, June 19. — Clint Benedict, the oldest goalkeeper, in point of service, in the National Hockey League, will play no more for the Montreal Maroons, and it may be that he will retire from the sport. Yesterday the announcement was made from Montreal that the Montreal owners have asked for waivers on the veteran. Benedict started his professional career before the war, as a member of the Ottawa team, and he was the regular net guardian for the Senators until the Maroons were organized, in 1924, when Ottawa sold his services to the newcomers, and Benedict went on from there to star as of yore. But last winter ill-fortune pursued him. He was struck in the face on two occasions by flying pucks, and was forced into temporary retirement. Returning to the line-up in a game at Ottawa, he wore a mask, but was injured again, and put out of action for the season. However, he stated near the close of the campaign that he would play again. Benedict participated in more than his share of world series games, and became known as the greatest money player in hockey. His ability to turn aside shots in emergencies was uncanny at times, and he was a past master in directing his defense men. Never a sensational performer like Roy Worters, Jack Roach, "Chuck" Gardiner or Percy LeSeuer, he nevertheless rose to great heights of effectiveness, and above all, he was constant. In the days when roughhouse tactics marred the sport, Benedict seldom, if ever, came out second best in such "arguments." And then there was a time when goalkeepers were not allowed to fall to stop the puck, but Benedict, ever resourceful, discovered a way to trip over his stick, and he became known as the "praying net guardian." If he goes out of the league, he will be missed. A fine fellow and a great athlete was Clint Benedict.

Successive Homers Spell Defeat for Cleveland

Although the 2nd Canadian Marathon Championship in history there are still some facts that seem somewhat strange to us. The fact that weather conditions, while a trifle windy were almost ideal, but some considered it a trifle cool for the older contestant. The failure of Johnny Miles and Harold Webster was the cause of much conjecture. Webster retired after running about seven miles, while the Boston Marathon winner dropped out after covering eighteen. He was not up with the contenders after the thirteenth mile, yet these weather conditions were almost made to order for Johnny. As for Harold many believe that his bad leg that forced him to give up at the Olympics is again bothering him. It is regretted by many that these two men who have formed the vanguard of Canada's marathoners apparently seem to be fading.

FANS PROTEST UMPS' DECISION

HOLD FIRST PLACE.

OSHAWA, June 19.—Oshawa Arabs defeated Cobourg here last night in the final game of the first half of the Lakeshore League series by 6 to 3, and took undisputed hold of first place. The game which produced some smart ball intermingled with scenes of confusion as spectators stormed on the field to argue with the umpires and was abbreviated to seven innings by darkness and fog, but Oshawa appeared to have the matters well in hand, with Frink hurling masterly ball, while Ibey, Cobourg's star hurler, was in trouble in practically every inning.

The locals got their first run in the initial frame, when Rowden crashed a home run after the first two men had failed. In the second Whitely connected with another of Ibey's straight ones for a homer to deep right, and in the third, hits by Rowden and Young and Ibey's intentional pass of Whitely, filled the sacks. Gummow hit to short and Rollings erred, two scoring. The fourth saw the visitors score their first run when Grey let McFadden's single get away from him and McFadden scored. Cobourg got two more in the fifth on two hits, a sacrifice and two errors.

The game was put in the "bag" when Oshawa got two in the sixth when Fair walked and stole second. Frink's bunt was perfect and he stole second on the next pitch. McDougall came through with a squeeze bunt to score Fair, and Rowden's lusty single brought in Frink.

Cobourg took exception to practically every decision the umpires made, and toward the end of the game several interruptions were necessary to clear the field.

Softball Notes.

Tonight at the Central School Grounds C.G.E. and Westclox will meet in a softball fixture. Both teams lost their last start and will be right ou to get back in the running. The game will start at 6.30 sharp.

Friday night will see the Belmonts and Sugar Bowl in action. These two teams are at the top of the league.

Little Change In Hitting Standings

Half of the Big Six enjoyed a day of rest yesterday, at least so far as the two major league games on the schedule were concerned, while the rest got only four hits among the three. Hodapp was the leader for the day, cracking out two blows in four times at bat and lifting his average one point to .396. Cochrane held his post two points ahead by hitting once in two official attempts. He went into a tie at the .398 mark with Riggs Stephenson of the Cubs, who again joined the Big Six, replacing Frank Hogan, who plays with less regularity. Paul Waner went into a slump against the Giants and got but one hit in five times at bat, dropping to a .392 average and into fifth place in the line-up.

SMILY'S GUIDE BOOK BOOSTS KAWARTHAS

Splendid Photographs By Roy Studio Enhance Valuable Publicity Matter By C. of C.

Smily's Canadian Summer Resort Guide, constituting the thirty-seventh annual edition is just off the press and provides a wealth of detail and information of inestimable value and interest to the summer vacationist.

Edited by Frederick Smily and published in Toronto the guide contains an extended reference to the Kawartha Lakes region and Peterborough City, the advertising value of which is greatly enhanced by a series of pictures of the district photographed by the Roy Studio. Undoubtedly Mr. Roy's pictures are among the finest in the book for clearness of detail and artistry. The first picture, an aeroplane view of section of Peterborough, with Little Lake in the foreground and the Otonabee River on the left, is faced on the opposite page by another view from the air of Clear Lake. The final picture by the Roy Studio is that of Stony Lake—the lake of many islands, with beautiful summer cottages.

Seven pages of the guide are devoted to getting forth in outline, the charms which await the visitor to the Kawarthas, and to the "gateway city" Peterborough, and incidentally the compiling of this information is but one of the activities in which the local Chamber of Commerce are ever furthering in a quiet unostentatious manner, which is perhaps all the more efficient on this account.

Several progressive Peterborough business houses feature in the advertising section of the guide, which is the oldest guide in Ontario and officially recognised as a mine of tourist information.

First Officer of R-100 is Recalled to England From Montreal.

CHANGE IS FORECAST.

MONTREAL, June 19.—Lieutenant Commander N. G. Atherstone, First Officer of the R-101, who has been in Canada making arrangements for the arrival of the giant British dirigible, is leaving for England Friday.

Asked if he could assign any reason for his recall, he said he thought it likely that the R-101, and not the R-100, will make the first flight to Canada, and that as he is First Officer of the R-101 his services will be required for the initial trip.

Answering a question, he replied: "Yes, I should certainly be glad to be one of the officers to make the initial trip, but I am sorry for my brother officers of the R-100, who, I know, will be disappointed."

When he received the message recalling him to England, First Officer Atherstone was in Ottawa making arrangements with J. A. Wilson, Director of Civil Aviation. Upon his return to Montreal he went out to St. Hubert Aerodrome to make final arrangements for the accommodation of the crew, and he will leave Montreal on Friday on the Duchess of Atholl.

Giants Rally in Seventh Frame to Beat Pittsburgh Pirates 4-3.

PHILADELPHIA, June 19. — The Athletics met Cleveland's threat to take first place in the American League yesterday by handing out heavy punishment to Wes Farrell and winning the opening game of the important series 7 to 2.

The Athletics gained an early lead by scoring three runs in the first inning. They completed the rout of Ferrell in the fifth when Al Simmons, Jimmy Foxx and Bing Miller hit successive home runs, two of them going into the left field stand, and Simmon's over the roof. Eddie Morgan of Cleveland opened the barrage with a homer in the first of the fifth.

RALLY TO BEAT PIRATES.

PITTSBURG, June 19. — The New York Giants took a hard fought battle from the Pittsburg Pirates yesterday, 4 to 3, scoring three runs in the seventh inning to break up a one-run pitchers' battle. The Giants barely stood off a closing Pirate rush when Hughey Critz closed the game with an unassisted double play.

Singles in the first inning by Leach and Lindstrom sent New York off ahead, but Bill Walker and Heinie Meine continued in a tight duel until Walker left the game in the fifth due to a wrenched leg. His successor, Heving, did not fare so well after the Giants had given him a four-run lead and the Pirates are three counters back in the last three frames. Hub Pruett finally came in and pitched only to Paul Waner, who sent a hot liner that Critz managed to pull down over second and stepped on the base, doubling Grantham.

PACKERS BEAT CALEDONIANS FOUR TO ONE

MANY NEW PLAYERS.

Packers Get Two Goals in Each Half, While Curtain Scores Scots' Tally By Penalty.

Canadian Packers now meet the Brinton Athletic in the final of the Spalding cup on the 28th June. They trounced the Caledonians last night to the tune of four goals to one in the semi-final of the same trophy at King Edward Park.

The Caledonians introduced many new players to the code in this city and once they get acquainted with each others' play they will be strong opposition to the rest of the league. In the Packers' line-up, Rickard took up the right wing after fulfilling the custodian's position with credit. Charlie Griffin made his first appearance in goal since he received the injury to his arm in a street accident. Jim Wilshaw strained a ligament in previous game and will be out of the team; while Nicolson has left the city.

First Half

From the kick-off the Scotsmen took up the attack against the Packers to allow Nicholsain to send in a peculiar drive that had the custodian in difficulties, but he punted up the left wing where the play was transferred to the other end. The winners' forward rank moved with precision to have the better argument for possession of the ball. Craig travelled up the centre, then sent Coyle along the wing who landed a perfect centre in below the bar, with nobody there to convert. McCracken on the extreme right, along with Cook led the opposition a merry dance until the former beat them nicely and finally drew the defense out. He sent the sphere across the open goal which failed to get the necessary touch from a Scotsman's foot. Exchanges continued even with flag-kicks interspersing the visits that were paid in rotation without any disaster taking place. Of course, the custodians were more stable than the attacking forces. In this respect Bogie showed them the example by sending a long drive from midfield that compelled the Packers' custodian to throw himself up in the air to save his citadel. While this was a bright spot in the play, Beggs at centre for the Packers showed brilliant manouvres in making openings so as to give his inside men a chance to score but Agnew and Bogies always intercepted the move. Both elevens worked hard to gain the decision and it finally fell to the Packers after Best was carried off the field injured. With only ten men, the Scots peppered away at the Packers' goal and Buchanan noticing the opening sent Beggs away up the field. He outwitted the opposition cleverly and fell as in the act of shooting, but he was rewarded to notice that Foster was lying close by to tap the ball into then et amidst offside protests from the losers. From the kick-off, the Packers returned into the Scots' territory where an accidental handling permitted N. Downer to increase the count with a low grounder into the far corner of the net. The Scots claiming that it was not a goal according to rule but the official abided by his decision and the first half ended thus: Canadian Packing 2, Caledonians 0.

Second Half

The second moiety showed no changes in the position of the players but it revealed a different style of play that proved very fast. They reverted back to the long swinging passes that tested the ability of the half back line, thereby throwing the heavy burden of defense on the full backs who replied with unfaltering kicking in any position placed to be difficult. Time and again McCracken and Cook worked inside the defense to find Griffin unbeatable at any distance. Cook dribbled his way through to lose the ball at the critical moment. On one occasion Cook beat three men in a row, to make the goal-keeper concede a flag-kick which the player claimed was through. At any rate, the corner nearly proved fatal when Nickolsain trapped the ball into the goal, the custodian making a brilliant stop in below the bar. Play run from end to end for a while until N. Downer got the Caleys goal-keeper napping when he picked the vacant spot for number three. Not being discouraged through the count the Scots enlivened the proceedings with a constant barrage of shots on the Packers' goal. The only reward they received was a spot kick taken by Curtain who got the only goal for the Caleys, after the referee had consulted the linesmen if the infringement had been committed Their fight did not continue long because Buchanan sent a low grounder into the net from twenty yards out that completely baffled Ward in its transit. With only eight minutes to finish, the play deteriorated into an uninteresting character but resulted in the Packers meeting the Brintons in the final on the 28th June. Canadian Packing 4. Caledonians 1.

Caledonians—J. Ward, goal; S. Agnew and A. Bogie full backs; Z. Nickolsain, T. Craig and D. Emery halves; J. McCracken, W. Cook, D. Curtain, D. Best and A. B. Coyle forwards.

Canadian Packing — C. Griffin, goal; J. Cross and J. Downer, full backs; J. Bradley, J. Buchan and A. Bromley, halves; W. Rickard, N. Downer, A. Beggs, T. Foster and J. Preston, forwards.

Referee—J. Hodson. Linesmen—R. Carmichael and W. Curtis.

THREE PLAYERS ARE INJURED IN CAR ACCIDENT

MISHAP NEAR BOWMANVILLE

Ibey Suffers Bruised Arm That Will Keep Him Out of Game For Several Weeks.

(Special to The Examiner)

COBOURG, Ont., June 19.—Three players of the local ball team in the Lake Shore League were injured near Bowmanville last night when their automobile slipped over the shoulder of the highway into the ditch in avoiding collision with a freight truck.

"Toey" Ibey, pitcher, suffered a bruised arm that will likely keep him out of the game for several weeks. His right arm was to-day in a sling. Jack Ewart, secretary of the team was knocked unconscious and R. Hornbeck was cut by flying glass. Others in the car were George King, Ralph Wheeler and Gene Butler, centre fielder.

The Cobourg car, returning east met two big trucks and the glare of their lights obscured the view of the second truck which loomed suddenly in front of the automobile. Wheeler, the driver swung out to avoid it and his car turned over in the ditch.

Ibey's injury is a serious set-back to Cobourg. The full extent of his injury will be ascertained by an X-ray.

The team was well up in the running, although Oshawa won the first half of schedule in the game with Cobourg yesterday. Ibey's pitching has been a big factor in the local team's success.

NATIONAL CLUBS ON SECOND TOUR

Eastern Teams Hold Decided Advantage Over Western Rivals in Victory List.

AMERICAN CLOSER.

(By Fullerton, Jr. A. P. Sports Writer.)

To a disinterested observer it would appear that the scene of a ball game should not make much difference in the result where such seasoned campaigners as major league players are concerned. But it does not always work out that way. The National League clubs of the east, which are just opening their second western tour, found surprising success at home, but it is rather doubtful whether they will continue it on the road.

Some National League Clubs do not start the second half of the East-West test until to-day, but on the basis of form shown in the games since June 1, the Eastern clubs have all the advantage. They won 34 contests while the west took but 18, with only the hard fighting Chicago Cubs getting better than a .500 average. Every Eastern club won more games than it lost.

In the American League, the struggle was somewhat closer as the East's leading pennant contenders held their own although they were pulled down from the heights they had reached before they invaded the western half of the circuit. The East came out ahead, 26 games to 25, due principally to the activities of the New York Yankees, who won nine and lost three. The other eastern clubs came out just below the .500 mark, but their western rivals, with the exception of the Cleveland Indians, were in the same vicinity. Cleveland won eight out of twelve games.

GLASGOW RANGERS DEFEAT DETROIT 3-1

Scottish Champions' Victory Obtained After Great Display of Football.

DETROIT, June 19.—What was undoubtedly the most colorful exhibition of soccer ever witnessed in this district was dished out for the edification of approximately 7,000 spectators at Hamtramck Stadium, last evening, when Glasgow Rangers, wearers of the triple crowd of Scotland and regarded as the world's champions, defeated a Detroit eleven by 3 goals to 1.

COCKSHUTT BLUES EXTEND KILMARNOCK

BRANTFORD, June 19.—The Kilmarnock Scottish League soccer team met real antagonists here last evening in the Cockshutt Blues at Mohawk Park, but they won, one might almost say as usual, though the score was but 2—1, and one of the winning goals was slipped in by a Brantford player too anxious to clear his goal.

The Scots, however, were weak at shooting and not a few missed open goals. T. Smith scored for the touring team, Moore fumbling badly in the net. Amos, Cockshutts' outside left, sent in three hard shots in succession that had the earmarks of counters, but Clemie saved brilliantly. Ramsey for Kilmarnock missed an open goal, to be followed shortly after by Smith missing after defeating Tell. Cockshutts were equal in strategy and combination, and worried the Scots' defence consistently. The half-time score stood 1—0 for Kilmarknock.

By Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S FUNNY MONEY.

Once upon a time, when Uncle Wiggily was hopping through the woods looking for an adventure, he came to a little puddle of water and mud near a big tree. The sun was shining on the mud puddle and the old rabbit gentleman thought he saw, on the edge, a number of fifty cent pieces.

"Why, there's a lot of money somebody has dropped!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "A lot of fifty cent pieces! They have fallen in the mud and are a bit dirty, but I can wash off the dirt and, if I cannot find who has lost the money, I'll use it myself and buy toys for the children. I'm lucky today!"

Mr. Longears hopped to the edge of the puddle and started to pick up what he thought were dark fifty cent pieces when, to his surprise, all of a sudden those pieces of money shot out legs and tails and heads and away the money began to crawl.

"My goodness! This is most mysterious and surprising!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "The money is running away, and how fast it goes! I have always heard it said that money goes fast but I never saw it go this way before. This is funny money!"

Then the rabbit gentleman looked again and saw that what he thought were fifty cent pieces were really little, round, baby mud turtles, just the size of money. The baby mud turtles had been sleeping in the sun on the edge of the puddle. But of course when Uncle Wiggily started to pick them up they ran away. Their legs, heads and tails had all been tucked away and folded in between their shells, and that is why the rabbit did not see them at first.

"Ha! Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily as he saw his mud turtle money running away. "Such funny money!"

"What are you laughing at?" asked a voice in the middle of the puddle and a great, big daddy turtle thrust up his head.

"I am laughing to think how I was fooled!" said Mr. Longears. "I thought your little sleeping baby turtles were fifty cent pieces that had fallen in the mud."

"Ha! Ha!" chuckled the daddy mud turtle. "That was funny. But since you are here, Uncle Wiggily, perhaps you can do me a favor."

"I shall be most happy to do that," spoke the rabbit. "What is it?"

"Mrs. Turtle and I are going to move to another puddle," went on the daddy. "This one is too small, or it will be when our baby turtles grow larger. So Mrs. Turtle and I have decided to go to another puddle. It is on the other side of the woods. Now we can easily crawl there, if we take our time. But it will be a long walk for our little turtles. I wonder if you couldn't put them in your pocket and hop to the new puddle with them. Mrs. Turtle and I will follow as soon as we can. That will be a big favor."

"I'll do it!" said kind Uncle Wiggily. "Tell your little turtles to come back here so I may pick them up and put them in my pocket."

Mr. Turtle whistled through his beak and back from the bushes where they had run to hide, came crawling the little fifty cent size mud turtle babies.

"Don't be afraid of Uncle Wiggily, my dears," said the daddy turtle. "He is only going to carry you in his pocket to our new puddle home."

"We won't be afraid!" croaked one of the baby turtles.

They pulled in their legs, they pulled in their tails and they pulled in their heads and then, once more, they looked like half dollar or fifty-cent pieces. There were more than a dozen of them and Uncle Wiggily put them in his pocket and started to hop to the other puddle.

"Your mother and I will crawl over as soon as we can!" said the daddy mud turtle to his little ones.

With the funny money, as he called the baby turtles, rattling in his pocket, Uncle Wiggily hopped and hopped. All of a sudden, out from behind a bush jumped the Bob Cat and the Fox.

"Ha! We have him now!" howled the Bob Cat.

"Check!" exclaimed the Fox. "First see if he has any money in his pockets and then we'll tie him up and take him to my den!"

The Bob Cat stuck one paw into Uncle Wiggily's pocket and pulled out a lot of little baby mud turtles.

"Oh, look at the fifty-cent pieces!" howled the Bob Cat. But he dropped some of them, and as soon as they struck the ground the little turtles stuck out their heads, they stuck out their tails and they stuck out their legs and began to run away, for they knew there was danger.

"Look! Look!" howled the Fox. "What funny money!"

"It must be magical!" yowled the Bob Cat. "This is a trick! Come on away from here! If Uncle Wiggily can turn money into turtles he can turn us into Swiss cheese or something like that!" So away ran the two Bad Chaps and then, with a laugh, Uncle Wiggily gathered up the baby turtles and took them to their new puddle.

EXPLORERS PLAN NEW EXPEDITION

Will Attempt to Reach North Pole By Means of Submarine.

SOME TIME NEXT YEAR.

PARIS, June 19. (C.P.)—Captain Sir George Hubert Wilkins, British explorer, and Lincoln Ellsworth, United States explorer who has spent much of his life in the Arctic regions to-day announced collaboration in an attempt next year to reach the North Pole by means of a submarine.

At Lensburg, Switzerland, Captain Wilkins issued a statement saying that Mr. Ellsworth, who was a joint leader with Roald Amundson on the flight of the Norge across the North Pole, will be associated with him as joint leader in the projected exploration trip to be known as the Wilkins-Ellsworth transpolar submarine expedition.

Noted Sub Staff

The statement continued: "Commander Sloan Dannehower will be master of the vessel and Dr. H. Sverdrup the chief of its scientific staff. They expect to leave New York for Spitsbergen next June, and travelling under the ice cross the North Pole so as to reach Alaska late in August.

"A definite decision as to whether Mr. Ellsworth will actually make the journey will be delayed until he returns this summer from an expedition to Labrador."

Mr. Ellsworth, arriving in Paris from Basel, enroute to the United States, confirmed Captain Wilkins' announcement and added: "Sir Hubert will stay in Switzerland until the middle of July to finish his book on his South Pole explorations. Then he will go to New York to supervise rebuilding of the submarine to be used next year."

Mr. Ellsworth will leave for the United States Saturday aboard the Mauretania and will depart from New York almost immediately on an eight-hundred-mile canoe trip to the unexplored headwaters of the St John's and Hamilton rivers in Central Labrador. Beekman Toole, a Harvard junior, will accompany him. Captain Wilkins is residing at present at the Ellsworth home at Lenzburg.

LIFFORD LINE

Mr. Walter Neals has been busy drawing gravel from Chapman's pit in preparation for the building of a silo this summer.

It was decided at the business meeting of St. Mary's church to hold the annual Lifford garden party on July 9 on Cephas Staples' lawn. Plans are being made for a local talent program and a ball game.

Miss G. Hutchison has been re-engaged as teacher at Lifford school for a third year.

Mr. Harry Neals delivered a load of hogs to Peterborough by truck on Wednesday.

The date for the Ballyduff Presbyterian church garden party has been set for June 27.

Messrs. Vertle McMullen and George Wilson have commenced work on James Neal's new barn. They have the cement wall well under way; several of the neighbors assisting with bees during the week.

AUTO RUNS 59 MILES ON GALLON OF GAS

Automobile engineers who worked for years in an effort to reduce gasoline consumption have found the solution in a marvelous invention that fits all cars. An actual test made by one of the engineers showed 59 miles on a gallon of gas. Thousands of car owners have already installed this new invention. They not only report amazing gas savings but are also surprised to find quicker pick up, instant starting, smoother running motors and disappearance of carbon. E. Oliver, 999-910N Third St., Milwaukee, Wisc., for a limited time is offering a free device to those who will help introduce it. He also needs men everywhere to make over $100 weekly in their own territory taking care of local business. Write him at once for free sample and big money making offer.—Adv.

O'NEILL—HYNES
The wedding was solemnized at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning, June 17th, at St. Peter's Cathedral, by the Rev. Father Lynch of Marguerite Ellen Reta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hynes of Smith Township to John M. O'Neill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Myles O'Neill of Bancroft, Ont.
The bride wore a lovely dress of shell pink georgette and hat to match of spider web and mohair, shell pink hose and white kid shoes and long white silk gloves. Her bouquet was of white carnations and maidenhair fern.
The bridesmaid, Miss Frances Hynes, sister of the bride, wore almond green crepe with eggshell trimmings with hat to match and grey fox fur and carried a bouquet of pink carnations and maidenhair fern.
Mr. Michael O'Neill, brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where about fifty guests were served. After which the bride and bridegroom left on the 5.15 train for a honeymoon trip.
The bride travelled in an ensemble of navy blue, with hat, hose and shoes in matching tones, and carried a blonde purse, gift of the bridegroom.
The gift of the bridegroom to the bridesmaid was a compact and to the best man a pair of gold cuff links.
The gifts to the young couple were varied and handsome. On their return they will reside on Water street.

Belleville Police Seize Beer Cargo

BEER IS SHIPPED FROM CARLING'S AS CANNED GOODS

Inspector Lougheed Makes Seizure in Warehouse of Graham Brothers.

CONSIGNED TO OTTAWA.

Awaiting Orders From Attorney Generals Department as to Disposition.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., June 20. (C. P.) — Eighteen thousand dollars worth of beer, seized by the local provincial police, is being guarded closely until orders for its disposition have been received from the Attorney-General's Department.

Swooping down on the Graham Cold Storage, the authorities confiscated liquor which had been unloaded from the freight cars last night. It is alleged to be the property of the Carling Breweries, of London, and was waybilled from that place as "canned goods."

Acting on inside information Inspector Wm. Lougheed, armed with a search warrant seized the cargo today. No arrests have yet been made, although action may be taken shortly. R. J. Graham and George Graham, owners of the storage could not be reached by the Canadian Press today. It was consigned to Ottawa but is alleged to have been side-tracked here. The two freight cars, after the liquor had been removed, were sealed and were shifted back to the C. N. yards. Crown Attorney Donnan and the police are awaiting word from Toronto for further orders.

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., June 20.—(CP)—Alex Wysochan, convicted murderer of Mrs. Antenna Kropa, his 25-year-old paramour, last Christmas night, expiated his crime on the gallows at Prince Albert penitentiary this morning. Wysochan walked steadily to his death. The trap was sprung a few minutes after 6 o'clock.

Atlanta Celebrates Bobby Jones' Victory

ATLANTA, Ga., June 20.—(CP) Bobby Jones' mother and father sat quietly alone at their home here today and received news of their son's latest victory, but his home town reacted noisily.

News boys were swamped by the crowds who themselves took up the boys' cries of "Bobby wins". Business was virtually suspended downtown while staid business men pounded one another on the back and talked of the great golfer, first in the heart of his city.

VESSEL ASHORE IN ST. LAWRENCE

S. S. Quebec Has 150 Passengers on Board—Not in Danger.

DAMAGE IS SLIGHT.

QUEBEC, Que., June 20.—(C.P.)—The S. S. Quebec of the Canada Steamship Lines, which went ashore in a dense fog yesterday, just as the ship was about to enter the Saguenay river, was still held fast today, according to reports to the owners of the vessel, the Canada Steamship Company. The S. S. Saguenay of the same line and the salvage ship Lord Strathcona were standing by, but so far were unable to draw close to the stranded vessel owing to the thickness of the fog. The Quebec was on her way to Chicoutimi from Quebec City when she grounded.

The Quebec has on board about one hundred passengers.

The Canada Steamship Lines offices here were in constant touch with the serious damage was done to the hull of the vessel, for at the time she went aground she was proceeding at a very slow speed on account of the fog.

KIWANIS CLUBS SPEND $150,000 ON UNDERPRIVILEGED CHILDREN

Hugh Murray Addresses the Peterborough Kiwanis Club at Weekly Luncheon.

FRED MOORE PRESENT.

Something of the great work being done among under-privileged boys in Canada and the United States was told to the local Kiwanis Club at its noon luncheon to-day by Hugh Murray, formerly of London and now of Ottawa. Mr. Murray was one of the first to see the need of some work among under-privileged boys and he was in a large part instrumental in getting the Kiwanis Clubs in Ontario to begin this social work. Since then, Kiwanis International has taken up the cause of the under-privileged and it has expanded until it has become one of the most important features of Kiwanis endeavor.

This year in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes the Kiwanis Clubs comprising the district will spend $150,000 on under-privileged boys. He related many sympathetic stories of boys who had been helped into the path of a decent life by the efforts of Kiwanians and in the schools maintained by Kiwanis Clubs.

Fred Moore, lieutenant governor of the Kiwanis Central Ontario District, also spoke, emphasizing the slogan of Kiwanis, "We Build."

Everything is arranged for the big Kiwanis Rochester Excursion next Wednesday, reported Al. Sharpe. Music for dancing will be supplied on the boat by Rick Roberts and his Melody Men.

Tom Mark was booster of the day and the prize winners were: Albert Barton, John Meyers and Ivan Allen.

HON. W. H. PRICE DENIES CHARGES MADE BY CHURCH

Attorney-General Not Interested in Northwest Toronto Nomination.

NEVER INTERFERED.

Somebody Has Obviously Loaded Mr. Church Says Col. Price.

TORONTO, Ont., June 20 (C.P.).—Hon. W. H. Price, Attorney-General, to-day denied the charge of T. L. Church, K.C., M.P., that he had attempted to overthrow Mr. Church in his candidature for the Conservative nomination in North-West Toronto.

"I have not interfered in any way or asked anybody to support either Mr. Church or John R. MacNicol in that riding," said Col. Price. "Neither do I propose to do so. Messrs. Church and MacNicol are going up for the nomination. They both can't get the nomination. The whole party is interested in trying to avoid friction and double candidates in ridings."

Church Has Been Loaded.

"Somebody has obviously loaded Mr. Church up with the idea that I am opposed to him getting the riding," went on Col. Price. "This is not a fact, and it is very unfortunate that he should have stated it."

As to Mr. Church's charge that the Attorney-General had asked ten employers to lay off employees because they have favored Mr. Church, Col. Price said, "This is an absolute falsehood."

Col. Price also denied Mr. Church's charge that the latter's stand on the Beauharnois power development had brought disfavor.

LADIES DISCUSS PRICE OF BREAD

Members of Local Council of Women Maintain Price is Too High.

PASS RESOLUTION.

At the closing meeting for this season of the Local Council of Women, held yesterday afternoon in the green room of the Young Women's Christian Association, a discussion on the price of bread took place.

Several of the ladies taking part maintained that the present price of wheat did not justify the prices asked for bread locally and the society passed a resolution asking the milling companies to do everything possible to bring about a reduction, asserting that Peterborough was high-priced in this commodity, as compared to other centres. The ladies also asked that bread be wrapped.

Mrs. C. H. Edwards, the president, read the report given by Dr. Jessie Birnie with regard to work done by the Maternal Welfare Committee of the Well Babies' Clinic, and Mrs. J. Mills also outlined the work of the Clinic. It was decided to request similar donations to those given in the past by the affiliated societies, to carry on this work.

Mrs. G. A. Helson, convenor of the Household Economics committee, reported on her work.

Mrs. Edwards spoke of the plenitude of flowers at the present season and during the summer months, and asked the members to remember the cenotaph in Confederation Square, and lay flowers on it as they passed by.

A resolution of condolence will be sent to the National President, Mrs. J. A. Wilson, on the death of her mother.

Mrs. H. E. Dunford, convenor of the Sewing committee for the Girl Guides, reported that every member was now in uniform. Some material left over was given to Mrs. Mills for use in her work.

CONSERVATIVE CHIEFTAIN PLEASED WITH N. B. RESULT

SASKATOON, Sask., June 20. — (By Thomas Green, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.) — Hon. R. B. Bennett was highly pleased with the success of the government of Premier J. B. M. Baxter in the New Brunswick Provincial Election on Thursday.

"The victory of Premier Baxter," the Dominion Conservative leader declared here last night, "was expected, although the Liberals considered that the result would be very close. The wave of Conservatism that is sweeping through Canada will find a stronger expression in New Brunswick on July 28 than it did to-day.

"The progressive measures and sound administration of the Baxter administration, together with the increasing resentment against the Federal Liberal policies, are responsible for the result."

CANADA NEEDS BETTER MARKET IN OLD COUNTRY

Conditions Would Improve Rapidly on Increased Sale of Wheat.

KING IN QUEBEC CITY.

Liberal Leader Reviews Three Possible Conservative Remedies For Unemployment Relief.

QUEBEC, Que., June 20 (C.P.). — Opening his campaign tour of Eastern Canada here last night, Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King addressed a great outdoor gathering from a raised platform in historic St. Peter's market place. Premier King prefaced his remarks with a greeting in the French language.

Premier King and his party left immediately after the meeting for Moncton, N.B., where a meeting is scheduled for to-night.

The Prime Minister dealt with unemployment, taking the position that the Government of which he is the leader is determined to rid Canada of this problem and will bend every energy to the work. He declared the view that the budget, with its provisions for encouraging Empire trade, will have the effect of increasing Canada's business, and this will result in decreasing unemployment. If Canada could improve her market in Great Britain and sell her wheat, conditions in this country would improve rapidly. The condition was a world condition and Canada's position was much better than that of many other countries.

Not Considered Remedy

Of Hon. R. B. Bennett, leader of the Conservative party, Premier King said the only remedy Mr. Bennett had proposed for unemployment conditions was the summoning of a special session of parliament immediately after the general election. This, Mr. King declared, was not a remedy at all. Such action could be of value only if there was some "definite and well considered proposal" to submit to the special session, declared the Prime Minister, "and if he has such a scheme in mind he certainly did

ROTARY CAR WON BY A. McKENZIE

No Ticket Was Found to Have Correct Number of Miles On It.

WINNER HAD 1841 3-10.

"Is that Andrew McKenzie? President of the Rotary Club speaking. Do you remember your estimate on the Rotary Pontiac car? 1841 3-10 correct! You will drive the car after this; you hold the winning number." The foregoing was the conversation held over the telephone last evening from the offices of the Peterborough Public Utilities Commission, immediately after the judges had completed the task of sorting through the thousands of tickets on which estimates of the car's mileage were made, and which varied from blank tickets up to one containing the absurd estimate of 3,000,590. A very frequently occurring estimate was 1313.

Ross L. Dobbin, president of the local branch of the Rotary, besides offering his congratulations to the winner requested his presence at the club luncheon to be held at the Empress Hotel on Monday noon. Andy Brown who sold the car to the club at below cost price, in aid of funds for the Rotary work among crippled children, will call for Mr. McKenzie at noon and will present the car to him, so that he may drive in state to the hotel.

In conversation with an Examiner representative, the winner of the automobile, who resides at 544 Bolivar street, said that he only had one estimate on the car. He has just returned to the city after an absence of some weeks and bought his ticket on Tuesday afternoon. He is chief inspector of the Canadian General Electric Company, a firm by whom he has been employed for the past thirty-four years.

His ticket number 1923 plainly shows an erasure of the first figure which has been replaced by a figure one. Asked what figure he had there in the first place Mr. McKenzie stated that it was a two. "By some lucky chance," he said 'I altered it

BENNETT WARNS PREMIER TO KEEP CAMPAIGN CLEAN

No Truck or Trade Remarks of Mackenzie King at Brantford is Scored.

FIVE Cent Speech.

Decries Attempt to Bring Question of Treatment of Returned Men Into Politics.

SASKATOON, Sask., June 19. — (By Thomas Green, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent). — In ringing and emphatic terms, Hon. R. B. Bennett from the heart of the prairies here last night sharply warned Premier King to keep the election campaign "clean and straight" upon the issue before the Canadian electorate.

"I am compelled" the Conservative chieftain exclaimed, "to refer to a statement made by Mr. MacKenzie King in his Brantford speech. I would much rather have ignored it. The statement is this: 'In the reciprocity campaign of 1911 the cry of the Tory party was no truck or trade with the Yankees, this year it has become dangerously near being "no truck or trade with Britain."

What Does He Mean?

"I sincerely regret that Mr. Mackenzie King considers it wise and proper to say what he has. What does he mean by these words? Surely he cannot undehstand their import if he has any knowledge of the political history of this country. Surely he does not realize where this statement is leading him and his party. What desperate gambler's folly prompted it. I warn him here and now to keep this campaign clean and straight upon the issue. There is only one before the people. It is this: Which as between the policies of the Liberal and Conservative parties, is the one best for Canada and Canadians. If he raises any other issue he does so at his own peril. He is now fully warned. In fairness to his country and in his own interest—not in mine—he should give careful heed to the warning."

He had not, Mr. Bennett declared, referred previously in the campaign, to the now famous 'five cent piece' statement of the Prime Minister in the House of Commons, in the unemployment debate.

Another Apology.

"But Mr. Mackenzie King Tuesday night at Peterborough," he proceeded, "offered still another apology for what you call his 'five cent speech.' Why doesn't he stop it? We have all heard many times what he wants to say. Why doesn't he stand up and admit frankly he was wrong. Then some of you perhaps

Voters Endorse Two Provincial Governments

Premier Brownlee and His Forces in Alberta Given a New Mandate.

LIBERALS MAKE GAINS.

Two Ministers, One a Woman, Are Having Close Run.

By Gill Purcell, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent

CALGARY, Alta., June 20. —John Edward Brownlee 46-year-old lawyer from down in Ontario, today holds a brand new five-year contract as leader of Alberta's high-powered farmer government. Probably with a decreased majority, but still with a strong grip on the whip-hand, The United Farmers of Alberta party will guide the province's destinies for a third term.

From northern outposts, returning officers bore ballott-boxes through the night to compiling points, proportional representation experts toiled into the dawn in Calgary and Edmonton, six-seat ridings, setting quotas and transferring surpluses; in some half dozen rural ridings election officials must transfer votes to definitely label the winner.

Hold 39 Seats

Today, as counting neared completion, it appeared that the government would hold 39 seats in a house of 63 members, as compared with 43 in an assembly of 60 before dissolution. Liberals promised to annex ten seats, three better than before and Conservatives five, to swell their representation by one. Labor members, who numbered six in the last assembly, hoped hardly for better than five.

Independents had the best chance at three of the four remaining seats.

Standing of elected members is as follows:

United Farmers of Alberta	35
Liberals	7
Conservatives	4
Labor	3
Independent	3
Undecided	11
Total	63

Premier Brownlee, who succeeded Hon Herbert Greenfield as Farmer leader five years ago, deems the representation granted his government sufficient to handle adequately administration of new-gained natural resources and other problems of the coming term.

Baxter Loses His Seat in New Brunswick to Liberal Opponents.

STANDING IS 31 TO 17.

Former Speaker, Minister and Opposition Leader Are Defeated.

ST. JOHN, N.B., June 20. (C.P.)—Entrusted again for five years, with the administration of the legislative affairs of New Brunswick, Dr. J. B. M. Baxter returns to Fredericton for next session with 31 followers out of a total of 48 seats. The Opposition party, which was led through the fray by Wendell P. Jones of Woodstock, another experienced parliamentarian recently returned to public life, won 17 seats.

Six of these were straight gains, four in Northumberland county and 2 in Alberta, they entailed the defeat of the speaker of the legislature, Hon. J. Leonard O'Brien and Hon. Lewis Smith, Minister of Agriculture. Among the casualties on the Opposition side was Mr. Jones himself, who was out-voted in his own constituency.

Protest is Answered

Premier Baxter, in a statement, said the protest of some people against the Government Liquor Control Legislation had been effectively answered. He considered the return of 31 of his candidates a definite mandate to proceed with his program of policies.

Hon. Mr. Jones deferred his statement until all returns were checked.

The New Brunswick campaign was short but strenuous. Inaugurated less than a month ago, speakers and advertising campaign began immediately. Newspaper space and radio schedules were utilised as auxiliary to platform routine. The importation of Ontario women speakers was a part of the battle. Mrs. Howard Falls, vice-president of the Ontario Conservative Association, supported the Government on the Liquor Control question, and Mrs. Wright, Dominion president of the W.C.T.U., also from Upper Canada, opposed it.

The usual last-hour flourish of sensational sayings and happenings marked the battle. Capital was made out of everything possible and the result was one of the largest vote in

TOWNS BEATEN IN THEIR APPEAL

Municipalities in Unorganized Districts Must Pay For Indigent Patients.

FINANCIAL BURDEN.

TORONTO, Ont., June 20.—(C.P.)—The cost of maintenance of indigent patients in a Sanatoria Falls upon the municipalities in unorganized districts, ruled second divisional court at Osgoode hall today in passing judgement on the appeal against the decision of Justice Middleton, who ruled that the town of Bracebridge was not liable for a claim of $1,171 put in by the National Sanitorium Association for the maintenance of an indigent. The effects of today's judgment are far-reaching. Over $40,000 is outstanding for similar claims in Ontario. Sudbury, Timmins, Cochrane, Fort Frances, and the township of Teck are affected by the judgment. It is said that immediately following the ruling by Justice Middleton, payment for indigent maintenance was stopped. The towns complain that because of the location of a sanatorium in certai ndistricts people in ill-health would migrate there and impose an extra financial burden upon the community.

Further Grants Are Made For Township Roads and Bridges By County Council.

SALARIES INCREASED.

Further provisions for bridge repairs and road construction were made by the Committee on Roads and Bridges of the Peterborough County Council when it convened again to-day.

The sum of $300 was granted to Galway Township for work on Clark's bridge, Mahoney's bridge and Reid's bridge. For repairs to bridges in Chandos and Anstruther $200 was granted. A committee composed of Warden Hawthorne and County Councillors Humphries, Sanderson and Tedford was appointed to look after the building of the Norwood bridge and the repairs to the Westwood Bridge.

$300 for Otonabee

On a motion by Reeve John Clark and Reeve Vernal Windsor, $300 was granted to the township of Otonabee for improvement of the 13th line leading from Bensfort Bridge. Chandos township was granted $300 for improvement work on the Wellington, Clydesdale and Glen Alda roads in the township.

The matter of assistance to Smith township in repairing the Seventh Line bridge was held over to the November session of the council. A request for assistance in the repairs to the Emmismore bridge over Donnaghue's Bay was also held over for consideration.

Salaries Increased

The salaries of Assistant Turnkey Stanley Johnston and Jail Matron Mrs. Stanley Johnston of the County Jail, who were appointed at the January session of the Council, were fixed at $700 and $300 by the Finance Committee. The committee raised the salary of T. D. Johnston, county jailer, from $900 a year to $1,000 and the salary of Turnkey Robert Rae from $700 to $800 a year.

Considerable discussion took place before the committee passed a motion covering the grants to the Fall fairs in the county. The Peterborough Exhibition was given $800, Norwood Fair, $300; Lakefield Fair, $200;

PERCY CAMPBELL TELLS HIS STORY OF THE COLLISION

24 Year Old Truck Driver is Unable to Throw Much Light on Fatal Crash.

CAR ON WRONG SIDE.

Both Men Were Apparently Dead When Campbell Freed Himself From Cab.

"I can't tell you much about what happened; it all came so sudden." stated Percy Campbell, 24 year old driver of the McGlashan Company's transport, as he tried to tell The Examiner his story of the collision on the Port Hope highway yesterday noon, which had resulted in instant death to two Toronto men.

The young man's face was still a chalky white, speaking more plainly than words his reaction to the horrors of the fatal crash. There were three small cuts on his face and the middle finger of his right hand. He complained of a pain in his chest, but otherwise he was uninjured.

"I was coming along toward Peterborough on my right side of the road," he began. "I think I was travelling somewhere between 20 and 25 an hour.

Travelling Fairly Fast.

"I saw the car coming toward me. It seemed to be coming at a fairly high rate of speed. I wouldn't like to say just how fast, that's hard to judge.

"Just as it drew near me, it angled sharply across the road on to my side. I pulled my wheel over quickly, going to the left. I tried to go around them so as to miss them."

There was a pause and Campbell reached for a cigarette. "What about the crash?" he was asked. "I can't tell you much about that," was the low reply.

"No, I was conscious all the time. I climbed out of the cab. The two men were lying on the road near the ditch. One rolled over and I went over to him, lifting him up a little. I said 'Are you all right, Mac.' He didn't answer. There was nothing I could do. The other one never moved. He was dead."

Campbell said he has been driving cars since he was eighteen and had never had an accident before. He has worked for McGlashan's, off and on, for two years and lives with the McGlashan family at Dunbarton, a suburb of Toronto, but his family reside at Bewdley.

Only Witness.

The truck driver is the only witness to the fatality. The police investigations have not disclosed anyone else who actually saw the crash.

G. L. Carruthers, a traveller, with his home at 236 Indian Road, Toronto, came upon the scene from the south while the dust from the collision still hung in the air, but he could throw no light on how the accident occurred.

Noted Jail Breaker Is At Large Again

TWO ARRESTED FOR SHOOTING

Mysterious Shooting of Two Young Boys at Stouffville Cleared Up By Police.

DRIVING COWS AT TIME.

STOUFFVILLE, Ont., June 20. —(C.P.)—The mysterious shooting of Jack and Robert Radford last night has been solved to-day with the arrest of William Ryan and Samuel O'Hara on charges of wounding. The arrest of a third man is expected.

The young brothers were wounded while driving their father's cows to water in Whitchurch Township. According to their story a motor-truck overtook them on the road, and, because of the delay caused when the cows took their time about getting off the road, the occupants of the car opened fire on the youths and bovines alike. Jack, aged nine, was shot in the hand and leg, while Robert was hit on the wrist. As a result of the wounds, Jack will have two fingers amputated.

Canada and Cuba Agree To Treaty On Postal Service

HAVANA, June 20. (C.P.)—After three years of negotiation Cuba and Canada have arrived at an agreement upon a parcel post treaty, and the document will be signed in a short time.

The principal point of difference which delayed the two governments in a parcel post treaty has been the insistence of Cuba that manufactured tobacco shall be admitted for shipment into Canada. The dominion yielded this point, the state department said.

STEAMERS ARE ASHORE.

QUEBEC, Que., June 20 (C.P.). — Two steamers went ashore in a thick fog yesterday in the St. Lawrence River, below Quebec. TOWNS WILL APPEAL VALUATION IF PASSED BY COUNTIES COUNCIL

Recommended as Equalized Assessment By Committee at Cobourg.

DISCUSSION ENDS.

(By a Staff Reporter.)

COBOURG, June 20.—The valuation of the taxable property in Durham and Northumberland as appraised by the commission composed of Col. T. J. Johnston, Peterborough, George Thompson of Cobourg, and R. J. Rowe of Clarke township, was adopted yesterday by the Equalizatzion committee as the equalized assessment for 1930 upon which the counties council levies its rates upon the constituent municipalities this year.

This action was followed by intimations from urban members that the towns would appeal to the County Judge within the next twenty days, the statutory time for signifyng their dissent, if any.

The committee's progress Thursday afternoon was merely a deferred climax to the protracted debates of the first two days. The representatives of the towns and villages returned to the committee after Wednesday's recess with no material criticism of the valuation, and even without an amendment that might lighten the blow that was aiming at them.

The valuators had prepared an illustrative statement indicating the county taxes on the minor municipalities bases on approximately last year's rate and also on 60 per cent. of the new valuation. It indicated fairly closely the general effect in taxes of the work of the valuators, but did not alter the attitude of the committee as a whole, and especially the rural representation.

Deputy Reeve B. S. Dickenson, of Hope township, moved, seconded by Deputy-reeve C. H. Curtis of Percy township, that the new valuation be adopted as the equalized assessment for 1930.

Three hands were raised in opposition by Deputy-reeve Rehder of Bowmanville, J. N. Stone, Campbellford, and W. B. Pratt, of Cobourg.

Valuators' Examples.

The counties rate in 1929 was slightly more than 11¾ mills. In their comparative estimates, merely illustrating the prospective difference in taxes this year, the valuators chose the round rate of 12 mills.

The total valuation of Cobourg, exclusive of income and business assessments was $4,229,200 and 60 per cent of that is $2,537,520. At the 12-mill rate the tax on this latter assessment would be $34,450, and Cobourg's actual taxes paid to the Counties last year was $18,966. The increase, therefore, would be $15,484; and as Cobourg has already struck its rate for this year, its representatives contend that they have no way of providing for this additional demand.

These estimates have no actual effect or application. They are merely examples indicating the new tax trend. This year's levy will be decided to-day, when the 1930 rate is struck. However, some of the other comparative figures may be quoted:

Campbellford—1929 taxes to Counties, $9,449; estimate for this year, $13,779.

Hastings—$2,266 last year; $3,033 this year, an increase of $767 or about 2¾ mills.

Millbrook—$2,348 last year; estimated taxes this year, $2,664.

Decrease for Township

COUNTY COUNCIL WILL RE-BUILD NORWOOD BRIDGE

Young's Point Bridge Will Undergo Extensive Repairs This Summer.

COST WILL BE $1,700.

Reply is Made to Warden's Address Which Was Delivered at Opening of Council.

An extensive program of bridge repairing and construction to be carried out in the County this year was outlined by the Committee on Roads and Bridges of the County Council yesterday afternoon. A new structure will be built to replace the Norwood bridge which is a tributary to the Ouse river, the Young's Point bridge will undergo extensive repairs and lesser repairs will be made on the Belmont bridge, the Sandy Creek bridge and the Westwood bridge. The council of the united counties of Northumberland and Durham will be approached with a view to carrying out extensive repairs to the Bensfort bridge jointly and possibly also the Wallace's Point Bridge.

The cost of the repairs to the Young's Point bridge was roughly estimated as $1,700. No estimate was mentioned in regard to the cost of the new Norwood bridge which will be a comparatively small structure. One hundred dollars was granted for the repairs to the Belmont bridge and also $100 for the Sandy Creek bridge.

The present Norwood bridge is in generally dangerous condition with sinking piers and a poor covering, it was reported by members of the Committee. New floor beams and flooring will be placed on the Westwood structure.

Re-Inforce Pier.

County Engineer A. W. Connor presented technical reports on the Bensfort and Young's Point bridges Among other recommendations with regard to the Young's Point bridge he advised the re-inforcement of the corner pier which has sagged. A committee composed of Messrs. Coons, Leahy, Hawthorne, Tedford and Fitzgerald was appointed to supervise the repairs to this bridge.

The same committee will meet a committee from the United Counties Council to arrange for work on the Bensfort structure. The committee will inspect the Wallace's Point bridge.

A sub-committee which carried out the bridge inspections reported that authorization had been given for necessary repairs to the Deer Bay Creek in Harvey.

John McIntosh, chairman of a committee appointed to consider the warden's address on Monday, made a report which, in part, was as follows:

"We recognize the fact that steps should be taken to prevent deficits in our finances occurring at the end of the year but, as has been pointed out by the Warden, additional expenses are now imposed upon the County Council which the council is compelled by law to provide but the amounts of which are not definitely fixed and are beyond the power of the Council to accurately estimate.

Economic Value

"We endorse the Warden's remarks with reference to the improvements of the county and suburban highways. Such improvements are expensive but have a substantial economic value and add very materially to the comfort and pleasure

CANADIAN BRANDED BEEF

For the first time in the history of the Canadian beef trade the housewife can go to the retail butcher, buy a roast of beef and know exactly what she gets. There are two grades of branded beef "red" and "blue." The "red" brand product is only the very choicest quality of beef, known to the trade as "choice." The "blue" brand is known to the trade as "good" quality beef. Stamping is done by a non-injurious vegetable dye which is prepared especially for the purpose in the chemical laboratory at the Dominion Experimental Farm from a formula approved by Government health authorities.

ORANGE LODGES ATTEND SERVIGE

Members From Lakefield, Havelock, Hastings and Lakehurst Take Part in Service.

YOUNG'S POINT, June 20.—(Examiner Correspondence.)—On Sunday evening, June 15th, a special service was held in St. Aidan's (Anglican) church, Young's Point, when members of I.O.L. Beresford No. 122, L.O.B.A. Northern Lights No. 831 and the Juvenile Orange Lodge of Lakefield attended divine service. There were also visiting Orangemen from Havelock, Hastings and Lakehurst.

The church was crowded to overflowing and a crowd of about 200 remained outside unable to secure seats in the church. The Orangemen met at James Reed's residence and led by the Lakefield band, marched to the church in full regalia, where they occupied the nave and chancel. During the service Miss Winnifred Payne contributed two solos, "My Task" and "Abide With Us." Miss Daisy Wilson acted as organist in a very capable manner.

Rev. R. T. C. Dwelly, B.A., B.D., welcomed the lodges to the church and based his sermon on the text. I Peter, II-15, "Being free men, use not your liberty for a cloak of maliciousness. Honour all men, love the brotherhood, fear God, honour the King." Freedom or liberty is the touchstone of Orangeism and the Orange Order emphasized freedom along three definite lines.

First, the open Bible. All men have free access to the Holy Scriptures and one restriction only, namely, that the interpretation of the Bible must be founded upon truth, which is an external virtue. The greatness of the British Empire is due largely to the open Bible.

2nd. Loyalty. All Orangemen are pledged to be loyal to the throne and empire. The British race and empire are worthy of our just pride and should demand loyalty of the finest type on the part of all citizens.

3rd. Religion. All men have the inherent right of worshipping God as they thing fit. No man should be persecuted because of his religious belief alone.

The three plans in the Orange platform are worth fighting for and our continued prayer should be that Orangeism should remain true to these lofty ideas.

M. J. HOLMAN IS CHOSEN LIBERAL CANDIDATE FOR DURHAM COUNTY

SOCIETY REORGANIZED

MILLBROOK, June 20—(Examiner Correspondence).— M. J. Holman, Reeve of Clarke Township, was chosen as the Liberal standard-bearer in the present election campaign, at a meeting of the Durham County Liberal Association held recently in the Town Hall, Orono. W. J. Bragg M.P.P., acted as chairman for the gathering.

Three candidates were nominated: Thomas Holgate of Bowmanville, John Baker of Darlington, and M. J. Holman, the latter being the choice of the convention on the second ballot.

The meeting was somewhat slimly attended owing to the lateness of the hour when notice of the gathering was sent out. W. C. MacGregor, K.C., of Toronto, was the chief speaker, emphasizing the Dunning budget, the benefits of the old age pension scheme, and Empire preference as the three main issues before the electors in the present election contest.

W. A. Meadows, of Port Hope, was elected president of the Durham Liberal Association, and E. S. Senkler, of Bowmanville, secretary.

In accepting the nomination Reeve Holman said he believed Durham County has been represented in the Federal House too long by a Conservative, and he was ready to fight to a finish for Liberal principles, and to win the Riding for the party which he represents.

THREE HUNDRED PEOPLE TAKE PART IN FARMERS' PICNIC

Annual Affair at Wallace's Point Held Under Auspices of Cavan and South Monaghan Club.

GOOD SPORTS' PROGRAM.

(Examiner Correspondence)

MILLBROOK, June 20.—In spite of most unfavorable weather conditions, between two and three hundred people gathered at Wallace Point, Otonabee River, on Thursday June 19, for the fifteenth annual picnic, under the auspices of the Cavan and South Monaghan Farmers' Club.

Contrary to the custom of previous years, no speakers were engaged for the gathering this season, a good sports' program being the attraction offered though this had to be very considerably curtailed owing to the steady downpour of rain throughout practically the whole afternoon.

Getting thoroughly soaked had apparently no dampening effect upon the enthusiasm of the girls' soft ball teams from the Sixth Line, Otonabee, and from Frazerville, who staged a snappy game that kept the onlookers (dry and c omfortable in their cars, most of them) on tiptoe with interest and excitement during the whole seven innings.

The score stood pretty even throughout the game and at the end of the fifth innings was a tie, 13-13 ending in a victory for the Sixth Line players, with a final 20-14. The lineup was:

Sixth Line—M. Donaldson, p; M. Hall c; V. Elliott 1b; A. Munro, 2b; M. Renwick, 3b; H. Weir, ss; I. Laws, rf; D. Elliott, lf; H. Donaldson, cf.

Frazerville—B. Wood, p; M. Whittington; O. Carr, 1b; M. Moncrief, 2b; M. Wood, 3b; R. Holden, ss; P. Carl, rf; E. Perren, lf; E. McElroy, cf.

Umpires—Wood, plate; Hall, bases.

Sport Events Postponed

At the close of the game each team was presented with a four-pound box of chocolates— a prize well deserved for their grit in sticking to the game with the rain pouring down during almost the whole time of play. Incidentally the girls furnished the only item of the sports' program that could be carried out, for though the players arrived for the baseball competition between Keene and Bailleboro, the rain still falling, the wet condition of the ground, and the early closing in of the evening left little opportunity to put the game through. The races advertised had t obe left out for a like reason.

Cars had to be utilized for the picnic tea, and though the new tables which Mrs. Cardwell has recently had erected were in readiness, it was impossible to make use of them; nor the usual happy groups to be found seated about the tea cloths spread here and there on the greensward throughout the grounds while baskets were opened and the contents thoroughly enjoyed.

A dance in the palivion, with the Concrief-Cardwell orchestra furnishing music, and the admission fixed at ten cents per dance, drew a good attendance of the young folk, and completed the day's program. Harold Dawson is president of the Cavan and South Monaghan U.F.O. and J. C. McRoberts secretary treasurer.

Cardwells had their booth open on the grounds. Mr. Cardwell was home from Toronto, and as usual the host and hostess, did everything possible to plan for the convenience and enjoyment of their picnic guests.

TOWNS WILL APPEAL VALUATION IF PASSED BY COUNTIES COUNCIL

has obtained for many years with only slight revisions, Warden Nelson said that the last equalization was made by Judge Benson, who had cut Cobourg's equalized assessment in two because he believed the local assessments were considerably higher than the local assessments of the townships. This opinion applied at that time to all the urban municipalities, but the present revaluation had shown that there was not a considerable difference between the local assessments in the urban and rural municipalities.

Warden Nelson added that he was the only member who had succeeded in effecting any increase in the urban equalized assessments since Judge Benson's decision.

Mrs. Macdonald's Protest

A Cobourg protest to the closing and sale of a section of the lakeshore road west of the town to Miss E. W. Tracey of California who has a summer home on the property once owned by the Hon. Sidney Smith who was once host to the late King Edward VII when, as Prince of Wales, he visited Cobourg and laid the corner stone of the court house.

Miss Tracey had applied to the township of Hamilton township, whose council was in favor of selling the road for $500.

Mrs. E. M. Macdonald, reeve of Cobourg, protested against the closing of the road to the public because of its historic associations and also in the prospect that it may some day be needed for a new highway along the lake front.

The debate on this question took up most of the morning session, and ended with a motion to traverse the matter to the December sessions.

"I am sure that if Col. MacNachtan were here you would hear from him in no uncertain terms; or if his son, our present clerk could speak at this meeting. I know he would endorse this appeal I am making," said Mrs. Macdonald.

"Along this lakeshore road the United Empire Loyalists toiled as they came from Brighton and the Bay of Quinte after leaving the country which had forced such a heavy sacrifice upon them. Generations of Cobourg people walked that road which may now fall into the hands of a descendant of those who helped to inflict suffering on our ancestors who had to leave the United States. It would then be owned by an alien who for two short months a year is kind enough to come to us. If this sale is anuthorized the historic road will be shut out from access to British citizens."

Mrs. Macdonald asked the council at least to postpone action until the December sessions in order that an effort might be made to raise $500 to buy the road and present it to the county. She said she was certain that the Historic Preservation Society, instituted by the federal government, would assume this historic road.

Mrs. Macdonald said she would pay the township the interest which they might lose during the six months and also guaranteed to provide the $500 which Miss Tracey offered to Hamilton township.

Harry Maguire of the Cobourg council supported Mrs. Macdonald's petition. The beach in that section had been impaired by the removal of hundreds of thousands of tons of gravel by the Warren Paving Company, the town of Cobourg and others.

Reeve Bygott of Campbellford said: "We, as a new country, have not yet learned to value historical spots as older countries have done. Other provinces are taking these matters in hand and are having historic places marked for posterity. Hamilton township is assured that it will be taken off their hands."

Major Bygott supported the suggestion that action be deferred for six months to give Mrs. Macdonald time to arrange for the assumption of the road.

Reeve T. A. Davidson of Hamilton argued that the township had advertised the proposed sale for eight weeks in local papers and no public objection had been raised.

CANADA NEEDS BETTER MARKET

not make any attempt to reveal it during the last session of parliament."

Mr. King said he could discover only three specific remedies the Conservative party had prepared to offer the Canadian people in the matter of unemployment.

"One is an all-around increase in the tariff, in imitation of an American policy which has not prevented the unemployment problem in the United States, said Mr. King.

The second remedy which might be proposed, Mr. King Observed, was "the immigration policy of General MoRae, Mr. Bennett's chief lieutenant in the present campaign, which would involve this country in the expenditure of $300,000,000 in order to bring out 300,000 immigrants to Western Canada.

Unemployment Relief.

"The only other policy Mr. Bennett may have in mind is admittedly not a remedy but an ineffective palliative for the problem, namely, contributions from the Dominion Treasury to the provinces for the purpose of unemployment relief." This would not require a special session of Parliament but could be done by Governor-General's warrant, if necessary. A special session would cost the country $2,000,000 "without a guarantee of any more practicable remedy for unemployment that emerged from the discussion of the last session," declared Mr. King.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

There were 17 cattle, 37 calves, 47 hogs, no sheep or lambs at the opening of the Union stock yards yesterday morning. Cattle left over from yesterday numbered some 800 head. Buyers showed no interest in the offering, and no sales were made up to 11 o'clock. Prospects are that most of the stale cattle will be held over at the close of the week. Wednesday's closing prices on killers were $1.25 a cwt. down from last week's close. Best butcher cattle sold at 8 to 8¾ cents and good cows from 6 to 6¾ cents. Prices of store cattle dairy cows were down sharply in the week's dull trading.

Calves in yesterday's light offering sold from 4 to 7 cents a pound. The decline in price on all grades for the week amounted to nearly $2.00 a cwt.

No sheep or lamb were offered today. Prices on lambs advanced 50 cents for the week. Choice spring lambs closed firm yesterday at 13½ cents a pound. Sheep were slow and lost value in the week's trading.

Hog prices to-day are steady at the week's decline of 50 cents a cwt. Bacons are selling at 11¼ cents f.o.b. and 12¼ cents w.o.c.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, June 20.— Unsteady but always higher than Wednesday's close, the Winnipeg wheat market recorded fractional gains yesterday. All three future months were ½c higher after touching earlier in the day points nearly 2c in advance.

Liverpool's strength brought about a rise at the opening, and reported damage by wind and outworms to wheat lands in Saskatchewan and Alberta added to the bull tinge.

Cash wheat trade was dull, spreads being about ½c to ¾c better, and coarse grains were without feature.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, June 20. — Reassuring statements credited to Chairman Legge of the Federal Farm Board had a notable steadying effect on wheat values yesterday. He was quoted as announcing to Kansas growers that wheat holdings of Government sponsored organizations will not come into the market to compete with other sellers so long as prices remain at the present low level. Less favorable French and Italian crop reports tended also to give encouragement to wheat buyers.

Closing quotations on wheat were firm at the same as Wednesday's finish to 3-8c. higher. Corn closed 1-8c to 7-8c up, oats 3-8c to 5-8c advance, and provisions varying from 7c decline to a rise of 10c.

Corn and Oats Display Strength.

Corn and oats developed strength on account of better cash demand for corn and as a result of a let-up in liquidating sales on the part of holders of future delivery corn contracts.

Provisions averaged higher with grain, notwithstanding a break in hog values.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, June 20.— The trade in cash grain today was dull, but values showed little change. Prices of all lines of millfeed were reduced $2 per ton.

The dairy and product markets were active and generally firm. Old potatoes continued to sell at $1.80 to $2 per 100 pounds, in bulk, in carlots here. No. 1 new quality were offered at $8 per 160-pound barrel.

The butter market ruled steady under a fair demand. Receipts were 532 boxes.

Cheese was steady. Receipts were 3,36 boxes. The demand for eggs was fair and values were unchanged. Receipts were 2,013 cases.

TORONTO PRODUCE.

TORONTO, June 20. — Prices for Canadian fruits yesterday were quite steady, and included apples, strawberries, cherries and gooseberries. Local dealers were able to get 7½c to 15c for pints and 15c to 20c for quarts on strawberries, though as previously stated, some poor berries only brought 6c per pint. Receipts yesterday of strawberries were not very heavy, and the quality was not so good as previously, but these points were evidently due to the unfavorable weather. Better quality and more of it, was prophesied for Friday. Cherries, mostly sour, were commanding a fair sale at 75c to $1 per six quart basket. Gooseberries looked real good at $1.25 to $1.50 per six quart basket.

Apple Grading.

It might not do any harm to say a little about apples here—Spies—and the reason for the great range in prices per barrel. Prices have been from $4.50 to $9 per barrel of Spies for some time, and many shippers have wondered why they did not get the top price that they knew others received for high class fruit. It is all in the "pack." Some shippers have not been content to just grade No. 1 and No. 2, but they grade No. 1 large and No. 1 small, and the same with No. 2. They mark these grades so that the commission man knows the size as well as the grade, and the uniformity is so good that dealers, retailers, etc., are willing to pay extra.

Vegetables.

And now about Canadian vegetables. Cabbage though not plentiful, has been arriving in all shapes and sizes of boxes or cases locally and it has been difficult to quote an exact price per case, but by the dozen $1 is just about right, and shippers can figure on that basis. Green peas were not quite so good yesterday, and there was a lower bottom to the spread, prices being from 50c to 75c for six quarts and 75c to $1 for 11 quarts, a drop in the latter price of 25c. Dealers have almost become tired of looking at lettuce, head or leaf. It has been a burden on the market lately, and yesterday prices shrunk 15c on head lettuce and 10c on the leaf product. Head lettuce was offered at 25c to 60c a hamper, and leaf lettuce was from 10c to 15c. Some dealers were able to get a little better price for asparagus and the price range was $1 to $2 per 11 quarts. Tomatoes—hothouse—were still 15c to 20c a pound; spinach, 30c to 50c, onions, $2.75 to $3 a sack; parsley, 75c to $1 for 11 quarts; beets, 30c to 40c per dozen bunches and radishes, 20c to 25c a dozen.

THE PENSIONS QUESTION.

Warden Hawthorne announced to the County Council yesterday that because of the old age pensions system the number of inmates in the House of Refuge is lessening.

The assistance received by the old people in the form of pensions makes it possible for them to avoid entering the House of Refuge, a condition that should perhaps have been taken into consideration when the question of asking to be relieved of any part of the cost of pensions was to the fore.

It will probably be pointed out by the Government that the present system by which the municipalities pay a portion of the cost is balanced by the lesser number of inmates in county houses of refuge, and that the municipalities have the advantage of controlling the local administration of the Pensions Act.

This advantage, as The Examiner has already suggested, is one of considerable importance.

A board appointed by the municipality and familiar with local people and conditions is likely to give a more economical and just administration of pensions than a board selected by the Government.

HELP THE BLIND.

Local chapters of the Daughters of the Empire are combining their forces to stage a tag day on Saturday on behalf of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

This is an object that should commend itself to the generosity of every citizen.

There are 7,000 sightless people in Canada, many of whom are dependent upon others for support.

It is to aid them as well as to carry on an extensive campaign for the prevention of blindness that the Canadian National Institute for the Blind exists, and in the carrying out of these aims the organization should have the cordial assistance of the public generally.

Saturday's tag day will give the people of Peterborough a chance to do their share in making the lot of the sightless citizens of Canada more pleasant and in aiding in a drive that may save other Canadians from a similar affliction.

The Daughters of the Empire are contributing the services of their organization to the campaign because they recognize that the call is a very urgent one and that the work carried on by the Institute is in every way worthy of assistance.

The Examiner is confident that Peterborough's response to-morrow will be a generous one, in keeping with the merit of the appeal.

THEY SPEAK TOO LONG.

A contemporary remarks that the political leaders will have to be built like battleships to withstand the strain of the heavy speech-making programs which custom dictates at election time.

It is undoubtedly true that the task of travelling from one end of the Dominion to the other and making one or two speeches every day is an exhaustive task.

But the leaders in the present election have themselves to blame if the strain proves too great.

In the opinion of a good many people, they both are guilty of speaking at too great a length and of attempting to cover too large a field of subjects in one speech.

It is estimated that Mr. King used 20,000 words in his Brantford address, and that he surpassed that mark here on Tuesday when he achieved what is believed to be the long distance record so far as speeches from the huslings are concerned.

Mr. Bennett spoke at great length, too, in his Winnipeg effort, and both leaders are in this respect putting an unnecessary burden upon themselves.

If they would endeavor to discuss one main issue in each speech and boil the thing down to sixty or seventy-five minutes, it would be easier on themselves and would have more effect upon their audiences.

TWO MORE TRAGIC EXAMPLES.

Once again two shocking motor tragedies, one at our very door, emphasize the necessity for safer, saner driving on the highways and streets of this Province.

The accident near Springville, which cost two lives, is difficult to explain.

It will probably never be known what caused the sudden swerve of the passenger car into the path of the transport truck.

Only the driver of the latter saw the whole thing, and he is unable to explain the quick move that brought the light car into the path of his big freight truck.

In the other accident, in which the lives of three American motorists were crushed out in a level crossing smash, near St. Thomas, it would seem that too much speed was the chief factor in the disaster.

Although on both sides of the level crossing cars had drawn up to wait and let the train pass, the owner of the American car rushed past and drove into the crossing in the path of the engine.

There was a heavy rain falling, which probably impaired the vision of the driver, but surely that was all the more reason for slower and more careful driving.

The death rate on the highways is assuming such proportions that the best thought of the country will have to be used in solving the problem of making motoring less dangerous.

THE SALARY GRAB.

(Hamilton Spectator)

As an aftermath of the so-called "salary grab" perpetrated by members of the Toronto City Council, Mr. Justice Kelly has handed down a ruling, restraining the corporation from paying salaries of $1,200 to pew-holders in the aldermanic circle.

Mayor and controllers, however, will be permitted to draw the increased stipends which they voted themselves and the aldermanic pay cheques will be $500 a year, as formerly.

Mr. Justice Kelly directs attention to the clause in the Municipal Act which provides that a corporation shall not incur any debt, the payment of which is not provided for in the estimates of the current year, unless a by-law authorizing it has received the assent of the ratepayers.

Public opinion on this subject being what it is, wrongly or rightly, is to be taken for granted that $500 a year will continue to be the aldermanic stipend in Toronto for many years to come. There is a peculiar point involved.

It is recognized that, in a city of the size of Toronto, service as mayor or controller is a full-time job. It makes such demands upon the time of incumbents that private business must either be neglected or given up entirely. Under the circumstances it is necessary to pay for this administrative service salaries which will attract those of keen executive abilities.

Aldermen are not expected to contribute anything but part-time service, a few afternoons or evenings a week, and salaries paid them, it is reasoned, should not be more than sufficient to compensate them for their neglect of their own affairs.

KEEP ON WITH YOUR WORK.

The business world, and also that rather extensive section known as the speculative element, have been watching with some concern the movements of stocks in all the leading exchanges of the world. Values have not been holding firm, and fractional gains have been followed by more substantial decreases. Although traders have the habit of following many markets, they can generally get the story by the events of any one. Business is a sensitive thing, and a depression in New York is quickly reflected in London, Montreal or Toronto.

Wheat futures going below the dollar mark do not add strength to the theory of an early recovery. Other commodities in United States shared the same trend and went down to low marks, these including such staples as cotton, steel and scrap metals. According to the New York Times list some 300 items shared in this trend toward lower levels.

There is an effort to explain the movement in United States on account of the tariff changes; business executives claim the tariff rates have been moved to such a height that it will stifle business. It is not likely that a condition in any one country can be sufficient to account for the lower price tendency.

As far as Canada is concerned there is not much to cause anxiety. The conditions of growth this season have been favorable in Ontario. There has been plenty of moisture and warm weather. Food crops have made a good start, and it was the absence of such crops last year that brought farmers face to face with the necessity for buying so much feed to make up for dried-out pastures and the failure of crops which should have supplied winter feed.

There is only one thing to do in any such situation where prices are slipping, and that is to attend strictly to business. Go ahead, carefully if necessary, but keep on going ahead. Spend your money as usual as long as you are getting value for it.

Stock markets do not control the business of the country. If these were to cease to-day farmers would be farming to-morrow as usual, stores would be open, railways would be running and people would be attending to their affairs as usual.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

CANADA AND MEXICO.

Canadian capital is playing a large part in the economic development and in the commercial affairs of the Republic of Mexico. The street railway system and the power system in the capital, Mexico City, are under Canadian control, while Canadian banks are among the most prominent in the country, and at least one Canadian life insurance company does a very extensive business there. Other Canadian firms, as well as those indicated, are taking a prominent place in the development of natural resources and the general movement which is bringing Mexico into prominence as a country of rapidly growing importance.

Canada and Mexico, after all, have much in common. They are both endowed by nature with riches almost beyond computation. Both, however, have as yet only developed these resources to a very limited extent. Both, as their only important neighbor, have the same great power. That power is a friendly neighbor, but a tremendously wealthy one, and not only attracts to itself many of the most promising sons and daughters of Canada and Mexico, but by extensive capital investments, controls a good many enterprises in both of the less populous countries. The people of Canada and Mexico both appreciate the advantages of these large American investments, but both again are anxious that their own economic and political independence should be preserved. Under these conditions closer economic ties between Canada and Mexico would seem to be of the greatest advantage to both countries.

A great majority of Mexicans are poor and uneducated, while Canadians are comparatively rich. As a result, most of the movement of capital for investment between the two countries will be from Canada to Mexico for some time to come. Trade, however, can be increased with immediate benefit to both. Mexico has her political troubles, but it is to be expected that, with economic development, will come stability. Every indication is that in the future Canada and Mexico will be good friends, and that both will benefit from such a friendship.—Brantford Expositor.

APRIL ESCAPADES

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

CHAPTER XL.

That's a strange thing to hear you say, Mr. Steynes," Mrs. O'Hara said, in the hush.

"I know it," Chris agreed, with a brief laugh.

Mary Kate continued to stand perfectly still, her bright eyes on the group in the kitchen, or watching Cass, and wondering Tom, and Mart in the big chair, with his arm bandaged, and her mother, puzzled and anxious and gentle, in the rocker. One of her hands had been locked in Chris's fingers, as she wheeled about, and their grip held, so that her arm was twisted behind her, and her bright head, with its rings of disordered coppery hair, was close to Chris's big shoulder.

"She's only a little girl—" Mrs. O'Hara said, troubled. "I don't know did you mean to say that to her—" she added, doubtfully.

"I didn't!" Chris admitted, unsmilingly. Mary Kate's eyes moved to his, and read what they saw there, and went back to the circle again.

"I never thought of this!" the mother murmured. "Maybe he only said it because your brother—" She paused.

Martin was looking at Chris with keenly suspicious eyes, now he said, uncomfortably.

"You didn't have to say that to Mary Kate, for all me."

"You didn't make me say it," Christopher answered, promptly.

"If—if you felt that way," Martin pursued, in the puzzled silence that held them all, "you could have told her, herself. Not like this!"

"It never occurred to me to tell her, herself," Chris answered again, with a faint, frowning scowl.

"Then—then you wouldn't feel he meant it, would you, Mary Kate?" Martin appealed, uneasily, to his sister.

Again her eyes moved swiftly to Christopher's, and again she did not speak, continuing to measure the room with a bright, curious, little-girl look, rather tightening her hold upon Chris's hand, behind her, so that she was drawn even more closely toward his breast.

The light from the single lamp, the green-shaded lamp underneath which the children did their evening home-work, wavered softly in the clean, homely kitchen. The clock above the sink ticked audibly, and the hot water faucet dripped a few intermittent drops upon the scoured zinc. Above the drainboard a window was opened to the soft warm night; the curtain moved to and fro across the sill, the intruding air was sweet with spring.

"She's promised to Cass, here," Mrs. O'Hara observed, with the little indicative gesture of a thumb.

"Mary is," Chris said dispassionately.

Cass had thrown away his cigarette, and was sitting back in his chair, with his arms crossed, and his shrewd, kind, half-smiling young eyes fixed upon the girl. Now he said, undisturbedly:

"But I'd never hold her. She knows that! She's as free now as if she had never known me."

At the sound of his voice Mary Kate disengaged herself from Christopher's hold, and crossed the kitchen to the chair she had occupied at the beginning of this incredible and dreamlike evening; the chair at the table, where she could cup her chin in her hands, and look at them all without moving a muscle.

The normalness, the generosity of Cass's words, his untroubled manner and confident glance appeared to waken her from a trance.

"I don't think you're going to throw me over, are you, Mary Kate?" he asked. A sudden smile lighted her eyes, and she answered, speaking for the first time since the strange tense scene began.

"Ah, no; you know I'd never do that!"

"We're hunting houses, and we're talking about a wedding, aren't we?" Cass asked, affectionately, smilingly.

"Sure—sure we are," she admitted, hurriedly, nervously.

Chris was standing near the door, his hands in the square big side pockets of his big coat. His head had fallen a little forward, his eyes moved from one speaker's face to another.

"You know I wouldn't hold you, whatever promise you might have made me, don't you, Mary Kate?" Cass asked.

"Oh, no," she answered, in her clear, quick, troubled voice. "I know you'd want me to do what I wanted to do—what I had to do."

"She'd be happier with one that knew her own, sir," Mrs. O'Hara said to Chris, rather timidly, rather appealingly.

"I know she would!" Christopher admitted, not ceasing to frown faintly, not moving his eyes from Mary Kate.

"And isn't it happiness that counts with all of us?" the mother pursued.

Christopher glanced at her, nodded.

"Happiness counts with all of us," he echoed, in a decisive voice.

But still there was something unsaid, something unfinished.

"If you know her longer, you might want to marry Mary Kate," Martin began, with a reasoning air. "But—but you'd never seen each other this time a week ago."

"As for that," Chris answered, grimly, "it never crossed my mind—even an hour ago, that—things are as they are!"

"Well, now you see?" Mrs. O'Hara concluded it, in satisfaction.

"But I'm afraid, Mrs. O'Hara," the visitor said, with a brief unhappy laugh, "that that doesn't help much."

"She'd surely have the right to tell you that she cared for someone else," Cass interprosed, quietly.

"Certainly she would," Chris conceded.

"Whatever you'd have to offer her," Martin added, emboldened by Cass's courage, "it would be for her to decide. We—we have something to offer her, too!"

The girl made no attempt to speak. She was like a person who hears a stranger discussed interested, not concerned. Her bright, serious eyes moved swiftly, her clean-cut chin was cupped in her two palms, her fingers resting lightly against her temples.

"We love her," Mrs. O'Hara said, looking at her, her tender Irish voice low.

It was half past nine o'clock. Mary Kate thought that in a few minutes Chris would be gone, and Mother would have changed her dress and returned to the vigil at Uncle Robert's, and Tom would have lumbered to bed. Then she and Cass and Mart would sit on here in the kitchen, talking the whole thing over. After that they would escort the invalid carefully upstairs to bed, and establish him comfortably with his pillows and book, and then she and Cass would come downstairs for a long talk, a sweetheart's talk, in the big chair—

And to her Christopher Steynes would soon be a dream, and to Christopher only a dream would be the memory of this hot small orderly kitchen, and these earnest, simple, amusing folk, and this red-head girl. And long before another April Uncle Robert would be dead, and Aunt Julia in a widow's veil like Ma's, and Mart studying in Germany, and Tom the mainstay at home, and Mary Kate Keating expecting a baby—

She returned to the present. Chris, his hands in his side pockets, his head slightly hanging forward, was speaking to her mother.

"Believe me, I am as much surprised as you are, Mrs. O'Hara. I've liked girls, before. But I've never felt—this way."

"What way?" Cass demanded, levelly, not sympathetically.

"That I couldn't help myself," Chris said, simply. "I've been driven—" he began. "I've been driven like someone possessed all these days. I've not slept. I've not eaten.

"Do you think," he asked them all, "that I like it?"

"You couldn't blame Mary Kate for that," her mother defended her, in a slightly perplexed, a faintly hostile tone.

"Blame her!" he echoed. "Nobody blames her. But can you blame me?"

"You're a rich man, Mr. Steynes?" Mrs. O'Hara asked, considering him.

"I'm rich, yes."

"And your good father, your good mother—are they living?"

"My father lives in New York, he has an apartment there. My mother lives in Paris. They're divorced—they're both remarried. And now I think my mother is going to be divorced again."

"Oh, that's bad," Mrs. O'Hara commented, shaking her head, making a little clucking sound in her throat.

"I've got an apartment in the same building with my father. I've got a little place down in Maryland," the man said.

"She'd never fit into that life, you must see that," the older woman reasoned sorrowfully. "She'd not be happy in any such places."

"I don't think she would!" Chris agreed, almost fiercely.

"And have you no faith at all?"

"Yes," he said. And he looked at her. "I have hers," he added, in a gentler tone. "I was brought up in it. It doesn't mean much to my people, but I think it might to me."

"You don't think money, and furs, and traveling places—be still, Mart!" Mrs. O'Hara began again. "You don't think all that would make up to her for what she has here? She was a happy girl, two weeks ago, with a good man lovin' her, and her future all safe. What could you give her, that'd pay her for what she'd throw away?"

"Nothing!" Chris said.

"There's not a day here," the mother continued. "Don't interrupt me, Mart!" she rebuked the boy again, as he would have spoken. "There's not a day in her life that she doesn't see twenty of her friends," Mrs. O'Hara was on. "There's not a day that she isn't in a gale of laughin'; so that you'd laugh to hear her, though you was lyin' dead. There isn't a day that she doesn't do a thousand favors for me, or Tom, or Mart here, or one of the little ones.

"Perhaps," the wise, troubled voice continued, "she'd bring me home a handful of flowers, or a little red wreath, come winter. And it'd be, 'Oh, Mother, will you make Miss White a little custard for her father, will you give me some of your soup for old Mrs. Bryan?'

"And then," said Mrs. O'Hara, in a dead silence, "perhaps she'll lean over one of them that's workin' on a weekly theme, or doing a Thanksgivin' poster. 'I've got a magazine in my room,' she'll say, 'that'll give you all the advertisements you'd use in a year!' 'I'll hear you your lessons!' she'll say.

"It's she takes them to the movies, if my feet go back on me. She and I have breakfast, on that same table there every mornin' there is in it—readin' the news, and pourin' the coffee—"

She stopped. There was no sound in the kitchen.

"It would pierce me that she'd be far away from me," the mother resumed, very simply, after a pause. "It would break my heart that she'd not be married here, where her own people are, bringin' her children—if the Lord sent them—back to her mother—"

Still silence. Cass and Mart and Tom watched Chris; they knew the power of this quiet voice. Mary Kate gave a little dry sob, bit her lip, the delicate flanges of her nostrils moving with a quick indrawn breath.

(To be continued.)

Voice of the People

Letters to be printed in the Voice of the People column must be received at The Examiner Office on the day before it is desired to have them published.

In order that there may be no further shuffling about the alleged "issues" of the campaign, I here quote the exact words of Mr. Bennett spoken yesterday at Vancouver and addressed to Mr. King: "Be warned in time. Keep this fight straight and clean. Stick to the issue. There is only one before the people, which of our two policies offers the surer promise of a greater Canada."

Mr. Bennett also says "I will blast our way into the markets of the world", which is "blasted" nonsense.

A Thought

THINK SUCCESS

Think Success. If you think Failure you will realise it. "When my resolution is taken," said Napoleon, "all is forgotten, except whatever can make it succeed."

What To-day Means To You

"GEMINI."

If June 20th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:45 a.m. to noon, from 2:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m., and from 9 p.m. to 10 p.m. The danger periods are from 8 a.m. to 9:45 a.m., and from 5 p.m. to 6:30 p.m.

A bewildering time is anticipated for this date, with drastic changes in your most vital interests, and aggravating delays. Unexpected happenings which will affect your personal and home life. Avoid travel in the evening—there is safety around your home fires.

The child born on this June 20th will have extravagant tastes, and exaggerated ideas, all of which should be curbed. It will have very decided likes and dislikes, particularly towards the people, which it will not conceal with diplomacy. It will be very kind-hearted.

You have a very brave and independent spirit, and insist upon doing those things which seem right or appealing to you, whether they follow the dictates of fashion, custom or tradition or not. This, of course, marks you as being "different", and interesting. You might be called ruthless in regard to other people when you are determined to achieve some purpose. You ride over your obstacles rough shod, your eyes and mind on your goal, and scarcely taking in anything else.

Although you often seek the counsel and advice of others, you almost always rely upon your own judgment, and you will do this all your life. There is nothing very submissive or malleable bout your nature, although you may be "tamed," through love. If you are to make your marriage partnership a successful one, you must become less assertive and self-sufficient, at least in your home life. It is very difficult for you to adapt your point of view or actions to those of another individual. If you "take on" any responsibility, you square your shoulders for the burden and never shirk your duty. You have a versatile mind, and a personality susceptible to education, travel and social advantages. You are keenly observant, and little escaped your searching eye, and your alert ear. You quickly size up both people and situations.

GOLD GROUP FIRMNESS HELD GOOD SIGN BY MINE BROKERS

Standard Followers Frightened of Secondary Reaction Following Rapid Advance.

GOLD ARGUMENT.

TORONTO, ONT., June 20. (Special to Examiner.)—To-day's strength on the mining market has some of the boys a little frightened of the so-called secondary reaction which has usually marked any rapid recovery from low levels following a break. The advances have done little more than recover ground lost during the past week or so, they contend, but any sudden appreciation is bound to make quick profits attractive to those who have made commitments recently. The firmness to the gold group is considered a good sign, and at present levels the dividend payers certainly look attractive. An argument which took place along the street yesterday give an interesting angle on the situation surrounding the purchase of the gold stocks.

The dividends on the golds look good, but even 10 per cent the disbursements would have to be made for about fifteen years longer to return the principle and some interest on the money, one chap stated. "admitted," the other replied, "but the increased production proposed for several of the properties will guarantee a good market for the shares for the next few years, at least, and it is not every day a person can get these returns on their money. After that—well, a person can always get out," he concluded significantly.

In spite of rumors of lowered nickel copper sales and increased inventories, no curtailment of production is notifiable. At Fairbanks reports from them for the state bought only four months in operation, the smelter is running smoothly and plans for expansion are already being carried out. Excavations have been started to the east of the smaller for the extension of the convertors and arrangements for additions to the blast furnace have already been made. Canadian exports of nickel matter in May were 6786 900 pounds against 1,779,500 pounds in April. Most of the gain was in shipments to the United Kingdom, and it is understood a large part of the increase was merely due to shipment dates as in winter these go forward from Saint John and in summer from Montreal. The big increase in the value of shipments from $349,099 to $1,239,938 from April to May was because International Nickel now ships sulphides running 72 per cent nickel to England instead of matter of 40 per cent nickel and 40 per cent copper.

Oil Campaign.

Prospects are that a general campaign of shooting Turner Valley's smaller producers will be under way shortly, following the almost sensational results attained during the last six weeks with nitro. Imperial officials have stated that several Royalite wells are to be shot and it has been estimated that production may be increased up to fifty per cent by this method.

WILL EXPORT GRAIN.

MOSCOW, Russia, June 20 (C.P.).—The Commissariat of Agriculture announced to-day that Soviet Russia this year would have sufficient grain not only to meet the needs of the population but establish grain reserves and possibly leave some for exporting.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND BRIEFS

A SPECIAL SERVICE TO THE EXAMINER

Stock prices opened strong this morning. Overnight gains were common to the pivotal issues traded on Toronto Stock Exchange and for the first hour the market held steady. The volume was greatly reduced on the rise, however, and there was an undercurrent of feeling that the present rally would not hold beyond this week, if indeed through the day. Still the news coming out after the close of the markets last night and this morning was favorable in nature. Brokers loans showed a reduction of $211,000,000. The New York Federal Reserve reduced the rediscount rate to a new low of 2½ per cent from 3 per cent and a further easing in credit conditions in Europe was indicated by reduction in the bank of Germany rate from 4½ to 4 per cent. The Dominion Bureau of statistics to-day announced there had been a sharp upturn in May building activity and that wholesale prices in the building lines were lower than for the similar month in years, which should be an inducement to greater activity. Pig iron production in Canada during May was 7 per cent above April and only one per cent below May, 1929. Leading manufacturers preservers and distributors of food products continue to enjoy a moderately satisfactory volume of business when viewed in relation to current depressed conditions, says a current survey by the Standard Statistics Company, of New York. The survey points out that managerial ingenuity in this industry, broadly viewed, has so far met the test imposed upon it as revealed by the fact that earnings of the leading units the first quarter gained 6 per cent over the corresponding period of 1929. While it is doubtful if any equally favorable impression will be registered the second quarter, due largely to rapid increased in net in the 1929 period, earnings of food companies will undoubtedly make a far more satisfactory showing than those of the great majority of industries, the survey states. Leading food and chain store organizations in Canada have so far this year reported higher sales and profits compared with 1929.

Directors of Massey Harris are meeting late this afternoon and the street is wondering what action will be taken regarding continuation of the present dividend of $3 share on the common stock. This week's break in the markets carried Massey Harris down below 25 where it compared with a low of 32½ reached during the November crash. At present levels around $25 share, Massey Harris gives a yield of 12 per cent and as this is out of line with the average yield on industries, the assumption as the ticker has already discounted a reduction on the dividend.

Rally is Rebound.

Wall Street opinion does not hold that the current rally will extend to much greater proportions, nor that it will be allowed to go unchallenged by the opposition. The Wall Street Mirror says that while authorative circles are of the opinion that the worst of the decline has now passed it is, nevertheless, pointed out that the present rally is a natural rebound from an oversold condition and should not be looked upon as an immediate and complete reversal of trend. Shrewd market judges expect that after the rally has run its course and professionals have undertaken a test of prevailing price levels established on the rebound, there will then be a gradual decrease in volume for several weeks. During this period important interests who have already bought stocks on a scale down will be enabled to conclude their accumulation and the market started on another large upwards movement.

EARLY ADVANCES ARE WIPED OUT IN NEW SELLING

Reduction in New York Re-discount Enlivens Demand For Gilt-edge Bonds.

TRADERS CAUTIOUS.

Higher Prices Stocks Only Issues to Fluctuate Erratically.

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 20. (C.P.)—The swift upturn in share prices proved too good to be true, and was largely wiped out in a new selling wave in to-day's market. The violence of the rebound yesterday only attracted renewed bar selling, and a more favorable opportunity for nervous traders still anxious to lighten their holdings.

The reduction from 3 to 2½ per cent in the New York rediscount rate immediately enlivened the demand for gilt-edged bonds, but had only a passing influence on stocks.

There was a growing feeling in brokerage circles that prices would be unlikely to go much lower, at least would not, on the whole, break through the levels of November 13, but commission houses advices still remained cautious, and there was no inclination to predict a rising market.

Wall Street did not see how the lower rediscount rate would have much immediate influence as banks are largely out of debt and do not feel the need of borrowing at the federal reserve, but it was on the whole, favorably regarded in its longer term implications. Call money held officially at 2½ to 3% and short term time money was reduced to 2½ to 3.

Some of the high-priced stocks fluctuated erratically. Case moved up 7 points in the early trading dropped 20 from the top, then rallied. Important shares generally gained one to four points at the opening, lost their gains and sold off one to seven, then rallied a point or two from the bottom. Such shares as Consolidated Gas, American Can, Westinghouse Electric, Eastman Kodak, Coca Cola, Byers, Western Union, Johns Manville, Loews, Standard Gas and Bethlehem Steel lost 3 to 7 points around mid-day. U.S. Steel gold sold off more than 3, then rallied substantially.

MINING PRICES STAGE ADVANCE

Lost Ground of Past Two Days Recovered By Many Issues.

AMULET STRONG.

TORONTO, Ont., June 20. (C.P.)—Prices on the Standard Exchange moved higher right from the opening to-day, in many cases recovering almost all the ground lost during the last day or so. Trading was relatively heavy.

Interlisted stocks did not respond to the better feeling as extensively as the lower-priced issues, but retained a fairly firm appearance. Noranda was up a half to $23 at mid-day while Nickel and Hudson Bay were practically unchanged at last night's closing levels.

Amulet was particularly strong, moving above 60 but standing at 59 for a gain of 9 at mid-day. Waite-Ackerman was up a quarter to $1.80. Ventures gained 15 to $1.40, and Sherritt Gordon and Sudbury Basin 5 each.

Golds gave a good account of themselves, with gains practically general.

Calmont was an active member of the oils, showing at noon, a gain of 27 at $1.42.

ARTICLE I.

Q.—What is the great importance of the item "maintenance"?

A.—Maintenance is a most important item for several reasons. Locomotives, passenger and freight cars, work cars and locomotives depreciate very quickly and since it is upon them that the very life of the railway depends, they must be kept in good condition. Moreover we have maintenance of car shops, tools, etc., roadbed, bridges and other similar structures. If some addition adds materially to the earning power of the road it may be charged to capital instead of maintenance.

The condition in which the rolling stock of a railway is kept is a good barometer of a company's policy. Earnings may appear large if maintenance charges are too small. Care should be taken to see that proper amounts are spent in this direction by comparing these charges with those of preceding years, and with the charges of other similar companies. Another method of examining this expense is to compare the expenditure per mile of single track with that of other similar roads. Or one can figure the expenditure of the company on maintenance per train mile. This is found by taking the number of miles traversed by all trains and dividing by the number of trains. If details are available the best way to size up maintenance figures is to compare the sums spent per unit of equipment. For instance, so much for each freight or passenger car or locomotive per mile traversed.

The Interstate Commerce Commission in the United States compels railways to write off a fixed depreciation on property as an operating expense. This prevents the writing off of large amounts in good years, and small amounts in lean years.

The railroads of the United States charge about 35% of gross earnings to maintenance. In the eastern states maintenance of way and structure claims about 13% of this amount and the remainder goes to maintenance of equipment. Since the density of traffic is a determining factor of maintenance, conditions are reversed in the western states where maintenance of way and structures demand a larger sum than does maintenance of equipment. The density of traffic can be calculated by comparing the gross earnings per mile of road with those of other companies, or by comparing the number of train loads.

If a railway can reduce its operating expenses without sacrificing its maintenance charges it is to its advantage. If operating expenses are increased out to larger maintenance charges it is a favorable sign. But if maintenance charges are becoming smaller or are not growing with other charges in the natural expansion of the railway, the company is probably resorting to improper tactics.

CALGARY RETURNS 3 CONSERVATIVES

Two Liberals and One Labor Member Make up the Other Representatives.

CALGARY, Alta., June 20.—(By the Canadian Press.)— Three Conservatives, two Liberals and one Labor member will represent Calgary in the next Alberta legislature. FEDERAL MINISTER OF PENSIONS TO BE APPOINTED AFTER ELECTION

Cabinet Re-organization Continues With Captain Mackenzie Appointed.

DR. KING RESIGNS.

(By Ray Brown, C.P. Staff Correspondent)

LEVIS, Que., June 20 (C.P.)—The Cabinet re-organization is going on. His Excellency the Governor-General signed at Quebec yesterday, an order-in-council passed at a meeting of the Cabinet on Saturday of last week, appointing Captain Ian Mackenzie of Vancouver, Minister of Immigration and Colonization and Superintendent General of Indian Affairs. For some time past the Soldiers' Settlement Board has been under the control of the Minister of Immigration and Colonization. It will so continue. The Hon. Dr. King, who was appointed to the Senate on Saturday last, has tendered his resignation as Minister of Pensions and Health and it has been accepted. It has been decided to defer the appointment of Dr. King's successor until after the elections.

Meanwhile the Hon. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defense, has been appointed Acting Minister of Pensions and Health. In making the above announcement last night, the Prime Minister intimated that it is not contemplated that further appointments to or changes in the Ministry will be made until after the elections. He desired to have it understood that it was the intention of the Government if returned to power, to have a re-arrangement of the work of some of the departments of the Government and with it a re-arrangement of portfolios as well, so as to effect as equitable a distribution of the portfolios as might be possible under the reorganization, which would be effected. No Province would be permitted to suffer in the matter of its past representation in the Cabinet because of any of the arrangements previously or recently made.

STOBIE FORLONG HOUSE ORDERS NOT EXECUTED ON RISING MARKET

Client's Order to Buy Were Put in Force Regardless of Price.

HEARING CONTINUES.

TORONTO, Ont., June 20.—(C.P.)—That client's orders to buy were to be executed by all means regardless of price, while house orders to buy were to be watched carefully and not executed in a rising market, was the testimony of A. C. Hubbs, who represented the firm of Stobie-Forlong on the floor of the Standard Exchange and whose principals Malcolm Stobie, Charles J. Forlong and Gordon Draper, are appearing before Magistrate Jones, on preliminary hearing of five charges of theft and fraud.

Mr. Hubbs admitted, under cross-examination, that transactions were put through by commission brokers for his firm that could easily have been handled by himself. He testified that his name was sometimes used on confirmation of orders, instead of the customers. "I had an unsatisfactory interview regarding this matter", said Mr. Hubbs.

"Were all orders carried out according to Stock Exchange regulations", witness was asked. "I believe so".

Witness drew the censure of the court when he replied that he did not know whose Mines Securities Ltd., was.

Miss Agnes Cross, who handled all dividends on stock, said no dividends were credited Mines Securities Ltd., because the ledgers were incorrect and not properly balanced. She understood this was a house account.

Loans as high as $1,000,000 were taken from banks by Stobie Forlong, said George Rankin, who had charge of all securities, on stock worth more than $1,400,000 given them by the company. When overdrafts for 1929 were noticed more stocks were pledged to banks, said Mr. Rankin.

MALTA PREMIER IS CHIEF CAUSE OF DIFFICULTIES

Vatican Issuing "White Book" To-morrow in Reply to British Government.

OPPOSES CLERGY.

Disturbance Caused By Strickland Against Best Interests of British Empire.

VATICAN CITY, June 20.—(CP)—A "white book" which the Vatican will issue tomorrow declares that Lord Strickland, Premier of Malta, is the chief cause of all the religious difficulties in the island of Malta.

Present troubles in Malta cannot cease, the "White Book" will say until the British government deals effectively with the cause of it.

"The White Book" is an aswer to a "Blue Book" on the same subject issued by the British government a fortnight ago.

The White Book declares that Lord Strickland strove always to take the attitude of a good Catholic before the people, declaring himself persona grata to the Holy See, while at the same time continuing his work of opposition to the bishops and clergy".

Followers Mislead

Referring to the report of Monsignor Robinson, Apostolic delegate to Malta, now Nuncio to the Irish Free State, the White Book declares "This shows that Lord Strickland is the chief cause of all the present religious difficulties in the island, that his followers are misled and that all of this disturbance caused by Lord Strickland is against the best interests of the British Empire".

Regarding the electoral truce proposed by the British government, according to which the Holy See would prevent the clergy from taking part in elections and from proposing its own candidates, while on the other hand Lord Strickland pledged himself — individually and insofar as possible — to prevent a renewal of polemics before and during elections, Cardinal Secretary of State Pacelli declares in the White Book that he would not accept this because, on the one hand, Lord Strickland only gave a promise that was temporary and hedged it with reservations.

Not Intervention

Regarding the pastoral letter in which the Bishop of Malta on May 1 forbade the faithful to vote for Lord Strickland, the White Book reproduces Cardinal Pacelli's note of May 19 refuting the statement that the Bishop's letter was a political intervention against the constitutional party in favor of the Nationalist party.

"The Bishop's prohibition was not against Lord Strickland but against all who may in any way have helped him in his campaign against the Catholic church 'whether they are candidates of Lord Strickland or candidates of other parties."

The Bishops, according to the White Book, are fulfilling their pastoral duty when they declare to the faithful the obligation they are under of not supporting by votes anyone engaged in activity harmful to religion.

'In passing judgment on the Maltese question," the text goes on, "one must consider the peculiar conditions of an island where people hold most tenaciously to customs — customs which permeate their religious and civil life and surround the bishops and clergy with the profoundest veneration. This condition is in fact acknowledged and sanctioned by the Maltese constitution which reserves two places in the Senate for two priests selected by the Archbishop of Malta.

"Against this state of affairs, however, Lord Strickland has constantly followed a line of action which amounted to a denial of its existence or an attempt to destroy it, to the detriment of religious and the clergy."

The White Book is issued as a "documented exposition of the Maltese question from February, 1929, to June 1930." It contains 39 documents, including Monsignor Robinson's report of June 16, 1929, which the English Blue Book omitted.

DRIVER OF CAR IS NOT KNOWN

Owner of Automobile in Yesterday's Crash is Believed to be in Ireland.

TORONTO MAN HAS LICENSE.

Local Provincial Police and Traffic Patrol Officer Hornick, were busy this morning trying to unravel some of the details of yesterday's double motor fatality. It is doubtful if it will ever be definitely learned who was driving the Toronto car at the time of the accident. Both its occupants were killed, and the truck driver, Percy Campbell, is unable to say which of the two was the driver.

Police are endeavoring to learn who owned the car. Its license was taken out by A. E. Farrow, 251 Strathmore Blvd., Toronto, but Mr. Strathmore over the telephone, informed the officers that he had sold the car. His purchaser, Mr. Strathmore said, was a young man, and soon after the sale he was called to Ireland. It is understood that he sold the car before leaving this country, and either Peterson or Greer, those killed in the collision, may have bought it.

Percy Campbell walked into the Provincial Police office at three o'clock yesterday afternoon, and gave his statement of the fatality. Previous to that he went around to his customers informing them that their shipments in his truck would be delayed because of an accident.

REMAINS TAKEN TO TORONTO

The remains of the late James J. Greer (34) were forwarded to Toronto this afternoon on the C P R. train, for interment there.

The late Mr. Greer leaves a wife and a brother who came to this city last evening to complete the funeral arrangements.

Deceased was born in Ireland and came to this country, eighteen years ago.

A. W. Peterson second victim of the tragedy, was a native of Denmark and was 56 years of age. He came to America with his family at an early age. He leaves a wife and Mary, an only child who is to leave for Europe shortly to continue her violin studies. She is only fourteen years of age and her talent was her father's greatest happiness. The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed, in the case of Peterson.

The inquest will be opened on Saturday by Coroner Dr. T. W. H. Young at 8 p.m. D. S. T. at the City Police Court. A jury has been empanelled.

It is learned that both men who were commercial travellers had called upon Routley's Store and upon John Hill earlier in the day and that James J. Greer's wife had begged her husband not to go to Peterborough as she had a premonition of impending disaster.

and I am naturally pleased with the result."

Other contestants who came very close to the mark were: O. Kennealey, 496 Parnell street, 1840.5; Stanley A. Lowe, 184 George street, 1841.6; Jean Page of Havelock, 1840.3; A. E. Dryland, 1840.2; L. J. Sparrow, 341 Charlotte street, 1840.1. Seven other guesses were placed at 1840 even.

The three ballot boxes, securely locked and sealed, were opened by His Worship Mayor Roland Denne in the presence of fourteen judges, a member of the police force and a press reporter. The judges were as follows: Ross L. Dobbin; Jack Seels, chairman of street fair committee; G. H. Gillespie, W. R. Morris, Fred L. Roy, Andy Brown, Robert Abbott, Alpine McNabb, R. J. Kidd, Elmer Metcalfe. James Juby, Dr. M. Morrison, W. L. Barnes.

After scanning the tickets were replaced in a sealed box and placed in the vaults, where they will be retained for a reasonable length of time in case of any disputes which may arise.

It was stated that the license plate for the Rotary car, was kindly donated by the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce.

Following a claim by a contestant that he had placed a ticket in the box containing the exact estimate, the committee carefully scrutinized each ticket again this morning. Finding the ticket placed in the box by the complainant they discovered his estimate was not correct and was in fact far from it.

FINANCE COMMITTEE

Galway Fair, $150, and Apsley Fair, $150.

Reeve Griffith proposed an amendment to the motion reducing the grant for the Peterborough Exhibition to $500 and increasing the other grants by $75 from the figures of last year. He claimed that the Peterborough Exhibition is more for the benefit of the city people than those of the county, and that the purely agricultural fairs were more deserving. His amendment was defeated.

His skull is fractured, though it cannot be ascertained whether this is the result of an accident or foul play.

MANIAC SLAYER GETS 3RD VICTIM WILL SPARE SIX

Insurance Broker is Third Victim of New York's Maniac Slayer.

GETS $37,000.

All Three Have Been Killed While Sitting in Parked Automobiles.

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 20.— (C.P.)—Search for the maniac slayer who in letters to a newspaper has submitted the killing of two men in Queens and threatened 14 others, turned to Brooklyn to-day after a third man had been shot and critically wounded.

Police said the description of the assailant of Morris Horwitz, 59, an insurance broker, who was shot in his automobile early to-day, tallied with the description they have for the slayer of Joseph Mosynski and Noel Sowley in Queens.

Second Letter Written.

Horwitz was shot after a second letter purporting to have been written by the slayer of Mozynski and Sowley was delivered at the newspaper office. It was in the same handwriting as the earlier communication.

In the second letter, the writer said he had decided to spare six persons because a certain document had been returned to him and he had received $37,000 in blackmail money, but that seven houses were still marked for death unless another document was forthcoming and $39,000 additional blackmail.

The persons mentioned were all designated by caballistic symbols, those to be spared were listed as W. R. C-8, College Point; S-12, College Point; K-2, Brooklyn; Z-3, designated as a tall blonde woman; M-6, N.Y.C.; XX-V, a New York detective.

The list of seven to be killed was given as:—X-14, X-21, 7-2, L-6, X-7, X-1 and V-4.

"All initials witheld—too much of a clue for the super-detectives of Bayside" the letter said.

Rambling Account

The letter which was quite long contained a rambling account of the slaying of Mozynski and Sowley.

The shootings of Mozynski, Sowley and Horwitz were similar, all three were shot as they sat in parked cars. Mozynski and Sowley had women companions, but Horwitz was alone in his machine.

In their search for the maniac police compared the description they have of the slayer with that of Joseph Ustica who escaped last month from King's park hospital for the insane where he was confined for the slaying of William Gilbridge a Brooklyn contractor, in 1926.

Ustica had delusions that he was supposed to recover some mysterious documents and was to protect women. The mention of documents in the letters sent by the slayer of Mozynski and Sowly and the fact that his victims have been accompanied by women, police said, pointed to Ustica, but comparison of the descriptions failed to indicate that Ustica and the man sought were the same person.

LIBERAL SPURNS TORY CAMPAIGN

Hon. W. R. Motherwell Says King More Strongly Entrenched.

REFUTES CHARGES.

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., June 20 (C.P.).—Despite efforts of the Conservatives to malign Prime Minister Mackenzie King and to destroy him politically, he has survived the first three great tests in his career and he faces the fourth, the July 28 election, more strongly entrenched in the hearts of the nation and with greater assurance of victory than before any of the preceding three elections, declared Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, in paying tribute to the Liberal leader here last night.

Mr. Motherwell arrived here too late to attend the convention which selected the Prime Minister to again contest the consituency of Prince Albert, but he was the principal speaker at an evening meeting of Liberal workers. Complimenting the delegates on their unanimous choice, he declared that not only in Canada but abroad the words "Canadian prosperity" and "Premier King" are synonomous terms.

The major portion of the Minister of Agriculture's speech was devoted to a spirited refutation of charges made by the Opposition that the present Government had done nothing to aid the farmers, and, he declared, a Conservative victory will menace the new Grain Act and its provision against mixing, the Crow's Nest freight rates now in effect in the West, and the success of the Hudson Bay Railway.

Employees Examined In Stobie Hearing

TORONTO, Ont., June 20—(C.P.)—That the Stobie Forlong Company reduced its "short" position $1,000,000 in six days, between October 18 and 24, 1929, was the evidence given by A. Midwood, chief accountant of the firm at the continuance to-day of the preliminary police court hearing of charges of theft and fraud against Malcolm Stobie, Charles Forlong and Gordon Draper, in connection with stock market transactions.

After delving into ledgers of the company Crown counsel elicited the admission from witness that the firm was $3,762,725 short in November, 1929.

Other employees of the firm were closely examined by the Crown regarding trading procedure, amidst protests from defense counsel.

In a statement presented by police at the inquest, the accused woman claimed she had attacked Mallette in self-defense and to protect her honor.

APPLEBY PROPOSES TO LAY CHARGES

Not Satisfied With Findings of Investigation Into Death of Father.

"I am going to see the Attorney-General to-day and lay a charge of criminal negligence against parties as yet unknown at the hospital," stated Mr. Appleby to-day.

"I am not satisfied with the findings of the coroner's jury under Dr. C. C. McGillvray, who found that no one could be held responsible for my father's death.

Breeding Grounds of Ducks

A great majority of the people have the mistaken idea that the wild duck supply comes from remote northern fastness. Most of the ducks ordinarily hunted for game, except the black duck and perhaps the green-winged teal, to a certain extent, are Western in their breeding range. The canvas-backs, red-heads, mallards, and scaups which are shot in Ontario and Quebec in the open season, are bred in Western Canada.

A power-development project planned for Manitoba, Canada, will cost $20,000,000.

GOOD PROGRAM IS PROVIDED

St. James Y.P.S. Entertain Young People at Carmel United Church.

IS JOLLY EVENT

The Young People's Society of Carmel United church were guests last evening of St. James' Y.P.S., with the visiting society giving the entire program. The president, Miss Martha Lunn, ably presided, opening the service with singing and prayer. The program was under the missionary department and was both interesting and educative.

A reading by Will Patterson was patriotic as well as missionary. He applied the truths found in a portion of Isaiah to our own land. A vocal duet "He Is Mine" by Miss Phyllis Kidd and Miss Jones of Millbrook was much appreciated. Ashton Fife accompanied them at the piano.

The scripture lesson, A Missionary Psalm, was read by Mr. Lunn. Miss Edythe Patterson contributed a reading "It's All Up To You" which fitted well into the spirit of the service and a piano solo by Miss Phyllis Kidd was very much enjoyed.

In a short address the Rev. Mr. Jones of Millbrook brought a helpful message to the young people and at its conclusion he introduced the speaker, Mrs. Hannah Smith, who gave a bird's eye view of the missionary work being done by the United Church of Canada from Newfoundland to the Pacific in Canada and touched upon each of the foreign fields, Africa, Central India, North Honan, China, South Formosa, Japan, Korea and Trinidad.

Mrs. Smith told many interesting stories of the Canadian Missions, the boarding schools and homes, the social community centres in our larger cities. The great difficulties met in the conditions among foreigners in the far north and in the west She told of the building of the railroads as far north as Churchill on Hudson Bay, and the missionary, Mr. Martin, who worked and brought spiritual comfort to the men so far from home. The need for the large allocation given to our church this year was plainly set forth and an appeal was made for our young people to accept the challenge to further this great enterprise.

Canadian Christians should not fall behind when we learn that a great drive has been started in China to double its Christian population, and also a drive is under way in Japan to convert two hundred millions of its people during the next five years.

Rev. Mr. Dudgeon thanked Mr. Smith for her inspiring and informative address and repeated the challenge given to the young people, saying if you can't go yourselves you can hold the ropes at home.

The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Mr. Jones, after which the visiting young people were entertained with refreshments.

Aga Khan With His Der by Champion Blenheim

The photograph here shows the Aga Khan, leading in his horse, Blenheim, just after it had won the classic Epsom Derby before some 500,000 race fans. Jockey Harry Wragg, who brilliantly rode the horse to victory, is up. Blenheim is by Blandfoord-Maiva. Iliad was second and Diolite third in the same race.

Father of Premier Anderson Wanders From His Home

SALTCOATS, Sask., June 20. (C.P.) — After 150 men had scoured the countryside for him for nearly 12 hours, James Anderson, the aged father of Hon. Dr. J. T. M. Anderson, Premier of Saskatchewan, was found late on Thursday 2½ miles south of the home of J. B. Anderson, another son, 11 miles from where he had been visiting.

Mr. Anderson was found lying on the ground, a little weakened after his day in the open. He had apparently become lost after wandering from the house some time during the night. This marked the second time that Premier Anderson's father had wandered from home and become lost. A few months ago he left the home of his Premier son in Regina, and was not located until

Weed Inspectors Find Stone To Rev. Henson

TORONTO, Ont., June 20 (C.P.)—Discovery has been made at Dresden, Ontario, of a monument erected to the memory of Rev. Dr. Josiah Henson, original of Harriet Beecher Stowe's immortal "Uncle Tom."

Ontario Government weed inspectors found the grave and monument. This relic of the past will be marked in some suitable manner for the benefit of United States' tourists and students of history, it was stated.

Rev. Mr. Henson was born July 5, 1789, and died May 5, 1883, according to the inscription on the monument.

TWO AUTOMOBILES CRASH ON HIGHWAY

No Serious Damage is Caused By Collision South of Bailieboro.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

BAILIEBORO, June 20. — What might have been a serious accident, but fortunately resulted in only slight damage to two automobiles, occurred about a mile south of this village between 9.30 and 10 o'clock E.S.T. last evening.

Curiously enough the two persons involved bore the same name, although it is not believed that they are related to each other. It is alleged that Ira Dawson of Bailieboro had this automobile parked on the Peterborough-Port Hope Highway, without lights, and that Thomas Dawson, of Dawson Brothers, Bakers, Peterborough, crashed into the parked car. Owing to the moderate rate of speed at which the Peterborough car was travelling the consequences were not serious.

Turks And Kurds In Open Warfare

TEHERAN, Persia, June 20.—(A.P.)—Reports current in Tabriz to-day were that more than 10,000 Turkish troops were fighting Kurds who have entrenched themselves on Mount Ararat. The Turks were said to have met with some success.

Persian troops are on guard on the frontier.

Turkistan is a region of vague boundaries in Eastern Asiatic Turkey and Western Persia. The Kurds, although Aryan in extraction, are Mohamemdan in creed. They have a quasi independence under their chiefs and are noted for their robberies.

I.O.D.E. SEEKING FUNDS FOR BLIND

Canadian Blind Institiute Lends Inestimable Assistance to Canada's 7,000 Blind.

TAG DAY TO-MORROW.

To raise funds for the support of the work of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind the four local chapters of the I.O.D.E. are uniting in a big tag day on the city's streets to-forrow.

The importance of the work among the blind is made more impressive by the report of the League of Nations, Health Section, on the Welfare of the Blind in twenty-six countries. This report lauds the work among the blind in Canada as organized and carried on by the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

In this report it is stated that the blind population of the world was roughly estimated some years as 2,390,000, but that is is possible if the standard of blindness was everywhere considered an economic one rather than the varying degrees as at present the total would more likely be in the neighbourhood of 6,000 000. Of the blind population of the world 7,000 are resident in Canada and to help these people to help themselves the work of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind was organized and has proved necessary. This organization lends a hand to persons handicapped, by ways all too little known by those who have no occasion to seek such assistance.

The blind are taught to help themselves to a great extent and last year the sale of articles made by the blind amounted to over a half million dollars.

The head office of the Canadian Institute is in Toronto, from which the work of the province is directed, and similar work is carried on in the other provinces. Reaching school age the blind child is referred to the Provincial School for the Blind where education is provided for the juveniles, and after graduation from school, opportunties best suited for the individual are sought. Sheltered employment in broom and basket shops is found most suitable for some workers handicapped by blindness, and to meet the needs of this group factories have been established by the Institute in St. John's, Nfld., Halifax, Ottawa, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver.

However, the blind are normal persons with a handicap which means that more fortunate persons must lend a hand to make that handicap negligible. For the young men, mechanically inclined repetitive processes or certain machine operations in large industrial plants for the sighted present many occupations. It is the Institute's work to place the blind in these jobs.

Also the Institute supplies the blind basket and reed worker with their materials at cost prices and the finished article is often sold through the Institute.

COUNTY COUNCIL WILL RE-BUILD NORWOOD BRIDGE

of all those called upon to use our highways."

"We desire to recognize the valuable services rendered by our warden since his appointment to that office and the close attention given by him to our county affairs and assure him of our whole-hearted appreciation and support in the conduct of the responsible work his office imposes upon him."

A request voiced by J. J. Duffus on behalf of the County Plowmen's Association for a grant to the association was heard. Mr. Duffus opined also that if the Council should be willing to support the Ontario Plowmen's Association next year, the annual match of the association might be brought to the county next year.

The request will be considered by the finance committee.

Want Road Development.

"We want the main-travelled roads developed back in the county," Austin Fellows, road engineer of the Department of Highways, said addressing the Council. "We hope that the 9th line road in Dummer will be built up this year."

He especially urged the Council that it get together with the Council of Durham and Northumberland on the question of the Benfort bridge.

The Council heard a delegation from the Peterborough Exhibition Board which requested a grant to aid the fall fair this year. Mayor Denne, Morley Smithson and J. B. Nelson spoke on behalf of the board. The request was referred to the finance committee.

The county property committee decided to inspect and make necessary repairs to the boilers in the Court House. A sub-committee was appointed to investigate the need of better ventilation and other facilities in the county registry office.

T. P. Lancaster.

T. P. Lancaster, M.P.P., addressed the Council and urged a grant of $1,500 for improvement work on the boundary road between Peterborough and Victoria Counties bounded by Galway and Harvey Townships on the Peterborough side. He explained that the Provincial Government agreed to pay $2,000 for the purpose on condition that Victoria and Peterborough Counties each put up $2,000. Victoria County has agreed to grant $1,500 on condition that the local Council will make a similar grant. In such a case the Government is willing to pay $1,500, Mr. Lancaster explained.

Mr. Lancaster said that the road is the main road for the people in that section of the county. In discussion on the matter, several councillors made strenuous objection to the fact that the Government was only offering one-third of the total amount. It was suggested that possibly better terms might be made with the Government. No action on the matter was taken yesterday.

might forget it, and forgive him. Now he is only making his first grave offence a hundred times blacker by offering explanations falsified by the record of Hansard, that the people will never forget or forgive, in a prime minister.

Mr. Bennett decried attempts to bring the question of treatment of returned soldiers into the campaign, remarking that our ex-service men should not be treated from a viewpoint of politics for better treatment to returned soldiers.

The Conservative party had fought session in and session out, Mr Bennett remarked, and seventy-five per cent. of the members of the House of Commons, who were returned soldiers, sat on the Conservative side of the Chamber.

He emphasized at length the necessity for the development of agriculture.

To the St. Lawrence waterway project, the Conservative leader reminded his audience at one stage his party was pledged. The completion of this scheme, he went on, would mean a reduction of three to five cents per bushel on transportation charges for wheat.

THREE CHILDREN KILLED IN DYNAMITE EXPLOSION

Father and Children Walk Unsuspectingly to Spot Where Charge Was Set

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, June 20.—(C.P.)—Three of his children were killed in a field near their home yesterday by a dynamite explosion which tore the clothing from James Cadenski without injuring him. The dead were Claudia Cadenski 21, Ruby Cadenski 19, and Jack Cadenski 12.

The Cadenskis walked unsuspectingly to the spot where the dynamite charge was exploded by employees of the Texas company.

VOTERS ENDORSE

D. M. Duggan, Conservative leader, re-elected in Edmonton, attributed the increased vote for his followers to "the general swing to Conservative policies throughout Canada, and to the splendid work of women supporters."

Woman has Close Fight.

Six members of the Brownlee Cabinet are assured of re-election, although victory is still beyond the reach of the remaining two. Hon. Irene Parlby, Canada's only woman cabinet member, was 12 votes behind her opponent in Lacombe, with two outlying polls unlisted. Proponent of the much argued Baker School Bill, Hon. Perren Baker held an uncertain 155 vote edge in Cypress, with 15 polls out.

Two of the six re-elected ministers, Premier Brownlee and Hon O. L. McPherson, Minister of Public Works, were accorded acclamations in Ponoka and Little Bow. The other four recorded brilliant victories in their constituencies.

Hon. J. F. Lymburn, Attorney-General, once again headed the poll in Edmonton; Hon. Vernon W. Smith, Minister of Railways and Telephones; and Hon. R. G. Reid, Provincial Treasurer, piled up majorities of more than 1,000 votes in Okotoks-High River, Camrose and Vermillion.

Though his henchmen had marched stronger to the next assembly, J. W. McDonald, Liberal leader, bowed to defeat in McLeod constituency, Mayor of MacLeod and successor to Captain Jos. T. Shaw as chief of Liberals. McDonald was beaten by W. H. Shields, U. F. A. member in the last house. Shields polled double the vote of his opponent.

Woman Is Defeated

Mrs. J. W. Reid, only woman besides Mrs. Parlby in the field of 140 candidates, was defeated in far-north Grouard, the former vice-president of the United Farmer Women of Alberta, lost to L. A. Giroux, Liberal, who had represented the seat in the last house, with returns from isolated polls still drifting in, victory was conseded to Giroux by some 150 votes.

Communists fared ill in the allocation of seats for the next session. John O'Sullivan, who ran in both Drumheller and Calgary was at the bottom of the four-man list in the coal town, and 12th among Calgary's 13 candidates. In Rocky Mountain, Richard Sudworth Bore the red banner last in a three-man parade, led by an Independent.

Independents, who nominated 24 candidates in all, are assured of victory in only two constituencies. G. E. Cruickshank won the tri-partitie tilt in Rocky Mountain, listing a gain from Labor's total; in Bow Valley, formerly represented by Liberal leader Shaw, J. McIntosh counted a win over a U. F. A. Nominee.

Born in 1921.

Alberta's Farmer Government was born in 1921, when agrarian sentiment in the West reached its heights, and its father was Hon. Herbert Greenfield, now Agent-General for Alberta in London. As first Farmer Premier of the Province, Mr. Greenfield succeeded a trio of Liberal Government leaders.

The first administration, at formation of the province in 1905, was headed by Hon. Alex. Rutherford, now a lawyer in Edmonton; the Rutherford regime extended until 1910. For the next seven years the late Hon. A. L. Sifton was Premier, to be succeeded in 1917 by Hon. Charles Stewart, now Minister of the Interior in the Dominion Cabinet. Hon. J. E. Brownlee entered the Greenfield Government in 1921 as Attorney-General.

Previously he had been counsel for the Alberta wheat pool, first of the great wheat pools in the West. The Alberta pool, as well as the U.F.A. party, was an outgrowth of the strong economic organization for the United Farmers of Alberta, so long a power in Alberta under the presidency of the veteran, Henry Wise Wood. Mr. Brownlee became Premier in 1926, when Mr. Greenfield retired.

EMPLOYEES HEAR INTERESTING TALK

Safety First Talk Given Under Auspices of Lakefield Cement Company at Lakefield.

LAKEFIELD, June 20. (Examiner Correspondence)—A very interesting meeting was held in the Town Hall on Monday evening in the interests of "Safety First" under the auspices of plant 7, Lakefield, of the Canada Cement Co., and though the attendance was not as large as it should have been, those present spent a profitable evening as by picture and the spoken word the value of care in the prevention of accidents was shown to be of infinite value in the preservation and safe guarding of human life. The merits of the demonstration were exceptional and worthy of a packed house.

Mr. E. W. Bailey, plant superintendent of plant 7, gave a few introductory remarks on the high value the Canadian Cement Company place on accident prevention and the measures taken to insure safety in all their plants. He reviewed the situation for the past twelve months, last year at this time, (June 16th) there had been 280 days without a lost time accident. There has been a series of accidents which has reduced the present clear days to twenty-three. The Cement Plants give a trophy to the plant which has had the best record for the year—a whole year without a lost time accident is a worthy achievement and the trophy is a coveted one.

Mr. Curtain's regrettable accident broke the record and then 216 days went by when Mr. Hamblin met with an accident in the kiln room; then after 15 days Mr. Hampton was injured; 12 days later Mr. McFadden was hurt and then after 13 days Mr. Wingett was killed at the quarry. The long periods of no accidents shows what can be done when men are working together for safety. There have been safety meetings, with speakers, but there can't be real safety till all play the game and co-operate for accident prevention.

June has been so far entirely without lost time accidents and the plant is out to establish a new record for accident prevention.

Carelessness Costly

Mr. Bailey introduced Mr. Lovett of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association who gave an address and also showed a number of films showing various branches of industry and also a series on safety first. "The age of speed" as this undoubtedly is, was shown in the huge trains, aeroplanes, speed boats, motor trucks and cars etc., all travelling at a rate of speed undreamed of by our grandfathers. The pictures on safety showed so plainly that carelessness in some person or persons is the primary cause of accidents and can be prevented by co-operation for safety so that the fruits of industry will not be the broken or crippled man, the prematurely widow and the orphan children. A series of pictures on the importance of the grinding industry were shown and most important of all a series of pictures on resuscitation of drowning people or those suffering from electric shock or gas poisoning. The pictures illustrated so plainly the method that even the children could see, understand and practice it.

Mr. Lovett gave a short address stressing the importance of the cause of accident prevention. "Accidents do not happen" he said, "they are caused". We pay our respects to the efforts made to prevent accidents, for all could have been prevented if every one had done their bit. War taught us more clearly than ever before the value of human life and the safety movement which began in 1910 and has gone steadily on. The salvation of human life is second only to the salvation of the human soul; every scratch on the finger is potentially a death as blood poisoning is a terrible foe.

The audience has every reason to be interested in the resuscitation pictures because of the fatality which occurred here, because someone did not know how to save life. A boy in Midland learned from the Hydro men and saved several women from drowning.

"If you don't know the prone pressure method, for God's sake learn it for you'll need it some day, and teach the children."

The Compensation Act of Ontario is second to none in the world, but no honest man wants to live on compensation. We are our brother's keepers and we should report unsafe conditions, corret the careless, think safety first and don't take a chance.

Prevention work is intensive progressiveness and even in this age of speed we can play safe so join the world wide movement to save human life and limb.

Mr. Bailey thanked Mr. Lovett for his talk and the meeting closed with the national anthem.

OBITUARY

MRS. W. J. TULLY

The death occurred very suddenly on Thursday morning of Mrs. W. J. Tully, relict of the late W. J. Tully of Smith Township.

The late Mrs. Tully, whose maiden name was Louisa Hetherington, was born in Millbrook, Ont., eighty-two years ago and had resided on the second line of Smith for about fifty years, and before her marriage taught for a number of years at what is now known as the Lily Lake school.

The late Mrs. Tully had not been ill previous to her death and enjoyed all her faculties, being able to read without the use of spectacles. She was a Methodist in religion and a fine type of Christian woman, being ever ready to lend a helping hand to those in need.

She leaves to mourn her loss two sons and one daughter, Bert, of Smith Township; Fred, of New York and Edith, with whom she resided.

Funeral announcements will be made later.

LEVI BYERS.

BAILIEBORO, June 20.— (Examiner Correspondence.) — Levi Byers passed away on Tuesday at his late residence, Bailieboro, at the age of 79 years.

He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Byers and had lived in Bailieboro all his life, where he had followed the art of husbandry with marked success.

He was a Presbyterian and a member of the Orange Lodge.

The late Mr. Byers leaves one son, Roy, of Toronto, and one daughter, Dot, of Ottawa, another son, Gerald, late of Edmonton, having predeceased him.

The funeral was held on Wednesday from the family home to Centreville church, with Rev. John Riddell officiating. Interment was made at Bailieboro Baptist cemetery.

The pallbearers were John Moncrief, W. J. Moncrief, J. C. Roberts, R. J. Harper, H. W. Barnard, B. Perrin.

MRS. GEORGE GARBUTT

Friends far and near experienced a real sense of loss in the passing of Alice L. Edwards, beloved wife of George Garbutt, Douro Township, Peterborough County, Ontario. Mrs. Garbutt was the daughter of the late Samuel Edwards and Mary A. Grant, and was born November 20, 1871, in Dummer Township, near Warsaw. On October 2, 1895, she married George Garbutt, and went to live at his home in Douro, and continued to live on the same farm until her death at 3 a.m., May 31, 1930.

Mrs. Garbutt was one of those women of exceptional character who grace our rural life. She had all the graciousness that comes from close contact with Jesus Christ. She was always lady-like in her ways, even from her girlhood. The nobleness of her life had its effect upon the community as well as upon her family. Her influence has been even more pronounced since she took sick three years ago last March. Because of the seriousness of her sickness, and the fine quality of her character, she was able to talk to those who called to see her with a directness that would not have been permitted of the rest of us; hence her words struck home to many a heart.

The funeral service was conducted, at her late residence, by her pastor, Rev. H. B. Herrington, of Warsaw Mr. Herrington took for his text. "Made perfect through suffering." He pointed out that the highest good could only be attained through suffering and that the writer of Hebrews looked upon Jesus as attaining perfection through what he suffered. He showed the application of this to the life of Mrs. Garbutt in that, noble as had been her life before, there had been a deepening of her life in the last three years: (1) by an increased faith in God; (2) an increased interest in the church and the things for which the church stands, even to the extent of suffering in spirit because of the lack of interest in spiritual things on the part of some. Mr. Herrington also called attention to the fact that her suffering had had a purifying influence upon her family and upon the whole country-side.

Rev. M. L. Hinton of Bobcaygeon, a former pastor, remarked upon the friendliness of Mrs. Garbutt in her home, and upon her church life, in the days when he was her pastor. The service was closed with a beautiful duet, "The Valley of Peace", by Mr. Rufus Payne and his sister, Mrs. Dora McMillan.

The funeral procession, which was one of the largest ever known in these parts, proceeded to Lakefield cemetery where interment took place. At Mrs. Garbutt's own request only the wreaths were taken to the cemetery to be placed upon her grave. The many sprays and cut flowers which kind and sympathetic friends had brought were arranged and sent to the sick and aged.

Among others Mrs. Garbutt leaves to mourn her loss her husband; her two sons, Harry who married Vera Taylor June 23, 1926, and Ralph, unmarried, who remains at home with his father; her mother, Mrs. Samuel Edwards; and her three sisters, Mrs. A. C. Hawthorne, Mrs. Wm. Crawford and Mrs. T. J. Taylor, all of Medicine Hat, Sask.

Although Mrs. Garbutt is no longer physically present, her interest in the community was so great that we feel she cannot be wholly absent but is present with us in spirit as a guardian angel.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH ENJOYS NINETY YEARS OF PROGRESS

Campbellford Presbyterians to Celebrate Sunday, June 22—Dr. Scott Mackenzie Will Preach.

FIRST SERVICE IN 1840

CAMPBELLFORD, June 20.—(By Examiner Staff Correspondent)—With the celebration on Sunday, June 22, of its 90th anniversary, St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Campbellford, has to its record a long line of accomplishments and Christian endeavour, in the district, that it can be proud of. The special preacher at both services on this occasion will be the Rev. Dr. F. Scott McKenzie, principal of Montreal College, Montreal, who will be assisted by the minister, the Rev. Dr. W. J. Mark.

Presbyterian services were first held in 1840, at the home of Mrs. Walter Govan, Seymour West, under the auspices of the Church of Scotland, with the Rev. Robert Neill in charge. This was known as the Seymour West congregation. Later when the old school house was used, and following that the town hall, it was designated the Seymour Bridge congregation. It was not until the sixties that the location took the name of Campbellford, and the church also became known as the Campbellford congregation.

The Free Church of Scotland sent missionaries to Campbellford prior to 1857, but no definite work was done until the Rev. Thomas Alexander formerly of Cobourg, was definitely settled there. Mr. Alexander labored in Campbellford for seven years, during which time the first church, a frame structure, was built, opened and dedicated, in 1861.

Following the resignation of Rev. Alexander in 1865, the congregation called the Rev. Anthony Simpson, who did not accept the call, but served in the pulpit for one year. The next call was to the Rev. Walter Rogers, who also refused, and for the next three years the pastorate was vacant, the pulpit being supplied by the Home Mission Board.

In 1869, the Rev. David Beattie was given the pastoral oversight of the congregation, but was forced to resign in 1872 owing to poor health. The Rev. Donald Sutherland succeeded Mr. Beattie in 1872, and was ordained and inducted on November 11, 1873, to be minister of the joint pastorates of Campbellford and Warkworth. It was during Mr. Sutherland's ministry that the present brick church was built, and on the 28th of January, 1883, was opened for services. The Rev. Principal Grant, of Kingston, was in charge of the services that day.

Congregation Grows

In the year 1884 it became necessary once more to separate the congregations of Campbellford and Warkworth, and the next year, 1889. Under his ministrations, the congegation continued to grow, and the next year, 1890, the church was enlarged to its present proportions, that it might adequately meet the need of a rapidly growing community. In 1895 Mr. Scott resigned, and the congregation invited the Rev. Robert Laird to fill the vacancy. Mr. Laird labored for four years, 1895 to 1899, when he accepted a call to the First Presbyterian church, Brockville. It was during Mr. Laird's ministry that the Manse was built, and during that period the congregation received generously from the hands of one of its members, Mrs. Gibbs. It was due to her liberality that the entire indebtedness of the church was wiped out, and the manse built.

The Rev. A. C. Reeves was called as Mr. Laird's successor. He was inducted on January 18th, 1900, and exercised a faithful ministry for eight and a half years. The Rev. George A. Brown was the congregation's next choice of a minister, beginning his work in September, 1903, which he faithfully executed until December 1916. Following came the Rev. C. F. McIntosh, who commenced his ministry in 1917, and continued it until the vote on church union in 1925, when he affiliated with the United church.

The Rev. James C. Grier was called to fill the vacancy occasioned by the withdrawal of Mr. McIntosh, and he carried on the work until July 1928, hen he resigned to accept a call to St. Andrew's church, Lindsay.

The present minister, the Rev. W. J. Mark, D.D., was called to the charge in September, 1928, was inducted on November 9th, and commenced his ministry on November 11th of the same year.

Thus St. Andrew's church, from a small beginning, and in spite of many difficulties, has continued its unbroken march from the year 1840 to the present time. Ninety years of service is a record that a church can be proud of.

Then you sow your seed, being careful how you do so, and then you tend the planting to the harvest time.

If you don't feel just like watering the beds when they need it, if you have something pleasanter to do when weeding time comes, if you neglect the thinning and the transplanting, you lose your labor. And if you lose your labor your conscience and your self respect ache and you feel unhappy. The neighbors are not pleased with your lack of achievement. No kind words come your way.

But if you struggle through, if you dig and delve and sow and water and weed and thin and transplant and bring to harvest your crop—what a well-done job is yours. Immediately your whole being mounts a step higher. You feel like a person. You're somebody who has wrestled with life and mastered it for once.

That is a great feeling for a child to have. Few city children get that chance. All they can do is their school lessons and many a time they have scant chance at them because so many people want to do them in their stead. The country is the place for chilren. Give them a good school and good garden and a chance at both and they will outstrip the city child.

Personal, first-hand experiences with things, and with nature, are elements of character growth we must secure for our children. So far the country child has the better opportunity.

FORMER RESIDENT IS AWARDED MEDAL

Miss Elizabeth Bell Rogers Receives Honor at McGill University.

MILLBROOK, June 20 (Examiner Correspondence)—An item of interest to many people in the district comes from Montreal where Miss Elizabeth Bell Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Rogers, of Pontypool, Ontario, was recently awarded the Lieutenant-Governor's Silver Medal for the highest standing in Teaching and Supervision in the schools of Nursing at McGill University, Montreal.

At one time Miss Rogers taught at S.S. No. 4, Cavan, but four years ago gave up this work and entered the nursing profession. At the end of her three years' training at the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, she was awarded the Harry J. Crowe Scholarship for one year's advanced work in the field of nursing at a Canadian University.

In September, 1929, Miss Rogers entered the School for Graduate Nurses at McGill University, and there studied the Teaching and Supervising Branch of Nursing. At the close of her year's work she was awarded the Lieutenant-Governor's Silver Medal of highest standing in that department.

Miss Rogers has accepted a position as an Instructor of Nursing at the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, for this coming year.

CORRECTING DEFECTS DURING HOLIDAYS.

Your youngster is naturally looking forward to the summer holidays, and has planned plenty of baseball, swimming, fishing or other activity, and it is your duty to help him to get as much of these outdoor pastimes as possible.

However, during the school year, in addition to his standing in class, you were informed by the school teacher, nurse, or physician, that there were certain defects that needed correcting, and naturally the summer holidays were considered the best time for the purpose.

Some of the defects noted at school were that your youngster was thin or undernourished and that it was due to two or three bad teeth that needed filling or extracting.

Perhaps the tonsils were so bad that they had ceased to be of any use as filters, and were in fact pouring poisonous wastes into the blood.

Perhaps the nose had such an obstruction that the youngster had been subjected to frequent colds, and has become a 'mouth' breather. These frequent colds have so inflammed the little tube going up to middle ear from the nose that the youngster has had to sit up near the front of the school room in order to hear properly.

As a matter of fact more youngsters develop deafness than are born deaf.

And then his general physique, and the way he carries himself. Is he stooped or round shouldered? Does his abdomen protrude?

Are his lungs big enough for his body? Is he pale? Is his skin clear?

Now why am I talking about this just when he is getting ready to enjoy his holidays? Why take the joy out of his life by bringing up these matters at this time?

Simply because the summer time, the days of warmth and sunshine is the ideal time to get all defects of nose, throat, ear, mouth and teeth corrected. There is not the same chance for any complications to occur, and the youngster gets into the air and sunshine immediately.

Further, with these or other defects cleared up at the beginning of the holidays, he has all the rest of the time to build up. Also he hasn't the idea of these operations or other procedures on his mind during the holidays, as he would if they were delayed till just previous to school opening.

Of course there are cases where a little building up is necessary after the school year, before correcting can be made, byt my whole point is that the parent should take advantage of the holidays to get the youngster to the best physical condition and free from defects.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

THE GARDEN CHILD.

City children lose a great deal, in fact all children who have not gardening experience, lose a great deal. In these days of city living, machines, surface skimmings of life, we are likely to lose a set of values that we can ill afford to miss. I mean those that we get from the soil.

It is the fashion for city-bred children to smile in superiority at the country-bred child. The country child's open-eyed wonder at the ways of the city makes the city child feel on the heights. Many times he should feel quite the other way for the country child that has been well reared has a host of advantages.

Character is a matter of training. It requires self restraint, self discipline, self sacrifice. It infers a sense of duty Duty is an old fashioned word that will have to be taken out of the dictionary and well dusted for the use of the coming generation. When the original idea stands out once more it will be discovered to be that fine sense of proportion that makes character. Duty first—then all other things are added and character is set

And what is there in the country child's life that makes for character as against that of the city child? I think it is the garden and all that belongs to it. The city child has no such chance.

You see when you think about planting something you first must prepare the ground . A few experiences teach you the utter futility of setting seed in barren soil. First you dig deep, then you fine your soil, and you feed your soil in accordance with the crop you wish to raise.

WEDDING BELLS

BRADLEY—EMMOREY.

MARMORA, June 20.—(Examiner Correspondence).—St. Paul's Anglican Church, Marmora, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Wednesday afternoon when Barbara Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew W. Emmorey of Deloro became the bride of Ernest Bradley of the same village. Rev. A. B. Caldwell officiated.

The bride was daintily gowned in ivory white crepe de chene satin with metallic flowers and hat to match. She wore white kid shoes and carried a pretty bouquet of roses and orange blossoms. She was given in marriage by her father and was attended by Miss Elizabeth Brown, who wore a becoming gown of maize crepe de chene and a beige silk braid hat. She also carried a bouquet of carnations. Norman Smith carried out the duties of best man.

The church which was artistically and profusely decorated with roses, peonies, and orange blossoms, was filled with relatives and friends. Mrs. W. Litt played wedding music before the ceremony and during the signing of the register. At 6 p.m. a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, at which about fifty sat down. The happy young couple here received many costly and useful presents.

Later in the evening, the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. William Brown, held a further reception at Deloro Hall at which more goodly presents were received by Mr. and Mrs. Bradley and the evening spent in dancing. The honeymoon is being spent in Toronto. Upon their return, they will reside in Deloro.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

EVERY person has something to give to the litle world that she is in touch with, and perhaps to the world at large.

• • • • • •

Few women appreciate this?

• • • • • • •

The great hue and cry about self-expression that was aroused a few years ago, but which fortunately is subsiding today, had little in common with this idea of the inherent ability of each one to contribute something to others.

• • • • • • •

What does self-expression mean, then? It means simply what it states in term. "Self" was the person to benefit, not those about her. In fact the "self" was rather encouraged to forge ahead regardless of others.

• • • • • • •

It is the realization that each one, the real "self" had the power to contribute to others, that is of vital importance. Incidentally here is no surer way to express one's best self than by contributing.

• • • • • • •

In the home realm and in community life, women are constantly expending themselves for others. It is important for each one to get some realization of what she has to give.

• • • • • • •

Money is not a matter of moment just now in our considerations but the "self". Money may express genuine charity based on love of mankind, but it may also express vanity and pride in the power to expend, and in the vain glory of being recognized as rich.

• • • • • • •

One of the finest things a homemaker can contribute to the home is that element of peace without which home is not sanctuary.

• • • • • • •

A household has not peace in which there is bustle and in which the whir of wheels of domestic machinery are constantly heard!

• • • • • • •

The woman who quells the noisome hurry, softens the sound of necessary work and instills an atmosphere of restfulness is exerting a power welcomed by every member of the family.

• • • • • • •

Fortunately there are many such homemakers. The number can be increased.

• • • • • • •

There are homemakers who know how to make those within their realms distinctly comfortable. Such a woman is exercising power. She knows how to comfort and sooth those in trouble and how to make even inanimate things contribute their share.

• • • • • • •

This latter feature has been treated many times in articles on interior decoration which you perhaps have read.

• • • • • • •

Some women have a power to create happiness while others haven't, that power. The ready smile is not of the feature but of the whole personality.

• • • • • • •

They help others to see the sunny side of life. They wrap a mantle of happiness about those with whom they come in contact. A cheerful disposition is a natural foundation of this power, but many times the woman who possesses it has acquired it in the experiences of life.

• • • • • • •

Realizing this it becomes apparent that others can get it. The power to make others happy is one of the greatest a person can have.

The Rev. W. McDonald will be guest speaker on Sunday at the Jubilee services to be held in St. Andrew's Church, Hallville. It was in this church, which is situated near Kemptville, in Dundas County, that the Rev. Mr. McDonald began his ministry.

The Rev. and Mrs. W. McDonald, with members of their family, have motored to Guelph to be present at the Graduation Exercises of MacDonald Hall this afternoon. Their daughter Miss Kathleen McDonald is among those who have completed the Association Course at MacDonald Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cosh and Mrs. Devitt, of Bobcaygeon, attended the wedding on Wednesday of their nephew, Mr. Raymond Purdy, and Miss Eunice Roseborough. During their stay in the city, they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. I. Lewis, Union street.

International League Race Is Drawing Closer

LEAFS STAGE BATTING SPREE TO DEFEAT THE BEARS 9-3 IN SERIES OPENER AT NEWARK

Win Fourth Straight By Hitting Hard and Often—Barnes Good on Mound.

ROYALS TROUNCE BIRDS.

Eight Pitchers Pounded For Forty-six Hits in Weird Game at Reading.

TORONTO, June 20. — Toronto, Montreal and Rochester all gained on the leading Baltimore Orioles in the International League pennant scramble yesterday. The Birds are now only half a game ahead of the Red Wings, while Montreal is three games from first place, and Toronto five. The O'Neillmen are making a determined dash to overtake the teams ahead of them, and have won four straight games, which is something of an achievement away from home. At Newark yesterday the Leafs demonstrated that they can hit when hits mean runs, and they made things unpleasant for singing Al Mamaux, who hasn't had a great deal of success facing the Leafs this season. Frank Barnes turned in another fine pitching effort, and just breezed in. The Bears didn't score on him until the eighth, and by that time the Leafs were far, far in front. The Leafs are producing extra-base hits in clusters, and yesterday Clayton Sheedy and Harry Davis made home runs, while Art Ruble helped himself to a couple of timely triples. The Royals had to go twelve innings to beat the Orioles, and then accomplished that feat with a freak home run by Bill Urbanski, the ball hopping into the right-field bleachers, and driving in three runs. Joe Hauser hit a homer for the Birds in the twelfth, but there was nobody on, and Fritz Maisel's men had to accept defeat. The Orioles have hit the skids, and present indications are that Rochester will be ahead of them before the week-ends. The Leafs are improving their pennant chances every day, and it is to be hoped that their present winning streak lasts for some time. Phil Page, who reported to Manager O'Neill yesterday, will likely get a chance at the Bears this afternoon.

Ray Kolp Holds National League Leaders to Seven Straight Hits.

CUBS BEAT BRAVES.

CINCINNATI, June 20.—Ray Kolp shut out the league-leading Brooklyn Robins yesterday to give Cincinnati a 5 to 0 victory in the first game of its home stand against the Eastern clubs of the National League. Kolp allowed only seven hits and bore down with men on bases. The Robins had ten men left stranded.

Adolfo Luque, once a Red, did his best to beat his old mates, but the Cincinnati players hit when blows counted, scoring in four of the six innings Luque worked. The veteran hurler made two of Brooklyn's hits and fielded brilliantly, but his mates made two costly errors and the Reds followed them with hits. Five of Cincinnati's 11 blows off Luque and Johnny Morrison were doubles.

SIEBOLD LAMBASTED

CHICAGO, June 20.—A vicious assault on "Socks" Seibold in the first three innings, which included home runs by "Hack" Wilson, "Woody" English and "Kiki" Cuyler, and excellent pitching by Guy Bush gave the Cubs a 10 to 4 victory yesterday.

The Cubs amassed their lead off Seibold, but were tamed by Wee Willie Sherdel, who pitched the rest of the game for Boston. Bush held the Braves to six hits, four of which were bunched in the eighth for three runs. The Braves' eighth inning rally included a homer by "Buster" Cha-tham.

COLUMBUS, O., June 19.—(A.P.)—Fumes from burning films in the basement of an East Broad street photographers studio sent five firemen to a hospital last night after fire companies had spent three hours checking a smouldering blaze that caused $100,000 damages.

Five other firemen were injured either by inhaling smoke or by broken glass. None was hurt seriously.

BAN MAY BE PLACED UPON AMERICAN PAPER

WASHINGTON, June 20 (C.P.). — American publications sold freely in this country might be barred by the Canadian authorities on the ground that they were salacious, under the terms of a treaty being drafted at the State Department.

The treaty is designed primarily to prevent smuggling of liquor into the United States, but it is admitted that under its terms Canada might prohibit importation of American publications and insist that the American authorities co-operate in making the ban effective.

Shires, playing his first game with the Senators, hit for three out of four batted in a run, and was on the end of two fast double plays; Manush got two singles in three trips to the plate, and Crowder let the Sox down with four scattered hits and a lone tally.

Doeg Opposes Sharpe In Wimbledon Match

Allison Meets Moon In One of First-round Features.

WIMBLEDON, England, June 20.—An international duel between Wilmer Allison of the United States Davis Cup forces and E. F. Moon of the Australian team heads the list of feature matches announced yesterday for the opening of the British tennis championships on Monday.

Other matches scheduled for Wimbledon's famous "centre court" are: Henri Cochet (France) v. Hans Timmer (Holland); H. W. Austin (Britain) v. E. R. Avory (Britain); Baron H. L. De Morpurgo (Italy) v. G. E. M. De St. Croix (Britain).

On the No. 1 court T. Satoh, Japan is pitted against Lyttleton Rogers, the towering Irish player; John Doeg (United States) v. Nigel Sharpe (Britain); Jean Borotra (France) v. F. Crosbie (Ireland), and William Tilden (United States) v. Dr. A. A. Fyzee (India).

JONES HOLDS STROKE MARGIN

Fred Robson's 143 Places Him Second in British. Open.

36 HOLES TO-DAY.

HOYLAKE, Eng., June 20.—The British open golf championship was still a "hoss race" last evening as the field rounded the halfway post. Bobby Jones added a par 72 to his 70 Wednesday to give him 142 and put him a nose ahead, with a stroke lead over the veteran Englishman, Fred Robson, at 143, and three shots lead on the tall Missourian, Horton Smith, who had a two-day total of 145.

Behind the leaders came a pack of 147's, Leo Diegel, Don Moe, MacDonald Smith, Archie Compston and Phil Rodgers, with "Long Jim" Barnes another stroke away.

Many Eliminated

The qualifying gate again closed last night, cutting off all but the 60 leaders and one tie for the sixtieth place. George Von Elm, with a 36-hole score of 160, was the only United States player shut out of the punishing two-round finish today. A score as low as 158 was necessary to remain in competition.

Cyril Tolley's 71 was the best score yesterday, but coupled with 84 Wednesday it means hardly anything. The big Englishman played Hoylake as it should be played, scoring 34 on the first nine, and thus girding himself for the fierce homeward test.

Those who failed to beat par on the outward journey had a hard time on the long homeward half. Again yesterday, as Tuesday, reports flew over the course of this player and that, two, three or four under fours at the thirteenth, only to take fives and sixes on the difficult home holes. Leo Diegel, for example, played only two shots on his first nine that could be criticised, and started homeward with a flock of threes and fours, only to mark down a pair of sixes at the close, where he explored the rough at two holes.

Softball Notes.

Tonight softball fans will witness what should be one of the best games of the season. Belmonts and Sugar Bowl, the league leaders will meet. This game looms up as a great battle. Sugar Bowl are at the top of the league by virtue of having played extra games. Belmonts are in second place. Both teams have the same number of losses, two. If Belmonts win tonight they will go into first place in the league. On the other hand if the Sugar Bowl win they will take first place in the league. With so much at stake a great battle can be looked forward too.

The game starts at 6.30 sharp and will be played at Central School Grounds. A big crowd is looked for.

LEAFS CREEPING NEARER LEADERS

Toronto, Montreal and Rochester All Gain on Baltimore Orioles.

HALF GAME LEAD.

NEWARK, N.J., June 20—Banging out 14 hits behind the gilt-edged southpaw flinging of Frank Barnes the Toronto Leafs walked off with the first game of the Newark series here yesterday by a 9 to 3 count. The score really does not indicate the masterful game that Barnes pitched, as up until the eighth inning when Harry Layne of the Bears collected his ninth home run of the season, Barnes had restricted the Bruins to three scattered hits.

It was the second consecutive game in which the Bears have been all but hypnotized by a left hand pitcher, and the prospects for another Toronto victory to-day are very bright inasmuch as Phil Page is scheduled to grace the mound for the clan of O'Neill. Page, who has been acquired from the Detroit Tigers on option, joined the Leafs yesterday and announced himself ready to pitch at a minute's notice.

The Leafs were opposed by Al Mamaux, that veteran song-bird right-hander, at the start of the game, and the fans had high hopes of a Newark victory, as Al won his previous two starts in impressive style. He seemed to be in form to make it three straight, as he had easy sailing in the first inning, but in the second canto, Clayton Sheedy dented his armor with a home run clout far over the left-field fence. As developments proved, all the Leafs needed was a start as in the next inning they put over another single tally, and in the fourth they put the pastime in the well-known refrigerator with a four-run outburst.

ROYALS DEFEAT BIRDS

BALTIMORE, Md., June 20.—Urbanski's freak home run in the twelfth with two on gave Montreal a 6 to 4 victory over the Orioles here yesterday. The ball hit the fence near the foul line and rebounded into the bleachers. Baltimore had tied the score at 3-all in the ninth when Barton hit a homer into the right field bleachers. Urbanski had 13 assists, handling 15 chances afield without error.

SKEETERS BEAT BISONS

JERSEY CITY, June 20.—The Jersey City Skeeters took the opening game of their series with the Buffalo Bisons here yesterday by a score of 5 to 2.

A big sixth inning in which they pounded out six consecutive hits after two were out to score four times settled the issue for the Skeeters.

Jess Bream, on the mound for the Skeeters, kept the Bisons' hits well scattered.

Ollie Tucker smashed a home run over the right field wall in the sixth inning.

Risko Easy Winner From Basque Chopper

Cleveland Heavyweight Much the Better in Detroit Bout.

DETROIT, Mich, June 20.—Johnny Risko of Cleveland, earned the referee's decision over Paulino Uzcudun, in the main bout at last night's boxing show here.

It was Risko's second decision victory over Paulino, but unlike the first meeting, three years ago, there was no doubt of the accuracy of Referee Al Day's verdict.

Only in the sixth round did the Spanish woodchopper show anything that disturbed the Cleveland baker boy in the least. In this session, Paulino fought viciously, landing a stinging right and left to Risko's heart and jolting the Clevelander with a heavy right to the kidneys.

It was only a momentary flash of his old-time skill on the Spaniard's part, however, and Risko began just where he had left off in the fifth round, hammering the Basque with every punch in his extensive repertoire. Risko landed three or four blows to every one the Basque could send through and consistently outspeeded and outsmarted his rival.

Despite the battering he took, Paulino was in danger of a knockout only in the fifth round, when a series of hard rights and lefts to the jaw had him staggering.

Across of 11,000 saw the battle.

Joe Barlow, Boston (160½) earned a decision over George Pavelick, Cleveland (170¼) in the six-round semi-final.

U. S. CHAMPION FINISHES WITH SCORE OF 291

First Golfer to Hold Two British Championships Since 1890.

HAS TWO SHAKY ROUNDS.

Leo Diegel and Archie Compston Run Close Seconds to the Winner.

HOYLAKE, Eng., June 20. (C.P.)—Bobby Jones of United States today won the British open golf championship for the third time with a score of 291.

The open champion of the United States increased his golf titles to three as he won the amateur championship of Great Britain last month. He is the first man to hold the British amateur and open championships since John Ball accomplished the feat in 1890.

The Georgian won in spite of two shaky rounds to-day. He took 74 strokes in the third round, when he carded a six, and 75 in the afternoon when he had a seven on his card. His first two rounds of 70 and 72 pulled him through.

Leo Diegel and Archie Compston threatened until Compston ruined his chances with 43 strokes for the first nine in the afternoon and Diegel remained in the hunt until the sixteenth hole when he took a six.

Diegel P. G. A. champion of the United States, made a great bid but finished two strokes behind Jones, taking 75 for the third round, the same score Bobby returned. Archie Compston finished with a score of 293, taking an 83 on the last round.

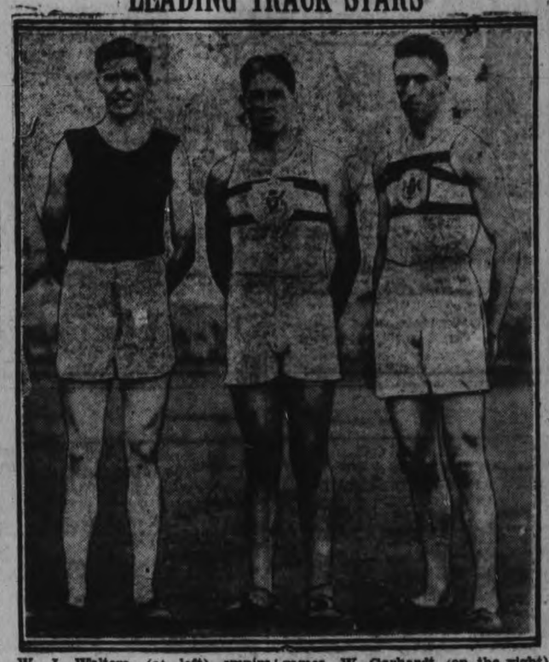
SOUTH AFRICAN CONTENDER

Miss Marjorie Clark, a member of the 1928 South African Olympic team, who during the South African championships held recently in Johnnesburg won five national championships, breaking some records and equalling others. She was a serious contender at the British championships in 1928. Having accomplished a leap of 5 feet 3 inches at an exhibition jump at the London Athletic Club sports, which, though not allowed, was a world's record, she is fourth in the South African selection for the British Empire games at Hamilton and is a more formidable proposition.

LEADING TRACK STARS



W. J. Walters, (at left) empire games team, national ranking fifth, broke S. A. record for the quarter-mile in an epic struggle with Roger Leigh-Wood, captain of the Achilles team, which visited S. A. in 1929. Walters won by a foot in 48 2-5 seconds. He is an ex-national champion, 21 years of age. Standing close on 6 feet in height, he will be equally serviceable to S. A. in any 200 yards or 440 yards at the forthcoming games. W. Garhardt (on the right) of the picture, a nine months' old find in athletics, has shown wonderful pace over the furlong. He accomplished 21 2-5 seconds at Pretoria at the end of last year (not recognized) while his win in the S. A. national championship in 21 3-4 seconds proves his ability. Unknown ten months ago, Garhardt at the first time of asking was credited with an even run.

MACKS REGAIN OLD STANDING

Philadelphia Athletics Hailed as Current Champions of Baseball World.

RISE FROM RANKS.

It is a matter of indisputable record that the Philadelphia Athletics are current champions of the baseball world. And their games of the past few days go a long way toward explaining why they hold that position.

The Athletics were in a bad spot for a while. Crippled by a series of injuries, they saw the Cleveland Indians take first place away from them and lose it again before the onslaught of the New York Yankees. They came home from a disastrous tour of the west, faced by the double threat from these teams. With Washington not far in the back ground and with a five game series with Cleveland to start their home stay.

The champions began to display their championship calibre right there. They defeated the Indians, 7 to 2, Wednesday and repeated the dose yesterday by a 4 to 2 count, sending Cleveland down into fourth place by the two defeats.

UNREST CONTINUES ON INDIAN BORDER

Elaborate Precautions Have Been Taken By British Forces.

LONDON, June 20. (C.P.) — India despatches received here indicate that trouble with tribesmen on the northwestern frontier continues notwithstanding elaborate precautions and military operations.

A Lahore despatch to the Daily Mail said that anxiety continues, Indian Nationalist propaganda having led the tribes to believe that British rule was passing. The air force, artillery and infantry, were said to be co-operating in putting down the movement.

The correspondent said also that there was widespread belief that one of the sons of former King Amanullah of Afghanistan, was recruiting an army among the tribesmen for an advance into India.

CHURCH IN FIGHT HE TELLS TORIES

Ontario Government Part and Parcel of Beauharnois Power Corporation, Former Member Says.

BLAMES FERGUSON GOV'T.

TORONTO, Ont., June 20. (C.P.)—Rumours of a storm in Northwest Toronto political circles became an actuality last night when T. L. Church, Conservative member in the last house for the constituency, commenced his pre-convention campaign for re-nomination and declared war on the Ontario Conservative Government.

It is expected locally that John R. MacNichol, president of the Ontario Conservative Association, will be the former mayor's rival for honors at the forthcoming Conservative convention, and last night Mr. Church declared at a meeting of ward four Conservatives that if he did not beat Mr. MacNicol he would run as an independent Conservative.

"I am in the fight anyway" he asserted.

In his address Mr. Church declared the Ontario Government were "part and parcel" of the Beauharnois Power corporation, and asserted that because of his fights against the power company in the House of Commons, he "was told that they would 'get me' in Northwest Toronto."

Mr. Church attacked Hon. W. H. Price, Attorney-General, who he said to a person "I had no chance in Northwest Toronto."

COAL PLENTIFUL IN ANTARCTIC

Rear Admiral Byrd Announces Discoveries on Return From South Pole.

NEW LAND FOUND.

NEW YORK, June 20 (A.P.)—From a land so devoid of life there aren't even microbes in the water, a country without horizons where sight is distorted as in a broken mirror, Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd came home yesterday for one of the greatest popular welcomes in the city's history.

Along his triumphal path hundreds of thousands cheered this man from the ends of the earth, whose latest exploit was to fly over the South Pole, just as he previously soared above the North Pole.

Plentitude of Coal

On his way to the Pole he discovered under the ice and snow of the Antartic enough coal to keep all the peoples of the earth warm for generations, and found about 125,000 square miles of hitherto-unknown land, on which he planted the Stars and Stripes.

In two interviews wedged between the many ceremonies of his first day back in New York, the Admiral spoke of the strangeness of life in Little America, where his base was situated, and of the scientific achievements his little army of men had accomplished.

"Not only was new land discovered," he said, "but it was also established that Carmen Land, reported by Amundsen, was not land at all. This is in no way discreditable to Amundsen because great pressure ice ridges pushed up in the air like mountains give the impression of land, and then there are mirages and most peculiar atmospheric conditions.

Rice in warehouses in Japan at one time recently was valued at nearly $40,000,000.

Two Keen Competitors at Track Meet

This photograph, taken at the Stamford Bridge girls' track meet in England, recently, shows a striking contrast in coiffures of two of the fair competitors. The young lady on the left looks like a boy, and is proud of it, while her companion, with the the many tresses, is wholly feminine, and is also proud of it. Anyway, it's a track meet, not a beauty contest, they say.

TORY FORCES ARE SPLIT IN RUSSELL

One Faction Demands That Candidate Named at Convention Be Deposed.

NOT SUITABLE TO FARMERS.

VARS, Ont., June 20. (C.P.) — The executive committee of the Russel County Conservative Association will be asked to "Depose" Alex Marion, nominated as the party standard bearer for the July Dominion elections, it was decided Wednesday at a meeting held in the interests of Rololphe Beaudet of Blackburn.

Mr. Beaudet was also proposed at the Vars convention on June 9 which placed Mr. Marion in the running, but he withdrew, claiming proceedings had not been carried out acording to the county association by-laws. The some 100 persons who attended last night's meeting named a committee of five to bring the matter before the executive and report back in ten days.

Speakers before the Beaudet meeting alleged Mr. Marion was not a suitable representative for farmers of the Russell district owing to his association with "big business."

"I Was Skinny and Tired. Now Peppy. Gained 11 Lbs."

"Had tired feeling, no pep. But Ironized Yeast gave me pep; much stronger. Gained 11 lbs. Boils and pimples disappeared." — Mack Laflorla.

Amazing new Ironized Yeast adds 5 to 15 lbs. in 3 weeks. Changes "skinny," weak body to strong, well-developed form all admire. Blotchy skin gets clear and rosy like magic. Nervousness, indigestion, constipation disappear overnight. Sound sleep. New pep from very first day.

Two great tonics in one—special weight-building Malt Yeast and strengthening Iron. Pleasant little tablets. Far stronger than unmedicated yeast. Results in ½ time. No yeasty taste. No gas.

Don't be "skinny," weak, unattractive. Get Ironized Yeast from druggist today. Feel great tomorrow. Money back from manufacturer if not delighted with quick results.

A BEDTIME STORY

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S GREEN DRAGON

Uncle Wiggily was in his garden one day, pulling weeds from among the rows of green lettuce, when he heard some loud shouts.

"What's that?" asked the rabbit gentleman, and he twinkled his pink nose for, except for his nose, Mr. Longears was alone in his garden. "I wonder who shouted?" went on the rabbit.

In another moment he learned, for up the path came running Baby Bunty as fast as she could hop, and she looked as though she were a bit frightened.

"Oh, Unkie Wig! Oh, Unkie Wig!" gasped the little orphan rabbit. "You ought to see!"

"What now?" asked Mr. Longears with a laugh. "Have you found another little cat up in the pussy willow tree, Bunty, or a puppy in the dogwod bush?"

"No, Unkie Wig! It's more terriblier than that!" said Bunty, her breath coming and going very fast. "You ought to see! Oh, you just ought to come and see it!".

"What, Bunty?" asked Uncle Wiggily, putting his paw around the little orphan bunny.

"In the brook,!" went on Bunty. "You ought to see!"

"Yes, but what is it I ought to see?" asked her Uncle. "Calm yourself and tell me, Bunty."

So Bunty calmed herself and then she said:

"It's a green dragon! A big, woggling, green dragon down in the brook and he shook his tail at me!"

"Nonsense, Bunty!" chucked Uncle Wiggily. "There isn't any such thing as a dragon, except in Chinese fairy stories. And even if there were dragons they wouldn't hurt you."

"Wouldn't they?" asked Baby Bunty and her heart wasn't beating so fast now.

"No, indeed," answered Uncle Wigwily. "But I am sure you saw no green dragon in our brook."

"Oh, excuse me, Unkie Wig, for saying different," spoke the little orphan rabbit politely, "but I did. It's an awful green dragon!"

"Nonsense!" chuckled the rabbit gentleman. "You must have fallen asleep in the warm sun and then you dreamed about a dragon."

Before Bunty could say she hadn't, up the path came running Jingle and Jangle, the twin rabbits.

"Oh, Daddicums!" cried Jingle.

"You ought to see!" cried Jangle.

"A big, long, woggling, green dragon in the brook!" cried Jingle and Jangle together, just like twins, which they were.

"There! What did I tell you?" asked Baby Bunty.

Uncle Wiggily straightened up for his back ached from leaning over to pull out the weeds. Then he said:

"I'll go down to the brook with you and have a look at this green dragon as you call it. I am sure it will be nothing. And as for dragons, why, you don't even know what they are. You never saw one."

"I saw a picture of one," said Bunty. "It was long and green and it had forty sixteen legs and smoke and fire came out of its mouth."

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "You aren't so silly as to tell me smoke and fire came out of the mouth of this green dragon you say you saw in our brook, my dears! How could smoke and fire come out of water?"

"Well, maybe there wasn't any smoke or fire," said Jingle.

"But I saw the dragon's long, green tail in the water!" said Jangle.

"And I saw its head and big eyes like saucers," said Bunty.

Uncle Wiggily laughed again and went with the rabbit children to the edge of the brook. Jingle, Jangle and Bunty stood behind Mr. Longears as he looked down into the water.

"There! See it—" cried Bunty, pointing.

"Oh, isn't it terrible!" shouted Jingle and Jangle.

Uncle Wiggily picked up a long stick.

"What are you going to do?" exclaimed Bunty.

"I'm going to lift out that green dragon so you can see how silly you were!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily. The little rabbit girls started to run away, but before they had gone far Uncle Wiggily called to them to come back. And they saw him lifting out on the end of his stick a long, green, slimy, wet steamer of a weed that grows in brooks.

"There's your green dragon!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily. "A long piece of weed had grown fast to a rock. You thought the rock, which was also covered with water weed, was the dragon's head. And in the long end of the weed, 'woggling' in the brook looked like a tail."

"Oh, is that all the dragon was—just a weed?" asked Jingle.

"That's all!" said Uncle Wiggily, twinkling his pink nose again. "Only a water weed."

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Baby Bunting. "Weren't we silly!" Then once more they played beside the brook, making mud pies.

NO CHANGE IN FLIGHT

LONDON, June 19 (Canadian Press Cable)—There has been no change in the arrangements for the flight of the British dirigible R-100 to Canada. The Air Ministry to-day emphatically denied a report that the sister airship, the R-101 would make the trip. "The suggestion has never arisen," it was stated.

TEMPLE SONGSTERS TO VISIT TORONTO

Concert Will Be Given in Dovercourt Temple on Saturday Night.

The visit to Toronto of one of the local musical organization this coming week-end will be of interest to citizens who will recollect the visit of Dovercourt Band to the local corps of Salvation Army. The Temple Songsters, under Songster Leader Ben Smith will be guests of the Dovercourt Corps, Toronto, and will render a series of musical programs. On Saturday evening, under the chairmanship of Colonel Morehen, a concert will be given and among the numerous items the brigade will sing "The Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's "Messiah," and "Glory to God in the Highest," Mozart's "12th Mass. A trio and quartet of female voices will also be featured as well as a piano quartet. Sunday services will be in charge of the local officers, Adjutant Jones and Ensign Feltham, when musical items will again predominate. An open air sacred concert on Sunday afternoon in Willowvale Park, when Dovercourt Band and Songsters will unite with the local brigade and Adjutant E. Green, well known to many local citizens, will conduct this event.

Under Songster Leader Ben Smith, the brigade numbering 45 voices has made considerable progress and the visit to Toronto is the first in its history and the forerunner of an ambitious summer program.

Sixty-five miles of railway extensions to be constructed in Alberta, Canada, will cost $2,500,000.

Plans are being formulated to develop water power on the River Negro in Uruguay.

CANADIAN LEGION B.E.S.L.

Peterborough Branch

A great deal of routine business was disposed of at the monthly meeting of the Canadian Legion, Peterborough Branch No. 52, which was held on Monday of this week.

Decoration days were changed as follows: Little Lake cemetery, June 29th; St. Peter's Cemetery, July 6th.

Delegates were nominated for the Provincial Convention to be held at Hamilton from August 19-21st., and nominations were also submitted from the local branch to the Provincial Command to be considered for appointments to Pension Tribunals and Adjustments Bureau, which will be created by the recent amendments to the Pensions Act to become operative on Sept. 1st, 1930.

Motion was made that the next meeting be held in September and members were reminded of the Horticultural Show to be held in the Legion Hall in August. The meeting closed with the National Anthem.

Light Damage In Early Morning Fire

Aroused from sleep early this morning by the acrid smell of smoke, the daughter of Mrs. A. E. Tamblin of 56 Victoria avenue, made investigation and found that the woodwork at the rear of the living-room fireplace was on fire. After telephoning for the Fire Department and arousing other members of the family, the fire was kept in check by the use of a garden hose, and was totally extinguished with two chemicals on the arrival of the brigade. The damage which is very slight is covered by insurance.

Horse Parade Assured of Success
The Horse Parade on July 1st is being talked about among the horse drivers in a way that is creating much interest. Many of them have their plans already completed, their outfits are being put in shape and their horses more thoroughly groomed.
As every horse owner knows, you cannot put a horse in his best condition if you wait until the last day before you begin the necessary care. Decide now that you will help along the parade by entering your horse. Use a little more elbow grease on the brush and see that the feed box is not neglected.

LORD WAKEFIELD GIVEN ADDRESS

Secretaries of Charitable and Philanthropic Institutions Praise His Generosity.

GATHER AT BANQUET

Secretaries of about 50 charitable and philanthropic institutions, dating from 1123 to 1927, assembled recently at the Guildhall in London to pay a personal tribute to Alderman Lord Wakefield of Hythe, from whom they had received repeatedly much kindness and courtesy, as well as many princely aids for the causes in which they were interested.

Capt. A. Larking, C.B.E., C.C., chairman of committee, said in part, that all those present represented great and important institutions for looking after the young, alleviating the sufferings of the sick and mentally afflicted, and relieving the aged. He added that they had no hesitation in saying that there was not one of those institutions that would be in the strong position occupied but for the generous help which Lork Wakefield had given from time to time. "We honor him," Captain Larking added, "for the great generosity he has showered upon our institutions, and we appreciate and honor him above everything else for the human touch he has always shown. We trust that Lork Wakefield will be long spared to carry on the great human work of helping all these institutions of which he has been so generous a benefactor, for the benefit of thousands of people who have fallen by the wayside.

G. F. Ridley, secretary of the Warehousemen, Clerks' and Drapers' Schools, then read an address "To the Rt. Hon. Lord Wakefield of Hythe, C.B.E., LL.D., alderman of the City of London; Lord Mayor 1915-16; Hon. Colonel 2nd City of London Regiment (the Royal Fusiliers)" in which the secretaries of the charitable and philanthropic organizations offered congratulations on the honor conferred on Charles Cheers Wakefield by the King, and citing his generous and practical sympathy to causes.

"The encouragement," the address continued in part, "which you have given to high ideals of life; to the development of culture and education; for reasonable hours of labor for workers; to sporting and patriotic provision for the young manhood and womanhood of this country, will stand out in your eventful life as pre-eminent among your many useful and beneficient acts."

Mr. Ridley then read list of institutions in their date order with the names of the secretaries. The first on the list was St. Bartholomew's Hospital, founded in 1123, and the last was the John Benn Hostel and Milner Hall, founded in 1927.

Miss Marta Cunningham, secretary of the "Not Forgotten" association, presented Lord Wakefield with an album containing the list, and signed by the secretaries; a picture of the House of Lords, and an illuminated copy of the address.

Lord Wakefield, in reply, after saying that he realized that a man was trustee for his wealth, said in part:

"Life has been very kind to me; I have enjoyed good health, and, if I may say so, a cheerful temperament, and opportunity has not denied herself to me. If there is merit in recognizing the fugitive goddess, I suppose I may claim something on that score, but I have always tried to be honest with myself. It would be denying the frequent benignity of circumstances not to be grateful for such happiness and good fortune. I am a firm believer in the virtue of gratitude. It is a sign of grace—a natural gift, which adorns the simplest nature and adds lustre to the most polished. If I have been able to help forward philanthropic work in various directions, it has been a reward in itself—an act of thankagiving that has given me nothing but pleasure"

TRUTH versus ERROR.
"Jesus is the Living one, He was dead, and behold He is alive for evermore, and has the keys of death and hell"—Rev. 1:18.
The one who holds the key symbolizes the power to open or release. Death and hell (the grave) are two conditions. The distinction between death and hell, is that those in death, or under sentence of death are not yet in hell (the grave) while those in hell (the grave) are dead. The Bible always says, it is the soul that is in death or hell (the grave). The theological theory that when man dies, his soul goes immediately to heaven or endless torments, and that the soul is some part of man and so small that a million could be enclosed in a, nutshell, is nonsense. The soul in reference to man is the whole man himself. It will be a stupendous work, when about one and a half billion souls who are in death or under the sentence of death will be liberated from death, who are not yet in hell (the grave); but far more exceedingly marvelous will it be, when approximately twenty billion souls will be released from hell (the grave).

13-YEAR-OLD MURDERER TO BE PAROLED

Fearing Kidnapper Girl Jumps From Car

SCHOOL GIRLS ACCEPTED RIDE WITH STRANGER

Mable Wellman, Eight Years Old, is in Belleville Hospital With Fractured Skull.

COMPANIONS ARE SAFE.

Belleville Man is Arrested and Nominally Charged With Vagrancy.

(Special to The Examiner).

BELLEVILLE, June 21. — Mabel Wellman aged eight years and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wellman, Jr., of Bonar Law, is lying in the General Hospital at Belleville, with a fractured skull and not expected to recover, the result of jumping from a car, the driver of which had offered her a lift from school yesterday afternoon and failed to stop at her home when a request was made. Her two school companions, June Wellman, a sister, and Jean McInroy, jumped from the car a short distance from the scene of the accident but were not seriously injured as the car had slightly slowed up.

Dr. Crawford, of Marmora, attended the stricken child on the roadway and learning the extent of her injury, rushed her in his car to the hospital. To-day the child had not regained consciousness. The Provincial Police through Chief H. Gillen, of Marmora, were informed and the country was scoured for the driver of the car. Late last night Provincial Constable Bert Hammer and Sergt. Booth of the city force arrested William (Curly) Wright of this city at his home nominally charged with vagrancy. To-day he was taken north to Marmora by the police for identification purposes.

The three little girls left the school between Bonar Law and Marmora some time after four o'clock for their homes and shortly after leaving the school were offered a lift by a driver in charge of an open car. The girls had some distance to go, and accepted the offer.

Never Molested

They were not molested in any way as the three children rode in the back seat of the car. When near the Wellman home it is understood Mabel Wellman informed the driver, she and her sister could be dropped there, but the driver, it is alleged, accelerated the car and sped by the house. Mabel became frightened and opening the back door of the car, jumped from the moving vehicle and struck with considerable force on the highway. The driver, it is alleged, did not halt the progress of the car but after travelling a short distance, slowed down. The other two girls fearing for the safety of Mabel Wellman at this time being thoroughly frightened, also jumped from the car, but received no serious injuries. They ran back to where the sister was lying on the road in an unconscious condition, but the driver sped from the scene. Horrified, the two children ran back to the Wellman home and the mother rushed to the aid of her daughter. Medical attention was called and after the child was removed to the hospital the driver of the car was sought.

Only a meagre description could be given by the children of the driver of the car and the police were working for some time at cross purposes. Late last night some information was obtained and with that in view the police went to the Wright home and found the young man at home. He was placed under arrest on a nominal charge of vagrancy and locked up in the police station. Under heavy guard, he was taken by provincial constable Bert Hammer to Marmora to see if identification may be established.

Dr. J. A. Faulkner of Belleville who is attending the girl in the hospital held hopes for her recovery this morning, their being a slight improvement. The fracture is at the base of the skull and she also sustained a few minor bruises.

Germans Oppose New British Move

BERLIN, Germany, June 21.—(Canadian Press). —The proposal by the British Government to appoint a high commissioner for an East African Federation composed of Kenya, Uganda and the mandated territory of Tanganyika to-day provoked loud protests from the German press.

The newspapers maintained that the British proposal conflicts with the statutes of the League of Nations and that the character of a mandated territory as a unity in itself must not be violated.

Imperial Press Conference Discusses Ways of Getting More Empire News.

CANADIANS TAKE PART.

No Government Subsidy Will Ever Be Accepted, Canadian Delegate Declares.

EDINBURGH, Scotland, June 21. — (By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.)—The Imperial Press Conference to-day opened discussion of the most vital item on its agenda—the creation of a better and more effective news links for the British Comomnwealth of Nations. E. Norman Smith, of the Ottawa (Ont.) Journal, submitted the question in a resolution calling for the approval of the conference of "the principle of mutual and co-operative interchange of cable news between the component parts of the Empire."

Submitting the resolution Mr. Norman Smith urged the careful consideration of this question. "Shall the news exchange of the British Empire be carried on through an organization operated and controlled solely by the newspapers of the Empire—an organization free from propaganda, untrammeled by any outside influence, and unsubsidized—or shall we continue to entrust this very vital task and terrifically responsible duty to a more or less hit and miss system of commercial news agencies over whom we can have no control?" he asked.

Development of Canadian Press.

Mr. Norman Smith traced the development in Canada of an accurate and impartial news service through the Canadian Press. The Dominion's

MOORE RESIGNS OFFICE ON BOARD ENTERS CONTEST

Ex-Tariff Chairman Brands Bennett's Statements About 'Slush Fund' as False.

DID NOT WRITE BUDGET.

Asks Conservative Leader As to His or His Firm's Relations With Corporations.

WHITBY, Ont., June 21. — (C. P.) — William H. Moore, until this week chairman of the Dominion Tariff Board, accomplished a three-fold purpose during his visit last night. He announced his resignation from the Board, accepted the unanimous nomination offered him by Liberals of the Constituency, and answered charges levelled at him by Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader.

Statements Are False

Mr. Moore branded as "false" Mr. Bennett's allegations that he had handled a "slush fund" for the Mackenzie and Mann Railway interests, builders on the Canadian Northern Line, and stoutly denied the Conservative leader's declaration that he had "written" the Dunning tariff.

"When Mr. Bennett was called upon to criticize the budget", said Mr. Moore, "and tell the people of Canada wherein it failed to meet the country's needs, he told them instead that Moore had handled 'slush funds' of Mackenzie and Mann. At that time Mr. Bennett had the privilege of the House of Commons and I was in the government service. That unequal situation no longer exists.

"I have just one question to ask Mr. Bennett and I shall put it in the kindest possible way", he continued. "I ask Mr. Bennett were his services or the services of his firm ever sold to corporations having legislative interests during the times he represented the people of this country in the legislature or in parliament"?

Budget Was Dunning's

In repudiating the Conservative leader's statement made at Regina that the budget was his and not Hon. C. A. Dunning's, Mr. Moore said "the Minister of Finance was the master mind behind it. The tariff board does not make tariff schedules, but simply submits its findings and investigations to the Department of Finance".

Mr. Bennett, the speaker claimed, was trying to draw the tariff board into politics.

Referring to the budget Mr. Moore said Canada had long outgrown the National policy which had never brought prosperity to the Dominion "not even when the Conservatives were in power".

In accepting the nomination for the Ontario riding, the former Tariff Board chairman said he was free to accept it. "Last Tuesday I gave the Prime Minister of Canada my resignation and that resignation was accepted", he said.

W. E. N. Sinclair, K. C., Ontario Liberal leader, moved the nomination of Mr. Moore amidst much enthusiasm.

CHICAGO POLICE TRACE OWNERSHIP OF REVOLVER IN SINGLE SLAYING

Weapon Belongs to a Former Leader of the George (Bugs) Moran Gang.

CHICAGO, ILLS, June 21.—(CP)—The revolver used in the murder, June 9 of "Jake" Lingle, Tribune reporter, has been identified and its ownership traced, it was revealed early today.

The weapon, police said, belonged to Frank Foster, formerly leader in the George (Bugs) Moran gang but more recently with the Capone group. Foster, however, is believed to have disposed of the gun prior to the Lingle slaying.

Foster Has Left City

Foster has left town, having learned that the ownership of the gun has been traced to him, police said, even though he is not suspected of having fired the shot that killed Lingle, Foster decided the town was getting "too hot" for him, the investigators believe.

Identification of the pistol was made by police who finally were able to bring out the number of the gun which had been filed in an effort to obliterate it. The gun then was traced to Peter Von Frantzius, sporting goods dealer, whose records showed it was sold to Foster several months ago.

Police have persistently worked on the theory that the murder of Lingle was a gang affair, and that the assassin was connected with the Moranaiello north side group. They believe Foster's gun was "planted" deliberately with the intention of turning suspicion upon Foster, thus "punishing" him for his desertion to the Capone group.

Bride Seeks Divorce From 70 Year Husband

UNITED COUNTIES URBAN GROUP SCORE ON ASSESSMENT VICTORY EVADE TAX INCREASE THIS YEAR

New Valuation Not Admissable For 1930 Equalized Assessment.

INVOKE THE STATUTE.

Increase of 1.09 Mills in Tax Rate—Budget Passed.

(By a Staff Reporter)

COBOURG, June 21—The tax rate of Northumberland and Durham is 1.09 mills higher than last year.

It was struck by the counties council last night at 12.8408 mills as compared with 11.75 mills last year.

The specific items of the rate are as follows:

	1929	1930
Pub. and Sep. schools	.0008	.0008
County roads	2.75	2.75
Gen. Purposes	8.5	9.
Debent. and Int.	.5	1.09
	11.7508	12.8408

No Assessment Change

And this year's tax rate is to be levied on the equalized assessment of 1929, and not on the total valuation of the rateable property in the two counties as prepared for this session by the special commission composed of Col. T. J. Johnston of Peterborough, Geo. Thompson of Cobourg and R. J. Rowe of Clarke township.

In the sessional manoeuvres around and over the question of equalizing the assessment of the counties, which has been virtually unchanged for twenty-seven years, the representatives of the towns and villages snatched a victory at their last barricade. Their defensive campaign earlier in the week reached a rather hopeless stage Friday morning at which a formal protest was registered against the incidence of the new valuation as the equalized assessment for this year's taxation.

During the noon recess, however, luck gave the towns a "break" or possibly they had been aware all the time of the legal support which they ultimately invoked.

Their Helpful Clause

They interviewed Col. Fred D. Boggs, K.C., counties solicitor, who confirmed their opinion of the deterring force of the following clause of the statues as applying to the new valuation:—

"The council of a county, in apportioning a county rate among the different townships, towns and villages within the county, shall, in order that the same may be assessed equally on the whole rateable property of the county, make the assessment of property equalized in the preceding year the basis upon which the apportionment is made.

FALSE DOCTRINE BEING PREACHED

Hon. R. B. Bennett Declares Conservatives Supported Return of Resources For 25 Years.

PRE-ELECTION BUDGET.

MOOSE JAW, Sask., June 21. — (Canadian Press). — Nearing the end of his personal speaking campaign in the West, Hon. R. B. Bennett, last night, claimed that return of natural resources to the Western Provinces had been urged by the Conservative party for 25 years. When the King Government turned over the resources this year it was a vindication of the quarter-century old policy of the Conservatives. Liberals had for years made no move to return the Provinces rights.

Mr. Bennett derided the Government for seeking credit for returning the resources to the Western Provinces. "They have been preaching a false doctrine for years," he commented, "yet they boldly come before you and ask for place and power."

Buy Radio Hook Up.

The Conservative leader spoke before one of the largest gatherings of his tour and his address was carried over the air to radio listeners in every part of the Prairies.

Tariff changes contained in the Dunning budget, were "recognized pre-election changes," Mr. Bennett said, "Why, Mr. Motherwell and Mr. Dunning have referred in days gone by to such a tariff as legalized robbery. Now after we have been preaching our doctrines for years, the Government professes to have caught the zeal of Canadians. But, like converts, they are asking for support nine years to late. Why should we not be given credit for the death-bed repentance of these men."

BROWNLEE WILL HAVE 38 SEATS IN HOUSE OF 63

Alberta Government is Likely to Have Four Less Seats in New Legislature.

CABINET RE-ELECTED.

Conservatives Have Six Representatives All Coming From Calgary and Edmonton.

CALGARY, June 21 (C.P.). — Enthroned again in Alberta after victory over a rising opposition, Premier J. E. Brownlee to-day surveyed an extensive if somewhat reduced domain. Leader of the United Farmers of Alberta Party, he realized that his force of 43 members in the Legislature was to be decreased perhaps by four. But he felt that he would rule supreme in the new 63-member Assembly.

Thirty-eight Farmer adherents already are elected, but the fate of four more hangs in the balance of ballots. Final standings will be traced out by votes from remotest outposts. But it is apparent that the more or less staunch alliance between Farmers and urban Labor is weakened by probably a half-dozen losses. Labor forces have dwindled by two from a former total of six.

The standing is:

Elected: United Farmers of Alberta (Government), 38; Liberals, 9; Conservatives, 6; Labor, 4; Independent, 3.

Leading: United Farmers of Alberta 1; Liberal 2.

Total—63.

Cabinet All Elected.

All eight members of the Brownlee Cabinet have been sent back to the House. Reports that Hon. Irene Parlby, Minister without Portfolio, had finished even-up at 1,941 votes apiece with J. R. Mackie, Independent, were scored as erroneous by the Deputy Returning Officer. One poll had been tabulated twice, he said, announcing that Mrs. Parlby was victorious in her Lacombe seat by 106 votes.

Final votes in the six-seat ridings of Edmonton and Calgary, the former not complete until last night, showed that Conservatives had increased their strength by one seat in each city. The entire Conservative representation is concentrated in the two urban centres, with three members in each city. Liberals added a member at the expense of Labor in Calgary. In the last House, the two cities were represented by but five members each.

The final Edmonton result was: Elected—Hon. J. F. Lymburn (U.F.A.), C. L. Gibbs (Labor), D. M. Duggan (Cons.), W. R. Hewson (Lib.), Colonel C. Y. Weaver (Cons.), Dr. W. A. Atkinson (Cons.).

Cobourg Youth Had Crime Career In United States

Frank A. Rocus, Murderer of His Boy Chum Because He Squealed to the Police, Will Be Permitted to Come Home From Concord, New Hampshire.

YOUNG ROCUS WHILE AT INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL ENGINEERED A MOST SENSATIONAL ESCAPE

Gang of Three Boys Had Been Conducting on a Large Scale the Looting of Stores and Had Large Cache Hidden in the City.

(Special to The Examiner. Copyright.)

CONCORD, N. H., June 21.—Under the condition that he return to Cobourg, the place of his birth, with relatives who will be required to keep him on the other side of the border until he reaches the age of 21 years, Frank A. Rocus Jr., 13-year-old murderer whose criminal activities are unequaled in the criminal history of this common wealth, is to be pardoned or paroled. The matter will come up before the governor and his counsel at their regular meeting the first of next month and as the state parole board have approved the youths' release there is little doubt but what the official sanction will be forthcoming.

Squealed to Police

Young Rocus, a mere slip of a lad, standing slightly more than four feet and weighing less than 90 pounds, murdered his boy chum at Nashua because the latter "squealed" to the police. Later, after pleading guilty to the crime and being sentenced to the New Hampshire Industrial School for an indefinite term, the youth engineered one of the most sensational escapes and led the authorities of three states on a merry chase before he was finally captured at the point of a gun.

A little over a year ago the police of Nashua were confronted with a series of burglaries. For a period of some six months stores had been broken into and robbed. In some cases huge safes had been blown open with dynamite and while these crimes gave every appearance of being committed by amateurs no thought was given to young boys. Evidence was finally uncovered which led to the police theory that the crimes were being committed by local bandits and after some weeks of special effort on the part of Nashua detectives some of the stolen loot was uncovered.

The trail led directly to a 14-year-old Nashua youth whom the police belived was being used by older men.

Broke Down and Confessed

This boy was apprehended and taken to police headquarters where after many hours of grilling, he broke down and confessed that a youthful trio of three,of which he was a member, had committed the series of amazing crimes. So complete was the boys' confession, so daring were the crimes, that the police authorities doubted the truth of his statements. The following day, the youth whose family connections were of the best in the city led the Nashua officers to a cleverly hidden cache in the heart of the city where thousands of dollars worth of loot was discovered.

Tool of Other Men.

Still acting on the theory that the youth was but the tool of older men the authorities released the boy, keeping a close watch on his movements. In his confession to the police, the youth had implicated Frank A. Rocus, a bright, intelligent and likeable lad well known and admired for his many fine qualities. This was one of the main reasons the investigators believed that the youth was

THREW CHILDREN FROM BIG ROCK

Unknown Man Hurls Two Boys 300 Feet Down Cliff.

ONE IS DEAD.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 21. — Police were notified late this forenoon that a man, identity unknown, had thrown one or more children from West Rock, a cliff in the western end of the city. A private citizen carried the body of a boy to Grace Hospital. It had been found at the base of the rock.

The second boy was reached after thirty minutes of rescue work but he was found to be dying. An ambulance rushed him to the hospital. An hour after the report reached them of the incident, police said they had no idea who the man or the children were.

The face of West Rock rises about 300 feet from its base in a small park. Its surface is irregularly broken by small ledges.

NEW TARIFF LAW ABLY SUPPORTED BY U.S. MINISTER

No Need For Gloomy Prophesies on Hawley-Smoot Bill Declares Secretary Mellon.

WARNS FOREIGN NATIONS.

Fears and Criticisms Have Been Greatly Exaggerated, He Says.

WASHINGTON, June 21 — (Canadian Press). — Secretary Mellon praised the new tariff law in a statement issued for publication today, saying it had removed an obstacle to business recovery "by eliminating the uncertainty of the last 18 months."

He depricated 'gloomy prophesies' made by opponents of the Hawley-Smoot bill and said "the notion that this law is going to destroy our foreign trade is certainly without foundation."

The new law was defended also by Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader in a radio address delivered last night and a short while before, President Hoover announced he was contemplating some changes in the present personnel of the Tariff Commission in effective the re-organization authorized by the Hawley-Smoot Act.

No Appointments Made Yet.

He has reached no decision as yet, he said, but expects to choose the members of the new commission and

Vandals Destroy Huge Joshua Tree

LOS ANGELES, June 21. — (Canadian Press). — A charred stump was all that remained today of a magnificent Joshua tree believed to have been the largest of the strange desert species in existence. Fire, presumably set by vandals, destroyed the eighty foot high monarch, whose age had been estimated at 1,000 years.

The Joshua tree is found only on the Pacific coast. Scientists call it the oldest living thing of the desert, and say it descended probably from the Lily over a period of countless ages.

CREAM IS BLAMED FOR ILLNESS OF LARGE FAMILY

Mother is Stricken First But Before Doctor Arirves Others Are Ill.

RESIDE IN LEVIS.

Victims at First Were Thought to Have Slight Chance of Recovery.

QUEBEC, Que., June 21 (C.P.). — Eleven members of the family of Adjutor Roy, road foreman, residing in Levis, near here, were in a serious condition yesterday from poisoning which physicians believed came from cream purchased from a passing farmer.

Mrs. Roy was first stricken, and a physician was called during the night. By the time he had arrived seven members of the family, including three adults and four children, were violently ill, all displaying the same symptoms.

It was at first thought the victims would succumb, and a priest was called to administer the last rites of the Church, but all are on the road to recovery.

The cream remaining in the bottle was taken by the authorities for analysis.

200 ARE INJURED IN INDIAN RIOT

Nationalist Demonstration is Broken Up By Mounted Police.

LEADER IS PRESENT.

BOMBAY, June 21 (C.P.)—Two hundred persons, among them five women, were injured and sent to hospitals and 200 were treated for minor injuries to-day in police charges to break up a Nationalist demonstration in the Maidan Esplanade.

The police, some of whom were mounted, wielded their lathis, or bamboo clubs with telling effect, and drove the throngs from the thoroughfare, which the authorities last night forbade as an assembly place for the next two weeks.

The demonstration was planned yesterday, the Nationalists intended to pass in review in a show of strength before Pandit Motilal Nehru, acting president of the All-India National Congress. The Government, hearing of their intentions, in a special regulation, forbade assembly in the Esplanade.

Pandit Motilal Nehru was on the scene throughout the fighting and withdrew only after the crowd had been dispersed entirely.

It appears that Bowie was riding in company with a friend and in trying to avoid a girl who was crossing the road, the two cyclists collided. Bowie was rendered unconscious, and was immediately conveyed to hospital in Belleghem's ambulance. He was attended by Dr. Ray Scott who states that the man is suffering from severe concussion.

Jury Finds Shooting Of Police Not Justified

BOMBAY, India, June 21 (C.P.) —An Indian jury, sitting with the coroner in an investigation of five deaths in the Bendhi Bazaar rioting last month, to-day returned verdicts that the deaths were due to shooting by the police, which "was not justified."

PREMIER KING IN NEW BRUNSWICK

WITH GREAT BRITAIN.

MONCKTON, June 21. (C.P.)—A hint that the government was now trying to obtain reciprocal reduction in parcel post rates between Canada and Britain was given here last night in the speech by Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Prime Minister.

Mr. King reviewed the record of the government, and emphasized the good work done in the railway field.

The Prime Minister reviewed labor and railway matters—this city is a railway centre—discussed the question of Maritime rights and recommendations of the Duncan report and made a plea for calm consideration of the Government's record. An excellent hearing was accorded him, and his speech was punctuated with applause.

Recommendations of the Duncan Report had been implemented by the government, said the Premier. He referred in conclusion to benefits which would accrue to Maritime ports through increased trade under the British preference.

Hon. Peter Veniot, Postmaster General and New Brunswick representative in the Dominion government, referring in particular to his own department, said that reduction in the rate of postage from three to two cents had meant a cut in postal revenue of $7,500,000. He was glad to say, however, that, so great was the prosperity of Canada, now this reduction had been successfully overcome.

SENATE FAVORS NEW WATERWAY

Permission For United States to Share in St. Lawrence Development Passes Senate.

TO SPEND $122 MILLIONS.

WASHINGTON, June 21. (C.P.)—An amended rivers and harbors bill which apparently protects the interests of Canada in the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence seaway has passed the Senate while President Hoover's attitude with respect to the bill carrying $122,000,000 worth of appropriations for works throughout the country is not known, the political situation indicates the bill will become law within a fortnight.

The bill provides:

Twenty-nine million dollars for deepening the channels in the west lakes.

Permission for the United States to share the cost of deepening the St. Lawrence channel from Lake Ontario to Prescott and Ogdensburg.

Seven million dollars for improvements in the Illinois Barge Canal, with a clause definitely holding the diversion from Lake Michigan to the Supreme Court degree—1,500 second feet, after 1938.

Taking over by the federal government of the New York barge canals, with the provision that they remain barge canals, and nothing be done in their development which would be prejudicial to the St. Lawrence lakes-to-the sea project.

Londoner At Welland Faces Forgery Charge

WELLAND, June 21.—Fifteen minutes after he had allegedly passed a bogus cheque for $10, Frank Weir of London was in the cells here charged with issuing forged cheques. His arrest was brought by smart work by Sergt. Art Davies, to whom the case was reported by Jay W. Teskey, proprietor of a shoe store, who had cashed the cheque. The accused was caught when about to leave Welland by radial. He was remanded a week for investigation.

MEXICAN FLYERS ATTEMPT 2,200 MILE FLIGHT

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N.Y., June 21 (C.P.)—Colonel Roberto Fierro, of the Mexican Army Air Service, and his mechanic, Arnulfo Cortes, took off at 1.30.15 (E.S.T.) to-day on a non-stop flight to Mexico City.

Fierro expected to make the 2,200-mile flight in sixteen hours. A non-stop flight between New York and Mexico City has never been made. Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh made a non-stop flight from Washington to Mexico City in 1927.

Colonel Fierro's plane is a Lockheed-Sirius, similar to the one in which Colonel Lindbergh recently established a transcontinental record. The plane carries 475 gallons of gasoline and 27½ gallons of oil.

C.P.R. TO BUILD NEW VESSELS

New Ocean Liners Will Probably Be Laid Down in Near Future.

SAIL TO MONTREAL.

QUEBEC, Que., June 21. (C.P.)—Amplifying recent remarks that there would be more Canadian Pacific ships built on the Clyde, E. W. Beatty, Chairman and President of the Canadian Pacific Railway and Steamship lines, stated last night that "Super Duchesses" and another "Empress" of the same type as the Empress of Britain were possibilities of the not too far distant future.

"With the deeper St. Lawrence Channel—35 feet deep with 1,000 feet wide at the bends," he said, "it will be possible to operate ships of the 'Duchess' class, larger and faster than the present 20,000 ton class to Montreal.

"The plan is to get to work at once on the deepening and widening at the bends of the ship channel between Quebec and Montreal."

Jones committed the three members of the defunct brokerage firm of Stobie, Forlong and Company, for trial. The hearing occupied most of three days.

Bail of $50,000 each for Stobie and Forlong and of $25,000 for Draper was renewed.

VETERAN JUMPER IS BADLY INJURED

Far Famed George Bennett Fails in His 971st Jump From Speed Plane.

IN SERIOUS CONDITION.

TORONTO, Ont., June 21. (C.P.) The famed skill of George Bennett, veteran jumper, that had carried him safely to earth after he had leaped from a speeding aeroplane on 970 other occasions, failed him before thousands of amusement seekers at Sunnyside Beach here last night. Now Bennett lies in a hospital in what doctors believe is a dying condition. The lower part of his spine is fractured, his internal injuries are serious and his body is badly bruised and cut.

Bennett put up a heroic but losing battle when he jumped. Struggling desperately with all the skill at his command, the veteran tried to swing his parachute out over Lake Ontario. He drifted helplessly, however, and though he did manage to manouevre the chute over some high tension hydro wires, he crashed heavily against a pole and fell on the street car tracks.

The annual Nova Scotia Exhibition and Provincial Fair will be held at Halifax from August 23 to 31.

MUSINGS AT A MANSE WINDOW

IN far-off Australia, that island-continent which stands, a world by itself, in the waters of the southern Pacific, it was my good fortune to make the acquaintance of F. W. Boreham, essayist and preacher. Those who don't know Boreham through his books have missed "a feast of fat things." I have heard him preach some of the most magnificent sermons — and would go a long way to hear him preach again! He once gave a message to young ministers which was one of the finest utterances I have ever been privileged to hear; and it seems to me that I could not do better than reproduce it here as memory helps and space permits.

Introduction and Text.

He said: You are this evening committing yourself to the ministry of the Gospel. You have put your hand to the plough, and you cannot look back without proving that you are not fit for the Kingdom of God. But I am persuaded better things of you than that. In casting about for a text to give you for a key-word of your life-work, I have been haunted by those three great sayings of Jesus to His first ministers. He sent them forth, two by two, and to each pair He gave this great and solemn charge:

"Eat such things as are set before you; heal the sick; and say unto them: the Kingdom of God has come to the door."

That great three-fold word I pass on to you as you stand on the threshold of the Christian ministry.

The Minister at Table.

You are called, first of all, to a great social ministry. "Eat such things as are set before you." That is extremely important. You can see at a glance what Jesus meant. His men are not to be recluses. They are to get into the homes of the people; they are to sit down at the tables of the people; they are to eat the food of the people; they are to live the lives of the people. "Eat such things as are set before you." Take the people, that is to say, as you find them. Don't expect too much of them; and don't pretend to be superior to them. They are very human—food-eaters, all of them. And you are very human—a food-eater, too. Sit down beside them, then, in a frank recognition of a common humanness. They don't crawl among the clouds, and you don't dwell among the clouds. Let there be no nonsense, no affectation, no fine superior airs. Make the people feel that a man has come among them. And teach your heart to feel that every weed and waster in your district is a man—a man for whom Christ died.

The Minister's Chance.

It is a minister's only chance. He must become all things to all men. He must learn to be equally and delightfully at home in the bushman's lonely humpy, in the kitchen of a cottager, and in the drawing-room at the castle. He will come to be loved and honored and welcomed as a man—every inch of him; and when he is dead men will inscribe upon his tombstone, not—

"Here Lies a Great Divine," but "Here Lies a Great Human."

Of the ministers who fail, one here and there may fail because he is not sufficiently divine; but the great mass of us fail because we are not sufficiently human. There is nothing more wonderful in this universe of wonders than the willingness of people to forgive the faults of ministers. The average congregation will forgive its minister almost anything. But there is one sin that is unpardonable. They will never forgive him if he is unmanly or non-human. And there is no reason why they should. "Eat such things as are set before you." That was the first word that Jesus said to His first ministers; and it is of prime importance. Never, whatever you do, forget that.

The Minister at the Bedside.

Then, too, you are called to a great sympathetic ministry. "Heal the sick." That, too, is important. You may not be able to lay your hands upon your poor sick folk and raise them, all aflush with health, from their beds of pain. It is not intended that you should. The early Church had special gifts for special purposes. She had to present her credentials. Today she stands duly accredited. Moreover, those first ministers went forth two by two. And they went forth two by two to do two things—to preach and to heal. And for a while, each of the twain preached, and each of the twain healed. Then they agreed to specialize:

"I will devote all my time and energy to the art of preaching!" said the one. "And I will consecrate all my power and skill to the science of healing!" replied the other. And in course of time the first of those two disciples came to be called "the Minister." And the second of these two disciples came to be called "the Doctor."

The Church has perpetuated her ancient gift of healing by creating the medical profession as we now know it. But that does not by any means dispose of this second great word of command. There are drops of healing virtue that distil from sympathetic glances and from sympathetic words.

Say "Oh!" Anyhow.

Never lose a chance of being in the house of trouble, by the bed of sickness, or in the valley of tears. You may not be able to help or to heal; but your very presence will mean a great deal.

A little fellow, one Saturday morning, burst into his father's study and showed a blister on his hand. He had burned his finger. "Run away, sonnie," the minister said, rather abruptly, "you see I am busy; it is Saturday, and I can't help you." "Well, Daddy," the little fellow painfully remonstrated, "you might have said 'Oh!' anyhow!" There is a good deal in that. "Heal the sick!" Jesus says. "But I can't!" you answer. Well, go and say "Oh!" anyhow. And that sympathetic mono-syllable, uttered with all the accent of sincerity and compassion, shall make your presence like the presence of your Lord.

The Minister on the Doorstep.

And you are called to a great spiritual ministry. Say unto them: The Kingdom of God has come to the door. And here the minister rises to the height of his glory. At the table he is a little less than his people. They are his host and his hostess; he is their guest and accepts their hospitality. At the bedside he is on an equality with his people. He sits beside them; shares their sorrows and their sufferings. But here he rises above his people. He is supreme. He is herald and prophet and ambassador all in one. "Say unto them: The Kingdom of God has come to your door!" Jesus knew the trouble that we poor halting, stammering ministers would have to switch the conversation at the table, and even by the bedside, on the highest things. And so He told us exactly what to say. "Go in," He said, "eat such things as are set before you, and then, when you have eaten with them, and talked with them, and laughed with them, and perhaps wept with them, say unto them, 'The Kingdom of God has come to your door!'" That is very fine; and we ministers might literally obey it with enormous profit.

Getting a Real Thrill.

As you walk about the quiet roads and lanes of your new district with that thought singing itself into your soul, your whole being will thrill with the joy of it. You will knock at this door, and at that, and you will not only send in your card, or say that the minister has come to the door, but you will be able to tell them that all heaven has come to the door! It was said of Mozart that his melodies brought the angels down, and of Beethoven that he lifted mortals up; but they will say both of you. And you will feel that all the glory of the better world escorts you from doorstep to doorstep.

Nevertheless, whilst your heart dances with the glory of it, your soul will be crushed by the humiliation of it. For that is all that you can say: "The Kingdom of God has come to the door!" That is as far as you will get the Kingdom of God in many cases. The door will open, and you will be asked in; but the Kingdom of God will be left at the door. They will not ask it in. And you will be unable to force it in. And you will sit down in that home, and you will "eat such things as they set before you," and you will talk their talk, and play with their children, and you will feel that you yourself would give your hope of eternity if only you could bring the Kingdom of God into that home, and present it to that hard-working father, and to that busy mother, and to those sweet children.

It Can't Be Done.

But with all your praying and pleading, and hoping and yearning, you will not do it. "The Kingdom of God has come to the door!" you will say—to the door! to the door! to the DOOR! And the thing that will break your heart in the Christian ministry, and give you many, many sleepless nights, and pillows drenched with tears, is the fact that whilst you were able to take all heaven to every doorstep on which you stood, there were so few—so very few—houses in which you could get it any further.

Still, that is not your affair. Only see to it that you "eat such things as are set before you, and heal the sick and say: The Kingdom of God is come to the door!" And leave the rest, as far as it is possible for an earnest man to leave it, until the day of judgment. And then the very stones of the doorsteps on which you stood, and to which you brought the glory of heaven, will witness against those still stonier hearts.

It Is Not All Failure.

And, in any case, there are some homes into which the Kingdom of God has entered, and there are others into which you yourself will take it. And those glorified homes into which the Kingdom of God enters will become miniature heavens themselves. And as in heaven there is joy and praise and adoration, so in those homes, radiant with the newly-admitted Kingdom of God, there will be joy and praise and worship. And in that worship, at those beautiful family altars, you will not be forgotten. Was it not you who first brought the Kingdom of God in to many of those hearts and hearths? Did you not lay the foundation-stone of those dear family altars? Oh, yes; be sure you will not be forgotten there!

Ian Maclaren tells how John Carmichael entered upon his first charge. But he felt—painfully, acutely, constantly—the awful chasm that yawned between his radiant dreams and his actual achievements. And he felt that the people must be regarding him with pity or contempt. One Sabbath, as he was sitting in the vestry, all the elders filed solemnly in. He felt that they had come to tell him that they could tolerate it no longer. Then the sagest and the kindliest of them all addressed him. They had noticed his fearfulness, and nervousness, and timidity, and wished him to be completely at his ease. Was he not among his own people? They would have him to be among them without fear. "You are never to be troubled in the pulpit, or be thinking about anything but the word of the Lord and the souls of the people of which you are the shepherd. We will ask you to remember when you stand in your place to speak to us in the name of the Lord, that as the smoke goeth up from the homes of the people in the morning, so will their prayers be ascending for their minister, and as you look down upon us before you begin to speak, maybe you will say to yourself, next Sabbath: They are all loving me. Oh, yes, and it will be true from the oldest to the youngest, we will all be loving you very much." "And that," says Ian Maclaren, "that is why John Carmichael remained in the ministry of Jesus Christ, the most patient and mindful of ministers."

In recalling this I have again been greatly refreshed.

Yours in happy service,

Allan Fairbairn.

Manners

EMERSON says I have seen manners that make a similar impression with personal beauty, that give us the like exhilaration, and refine us like that. But they must be marked by fine perception, they must always show self-control. They must be inspired by a good heart.

Called To Account

WE should every day call ourselves to an account. What infirmity have I mastered today? What temptation have I resisted? What virtue acquired? Our vices will abate of themselves if they be brought every day to the shrift.

We blaze an hour and are forgot.

Responsibility

IF any man is rich and powerful, he comes under that law of God by which the higher branches must take the burnings of the sun, and shade those that are lower; by which the tall trees must protect the weak plants beneath them.

23rd Psalm in Many Tongues.

INDIAN.

THE great Father above is a Shepherd Chief. I am His and with Him I want not. He throws out to me a rope, and the name of the rope is Love, and He draws me to where the grass is green and the water not dangerous, and I eat and lie down satisfied.

Sometimes my heart is very weak and falls down, but He lifts it up again and draws me into a good road. His name is Wonderful.

Some time, it may be very soon, it may be longer, it may be a long, long time, He will draw me into a place between mountains. It is dark there, but I'll draw back not. I'll be afraid not, for it is in there between these mountains that the Shepherd Chief will meet me, and the hunger I have felt in my heart all through this life will be satisfied. Sometimes He makes the love-rope into a whip, but afterwards He gives me a staff to lean on.

He spreads a table before me with all kinds of food. He puts His hands upon my head and all the "tired" is gone. My cup He fills till it runs over. What I tell you is true, I lie not. These roads that are "away ahead" will stay with me through this life, and afterward I will go to live in the "Big Tepee" and sit down with the Shepherd Chief forever.

Emotional preparedness is at least as necessary to eloquence as intellectual.

DON'T RISK IT!

THERE are many persons who have heard so much of family government that they think there cannot be too much of it. They imprison their children in stiff rooms, where a fly is a band of music in the empty silence, and govern at morning, and govern at night, and the child goes all day long like a shuttle in the loom, back and forward, hit at both ends. Children subjected to such treatment are apt to grow up infidels, through mere disgust.

REMEMBER WHAT THEY MEAN.

It is to be hoped that a good many Peterborough people read the story from Brampton the other day of a representative of the Brampton branch of the Canadian Legion appearing before the Town Council to voice a protest at the disrespect shown to the cenotaph erected there to the memory of men who fell in the Great War.

A similar protest should be forthcoming here in regard to the attitude shown, not only to the war memorial in Confederation Square, but to the cenotaph at the Canadian Legion Hall.

No man passes the cenotaph in Whitehall, London, without removing his hat in tribute to the memory of the Empire's dead.

Here the cenotaph attracts little more attention than a telephone pole, and the war memorial is treated as a mixture of a recreation area and a loafing place.

Children romp around it, young people climb up on it to pose for pictures, and older citizens who certainly should know better use portions of the memorial as a seat.

If the older people cannot be shamed into treating this tribute to Peterborough's war dead with a proper appreciation of what it stands for, surely something can be done in the schools to tell the children the story of the gallantry of the men whose heroic deaths are commemorated there, and to inspire in the new generation a respect and a reverence for this symbol of the community's gratitude that seems to be lacking among their elders.

COMPLETING THE LISTS.

Final revision of the voters' lists so far as the urban section of this riding is concerned will be made by His Honor Judge Huycke on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

This will be the last chance for urban voters to have their names placed on the lists, and also the last chance to have names that are now wrongfully on the lists taken off.

If you have any doubt as to whether or not your name is listed your wisest course is to consult the lists at the committee rooms of the two candidates or at the office of Returning Officer Sidney Whatley.

You will then have the opportunity of appearing before Judge Huycke and having your name added if by accident it has been left out.

As the lists have been prepared on this occasion the only person to blame if names are omitted are the electors themselves.

In the first place, there was a house-to-house canvass by enumerators; then registrars sat and revised the lists, affording a second opportunity to have names added, and now the revision proceedings conducted by Judge Huycke next week will provide still another chance to correct omissions.

As a result the lists to be used on July 28 should be the most complete, most up-to-date and most accurate yet available for election purposes.

Anybody who is left off will have no one to blame but himself.

INCREASING THE PENALTY.

Magistrate Burbridge of Hamilton has announced that henceforth the minimum sentence in his court for motorists convicted of intoxication while in charge of a motor car would be 21 days.

The Hamilton magistrate is showing a proper appreciation of the situation in thus stepping up the penalty for this offence, which is one that the courts should treat with severity worthy of all that is involved in the charge.

Leniency that lets drunken drivers escape with a seven-day sentence is misplaced; the motorist who tries to drive while he is not in a fit condition to handle an automobile is deserving of no sympathy and will get none from the public.

As the Hamilton Spectator puts it, "ordinary common sense dictates that motoring is sufficiently risky even when all those using the roads are coldly sober, and that the further hazard of drunkenness must not be countenanced."

Most certainly under present conditions every driver should have all his wits about him when he takes an automobile into traffic, for driving not only calls for the ability to properly handle his own car but for alertness as to what is going on around.

A driver must in a word be physically capable to manipulate the controls of his own car and mentally fit to realize what the other fellow is going to do.

Obviously a man under the influence of liquor does not meet either of these tests, and the only remedy is increase the penalty for driving while intoxicated and at the same time to cancel the offender's driving permit, if not permanently, at least long enough to make sure that there will be no danger of a second offence.

THE PROVINCIAL RESULTS.

The provincial election campaigns in New Brunswick and Alberta have terminated about as they were expected to do, with the return to power of the Conservative Government in the former and the Progressive Government in the latter Province.

As was pointed out in these columns a day or two ago, there is nothing significant in these results so far as the Federal election is concerned.

True Premier Baxter of New Brunswick stresses the fact that Postmaster-General Veniot and three Liberal Senators took an active part in the campaign, but the chief issue in the Maritime Province was the liquor question, and the election was largely fought around the action of the Government in bringing into effect a system of Government control without submitting the question to the people.

The verdict which returns the Baxter administration to power must be viewed as an endorsation by the majority of the people of New Brunswick of the principle of Government control as opposed to prohibition.

There never was any doubt as to the result in Alberta where the Farmer Government of Premier J. E. Brownlee again swept the Province.

His Liberal and Conservative opponents made slight gains, but the victory of the administration was a substantial one, indicating widespread confidence in the Progressive Government.

Here the issues were purely provincial, and the result gives no clue as to the federal campaign.

FORD'S IDEA.

The four-wheeled products which bear his name follow a lot of beaten paths, but Henry Ford is the world's outstanding example of a man who achieved success by blazing his own trails. There are certain fundamental business principles which Mr. Ford observes, of course, but just because a thing has been done a certain way for years is no reason why he should continue doing it that way, he holds, nor proof that it is the right way. In a recent interview, published in one of the national magazines, the laird of Dearborn drew attention to the fact that many industrialists, in times of depression, hold to the old-fashioned idea that when production is curtailed, prices must be advanced and wages reduced. That is a policy that, instead of aiding the adopters of it, creates still greater depression, he insists. Ford's method is exactly opposite. He reasons that in slack production periods, it is just ordinary common sense to reduce the price of the commodity, as an inducement to buy, and to increase wages to put more money in circulation with which to buy. And the success of the Ford Motor Car Company would seem to indicate that it works out in practice as in theory. Mr. Ford is a consistent nonconformist. We note now that he is disagreeing with the doctors who have been called to the bedside of agriculture, which still struggles with its long, painful and baffling illness. The agricultural experts hovering around the patient emerge from consultation with a report that the only possible way of effecting recovery is to cut down acreage and reduce the size of crops. Mr. Ford snorts disdainfully. What agriculture needs, he insists, is intensive cultivation and quantity production. He refuses to believe that a surplus will depress prices and increase distress, holding that a surplus of any commodity is only the starting point of a new prosperity. It is his belief that when you produce too much of anything you find new uses for it and create a new demand. Mr. Ford but recently withdrew from active participation in the motor car industry, turning over complete control to his son, Edsel, and the announcement is made that he intends to devote his remaining years to philanthropic research. He may feel that agriculture comes under this head and spend a few millions to prove that his agricultural theory is correct. Bruce Catton, of the Newspaper Enterprise Association, editorially commenting on Mr. Ford's method of dealing with the farm problem, said recently: "The very expression, 'over-production,' is all wrong so long as there exists in all the world one man who has not got enough of the commodity in question, be it wheat, automobiles, radios or neckties. Does the world suffer from a surplus of grain? How is it, then, that several million people in China are starving? There is something wrong somewhere. The one great fact that Mr. Ford never loses sight of is the fact that mankind, for the first time in its existence, is able to produce enough of everything, from bread to top hats, so that every one can have all he wants. To be sure, we haven't tied in production and consumption yet so that it works out properly; but the power is in our hands, nevertheless, to make scarcity forever a thing of the past. That, one suspects, is what lies at the bottom of Mr. Ford's mind."—Hamilton Spectator.

ONTARIO APPLES.

Ontario is to make a serious effort to develop its apple trade. The growers believe that there is good money to be made in selling the fruit to Britain.

While they are about it, Ontario growers might try and sell more apples to their neighbors. In the north at least, a big share of the business goes to California and British Columbia. The only reason is that Ontario apples cannot be depended on. They are not graded, nor is there any serious attention made to develop the business, says the Sault Ste. Marie Star.

Ontario can grow the finest apples in the world. There is a flavor about them that U. S. apples lack. But our growers must adopt method.

At the present time California ships in trainloads of oranges here and Ontario has been educated to use oranges in many ways. There are even orange "fasts" and medical treatments based on this foreign fruit.

Now comes a doctor who says that Ontario apples and fruits are just as effective. From them can be made fruit juices, too, that are unequalled anywhere. The climate of Ontario is ideal for growing fruits with real flavor.

"The fruit which people should use is that which grows in the climate to which they are used. Nature arranges that man, wherever placed, is given the products of the earth that best suit him."

Can beverages be made from the juice of apples, raspberries, blueberries and other fruits? Yes, says the doctor, the very best to help the body's needs.

What we need in Ontario is an apple organizer and a fruit promoter who will visualize the immense market right at home for our own fruits. This is the kind of a campaign that would appeal to the newspapers. But the job can't be left to a Government official. It is something for a business organizer to take hold of.—St. Catharines Standard.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Thursday was a great day for the Mackenzies. A local representative of the clan won an automobile for 25c and a British Columbia Mackenzie has been appointed to the Federal Cabinet.

Politics in Toronto will never be dull so long as T. L. Church has a hand in the game.

An advertisement of the Department of Highways points out something that all motorists should remember when it says: "The stop signs on streets and highways are there for your protection. They protect you and all other drivers only to the extent that you obey them."

The one independent candidate in the New Brunswick election lost his deposit. But probably he figures that the publicity he got was worth the expense.

Mr. King's Quebec meeting was held out-of-doors and with rain pouring down. The fact that his audience remained shows how seriously they take their politics in the ancient capital of the lower Province.

Men use periods when they talk. Women use only commas.

The eternal triangle that affords the most thrill is the one from short to second to first.

News of Our Own Village

The village Rotarians pulled off their street fair on the Market Sq., here Wed. nite, and when they got through not a patron had a nickel left. But a good time was had by all.

Billy King, premier of this fair country, was a pleasant visitor in our midst Tues., coming here to celebrate Joe Duffus' birthday and say a word or two about the Grit party.

The only business change noticed this week was when Ed. Peck opened up committee rooms on Main St. Ed. has decorated up with some new banners, giving a dash of color to the neighborhood.

Them that weren't sure an election is coming know it now. The village post office is being all slicked up with paint 'n everything.

Joe Wearing, our energetic village solicitor, went east with a gripful of blue books, etc. Wed. and told the folks in Kingston, east of here, what this here election is all about.

A lotta folks thought the King-Duffus jamboree here Tues. nite was a better show than the Sells-Floto circus, because the local affair give a parade.

Sandy MacTavish admits that if he had put in a ticket for the horseless carriage the Rotarians put up he wouldn't of had the right mileage. Tough luck, Sandy, say we.

The Kiwanians of the village is running a picnic to Rochester, south of us, and a lotta folks is going to see how Uncle Sam likes them counterwailing duties Charlie Dunning has slapped on him.

Loud speakers was used at the political pow wow here Tues. nite giving village Tories a chance to stay outside and listen in the dark so nobody could see them looking mad at what Billy King was saying.

The fall fair is going to be held here in September no matter which party wins the election next month, your scribe understands.

The village police commissioners has had the detention room at the village hoosegow fixed up with a big mattress, so malefactors will be able to sleep soft.

A Thought

SUCCESS

Few men come up to their highest measures of success. Some fail through timidy or lack of nerve. They are unwilling to take the risks incident to life, and fail through fear in venturing on ordinary duties. They lack pluck. Others fall through imrudence, lack of discretion, care, or sound judgment. They over-estimate the future and build air-castles, and venture beyond their depth, and fall fall. Others again fail through lack of application and perseverance. They begin with good resolves, but soon get tired of that, and want a change, thinking they can do much better at something else.

APRIL ESCAPADES

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

CHAPTER XLI.

"Mrs. O'Hara," Chris said, looking somehow lonely and friendless, in his big coat, "I wouldn't want her to be as—as unhappy as all that would make her. I see what you say—I see what you mean.

"It was only," he recommenced, clearing his throat, "that I couldn't help letting her know that—well, that it's this way with me. It was not anything I planned to do, or planned to say! Not until ten minutes ago, did it come to me what all this meant! It's not anything you can argue about. I didn't want it to happen!"

There was a strange sound in the kitchen. It was as if Mary Kate had given a brief, exulting laugh. But it was so evanescent that when all their eyes turned toward her she betrayed no sign of mirth; her head was dropped, she had covered her face with her spread fingers.

"It might go as quick as it came," Mrs. O'Hara suggested, tentatively.

"It might," Chris agreed.

"And then where would she be," the mother argued. "With a rich husband that was tired of her?"

"That—" Chris said simply, looking at the girl, who had taken down her hands, and whose wide, serious gaze was turned upon him, "that would be Mary's risk."

"Some risk!" Cass contributed, drily.

"No. Not much!" Christopher answered, in the same tone.

Mary Kate crossed her arms on the table before her, and stared into space.

"She's the one to say, after all," her mother summarized it.

The girl roused herself from her dream, with a brief laugh.

"Why, Mother, there's nothing to decide!" she said surprisedly. "It just—is, isn't it? Like a broken leg, like an earthquake. If you—well, if you had a baby, you could not decide to go back suddenly, could you, and not have one? If you were wrecked on a desert island, you couldn't just make up your mind to choose to be home again, safe and sound!"

"Mary—" Chris said.

She went over to him again, to take her old position, her shoulder againsthis, his arm half-way about her.

"It's just happened!" she told them. "I know that all that you say is true, I know that it isn't sensible. All the women of his world are the beauty-parlor, bridge-playing sort, who get divorces and drink cocktails and know all the restaurants in Paris. They'll despise me—his mother won't like me! But what of it?"

"Molly, Molly," Martin pleaded, "think what you're saying! You're crazy. Don't let his money—"

"Oh, Mart, hush up!" the girl commanded him, good-naturedly. "You don't think it's his money? You know it's not! That'd be like saying that I'd sell you and the girls and Pat and Tom for money!"

"Mary," Chris said, hoarsely and gently, seeing nothing but the blue eyes that she raised to his, as he clasped her hands together, and lifted them to his heart, "do you mean it? Will you take a chance?"

"I have to!" she whispered.

"And you're not afraid, dear?"

"Yes," she said, with the first flash of natural laughter, she had shown tonight. "I'm horribly afraid. I know I'll make mistakes, I'll be snubbed—"

"And after a few years, you may not love me any more than lots and lots of men love their wives after a few years—" she added, suddenly grave.

"But this thing," she said, her fingers in a clutching pressure, over her heart, "this thing has got—to be quieted. It is like a pain!"

He dropped her hands, and turned toward her mother; he was on one knee, beside the older woman's chair.

"Mrs. O'Hara," he said, "may I have her?"

There was a long pause, and in it Cass Keating slipped quietly from the kitchen, without anyone noting his going.

"How would you know your own heart?" Mrs. O'Hara said then, slowly, dubiously. But she had laid one hand upon the big square shoulder of the coat, just the same. "How would she know hers, and you and she strangers this fortnight a-gone?" she asked.

"I'll be very good to her, she'll be the most spoiled—the most loved woman in the world," Chris promised humbly.

"You'd say that now—" the mother said, not unkindly.

"But I mean it!" he persisted.

"You're rich," Mrs. O'Hara mused, studying his face, with her own plain face very sober. "You're very rich, but there's other things but riches. How do I know that you're fit for a little girl like my Molly?"

"I know what you think of me," Chris answered, looking straight into her eyes. "And some of it's true. But not—the worst things. I've never wanted—girls, much. I'm idle. I play cards, and polo, and tennis, and golf, and the tables at Monte Carlo—but the only woman who ever had a hold on me is—well, Mary met her! And she isn't afraid of the Countess Marka."

Suddenly Mrs. O'Hara's face quivered, and her eyes brimmed with tears.

"It'd be what Mary Kate wanted, in the long last," she said, unsteadily. She got up and went into the bedroom that adjoined the kitchen.

Tom kissed his sister, laughed a raw, bewildered laugh, lumbered on his own way to bed.

"Don't you care, Molly!" he said.

"It's the darndest break I ever saw!" Martin commented, from his chair. He gripped the chair-arm with his right hand, got to his feet, balancing himself carefully, because of the wounded arm. "I'm going in to talk to Mother," he explained.

Mary Kate, her sapphire eyes starry, was standing by the sink, watching the emptying room as a child watches a Christmas tree.

"Mother'll be all right," Martin predicted.

"Oh, yes, she'll be all right!" Mary Kate whispered back.

"She's worried about Uncle Robert. Wouldn't you know he'd choose Holy Week to die in!" Martin commented.

"Wouldn't you know it!"

But in her aching heart she thought: "It doesn't matter what Uncle Robert does now, or whether Regina writes her composition, or Lennihan has a grocery sale. It doesn't matter whether the Geary Street car is crowded or not, on a week-day morning. The rents of the new apartments don't matter to me any more. And my best slippers with the loose heel I was going to have fixed, and mother's new meat-chopper, and being in the play of the Church Dramatic Club—all gone! All gone!"

She and Chris were alone in the kitchen.

"Do you think it's the darndest break you ever saw, too, Mary?" Chris asked.

"I'm a little—scared," she admitted, with a laugh.

He held her hands, and her bright hair fell back as she looked up at him.

"Are you scared, Chris?"

"I'm happy," he answered, simply.

"Yes. I'm terribly happy, too. I'm—" Mary Kate turned away with a little shrug, despairing of expressing herself. "It had to be like this," she said.

From the pegs in the little passage she caught a loose brown coat. Tom's coat, as it happened, and slipped into it.

"Come out in the yard a minute," she said.

They went out into the narrow space between the shabby fences, where there were barrels, clotheslines, sheds, poles, and the children's scooters and coasters.

Chris put his arm about her, and they looked up at the great block of apartment houses on Geary Street, rising tiers of little squares of pale gold marking the lines of windows, higher and higher against the dark blue sky. The great electric light sign flashed and wheeled and dimmed, flashed and wheeled and dimmed untiringly, in the night. Motor cars honked in the street, whizzed, and were gone, and the feet of pedestrians chipped on the sidewalk, beyond the fence.

But millions of stars throbbed overhead, and the soft scarf of the Milky Way hung low and glittering, close to the warm spring world. The banksia rose by the kitchen doorway, the great gnarled lilac by the fence, the "mock-orange" that, covered with creamy blooms, stood close to the porch steps, all helped to scent and make magical the April dark.

Chris and Mary Kate stood silent, breathing it in, their hands locked, her upflung head resting against his shoulder, for a long while.

"What are we going to do next, Chris?"

"Get married, aren't we?"

"I suppose so." Her voice was dreamily confident, like the voice of a protected child.

"Tomorrow, don't you think?"

"Tomorrow!"

"Well, why not? You see, the longer we delay, the more time there is for newspaper reporters, and fuss, and cablegrams and telegrams and what-not—"

"Oh, horrors!" Mary Kate shuddered.

"Ought you do anything about Keating?"

"About—?"

"Keating. Cass Keating."

"Oh— Oh, yes; I ought to write him. I'll write him to-night."

"And to-morrow night we'll go to—where? Where do people go, here in California? Shall we go in the car?"

"Ha! We have a car." It amused her. "You'll have your own car."

"I can drive it," she reflected aloud, simply.

"In summer you can. In winter you'll have to have a driver."

"Chris!"

"Don't you like that idea?"

It had silenced her: She was reflecting.

"Will I have to have a maid?"

"Oh, I think so, Mary."

"Ha!" she exclaimed again, this time with a sigh.

"What time do you think the City Hall opens?" Chris asked.

"Ten."

"Then I'll be here at quarter of ten. And if there's any special person you want to marry us—"

"There is."

"Then telephone him, and arrange it, will you?"

"Will your mother hate me?"

"She'll neither hate you or like you. We'll visit her, and the Count, in Paris. He'll like you, never fear. He's fifteen years younger than my mother. She'll want to talk clothes with you, any gossip you can pick up about persons she knows, and they'll take us to the races, and to dinner at some Russian place."

"And your father?"

"Dad's absorbed in Madeleine. She's about twenty-six, and rather large, and blond—regular Swede blond, and she lisps. She's the girl who sang Wouldn't You Choose the Blues to Lose Your Heart To? two years ago. But you'll like Dad. He's very businesslike and square and all that.

"And I have a sweet old grandmother, who runs a cattle farm, over in New Jersey," Chris went on, with sudden enthusiasm. "You will love them all—I mean the people who work for her, and the calves and the horses and everything! Your little sisters—we ought to get them on there, some time—"

For a long minute she was silent.

What To-day Means To You.

If June 21st is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m., from noon to 1:30 p.m., and from 8 p.m. to 9:15 p.m. The danger periods are from 3:30 a.m. to 6:30 a.m., and from 2 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Events which will improve your life generally are predicted for this date. Success found in well-trod paths. Benefits through strangers. Very benefic influences in force after sunset, which especially favor the young and romantic.

Children born on this June 21st will have many sterling qualities—reliability, honesty, industry and sincerity. They will have a fighting spirit and prodding ambitions. An adventurous life is their destiny.

It would be impossible for you to have a sleek, plump, easily contented life, because you are hard to please. You are dissatisfied over your own achievements and possessions, because you place them mentally against the very finest that exist. Your heaven is not easily attainable—your reach exceeds your grasp. You do not shun the responsibility of selection and rejection. You would have a easier life if you were satisfied with less both from yourself and others, but not as fruitful, as deep, or as big a one. You can not be a "it-does-not-matter," or a "I-don't-mind" sort of a person.

As one of the human pack, you prefer to be a goat and not a sheep. You are not afraid to leap away from your companions, and to wander amongst the hills of life alone. You are not afraid to stand up for your inner choice, right or wrong. You are not afraid to adapt individual leadership in thought and action, but prefer to follow a bolder lead. Facts and figures, and not fancy and fiction, lead and direct you. You have a most methodical, analytical and precise mind. You appear to more advantage in the family circle than in public life, for here the softer, affectionate side of your nature is glimpsed. You are rather stern, but are a stickler for justice, and not afraid to admit your own errors. If you are critical of others, you are far more so of self.

If June 22nd is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7:30 a.m. to 9 a.m., from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m., and from 10 p.m. to 11 p.m. The danger period is from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Influences on this date are more propitious for a work-day than for a Sunday. They are too invigorating and too changeable to allow rest of mind or body. Because of no other outlet, your nervous energies may seek one through unnecessary arguments, and unforgettable quarrels.

The child born on this June 22nd will be well balanced and of a thoughtful temperament. It will be fitted for a professional life, and should be educated for same. It will have a sympathetic touch, and a gentle nature.

You have a very modest and retiring nature, and are a poor salesman of your good points and talents. "It's a very sad dog that does not bark once in a while," and people, too, must occasionally speak up for themselves. The world does not listen to our murmurs. Most of your failures and troubles are attributable to your lack of self-help, and to your willingness to be run over by less gracious and more selfish competitors and associates. Your efforts of resistance are too feeble and half-hearted to bear fruit. Nature did not mean you to be a pack-horse, why accept such a difficult role?

You are not a pacifist through cowardice, but your nature is too gentle, too esthetic for the dirt of a fight. Harsh words and quarrels almost crush you, and your heart is easily bruised. It would be well for you to conquer your hypersensitiveness, and to wear a mask of greater indifference. Your conscience is a hard task-master, and you are almost too much its slave. Your loyalty and sincerity is most genuine, and you are a faithful friend, and a devoted member of your family. You have old-fashioned ideas about marriage and the home, and you strive to maintain their ideals. You are tender toward the sick, the unhappy and the unfortunate. You are unselfish in your service—one of the world's givers.

STRAWBERRIES MAKE QUICK SALE

Eggs Priced Generally From 28 to 32 Cents a Dozen on Farmers' Market.

Strawberries from local gardens, selling at 25 and 30c for the quart box, made their appearance on the farmers' market this morning. They had a quick sale.

Eggs were priced generally at 28c to 32c a dozen this morning. Butter was 33c a pound. Broilers were 40 to 50c a pound, and hens 25c. Little lively Plymouth Roch chicks were 15c apiece.

On the open market fresh whitefish sold at 20c a pound. Little pigs were $15.50 a pair.

Hay was $18 a load.

Little boys standing in the entry had silver-grey Chinchilla rabbits with grey, agate eyes. They sold at 50c and $1 a pair.

Flowers were plentiful this morning, peonies and Oriental poppies, and little boxes filled with blue lobelia, white alyssum and purple velvet pansies.

When Kirreimuir (Scotland) Parish Council recently resolved to keep up the Barrie family graves and monuments in the local cemetery, Sir James Barrie, the author, said: "They could have done nothing that could have gratified me as much; it brings us so close together."

LEAD ISSUES SLUMP FROM 2 TO 12 POINTS

Thursday's Rise Another Bound Resulting From Temporarily Oversold Condition.

SUPPORT LACKING.

U. S. Steel, American Can and Allied Chemical Plumb to New Depths For Day.

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 21.— Still another acute sinking spell ended the third week of almost steady decline in to-day's stock market. Although the market experienced one of the sharpest upturns of the year on Thursday, it proved but another technical rebound resulting from a temporarily oversold condition.

There was a feeling in brokerage circles that professional bear selling was a relatively more important factor in the further decline to-day than it was during the wholesale liquidation earlier in the week.

Almost complete absence of important supporting orders appeared to encourage this type of selling. Important banking interests, however, sees no danger of a serious panic of selling, with the public largely out of the market, and are disinclined to support stocks while business reports continue unencouraging.

Prices tumbled 2 to 12 points during the early part of the trading, but rallied substantially as bears covered some of their short commitments in the last half hour of trading. Such important shares as U. S. Steel, American Can and Allied Chemical plumbed new depths for the movement. Trading was fairly active for a two hour session, total sales aggregating 2,300,000 shares. The close was lower.

NICKEL CONTINUES DOWNWARD TREND

Toronto Stock Market Passes Through Another Day of Uncertainty To-day.

TORONTO, Ont., June 21.—(Canadian Press). — The stock market passed through another day of uncertainty to-day, with prices moving restlessly in both directions, leaving off with the future still in doubt. Nickel and Brazilian left off within striking distance of their previous finals but earlier both had been down more than a point. Ford declined to 30 and failed to show any substantial rally. City Dairy was weak on end, as were the oils, most of which struck their lows just before the close.

Massey-Harris was firm in consequence of the announced intention of the directors to maintain the dividend of the present rate of $3 annually for this quarter but the stock rose very little.

REMAINS TAKEN TO TORONTO

The remains of the late A. W. Peterson, one of the two victims of the automobile fatality at Springville on Thursday noon were conveyed to Toronto by road last evening for interment.

Coroner Dr. T. W. H. Young will open an inquiry into the circumstances attending the tragedy at City Police Court at 8 o'clock daylight saving time this evening.

WINNIPEG WHEAT CONTINUES DOWNWARD SLANT DURING WEEK

July Future Recedes Below $1.00 Mark Twice in Five Days.

EUROPEAN NEWS MIXED.

WINNIPEG, Man., June 21 (C.P.) —A week of startling declines on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange closed Friday with wheat values ranging 6¾ to 7¾ cents a bushel lower as compared with closing quotations of June 13. Twice in five days the July future receded below the $1.00 mark, selling Monday at 98½c, and closing Friday at 99⅝c, despite the fact that export trade on Tuesday was the greatest for any one day during the past year. October finished at $1.03, and December 1.04½ to ⅝.

Export for months has followed a practically fixed routine, namely a day or two of heavy buying and then a period of little or no business and apparently no interest abroad. The heavy export buying of Tuesday was no exception to this routine. Undoubtedly there is some export trade practically every day, but except for these big spurts the amounts are small in comparison to the total amount to be moved.

European News Mixed

Continental news during the week has been of a mixed character, but taken as a whole the crops of France, Germany, Poland and Jugo Slavia have deterioriated rather than improved in the seven days and Italy's crop is estimated at 40,000,000 bushels less than last year, while there are very favorable reports being issued as to the condition of the Russia crop.

The report that Germany has reduced the percentage of native wheat in the mill grind from 50 to 30 per cent was hailed as a good omen, but so far has not improved prices of Canadian wheat.

The distinctly bullish report issued by the Dominion Government Friday morning was absolutely ignored so far as the markets were concerned. During the week there has been quite a lot of rain at many points all over the West, but the thirsty wind-swept areas still await a general soaking rain and with every day without such rain the chances of recovery are lessened and many private reports by line house country agents during the week indicate a very material amount of permanent damage.

GEORGE BRADEN

Who has been nominated Conservative candidate to contest the Prince Albert constituency in the forthcoming general election.

Reports of damage from cutworms have also increased.

Canadian visible increased about 2,000,000 bushels during the week.

Demand from the various grades of cash wheat during the past week was moderately good, but offerings continued light.

Exporters and shippers report a splendid export business was worked during the early part of the week, while sales in the last half were very small, and it is estimated that well over 10,000,000 bushels was worked for the entire week, with the United Kingdom the best buyer.

LIPTON RECOVERS.

LONDON, June 21 (C.P.). — Sir Thomas Lipton was said to-day to have recovered from the cold which kept him inside all week. He will leave his home near London to-morrow for the Clyde, where his new racing boat, the Shamrock V., is scheduled for a week's racing.

Q.—(a) What is a train load?

A.—A train load consists of the number of tons of freight moved per mile of road. This is simply obtained by dividing the total amount of freight carried by the total railway mileage.

(b) Why is it important and what does it show?

A.—By figuring "train loads" one can arrive at the operating efficiency of the company. Great economies can be exercised if a large number of filled cars are pulled behind a locomotive each trip. It is better for a large engine to pull thirty cars than for two small ones to pull fifteen cars each. In practice this is often impossible for it may be that there is not enough freight at a certain time for more than fifteen cars. Moreover, what freight there is, may only be going part of the distance.

Railways carrying heavy iron ore or coal usually have the greatest train load. Their rates may be proportionately lower but they usually fare best.

A large train load not only shows a great volume of business and operating efficiency by increased earning power. Besides economies in collecting and delivering freight a large train load usually indicates a well constructed road bed with few curves or grades.

ARTICLE LII.

Q.—(a) What is the "factor of safety"?

A.—The factor of safety is the percentage of the total net income left after fixed charges have been deducted.

Gross income (or total net income)	$50,000,000
Fixed charges	30,000,000
Net income	$20,000,000
Factor of Safety (or 40 per cent)	$20,000,000
	$50,000,000

Bond interest, being a fixed charge would already be deducted, but dividends would have to come out of this residue.

(b) What is the significance of this figure?

A.—The factor of safety is of great interest to the bond holder. There are several rations that are of more importance to a stockholder, but in case of insolvency it is the factor of safety that will protest the bond holder.

In the case of railways this averages around 40 per cent, and in the case of industrials around 50 per cent. This margin gives a required leeway for a fluctuation in gross income in lean years. A small decline in operating revenue and a correspondingly small decline in operating expenses will usually decrease this factor of safety by an unusually large amount. For this reason a large factor of safety is necessary.

SLUMP IN STATES IS GROWING WORSE

Manufacturers' Earnings Dropped 2.4 Per Cent. Last Month. Washington Learns.

(Special to Examiner, Copyright, 1930.)

WASHINGTON, June 21. ("Worse." This best describes the unemployment situation in the United States. It was bad before.

May figures have just been issued by the department of Labor. According to them, building shows a slight increase but in manufacturing there is a decrease of 1.6 per cent, in employment and 2.4 per cent in earnings.

There was a slight increase in employment in anthracite mining, quarrying, electric railroads, telephone and telegraph, power plants and petroleum producing. This, however, was more than counterbalanced to by a decrease in manufacturing, bituminous coal mining, metal mining, wholesale and retail trade, hotels and canning.

Manufacturing establishments on the average were only working 85 per cent of their normal force.

There is a growing disposition on the part of employers to relieve the unemployment situation by increasing the number of individuals employed but decreasing the hours of work and therefore average earnings. There is therefore a substantial falling off of production.

This of course does not at all get at the root of the unemployment problem, though it may relieve some of its hardships.

ROTARIANS GATHER FOR CONVENTION

Tenth Annual Convention Opens at Chicago on Monday.

CHICAGO, Ills., June 21 (C.P.). — Thousands of Rotarians from the four corners of the earth began treking into Chicago to-day for the tenth International convention, which opens Monday.

The meeting also commemorates the founding of the first Rotary Club in Chicago 25 years ago.

Eugene Newsom, of Durham, N.C., International President, said he expected an attendance of between 18,000 and 20,000 Rotarians and their wives—the Rotary Annes. Delegates and members will be present from everyone of the 62 countries in which Rotary is represented, Newsom said.

The convention closes June 27.

DECLINE OF STOCKS IN CANADA A REFLECTION OF N.Y. MARKETS

Conditions in Dominion Not As Bad as Exchanges Seem to Show.

MAY GO LOWER YET.

(Special to Examiner, Copyright, 1930.)

TORONTO, June 21. —Prices tumbled down to new low levels for the year on the Canadian stock exchanges under selling pressure that was not relieved until the full force of the liquidation had spent itself. It was the culmination of almost three weeks of reaction in which prices had drifted continually lower with only the faintest semblance of a rally. The market was let take its own course, the usual resistence points being broken through with very little short covering, little or no support and successive days of new low levels. At the extreme low point, prices were comparable to the bottom touched in the reaction of last November 13 and well below the level struck in the decline of May 5.

While the reaction was quite severe, it did not have the same characteristics of the break of last Autumn when the public in the market was unusually large and stocks were mostly held in marginal accounts by people whose main objective was to sell to some person else at higher prices. On that occasion selling was frantic and panicky, this time it was orderly with prices breaking slowly between sales and not by leaps and bounds as in November last. Traders, having passed through the collapse of last fall, were more sophisticated. Margin calls did not have the effect of causing a stampede to get out of the market. Either additional funds or orders to sell were forthcoming while the privilege of placing stop loss orders was exercised.

Scale down buying cushioned the reaction in the early days of the decline. Orders placed with brokers some weeks ago were executed as prices went lower. Near the end, such buying orders became exhausted and it was only the sharp breaks of Monday and Wednesday this week that revived buying demand on the part of investors who were attracted by the most liberal yields afforded by high grade and assured dividend paying securities.

Prices for a great many Canadian securities are too low and they may go lower, but sooner or later will recover to a level more commensurate with actual values. It was Wall Street that started the trend downward, and, admitting that conditions in Canada may not be as good as a year ago and that the earnings of Canadian corporations will be affected to some extent, the decline was a reflection of that in New York and not so much conditions as they are in the Dominion to day. Had the trend been reversed and had stocks advanced in New York there would have been an advance here instead of a decline.

At this time the Canadian markets suffered through the heavy interest of Canadians in Wall Street. For months speculators have looked to the big board for the action that the Dominion's markets could not furnish. Canadian stocks fluctuated within too narrow limits for those who were trying to make profit on either side and funds went into American securities in margin purchases that might have been placed to better advantage in long term investment in the securities of the Dominion's corporations. Margin calls were sent out first against Americans stocks and those who had Canadian securities in their strong boxes in many instances were forced to sell to provide protection for their marginal holdings across the border, thus adding the liquidation on the local exchanges.

Col. E. G. Hanson, in speaking at the annual general meeting of the Investment Bankers Association of Canada at Bigwin Inn his week, said this capital was irretrievably lost to the Dominion. Col. Hanson would not hazard a guess as to the amount of money sent over the border in this way and doubted very much if a close estimate were possible. On the preceding day, the retiring president, F. J. Coombs, of Toronto, warned the association that Canadian investors would continue to take a large interest in stocks and the members should see that their organization was equipped so as to give the best possible advice and information. Speaking of world-wide conditions since the war, Mr. Coombs said Canada had many things to be thankful for and could look to the future with confidence.

LOSSES GENERAL ON MINE MARKET

Recessions Particularly Noticeable in Oil Group—Noranda and Falconbridge Off.

TORONTO, Ont., June 21 (C.P.).— Though more or less unimportant in their proportions, losses were general throughout the mining list at the close of a somewhat listless session to-day. Recessions were particularly noticeable in the oil group.

International Nickel and Noranda were off about a quarter of a point each. Falconbridge receded 15 to $2.85, and Sudbury Basin was off 5. Amulet, a strong spot yesterday, was down a couple to 57.

Some light selling developed among the oil but the group, as a whole, showed resistance. Chemical Research was down 10, Calmont 9, Dalhousie 8, Ajax Oil 6, Nordon and Home Oil 5 each, and Alberta Pacific 6.

FIRE IN ROYAL PALACE.

NAPLES, Italy, June 21 (C.P.). — Fire caused by a short circuit in electrical wiring did some damage on the first floor of the Royal Palace here to-day in the King's suite. It spread to the second floor of the palace before it was extinguished.

HORSESHOE IN TREE.

GRAND RAPIDS, (U.P.)—Some 60 or 70 years ago a traveller on the winding hillside road, or what is now John Ball Park, found a horseshoe and tacked it to a tree with a couple of nails. Last week the oak was cut down. When the saw refused to go through a portion of the wood, investigation revealed the horseshoe with 54 yearly growth rings around it. For the rings to form outside the horseshoe probably took from six to 15 years, experts say.

FARM INSTITUTES.

SMOOT-HAWLEY TARIFF BILL UNPOPULAR ON WALL STREET

Ad Valorum Tariff 41 Per Cent Compared With 34 Per Cent Formerly.

EFFECT IN CANADA.

(Special to Examiner, Copyright, 1930.)

TORONTO, June 21. —The new Smoot-Hawley tariff bill signed by President Hoover this week has caused more rumpus in the United States and the outside world in general than any bill Mr. Hoover has set his signature to since he took office. Wall Street apparently regards it as a menace to the future foreign trade of the United States, which is a vital factor to that country now that the home market is not increasing at the rate of several millions of new people every decade from immigration. The crash in stocks during the last two weeks has been blamed directly on the new bill and the President's popularity has suffered a severe blow. Outside of the United States indignation is evident on all sides. Canada has put on countervailing duties, the press in England and France is incensed and it is reported that European industrialists are planning defensive measures, particularly in the metal trade where it is said Belgium, British and German metal manufacturers are combining to free Europe from American domination in lead, zinc and copper."

Represents 6 p.c. Boost

The Business Week", a McGraw-Hill publication has worked it out that the average rate on dutiable items in the new bill will be 41% as against 34% under the old tariff. Had the Smoot-Hawley rates applied in the year 1928, customs collections of the United States would have been increased, in round numbers, from $550,000,000 to $650,000,000 or approximately 20% more than was actually collected. Some of the rates are applied ad valorem and others at so much per unit. Ad valorem simply means according to value. In other words 41% of the value of a large portion of the imports into the United States will be charged under the new bill. In the year ending March 31st, 1930, Canada exported to the United States goods valued at approximately $536,612,000. If all of these goods had been taxed 41% ad valorem, it would have cost Canadian exporters in duties over $211,000,000.

Where There is no Comeback.

Canada's method of meeting this tariff wall is to be by means of countervailing duties, but unfortunately there are certain articles which the United States buys from Canada, but of which we buy none from the United States. Therefore, we cannot put countervailing duties against the States on these articles. For instance in the year ending March, 1930, we exported to the United States $2,404,000 worth of maple sugar, but we did not buy any maple sugar from them. The new tariff places a duty of 8c a pound on maple sugar compared with 4c under the old schedule.

Another example is milk and cream, a considerable quantity of which is cold to the United States every year by eastern Ontario, Quebec, and New Brunswick. In the last year our exports of milk and cream to the States totalled $5,379,000, but none was imported. The duty on milk and cream under the Smoot-Hawley bill has been increased from 30c to 56c per gallon.

Clover seed is another item like maple sugar, milk and cream which we export to the States in small quantities without buying any in return. Our exports of clover seed amounted last year to $872,000. The duty under the new tariff is up from 4c to 8c a pound on alfalfa, alsike and red clover seed.

Bill May Not Stand

Many well informed people in New York and Washington predict that the Smoot-Hawley bill will not remain in force in its present form for any great length of time. American opponents of the bill claim that President Hoover is personally opposed to it and that revisions will be made from time to time to meet the pressing demands countries trading with the United States which feel that they have a serious grievance. It will be remembered that the President held out for what he called a flexible tariff, meaning one that could be raised or lowered as it was good business to do so. The Americans, as a people, are quick to change if they see they have made a mistake and we may expect, if the new tariff does all the damage to the United States which its opponents claim it will, that quick measures will be taken to revise it.

COBOURG YOUTH

covering up men who had coerced the boys. Every police official connected with the case believed that by shadowing the confessor the real criminals would be captured.

A day or two after his release, the youth who had been brought to confess on his old chum, Frankie Rocus, met at an old hangout at the First Congregational church in the very heart of the city. Rocus called his playmate to account, scathingly scored him for 'squealing" to the police and then shot him to death. The third member of the trio was present at the tragic meeting in the rear of the church, and after murdering his chum, Rocus turned the death weapon upon the other terror-stricken youth, demanding an oath that he would maintain his silence, always.

Body of Boy Found.

Two days later, the body of the murdered boy was found. A 38 calibre bullet had entered his forehead, squarely between the eyes, and two others had penetrated the left lung. Immediately the authorities believed that their previous theory was proven, that mature bandits had slain the youth in order to insure their own safety.

In another part of the city, however, another youth lay on his bed screaming in terror. His parents, beside themselves, could not determine the cause of his nervous breakdown. Neither could physicians. Finally, news of his condition leaked out and the authorities investigated. The day following the truth came out and young Rocus was arrested, charged with murder. The sordid story was revealed in its every detail. Standing with legs spread apart and holding his pistol at the hip young Rocus had laid down the law of the underworld, as he had learned it from dime novels and motion pictures, to his victim. For several minutes he had spoken slowly and seriously and then, firing from the hip ended the earthly career of the "squealer". One can imagine the sensation the details of this crime caused throughout this section of the country.

Sent to Industrial School.

After a trial equally sensational, young Rocus was confined at the Industrial school at Manchester. He had been there but a short time when he engineered one of the most daring of escapes. He was re-captured June 15 of last year

"Yes; I'm back, ready to face the music and take what's coming to me," he declared with a smile, "but" he added, "they won't be able to hold me."

His single regret, as he expressed it at that time, was that he had not attempted to escape alone. Had he done so, he declared, he would never have been caught.

"I made a few mistakes in my plans," he asserted, "and the greatest one was taking these other fellows into my scheme." "Frankie," as he is known throughout this section by police authorities, appeared nonchalant as he related the dramatic story of his escape from the office of the superintendent of the Industrial School at Manchester within an hour of the time he had been brought back. Direct questions put to him at times brought forth matter of fact replies of "Yes, sir," and "No, sir."

"On the day of the getaway, we were playing in the yard when Jerry went up to Mr. Allen (an aged guard) and asked him for a needle and some thread. When he went to his room to get the thread I followed him, flashed the gun and ordered him to put up his hands. He thought I was fooling and started to fight. It didn't last long. I got the best of him easily and threw him into a closet.

Came Out With a Club.

"I had told Jerry that if I had to shoot him to run like hell. We demanded the keys from Mr. Allen and I convinced him that I would shoot him if he didn't come across. Finally he shouted from the closet he would give them up and not to shoot. We released the door and out he came with a baseball bat, swinging at us. Then we had another fight. I didn't want to shoot him for fear of the noise. After a while we knocked him out and took the keys away from him. Wendall Hardy then joined us, he had been watching the stairs, and Jerry gave the keys to him. Wendall opened the doors and as we got outside some boys came toward us and we started running.

When we got to the kitchen we saw more boys and when they appeared as though they were coming with us, I flashed the gun on them, pulled the hammer back and ordered them to scatter. And they sure did" remarked Frankie with a smile. "We started across the field, running like fiends. Some men began to chase us but Jerry turned and fired a couple of shots. We raced to the railroad tracks, jumped a fence, and went up a side road. We reached Elm Street and found men were still back of us. While Jerry tried to hold them back with the gun, Wendal and I tried to locate an automobile.

"First we found a sedan but the man in the car got so excited when we flashed the gun on him he couldn't start the motor, so we continued on, running up the road until we found a man and a girl sitting in a roadster.

"Jerry shoved the gun in the man's face and cried, 'Do what I say or I'll blow your brains out,' the girl in the car said: 'Don't use such language', and Jerry turned to her shouting, 'You shut up'. Then Wendall and I climbed into the rumble seat and Jerry stood on the running board with the gun stuck in the man's ribs. Jerry told the man to drive fast," continued young Rocus, "and he sure did. I was afraid we would get held up for speeding. When we had driven some distance, the girl wantd to get out, but nothing doing. She would only have told the police. We had to put the gun on her to keep her quiet. Finally we reached Merrimack.

"On the other side of Merrimack we noticed a powerful sedan approaching and we made our driver block the road to force it to stop. We held the sedan up, forced the driver out, but found we could not drive it. So we forced the driver back in, held the gun to his head and made him drive us to Boston.

CANNON IN QUEBEC?

QUEBEC, June 21.—A rumor which is gaining ground and is not denied by Liberal headquarters here is that Hon. Lucien Cannon, Solicitor-General, may run in Quebec County. This report would mean that the Solicitor-General, who has represented Dorchester County, would run in that division if Colonel Lagiguer, Mayor of Quebec, decides to withdraw. With Maurice Brasset, K.C., chosen for Gaspe, there remain only three more Liberal conventions to be held in the district of Quebec, namely, in Portneuf, on June 23, when Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, and Hon. Lucien Cannon will be present; Champlain, on the same date, which will be attended by Senator Paradis; and Quebec West, probably June 25, in the latter division. While the choice has not yet been made, two names are to be submitted, those of Charles Parent, brother of Senator Parent, who represented that division formerly, and Gerard Lacroix, an attorney, who is President of a Liberal organization in that division.

UNITED COUNTIES URBAN GROUP

In other words this year's tax rate can apply only to the equalized assessment as fixed last year. The new valuation, therefore, can be adopted this year, but merely as the equalized assessment for the county taxes of 1931.

Surprise for Farmers

The rural members had not fully reckoned with the resourcefulness of the urban representatives and also their somewhat desperate position because of the fact that the proposed new assessment would impose on their municipalities a considerable increase in their taxes in spite of the fact that their local rates for this year have already been determined.

And in the figure of the cat and mouse mentioned in an earlier report of the session's proceedings, the mouse has actually escaped, temporarily at least when the urban reeves thought they had shot their last bolt with their protest and notice to the council of their intention to appeal to the countics Judge.

A Formal Protest

Their protest in the form of a resolution moved by Deputy-reeve Jas. Sinnott of Port Hope and seconded by W. B. Pratt, deputy reeve of Cobourg, was as follows:—

"That we, the undersigned representatives of the municipalities as stated below, protest against the report of the Counties' valuators as being inequitable, and not in the interests of all concerned, for the following reasons:—

(1)—That farm land within the area of a number of our municipalities was not valued by the valuators. We submit that this land constitutes a considerable acreage and a large proportion of the land taxes of some of our municipalities, and that land adjoining, which is in the townships, is assessed at a much lower value;

(2)—That the value of town property should be based on earning power rather than on sale value, and on this basis the urban values would be reduced considerably;

(3)—That the tax rate in towns and villages has been growing steadily owing to the increasing costs of local improvements, etc., and in an attempt to keep the tax rate down assessment of real property has been increased from time to time, so that the property in towns and villages is assessed out of proportion to property in towns and villages is assessed out of proportion to property in rural districts where local improvements do not enter into the rates.

(4)—That the value of the township assessments is not sufficient, and to be on par with values in towns and villages would have to be raised considerably.

We further resolve that it would be an injustice to the municipalities we represent, if the County rate, based on the new values, were put into effect this year, as most of the municipalities have already struck their rates for 1930.

And further, that if this is done without further consideration of the whole question being allowed, we will make an appeal to the County Judge for a commission to be appointed to go into the whole matter.

(Signed):

George Hancock, Port Hope.
C. E. Rehder, Bowmanville.
B. H. Maybee, Brighton.
W. B. Pratt, Cobourg.

C. M. Finkle, Colborne.
P. Stinson, Millbrook.

The 1931 Assessment

One fact emerges clearly from all the controversy over this assessment problem; and that is, the 1931 equalized assessment is to be the full valuation of the Counties, as appraised by the three valuators, unless the towns proceed with their protest within the twenty days which is allowed them for decision.

This fact was established by the adoption of the Equalization Committee's report, Friday morning, with its recommendation that the new valuation be accepted as the equalized assessment. As result of Friday afternoon's developments, however, it does not take effect until 1931, and even at that it may be appealed by the towns within the next twenty days.

Reeve George Van Volkenburg of Seymour, chairman of the Finance Committee, was hampered in the preparation of his budget for this year by the dilatory tactics of the urban municipalities as they sought some way of escape from the new valuation as the current equalized assessment. Other contentious subjects held up the traditional schedule, and only a spirited race against time last night avoided a Saturday session.

Bonus for Valuators

The last act of the council was the voting of a bonus to the three valuators, as follows: $100 each to Col. Johnston and Mr. Rowe, and $50 to Mr. Thmpson. Their rate of payment had been $5 a day and $150 each for expenses, and they had worked 114 days. The valuators submitted a statement of their actual expenses, showing the excess of their expenditure over the $150 allowance. These individual amounts were: Mr. Rowe, $165; Col. Johnston, $233 and Mr. Thompson, $189.90.

Col. Johnston, as chairman of the commission, said that the valuators were not asking the council for any specific sum. They had undertaken the work without knowing exactly what time would be required to complete it, and they merely presented the facts to the council, leaving entirely to the members the granting of any expense bonus.

Mrs. Macdonald, reeve of Cobourg proposed that they be reimbursed in full, and Reeve Bygott of Campbellford seconded her motion. It was withdrawn when Reeve Stinson suggested the amounts which were passed. An amendment by Reeve Parker of Alnwick, that no bonus be granted, was defeated.

Agricultural Grants

The following grants, recommended by the Agricultural Committee of which Reeve W. A. Goodfellow, Brighton township, were approved as follows: Exhibits at Canadian National Exhibition, $250; apple exhibit at Royal Winter Fair, $50; Junior Farmer extension work in Northumberland, $200 and in Durham $200; Cheesemakers' Association, $100; Massey Scholarship fund whereby one junior farmer from each county is bonused to the extent of $100 for the regular course at the Ontario Agricultural College $100; and $60 to each county for expenses in connection with the County Improvement Association.

The following members were appointed to the County Improvement Association: Reeve Gordon Parker of Alnwick and Deputy Reeve P. R. Darling of Cramahe township and Reeve W. H. Carruthers of Bowmanville and Deputy Reeve R. J. McKnight of Cavan.

Purchase Cabinets

The Property committee's report by J. N. Stone recommended the purchase of eight filing cabinets for the Port Hope Registry office and six cabinets for the Cobourg registry office at the price of $60 for each cabinet.

House of Refuge

The report of the Board of Management of the House of Refuge included the information that 68 inmates were on the roll at June 1. Twenty-six receive old age pensions of which $16 a month is received from each inmate by the counties treasurer, the total monthly payment being $468. Of the 68 inmates 29 are men and 39 women.

Words Cannot Express His Gratitude

New Brunswick Man Praises Dodd's Kidney Pills

"My physician told me I had a diseased Kidney and I was just about all used up," writes Mr. William H. Lambert, a resident of Lambertville, N.B. "I took twelve boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and am now able to attend to all my duties. Practically as well as ever. Cannot say too much in their praise." Dodd's Kidney Pills hold their popularity not because of the promises they make, but because of the good they do. Dodd's Kidney Pills are purely and simply a Kidney remedy. They strengthen the Kidneys so they can do their full work of straining the impurities out of the blood.

THE great value of the Pontiac Big Six is nowhere more apparent than in the care with which every part, however small, has been brought to perfection and protected against wear and tear.

For instance, the springs are not only supple, strong and efficient, but they are enclosed in leather covers. As a result, the grease on the springs is kept free from dirt and water. A special Bonderizing process renders fenders and dust aprons absolutely impervious to rust. The Lovejoy shock absorbers, front and rear, have solid links . . . enabling them literally to absorb every road shock. The famous cross flow radiator prevents overheating and too rapid evaporation of water. And crankcase ventilation makes oiling more efficient and economical.

It is the painstaking attention to detail shown in such features as these that makes the Pontiac Big Six so much finer . . . offering so much more for your money than other cars in its price class. TOKYO (U.P.) — The march of progress in Japan has its drawbacks. Seven persons were sleeping in three houses in the Tsukijima district of Tokyo when a huge crane, being used in the construction of a nearby building, toppled over, crushing the three wood and paper houses like egg shells. Fortunately, however, the great steel arm was partially supported by guide wires and those asleep in the three houses, awakened by the crushing of the roofs, were able to escape injury.

CANADA'S FOREST RESORTS

Evidence of the popularity of the summer resorts in the national forests administered by the Forest Service, Department of the Interior, was afforded by the fact that eight hundred motor cars were counted on one occasion during the summer of 1929 at a band concert at Kamsack Beach on the Duck Mountain National forest, Manitoba.

KEENE CONTEST DATE SETTLED

Peterborough County Judging Competitions Will Be Held on Thursday, June 26.

CAPABLE JUDGES.

The annual Peterborough County judging competitions in livestock, grain and domestic science, the big event of the year for the junior farmers, will be held at Keene on Thursday, June 26. All boys and girls in the county under 26 years of age will be eligible to compete.

Ten boys to make the trip to the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto, with all expenses paid as guests of the Department of Agriculture, will be chosen at the competitions. Also teams to represent the county at inter-county livestock judging competition at Ottawa and the Royal Fair will be selected.

Last year the competition was staged at Lakefield, where a total of 91 young people took part. This year's competitions promise to attract even a larger attendance, the local office of the Ontario Department of Agriculture reports. There are already nearly forty boys entered in the competition for the free trip to the Royal Fair.

Those attending the competitions are asked to bring their lunches and suppers, and music is being arranged for the evening in Keene Hall where a dance will be staged.

Capable Judges

J. B. Nelson, Peterborough County agricultural representative, is in charge of arrangements. Miss Edith Hopkins of the Women's Institute Branch will supervise the domestic science competitions.

According to the rules of the event, the entry fee is 25 cents. Domestic science competitions will be held in the Otonabee township hall at Keene commencing at 9 a.m. Boys for the livestock competition will meet at the hall at 9 a.m. and drive to the various farms for the judging. Grain judging will be in the hall at 2 o'clock. All entrants will judge all classes and give oral reasons. No contestant will be allowed to take more than one prize which will be the one of highest value.

From the household science competions three girls will be selected to represent the County in an inter-county competition at the Canadian National Exhibition. Ten dollars, donated by Warden James Hawthorne, will go to the highest girl who has never competed at a competion before. It will be used to defray expenses of a trip to the Royal Fair.

The girl who makes the greatest number of points in the whole competition will receive $5, donated by Reeve McIntyre. It is to be put towards expenses to the Royal Fair. A cook book will go to the two highest girls in each of the three divisions of the competition: nutrition, house furnishings and good dressing.

To be eligible for the free trip to the Royal Fair, boys must be between the ages of 16 and 20 years and are required to submit qualifying "cost-of-production" statements.

Ten dollars toward the expenses of a trip to the Fair will be donated by T. P. Lancaster, M.L.A., to the older boy who trains and brings to the competition the best team of three boys. The competitor must make his entry before the day of the competition. He may bring as many boys as he wishes and the three best will constitute his team. Boys on these teams must not previously have been on county teams or Royal Fair trips.

Ten dollars toward the expenses of a trip to the Royal Winter Fair by the Bank of Toronto in Keene will go to the champion in the whole competition. The high boy who has never competed in a competition previously will get a shield donated by the Canadian National Exhibition.

Other prizes for the boys are a five-dollar award to the high boy in livestock judging donated by Silverwood's, Peterborough; five gallons of motor oil by J. K. Hughes, Limited, and copies of "The Book of Livestock," by Professor Toole.

NEW MACHINE SHOP BEING OPENED UP

Photo Engraving Work Will Be Handled in New Plant.

A machine shop fitted up with machinery, which will enable all classes of machine, tool, die work and acetylene welding to be handled, has recently been opened on Hunter street and is situated near the Jackson Park Creek bridge almost immediately at the rear of the premises recently vacated by the Border Transit Company.

The manager of the firm operating under the name of The Perfect Engraving Tool and Die Company, is N. Meissner for three years employed by the Canadian General Electric Company.

An interesting fact in connection with the new enterprise is that machinery is to be installed next week which will facilitate the handling of photo engraving work, a class of work which has never before been attempted in this city and which has formerly been handled in Toronto.

Mr. Meissner will be assisted by a staff of about five men for the initial period of the venture, and will be fully prepared to handle engraving and die sinking in addition to the operations already enumerated.

TIENTSIN, China, June 21.—(CP)—With shipping tied up in his port because of seizure of the customs by General Yen Hsi-Shan, foreign consuls have taken matters into their own hands.

British and Japanese consuls issued emergency clearances to vessels under their flags, and also gave permits for export and import against acceptable guarantees of payment of duties.

The French and United States consuls also issued clearances, but did not ask guarantees for duty payments.

In addition to the government customs seized by the northern rebel chieftan, the native customs also are closed, with the railways refusing to load or unload goods.

THEATRE NEWS

SEQUEL READY FOR "ALL QUIET"

"Camerade" By Same Author Touches a Lighter Mood.

LOS ANGELES, June 21—"Camerade," by Erich Maria Remarque, author of "All Quiet on the Western Front", to be produced by Universal, is in a happier mood. Although "All Quiet on the Western Front" will gross $8,000,000 and is regarded as one of the finest pictures ever made, it is not likely a sequel as somber would be equally profitable. Most people like to laugh, and artistry becomes secondary when it is too gloomy.

In saying this we are taking none of the glory away from "All Quiet on the Western Front", for it is an achievement that Carl Laemmle, Sr., and Jr., can be proud to claim.

The boy, Lew Ayres, so definitely associated with "All Quiet on the Western Front" will again have the lead in "Camerade" and Lewis Milestone will direct.

Adolphe Menjou will remain in America. One brief year in Paris making a French picture has decided him on his course. The film companies appreciate him and he appreciates them. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has signed Adolphe on a long term contract or will sign him any day now. Negotiations are complete and ready for signatures.

HOLLYWOOD GLIMPSES

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks, accompanied by Joe Schenck, in the Rooseveit Hotel after a Wampas meeting. Monte Blue and his pretty wife entertaining guests at the same place. Irving Aaronsen's commanders giving a special program in honor of this gala occasion. Marjorie Rambeau, wearing a becoming polka dot dress and looking unusually well, at "All Quiet on the Western Front." Norma Talmadge and Mrs. Phyllis Daniels lunching and shopping together. Carmel Myers receiving a diamond necklace from her husband for their first wedding anniversary gift and wearing it at the Embassy Club. The French Room at the Ambassador unusually gay, with Ralph Forbes, Ruth Chatterton, Lothar Mendez, Ernst Lubitsch and Dolores Del Rio all seen dancing.

The Carnegie Endowment Fund for International Peace has presented 2,000 volumes on American law, costing $7,000, to Middle Temple of London.

CASTING "SUNNY" TALKER

Joe Donahue and Joe Cawthorne Slated For It

HOLLYWOOD, June 21.—Joseph Cawthorne will play his original stage role in First National's production of "Sunny," which started June 16. It is likely Joe Donahue, brother of Jack Donahue and his understudy, will do the latter's role. Screen tests made in the east were liked.

Donahue will be Marilyn Miller's dancing partner. No romantic juvenile cast as yet. But two songs from the original musical and not more than two chorus numbers will be used.

Studio will concentrate on story rather than spectacle angle. Ensembles will be in black and white.

SONG BOOSTS COLLEGE

University of Maine Has 500 Applications.

PORTLAND, Me., June 21.—Since Tin Pan Alley stood and drank to Dear Old Maine the value of advertising has been further asserted. The University of Maine admits a combined total of 200 out-of-state students each year.

Since January, when Rudy Vallee via radio started plugging its Alma Mater song, the university has received more than 500 applications from residents of other states, the majority being west of the Mississippi, who are desirous of entering this institution of learning this fall.

STAGE AND SCREEN NOTES

Helen Cohan, second daughter of George M. Cohan, made her stage debut in Hollywood in "June Moon." Slipped into the show without extra publicity.

Greta Garbo is scheduled to do "Red Dust" to be directed by Fred Niblo.

It is understood that Mary Pickford's "Forever Yours" is being almost rewritten and when it goes into production Sam Taylor will direct. Also that the only member of the original cast to be retained will be Kenneth McKenna opposite Miss Pickford.

Jess Willard, former heavyweight champ, is setting up in Hollywood as an all-night-and-all-day grocer. Construction has been started on Vine Street of Willard's store.

Beatrice Lillie who gave a sort of farewell party at her home in the Hills, is leaving for London next week. The small son of Lady Peel has been at school in Switzerland, and Bee is eager to get back to be with him when his vacation starts.

Victor Schertzinger says that he wanted to make the Klein drama, "The Lion and the Mouse," into a photoplay some years ago, but was prevented when the producer declared the public to be through with animal pictures! Of course, time have changed now and Hollywood knows better!

POSING RECORD

HOLLYWOOD, June 21.—Greta Garbo's record of posing for 175 photographs at one sitting was broken by Marion Davies, who posed for 273 pictures.

She made about 32 changes of costume during the sitting.

NEW FILM COMPANY

Majestic Production Has Eight Features Planned.

HOLLYWOOD, June 21.—First of eight features to be made by the newly formed Majestic Productions is "To-Day", based on a play by Abraahm Schomers. In the cast will be Conrad Nagel, Catherine Dale Owen, Carmel Myers and George Fawcett. William Nigh will direct the picture to be made at Tec-Art studios.

UNDER THE FLEUR-DE-LYS

Scout Missellany, by Jim Hawthorne (Extracts from the "Piper of Pax", the official life story of Lord Baden Powell, by E. K Wade. The Hero of Mafeking).

After seven months of hard work work by day and night, of daily bombardment, the most meagre of rations, an empire load of responsibility and complete isolation from the outside world, B.P. awoke as from a dream, to find himself a hero in the eyes of the world, with a record which, as Lord Strathcona described it, was worth a dozen coronets. His promotion to Major-General was the immediate recognition which his services received. In the meantime the news of the relief of Mafeking had, of course, reached England, and you can imagine the joy it brought to B.P.'s mother and family. And not only to those who knew him but to hundreds of thousands of his fellow subjects who had been waiting and watching for seven long months for the news of Mafeking's relief. The best way to give you an idea of how the news was received in England is to quote a few short extracts from some of the hundreds of letters which B.P. and his family received about this time. They came from people of every kind—men, women and children, school boys and girls, old servants, cook's sons and duke's sons, the Duke of Connaught and gypsies and generals, all united in their wish to be first to congratulate their hero.

One enthusiast informed him they were going to call their foal after him. A nine-year-old admirer wrote to tell him of two rabbits she possessed, one of which always stayed awake, while the other was asleep. "So we have named him after you as people say you are the man who never sleeps."

From a village outside Birmingham one admirer wrote telling him of the amazing scenes when the news came through. "People were knocking each other down, they were making such a noise with tins and kettles", every house had the Union Jack out.

I will finish these quotations with the telegram Queen Victoria sent to B.P., written out in her own hand at the dinner table as soon as the news reached her:

"I and my Empire greatly rejoice at the relief of Mafeking after the splendid defence made by you through all these months. I heartily congratulate you and all under you, military and civil, British and native, for heroism and devotion you have shown. V.R and I."

Queen Victoria died less than a year later.

"In war there is no time for peace, and while England was preparing to receive the hero of Mafeking with cheers and flag-wavings, with processions and freedoms, B.P. himself was quietly getting on with the next job of war, which consisted in getting together what forces he could to clear the surrounding country. At Pretoria he had a warm welcome. He B.P. and his staff were entertained by men whose names are household names today, Lord Roberts, Kitchener, French and General Maxwell, the governor, with whom he stayed.

In June of the year 1900 B.P. was ordered home by a medical board. Writing to our chief's mother, Dr. Beevor, said: "What the General went through at Mafeking was again enough to lay most men up for a considerable time." B.P. was ordered home for six months and home he went, though under protest.

While enjoying his well-earned holiday in England and Scotland B.P. received a summons to Balmoral, where King Edward was in residence, and he spent the week end of 12th October, 1901. On that day he wrote: "I have just had my interview with the King. Went to his study and had a long talk alone with him. Then he rang and sent for the Queen who came in with the little Duke of York, and we had a long chat, chiefly about my police, lady Sarah, Alexander of Teck, Moncrieff, present state of war, colonials as troops, etc. The King handed me C.B. and South African medal. It was a cheery interview and the King asked me to stay till Monday."

It was not until June, 1902, that the war came to an end, and the whole country was handed over to B.P.'s South African constabulary. In January of 1903 he was offered the high post of Inspector-General of the Cavalry at home, the Blue Ribbon of the Cavalry at Service, which he accepted and thus returned home to commence the materialization of his dream of Scouting.

Next week we will tell how he made his dream a reality.

Good Scouting is the wish of,

COOKING WITH GAS ON AN AUTOMATIC RANGE

COOKS WHILE YOU PLAY

My, what a boon to the busy housewife cooking with gas on one of our new oven heat control ranges is. Such a cooker will maintain any desired temperature she wants in the oven. A simple motion sets the regulating dial and the control does the rest. Then she can go out for the afternoon, play bridge or engage in any other social function, resting assured that on her return dinner will be cooked to a turn, ready for serving. These ranges are not expensive, and the cost of gas comes very easy on the housekeeping budget.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, June 21.— A feature of the cash grain trade here yesterday was the easier feeling that developed, and prices for all lines were reduced 1 cent per bushel.

Extreme dullness marked the trade in cheese, butter and eggs. Cheese receipts were 7,964 boxes; butter, 3,783 boxes, and eggs, 2,900 cases.

The demand for potatoes was fair. No. 1 new grades were offered at $8 per 160-lb. barrel. Old potatoes sold from $1.80 to $2 per 90 lbs., in bulk.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, June 21.—Wheat prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange dropped into the dark depths below the dollar line for the second time this season yesterday and closed at near bottom levels. To a degree the market followed the trend at Chicago. Losses for the day amounted to 1 7-8c to 2 1-8c.

Opening fractionally higher, wheat thereafter slumped, with practically no buying support. Selling was in large volume. The July future touched a low of 96½c a bushel and closed less than a cent better.

Cash wheat spreads ¼c better, but demand continued light and trading was dull. Only a few lots of coarse grains changed hands. All commodities were lower.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 21—Collapsing to fresh low prices unequalled for years the wheat market yesterday dragged down all other cereals. Canada reported the heaviest rains of that year as coming just in the nick of time to halt crop damage, resulting from hot, dry winds.

Stock market weakness also had a bearish influence on wheat traders, together with reports about Federal Farm Board expenses being much larger than had been looked for, and that a bill had been introduced in Congress looking to repeal of the act, under which the board is operating.

Closing quotations on wheat were heavy at practically the lowest point reached, 2½c to 2¾c a bushel under finish. Corn closed ¾c to 1¼c down, and oats ⅝c off, but provisions showing 2c to 10c advance.

TORONTO PRODUCE.

TORONTO, June 21. — The local butter market took some good sized slumps during the week and rested Friday at levels unheard of in ten years. Dealers were anything but happy over the situation and did not know where it would end(and buyers did not seem any too interested(even at exceptionally low prices. The market was down ¼c on No. 1 Ontario for the week and prices were 27c to 27¼c(with some reports of sales at 26¾c. The price of 27c though could be taken as general and many sales were made at this quotation. Ontario No. 2 was 1c lower than 2, at 26c to 26¼c for good scoring product, but toward the end of the week some very low scoring No. 2 was offered at 24c.

Well Stocked.

The general outlook is not too good. Some of the larger buyers went outside the market during the week for supplies of New Zealand, and they can now sit back and wait for the market to come to their terms before storing any Ontario. Some of the holders will probably be able to wipe out some of the losses on New Zealand purchases by securing Ontario butter at very low prices, and storing it.

Cream.

Cream prices remained firm at the end of the week with the decline to 28c to 29c for special, 27c to 28c for No 1, and 24c to 25c for No. 2 f.o.b. at country points. But with the butter market continuing weak, lower prices can be expected.

Cheese.

Cheese prices to both shipper and retailer were lower during the week. Shippers were quoted 18¼c for new, large; 18½c for twins, and 18¾c for triplets. Retailers were able to buy at 18c for new large, 18½c for twins and 18½c for triplets. Trade on the cheese market was draggy all week. Sales were made quite often, but they were small sales.

Eggs.

The egg market, as far as country shippers were concerned remained steady, but dealers' prices for graded eggs weakened a little toward the end of the week. Shippers were quoted 28c for extras, 26c for firsts, and 22c to 2c3 for seconds, ungraded, delivered, cases returned. Dealers offered graded eggs at 29c to 30c for extras, 27c to 28c for firsts and 24c to 24½c for seconds. The prices to retailers dropped a cent per dozen late in the week, and they were asked 34c for extras in cartons 32c for extras loose, 30c for firsts loose ,and 26c to 27c for seconds loose. Buyers were gradually diminishing their supplies purchased for the Shrine Convention, and it looked as if the market would remain steady for a short time at least.

Lumber in Transit

An interesting study being carried out at present by the Forest Products Laboratories of Canada, Department of Interior, is the behaviour of lumber in transit from the Pacific Coast. The Vancouver laboratory has arranged to place in carloads of lumber consigned to Montreal and Ottawa a number of boards, the moisture content of which was determined in Vancouver. Through co-operation with eastern consignees, the Ottawa and Montreal laboratories have been checking up these moisture contents on arrival in the east, to determine the amount of moisture absorbed in transit.

Canada's Scenic Grandeur

One of the chief characteristics of Jasper national park, Alberta, is the variety and beauty of its mountain lakes. Near the town of Jasper itself there are at least a dozen tarns—crystalline jewels reflecting almost every hue, from the pale topaz of Chrome lake, the lapis lazuli and sapphire of Patricia and Pyramid, the vivid emerald of Beauvert, the fire-like opal tints of lake Edith. Farther away are others, each beautiful in its own way: Medicine and Jacques lakes, Cavell lake, Amethyst lake in Tonquin valley, Brazeau lake to the south and Twin Tree lake to the north.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE WEEKLY COLUMN

A goodly thing it is to meet
In Friendship's circle bright,
Where nothing stains the pleasure sweet
Or dims the radiant light.
No unkind word our lips shall pass,
No envy sour the mind,
But each shall seek the common weal,
The good of all mankind.

TRENT RIVER

The following is a report of the activities of Trent River Branch which was not supplied the press secretary when reporting the District Annual which was held in Havelock.

Trent River Women's Institute was organized last November with a membership of 20. Mrs. J. A. Sexsmith was present at the organization and gave a brief talk on Institute Work. Since then eight meetings have been held. Considerable money has been raised by the making of a Christmas Cake and a Valentine social for the children. All the money has been spent for charitable purposes which have arisen in the neighborhood. The reciepts totalled $34.60 and expenditures, $17.50.

CAVAN

In last week's Institute column the Warsaw correspondent reminded Institute members that they should use "made in Canada goods."

We think it the right thing to do. In view of the unemployment situation, loyal citizens will do every thing possible to strive to give work to their fellow citizens. However, rural women, who are the major part of the Institute, think it would be a good thing if a call were sounded to urban societies to not only use Canadian-made manufactured goods, but also use Canadian butter, eggs, potatoes and fruit.

The price of eggs and butter, particularly the latter is too much on the down grade, in fact there does not seem to be a very great demand for dairy butter. We cannot possibly compete with Australia in making butter economically. Their cattle graze the year round, ours are very often stable fed for seven or eight months as was the case last year, and on account of unfavorable weather much of the feed had to be bought.

Likewise with potatoes, even now they are being shipped in, very small in size, but big in price, while old home-grown potatoes are little in demand.

Imported tomatoes are being used, so much that when the Canadian grown tomatoes are ready for use, the appetites for them, of many of the people, will have become satisfied and they will be ready to buy something else coming in earlier than the same vegetable or fruit can be grown in Canada.

To be helpful the slogan "Buy Canadian Goods", should be observed in both rural and urban centres.

A helpful suggestion is made by one Institute, that Institutes should buy bulbs in the fall, divide them up among their member, who could pot them and grow them in succession, to have in readiness for those ill or shut-in. Thus flowering plants could be sent at small expense, thus saving the funds for other uses.

Another suggestion is to have a convenor of current events, whose duty it would be to give a short sketch on current events either at every meeting or occasionally. A suggestion box is a good thing. Some of the more retiring members might often contribute helpful written suggestions where they would be too timid to voice their suggestions in a meeting.

Variety in program adds interest and the "alive Institute" is always looking for new ideas.

WARSAW

Because of the interest that is and should be taken in the Red Cross Outpost Hospital at Apsley, Miss Knaggs was asked to give an account of her work, at the District Annual which was held in Havelock.

The statistics have been published, but it seems that the actual hospital work is but a small part of the nurses' work. She and a housekeeper live at the hospital. Miss Knaggs was at Wilberforee Outpost for a time and has taken up Victorian Order, health nurse and various other lines of nursing work.

The little hospital which was built for a private home but never used as such is gradually being better equipped, but there is still much needed. Miss Knaggs delights in making things do, but there are many things she feels would be better from a hospital standpoint. One of these makeshifts is the washstands. They are neatly made of boxes covered with white oilcloth. While they have answered the purpose a hospital is hardly the place for covered boxes, even covered with oilcloth.

The Outpost nurse makes many trips to the homes, and neither rough road nor bad weather, nor the hour of day or night makes any difference to her. "The roads are rough in spots, and perhaps there are days when the clouds are black, but even with it all this is one of the most satisfying works a nurse can do, and when the evening shadows fall we can go to the Master's feet with the feeling we have done what we could to help on His work."

She speaks of the willing help they get from the Red Cross Committee and the people of Apsley have done much to make the nurse's work possible. Without their aid the nurses could not carry on.

The little hospital they have provided is situated on the hill as one enters the village and has very picturesque surroundings and is really very well equipped. There are three very nice wards comfortably and nicely equipped. There is a bathroom, water supply, septic tank, electric light (put in by the Women's Institute) and telephone, all of which makes it better and happier for the patient and easier for the nurse. This year they have provided a fine summer kitchen and are now painting the outside of the building. You will realize that the upkeep of all this and the yearly repairs and replacements means quite a large item, yet they have shouldered all this uncomplainingly for the benefit of the community and they have many other calls on their pockets as well but they feel it all worth while.

Your correspondent has visited the hospital but there is much better equipment now than there was the first time, and surely if there is any place to which we wish to send assistance it should be there. The people there are not begging from the public but a little aid from the Institutes would be appreciated.

Household linen needs to be replaced more frequently in a hospital than in a private home. Even with the utmost care blankets which must be frequently fumigated or disenfected in some way give out. Sometimes mothers have no garments for the little ones. Bandages, dressings and drug supplies must be kept up and little white enamelled iron wash stands perhaps with glass tops would be a boon. Some of the branches have aided in various ways and what has been appreciated.

MILLBROOK

Entertaining the grandmother is an annual feature of most Institute programs, but one branch, by way of variety, broadened the scope of its invitations and included the grandmothers, the grandfathers, and the babies. They claim it was a great occasion; the senior girls helped to look after the baby guests, the grandfathers talked, some of them sang, more than one gave an exhibition of step-dancing as it was practiced in their young manhood days, and the grandmothers had a darning contest, a slow walk race (the grandfathers took part in this, too, as partners are required), sang songs, and showed samples of work done in earlier years, and work each is doing to-day. Refreshments were planned to suit the guests, the babies' table having a simple menu, while old-fashioned dishes were prepared for the delight of the older folk, with some modern appetizers like salads and ices that make a strong appeal to the grandparents as well as the younger element of the present age.

District annual meetings are to the fore just now, and one suggestion for keeping all the branches 'on their toes' comes from western Ontario where a flag goes to the Institute scoring the highest number of points in attendance, program, and community work during the year. Other district organizations might try out this plan for two or three years and see what stimulus it provides for more vigorous work in the individual branches.

Again and again speakers at Institute gatherings have found difficulty in making a question drawer a success, from the standpoint of stirring up the members enough to write a question or two on the neat slips of paper handed round for the purpose. However, if even but a few questions are sent in, and the subjects introduced are live ones in the community, the ice will soon be broken, tongues will move freely, and much valuable information will be gained. At one meeting where an official from Toronto was the guest speaker the question of chicken feeding soon had a general discussion going, because in that particular rural neighborhood this came very closely home to the farmers' wives, a friendly rivalry in this branch of farm activity having been going on for years.

In another section the matter of engaging a school nurse had the whole meeting interested and talking because this had been 'seething' for some time as a necessity in the community, had been urged upon the Institute by the local medical practitioner, who declared the service of such a worker were really indispensable, and the matter of expense, government grant, duties, and actual need engaged immediate attention.

Teaching music in the schools is another topic that is sure of interested attention and keen discussion, if one member will only word the question and see that it goes into the box passed round when the 'question drawer' is announced. Consolidated schools, their usefulness and necessity, will always start the ball rolling, as will also the query as to having a Continuation school in even in a small community so 'teen age boys and girls may have a longer period under parental control. These are a few suggestions that may be of use the next time slips are passed round in the meeting, "and for the life of you you cannot think of one thing to write as your contribution to the question drawer, announced as the next feature on the program."

LAWN SOCIAL IS SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR

Pleasing Event Held Under Auspices of St. George's Church Ladies' Guild.

The lawn social under the auspices of St. George's Ladies' Guild held Thursday afternoon and evening, was somewhat marred by the inclement weather. The two marquees which had been erected on the church grounds were used in the afternoon, but the evening's proceedings were carried on in the church basement where there was a good attendance and a very pleasant evening was spent. A table of plain and fancy sewing was in charge of Mrs. H. Wood, president, and Mrs. R. King. Homemade cooking and candy, ice cream and lemonade were served from tables presided over by Mesdames P. Malsch, C. Cole, F. Dorrell, C. Robinson, L. Warren and A. H. Cook. During the evening pianoforte selections were played by Miss Betty Cook and a three piece orchestra composed of piano, Percy Atkinson, saxaphone, Harold Sowden and drums, Raymond Cook also provided musical items.

OBITUARY

MRS. JOSEPH SUCEE
(Contributed)

Mrs. Joseph Sucee, formerly Grace Yelland Northey, the subject of this memoir, was born on the 7th line of the township of Smith on April 2, 1866 and died at her residence, 169 Hunter street east, Peterborough on June 17, 1930. On December 4, 1889 she was married to Joseph Sucee who still survives her, while she also leaves to mourn her loss her sons, William Albert at home, Melville of Ottawa, daughter, Mrs. A. J. Stephenson of this city and a stepson C. D. Sucee of Chatham. Her brothers are J. H. Northey, Murray street, W. S. Northey, London street, and one sister, Mrs. J. E. Trennum of Smith township.

In her young womanhood she was a very successful and influential Sabbath school teacher and for years she was a great worker in the W. M. S. Ladies' Aid and Church work in Mark street Church.

Her funeral service was conducted by her pastor, Rev. J. E. J. Millyard of George street United Church who gave a very fine address based on the 23rd Psalm. He was assisted in the service at the house by Rev. Dr. J. E. Moore and at the cemetery by Rev. A. E. Thornley, M. A. The floral offerings were many and beautiful and bespoke the great love which relatives and friends held for the departed one.

HUGH FREDERICK McARTHUR

HAVELOCK, June 21. (Examiner Correspondence).— The funeral of the late Hugh Frederick McArthur whose tragic death occurred on Saturday morning, June 14th, was held on Monday afternoon and was the largest funeral seen in these parts for a number of years.

The funeral procession left his home, lot 17, concession 10, Belmont and proceeded to the White Church, where the service was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Joblin, pastor of the church, and Rev. Mr. Archer of Havelock United Church. They were assisted by three former pastors of the church at Rush Point, Rev. Mr. Howard of Warkworth, Rev. Mr. Loveless of Ivanhoe, and Rev. Mr. Herrington of Warsaw. Mr. Joblin preached the funeral oration and spoke words of appreciation of the sterling character of the departed Sunday school superintendent, who had so faithfully discharged the many duties that fell to him. He expressed the sympathy of the entire congregation to the bereaved wife and children, his brothers and sisters, and other relatives and friends.

The other clergymen present spoke feelingly of the great loss to the church, and to the whole community occasioned by the untimely death of Mr. McArthur. After the service, the cortege proceeded to Maple Grove Cemetery, where interment was made in the family plot. The pall bearers were members of Belmont council of which the dead man had been head councillor; Messrs. Frank Breckenridge, former Reeve; Gilbert Steenburg, road superintendent; Grant Dafoe, clerk; Jos. McNeeley, Christy Steenburg, and Mr. Vansickle, all councillors.

Many beautiful floral pieces spoke eloquently of the love and respect of a host of relatives and friends. Besides his wife, formerly Cora Pollock, and two children, he leaves five sisters and two brothers. They are Mrs. Bernard Smith, Mrs. Wannamaker, Mrs. J. Cochrane of Havelock; Mrs. Menzie and Mrs. Keene of Belmont; Martin and Alexander of Belmont.

A., No. 244, entertained a large number of visitors from Lindsay and Cobourg Lodges, as well as members of sister lodges in the city, at their regular meeting this week. The Scarlet Degree was beautifully exemplified by the degree team, seven candidates taking the obligation. At the conclusion of the meeting a banquet was served in the dining-room. The tables were decorated with fluted crepe paper runners of scarlet and white, and for a centerpiece a huge red peony was formed of crepe paper, holding a vase of re dpeonies and white gardenia. Smaller red peonies holding a vase of red peonies and red and white baskets holding after dinner mints completed the decoration. One hundred and twenty-five people sat down to a sumptuous banquet, at which Mrs. E. B. Brown, Worthy Mistress of Vimy Ridge, presided. Speeches of congratulation and thanks were voiced by the Worthy Mistress of Lindsay Lodge, Mrs. Moore, and by Mrs. Newton, Worthy Mistress of Cobourg Lodge, which were responded to by Mr. D. Manley, Guardian of Vimy Ridge. A presentation of a sandwich tray was made to Mrs. Moore of Lindsay by the members of Vimy Ridge, to which she gracefully replied. Mrs. Broadley, the pianist of Vimy Ridge, was presented by the members of Lindsay Lodge with a hand-painted china sugar and cream set, which she suitably acknowledged. Mrs. Roy Pilling acted as general convenor of arrangements. Mrs. Holden kindly donated the peonies for decorations and Mrs. Ainslee the gardenias.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

"Simplicity is an exact medium between too little and too much," said the great painter Sir Joshua Reynolds.

• • • • • •

It is a maxim every home decorator should keep in mind. By following it the charm of reserve and of restfulness is gained in interiors.

• • • • • • •

The dangers are banished of over-crowded rooms, of over-brilliant color schemes, too many ornaments and a super-abundance of furnishings.

• • • • • • •

All these things are at variance with good decoration which suffers more from too much in interiors than from too little.

• • • • • • •

Simplicity is the keynote of correct decoration.

• • • • • • •

The beauty of simplicity consists in having the right things artistically placed. Whatever is necessary for the comfort of the family should be present.

• • • • • • •

If these things add to the decoration they should be featured, but if they do not contribute beauty they should be made inconspicuous. If they suggest comfort and convenience, these very elements are in accord with the feature called cosiness, that is desirable in pleasing interiors.

• • • • • • •

To that extent they do not jar, provided they are of simple construction, and devoid of elaborateness.

• • • • • • • •

They are not 'too much' for they are needed. The unnecessary things are 'too much.'

• • • • • • •

The danger of having too little in decoration is slight for a home accumulates things like a magnet. But apart from this aspect which is altered by elimination treatment, it is possible to have 'too little' by not having the right things.

• • • • • •

For example the absence of a piano in a home where some member of the family is a pianist, or is eager to become one, expresses 'too little.' This is constantly felt by the pianist and by such other members of the family as delight in hearing her play, or who sympathize with her desire to study.

• • • • • • •

Desirable as a radio may be it does not fill this lack and few of the latter instruments are more ornamental than a small grand piano of simple lines and curves.

• • • • • • •

Occasionally newly-weds find it difficult to avoid the appearance of too little in some of the rooms of their home. They should realize though that this is a temporary state, to be tided over by good arrangements, rather than by purchasing cheap and tawdry articles to fill-in space.

• • • • • • •

A few choice articles well placed can be made to appear adequate.

• • • • • • •

By careful selection of fine pieces, and a determination to have too much in their rooms, they soon come to the place denoted in the definition of simplicity by Sir Joshua. After that time they have to be on guard constantly not to accumulate too much and mar the effect.

• • • • • • •

By replacing the least desirable articles by those that are better, and not by adding to the articles can this necessary simplicity in decoration remain.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D

WHY BLOOD TRANSFUSION IS VALUABLE.

You are thrilled from time to time as you read of an accident in which some unfortunate individual has lost so much blood that his very life is at stake, and immediately a dozen relatives, friends, and even strangers are willing to give some of their bloow in an effort to save his life.

The blood of these volunteers is tested, and if suitable, one or more of them give a pint or a quart of blood.

Blood is transfused from one person to another before or after a severe operation.

However, one of the uses of this transfusion of blood is not spoken of very often, and yet many lives have been saved thereby. This is in a case where poison has got into the system, such as inflammation of the intestine, meningitis, an appendix that has burst and allowed pus to get into abdomen.

What is the effect of this pure fresh blood in these cases?

The extra fluid gives the heart more blood to pump and thus a better blood pressure is maintained throughout all the blood vessels of the body, thus ensuring a good blood supply to all parts.

However, what is very interesting and most important is that this new fresh blood actually stimulates the bone marrow to pour out more blood corpuscles.

Further this new blood is rich in proteins (food such as meat and eggs) and it is this kind of food that is Nature's body builder, resisting wear and tear better than any other food.

Thus the power of the blood to overcome poisons in the system really depends upon its richness and upon its ability to get more blood corpuscles from the bone marrow.

However, the point I want to make that if your blood is thin, from loss of blood, undernourishment, or from use of a 'reducing diet' it may not be strong or rich enough to overcome an infection, that comes your way, an infection that would not have 'taken hold' had your blood been in good condition.

And the way to get rich blood is by the use of good foods—meats, eggs, milk, cream, and vegetables, and spending as much time as possible outdoors.

A daily walk means more oxygen needed for the system, and not only is the blood thus purified, but the exercise rids the blood fo wastes which are really poisonous to the system.

Crescents on Heels of Pace Setting C.G.E.

DEFEAT COGS 4-1

Crescents Take Complete Control of Struggle After Bad Opening Frame.

HURLERS GOOD.

Smart Fielding on Part of Both Teams One of Features of the Game.

Phonse Brioux, skipper of the Crescents, is smiling to-day. Smiles have been something of a stranger to the south-end pilot's face of late because his ball team hasn't been doing all the things expected of it in the East Peterborough League campaign and hard luck has dodged its trail.

But the Cresecents shook off the jinx last evening at Exhibition Park and were able to defeat the Cognawagas 4 to 1 in a snappily played game. Thereby the Brioux clan stepped up a peg in the league race and are now in second place, right on the heels of the pace-setting C.G.E. club. Hence smiles light Phonse's visage once more.

After the opening frame in which the Cogs secured three hits, one a long triple by Gordie Cuthbertson, and their lone tally, the Crescents had practically complete control of the struggle. They took the lead in the second with two runs and from then on the Cogs faded before the pitching of Jeff Hardill and were never dangerous.

While Hardill twirled nice ball for the winners, striking out seven and allowing the Cogs but one hit after that first innings, Percy Vannest toiled to good purpose on the Cog's mound. He ran up nine strikeouts, and allowed but five hits.

Only one error was chalked up against each team, the fielding on both outfits being of a classy, air-tight brand.

Cogs Open Strong

The Cogs got away to a great start in the opening stanza after Williams had rolled to second and Billingsley's drive into right had been caught by LeBarr on a nice effort. Cuthbertson tripled into deep right and scored on Rooke's single into left. Corbett followed with another hit, but Wilson rolled to second.

Crescents were weak in their half. LeBarr and Sweetman struck out; Jones single, but Collins fanned for the third out.

In the second for Cogs, Cripps rolled to short. Baker went to first on Hardill's only walk. Vannest took three strikes, and Williams was tossed out by Collins.

Two runs were chased by the Crescents in their half. Hardill started it with a double into left. Crary singled and stole second. Hardill scored on Masterson's sacrifice fly to Cripps. Hickey bounced out to short but Crary scored. Heard struck out.

It was short of the Cogs in the third; Billingsley fanning, Cuthbertson bouncing to second, and Rooke striking out.

Crescents made it three. LeBarr struck out. Sweetman was hit by a pitched ball and stole second. He went to third on Jones' roller to short and scored when Rooke was dragged off the bag taking Corbett's throw of Collins' grounder. Hardill rolled to first.

Corbett struck out to start the fourth. Wilson flied to third and Cripps fanned.

The fifth passed without a flicker. Baker rolled to third, Vannest struck out and Williams raised a fly to Hardill.

The Crescents also went out in order. Heard was tossed out by Vannest. LeBarr fanned, and Sweetman bounced to second.

In the sixth, Billingsley's grounder rolled through Crary's legs. He advanced to second and third on Cuthbertson's and Rooke's taps to second. Corbett skied into centre field.

Jones started off with a single for Crescent and stole second. He went to third on Collin's fly into right field. Hardill rolled to first base. Crary singled, scoring Jones. Masterson struck out.

In the seventh, Wilson rolled to second, Cripps flied to Hardill. Baker came through with a single, but Vannest struck out.

Leafs Win From Bears 9-8 in Hitting Jamboree

HARRIS' HOMER PUTS LEAFS UP

Toronto Hurler Acting in Pinch-hitter Role Drives in Three Tallies.

21-3 Win For Wings.

NEWARK, N. J., June 21. — Joe Harris, performing in the role of a pinch-hitter, arose to heroic heights here yesterday with an eighth-inning home-run with two men on the bases that carried the Toronto Leafs to a 9-8 victory over the Newark Bears. It was the Leafs' fifth straight win.

The contest started off as a beautiful pitching duel between Page and Andy Chambers and then developed into one of those hit-a-minute affairs.

During the first four frames the Leafs were restricted to two hits, but in the fifth they went on a rampage and when the dust of the barrage had cleared away they had dented the plate five times.

With one out, Sheedy drew a pass. Cote followed by beating out a slow roller to short and O'Neill faced a single to center that scored Sheedy and put Cote on third. Page upset the dope with a three-bagger to left-center, scoring Cote and O'Neill. Davis then laid down a pretty bunt for a squeeze play, and as he was being thrown out, Page scored.

BISONS EASY FOR SKEETERS

JERSEY CITY, N. J., June 21.—The Jersey City Skeeters uncorked plenty of batting power yesterday in taking their 2nd straight game of the series from the Buffalo Bisons by a 11 to 3 score.

"Dixie" Leverett, who started on the mound for the Bisons, was shelled by the Skeeters in the sixth, and his successor, "Lefty" Williams, was also treated harshly, being chased to the showers before he could retire a batter. Bobby Veach and Harley Boss led the Skeeters with the stick, each rapping out four hits, one of Veach's blows was a home run over the right-field fence in the sixth.

PURVIS CONFIDENT OF VICTORY MONDAY

Indianapolis Welterweight Arrives—Preliminary Card Promises Action.

TORONTO, June 21.—"Gymnasium boxing doesn't win bouts in the ring." That was the answer given yesterday by Jack Purvis, Indianapolis welterweight to a local fan who was enthusing over the remarkable showing made in training by Billy Townsend, of Vancouver, Canadian lightweight champion and contender for welterweight honors. Purvis arrived here yesterday morning to complete his training for his bout at the Arena Gardens next Monday when he will oppose Townsend in the latter's first appearance in the East.

Nothing daunted by Townsend's fine reputation. Purvis declared himself in the best of condition and confident of victory. He stated that he realised that in one or two bouts here he had been a "late starter," allowing his opponents to do the leading until near the end of the bout. This, he said, would not be his fault Monday, for he intends to take the initiative from the commencement.

Cooney New Pilot Of Buffalo Bisons

Buffalo, N.Y., June 21.—Word was received here yesterday that William Clymer had resigned as manager of the Buffalo team of the International League. Clymer was said to have presented his resignation yesterday morning to Frank J. Offerman, President, and John Gehm, Treasurer of the Buffalo Club, who met him in Newark, N.J.

The club officials were said to have accepted the resignation immediately and to have appointed "Jimmy" Cooney, veteran shortstop, as acting manager, with the understanding that he probably would serve in that capacity until the end of the season.

Inside Sportin' Dope—By A. Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

1 thing I gotta report this week, Mac, is I seen the smartest game of the year Mon. nite down at Exhibition Park when Mister Primeau's Electricians and Mister Cripps' Cogs tangled in a East Peterborough League battle that the C.G.E.'s win 2 to 0. The only kick I got in connection with the same, Mac, is now that daylight saving is in, these twilight games oughta go the full 9 frames. This particular battle was wound up at the 7th, and more than a hour of good daylight was wasted. They ain't no reason why with plenty of light available the games in the E. P. loop shouldn't be the regulation length.

Anyway it was a snappy affair. Mister Utronki, which used to hurl them in for Belleville, was on the rubber, and right here I want to say that I don't remember Mister Utronki showing any more speed or better control than he showed out there Mon. Mister Peenie Mills' ex-battery mate used to depend largely on a submarine delivery, but Mon. he tossed them in overhand, and how! 1 clean hit and 1 scratch single was the best the Cogs could do. And by the same token, Mister Jack Billingsley's left-handed service seemed to be a real puzzle to the C.G.E. hitters, who only niched a pair off of him. 1 of the 2, however, came after Mister Beavis had been walked, and I don't know a much surer way of making a run possible than to let somebody slash out a 2-base hit with that bird on the bases. Mister Beavis is always going places when he gets on the runways, and he wastes no time in the operation.

Mister Primeau's lads has win 5 straight games in the Woolworth League, and the way they looked the other nite they oughta grab off a few more before the football season opens.

In the Lakeshore loop, Mac, the Oshawa Arabs has copped the honors in the 1st section by winning 5 games in a row after dropping their first start to the Rays. The Oshawa gang has a smooth machine, and Mister Bill Kay's lads will hafta battle all the way in the 2nd half of the schedule to land a place in the play-offs. However, the Rays is going nicely themselves and they ain't no reason why they can't go out and capture the honors if they get in there and fight.

Well, Mac, there has been a lotta harsh words said about the Schmeling-Sharkey tangle. They ain't no doubt that the German lad was fouled, and the only argument is whether Mister Sharkey, if he had forgotten to torpedo his opposition, woulda eventually win out. Some of the crickets sez that Mister Schmeling had took all that Mister Sharkey had to dish out without getting hurt very much, and if the bout hadda finished woulda gone out and taken his enemy in the latter stages. Mebbe so, Mac, mebbe so, but if that's right this Mister Graham McNamee is the prize sap. His broadcast sounded like Mister Sharkey was hitting Schmeling with everything but the timer's gong. Anyway why should I get excited? Both lads got a big chunk of jack, and that's all there is to prize fighting these days anyway.

The bowlers got a tough brake this week when their tourney was rained out. Here's hoping for better luck next week.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

CHICAGO GAINS ONE FULL GAME ON THE ROBINS

Chicago Defeats Boston While Brooklyn Loses at Cincinnati.

THIRD WIN FOR A'S.

Cleveland Indians Baffled By George Earnshaw—Yankees, Senators Lose.

The recent trades among the clubs of the American League seem to have been a series of wise ones on the part of the various managers involved. Every team that acquired new material in these deals is giving an appearance of new life and the pennant race, already too close for the comfort of the leaders, bids fair to become closer.

The St. Louis Browns; whose batting average has been down so far it was almost out of sight, certainly have benefitted by the acquisition of Goose Goslin. The "Goose," who was doing practically nothing for Washing, has cut loose with his bat, hitting three home runs since he joined the Browns, two in the past two days. Yesterday's home run aided considerably in the Browns' 5—3 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Washington's new acquisitions didn't get much chance to hit yesterday as the Senators were locked in a pitching duel with the Chicago White Sox, but Art Shires and Heinie Manush already have started clouting. With Ted Lyons on the mound and Ben Tate providing capable catching at last, the Sox nosed out a 2 to 1 triumph.

George Wuestling, formerly of Detroit, did his best to keep the New York Yankees from losing to his former mates after he replaced Vyn Lary, who went out in the third inning with a broken thumb, but his first and second hits of the season were not enough to beat the Tiger cloting.

Detroit started by scoring five runs in the first inning and won the game by an 11 to 6 count.

The Philadelphia Athletics took advantage of the lapses by two of their leading rivals and made their place at the head of the American league standing somewhat safer by defeating the Cleveland Indians, 8 to 0, increasing their margin of leadership over New York and Washington to 2½ games.

While the gap between first and second places in the junior circuit was widening, Brooklyn and Chicago, first and second in the International League, were drawing closer together. Brooklyn's Robins gave way a close encounter to the Cincinnati Reds, 2 to 1, while the Cubs were slugging out a 7 to 3 victory over the Boston Braves to place themselves only 1½ games behind.

Pittsburg kept the New York Gians from gaining ground by staging a sixth inning uprising that netted six runs and an 8 to 4 victory. The St. Louis Cardinals batted and bickered their way to a 7 to 5 victory over Philadelphia.

OFFERS BOUT WITH RISKO.

DETROIT, Mich., June 20 (C.P.).—Dick Dunn, manager of Olympia Stadium here, announced to-day that he had forwarded an offer of $200,000 to Max Schmeling, newly recognised heavyweight champion, for a championship bout here in September with Johnny Risko of Cleveland.

YALE IS VICTORIOUS OVER HARVARD

Ninth Victory in Ten Years Scored By Eli Crews.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 21 — Eight young stalwarts, rowing with all the automatic precision of so many robots as the sun glinted from their blue tipped oars, swept down the old Thames River yesterday evening to give Yale another magnificent victory over Harvard in this four mile classic of American college rowing.

For the ninth time in ten successive years, the roar of the crowd and the screeching din of a multitude of naval sirens acclaimed the Blue of Old Eli as the conqueror of the Crimson in the concluding event of the 69th regatta for these ancient rivals.

CANDYMEN HEAD SOFTBALL LOOP

Game Opens in Fast Style, Score Standing 4-all at End of Fourth.

SOME GOOD HITTING.

By winning last night's fixture at Central School Grounds, with a score of 17—10, the Sugar Bowl team heads the City Softball League with six wins to their credit and two lost games.

Their opponents, the Belmont Club, opened up in very promising style, and up to the end of the fourth the game stood at a tie with 4 all. The Clubmen did not add any more runs to their credit until the seventh, when Galbraith, who was on second as a result of a hit, reached the home plate off a hit by Munro, while Mather, who had walked to first, also tried to make the circuit, but was put out at the plate. Four other runs were added in the succeeding innings in which Green made a home run as also did Frick. Haskill made a run on an error by the pitcher, who attempted to throw him out at first and who struck Haskill in the back with the ball. Delahaye also had a lucky break, having hit the ball which made a bee line for the pitcher who almost caught it, but fumbled. A tricky catch was made off Scates; the ball skimmed along almost on a level with the ground and was cleverly scooped up by Westbrooke, the third baseman. A two-base hit by Green in the final innings and a hit by Delahaye from which the former scored, was the last tally put up by the Belmonts.

Some good batting was accomplished by the Candymen, but many of the runs were scored due to loose fielding by the league runners-up.

Scates, twirling for the Belmonts, played good ball until the eighth innings, when he appeared to lose his pep and sent down numerous lobbed balls, which were easy marks for the batsmen. A dozen men came up to bat in the eighth and seven runs were scored in succession. Gillespie, Dallin and Westbrooke each making some good hits off which they doubled. A homer was made by Gillespie in the third innings, while some nice fielding by Delahaye and Holyman were other features of the game.

The line-up:

Sugar Bowl—Westbrooke, 3b; H. Dormer, p; Weese, 2b; Gillespie, c; G. Dormer, ss; Dallin, lf; Conners, c; Bradshaw, 1b; Tamblyn, rf.

Belmont Club—Green, cf; Holyman, ss; Delahaye, 3b; Haskill, c; Frick, lf; Galbraith, rf; Mather, 1b; Munro, 2b; Scates, p.

Glasgow Rangers Play Fall River On Sunday

NEW YORK, June 21 (C.P.) — An important game of the all-conquering Glasgow Rangers' invasion of the United States and Canada is ordered to be played at the polo grounds on Sunday, when the great Fall River, Mass., team, will make its second attempt to overthrow the Scottish champions.

Their first meeting at New Bedford on Decoration Day, resulted in the Rangers scoring a narrow victory by 3 to 2, but a strong wind interfered with the play so much that it was hardly a real test.

Sam Mark, owner of the national champions is so certain his fine team can beat the Rangers that the United States Football Association answering the call of thousands of supporters of the game, arranged Sunday's international clash, which will match the skill of the cleverest teams in the United States and Scotland.

A great crowd is expected to see Scotland's most famous team in action in their final appearance of their brilliant tour, in which fourteen straight victories have been chalked up.

As it was at Lambton that the C. W. S. G. A. was organized, it is the intention to make the "eighth birthday" celebration a memorable one in every respect. It is hoped to have again a team from the United States Senior Women's Golf Association present at the Tournament and participate in an International Match. Last year at Montreal the ladies from "Across the Border" won the event 8 points to 3.

Strong committees were appointed to take charge of the various events and ensure the success and smooth running of the tournament. The annual meeting of the Association will be held on Wednesday afternoon, October 1 and the annual dinner which is always the jolliest kind of an affair on Thursday evening, October 2. The privilege of staying at the delightful club house of the Lambton Club will be especially appreciated and enjoyed by the entrants. The Association has now a membership of over 160 of the prominent women golfers of Canada, 45 years and over, Mrs. Sidney Jones of the Toronto Golf Club won the Championship last year.

The oldest golfing fixture in America, that between teams from the Royal Montreal Club the premier golf club of the continent and the Quebec golf club, the second oldest club was played this month in Montreal and resulted in a victory for the home team. This match is always keenly anticipated by the Royal Montreal club, founded in 1873 and Quebec founded in 1874. For over fifty years now they have "battled on the greens" with the majority of victories going to the credit of the Royal Montreal players.

New York Will Tender Civic Welcome to Jones

NEW YORK, June 21 (U.P.).—Bobby Jones will be given a hero's reception when he returns from England, where he captured Britain's two major golfing crowns, Joseph Johnson, chairman of the Mayor's reception committee, said yesterday. Jones will arrive on the steamer Europa at noon, July 2. He will land at the Battery and be escorted up Broadway to the portico of the City Hall, where Mayor James J. Walker will receive him.

Citizens of Atlanta, Ga., have appointed Major John S. Cohen chairman of a committee which is to come here July 1 to take part in the celebration. The committee will include 100 of Atlanta's leading citizens.

BELLEVILLE TEAM HERE ON HOLIDAY

Walter Gerow's Central Ontario Leaguers Will Clash With C.G.E.

Baseball fans will be delighted to learn that Manager Art Primeau of the C.G.E. ball club has made arrangements by which Walter Gerow's Belleville Central Ontario League team will play a game here on the morning of July 1.

The appearance of the well-known Nationals with the Mills brothers, Verne Weir and other old favorites, will be a big drawing card, inasmuch as Vinnie Utronki, who used to be one of the mainstays of the Belleville crew, may be sent in against his old team-mates. The C.G.E. team, composed mainly of Central League players, is running along smoothly in the East Peterborough loop, having won five games in a row, and they hope to take the Belleville crew in the holiday fixture.

Shamrock V Wins Race Under Cup Conditions

BANGOR, County Down, Ireland, June 21.—Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock V, racing on a triangular 30-mile course under conditions identical to those she will face in September at Newport in her challenge for the America's Cup, finished first yesterday afternoon in a contest with three of Great Britain's fastest yachts.

The other yachts which raced were the Lulworth and the White Heather. Sir Thomas, who is confined to his home in Belfast with a slight illness, was unable to see the Shamrock V's fine showing.

Viscount Craigavon returned from England especially to sail aboard the Shamrock V. Thousands of spectators watched the start of the race.

BOORMAN MAKES NEW GINGER BEER

Peterborough Bottling Works Has Obtained Supply of Long-tried Syrup.

MADE BY ENGLISH FIRM.

Ginger-Beer has long been a favorite in the British Isles, and foremost among the many popular brands has been that manufactured from the special syrup prepared under a long-tried formula of Barnett & Foster, Ltd., of London, England. It will, therefore, be of considerable interest to consumers of this increasing popular beverage in Canada to know that arrangements have now been concluded whereby a constant supply of this excellent syrup will be available here.

J. H. Boorman, of the Peterborough Bottle Works has obtained a supply for making the famous Ginger Beer, and is now able to supply the finished product—Ald English Stone Ginger Beer by the case. Ask your grocer, or phone 232. —Advt.)

CREOSOTING CANADIAN TIMBER

In treating timbers with creosote, to prolong their service life, the penetration of the creosote in the wood is inclined to be chiefly through the ends, requiring a much greater amount of this preservative to ensure proper penetration in the middle section of the timber than if if penetrated through the sides. To overcome this, the incising process was developed at the Forest Products Laboratories of Canada, Department of the Interior. This process of making incisions in the timber allows easy penetration in the sides and reduces wasteful end penetration. Since its adoption by the two great railway systems of Canada by the reduction of the amount of creosote required per tie a saving of over $1,000,000 has been effected.

Water-Power and Population

As is well known, the use of power increases much more rapidly than the population and this appears to hold good in ever-increasing ratio. The latest figures in regard to water-power development and population in Canada are particularly striking. Taking the last ten years, 1918 to 1928, the population has increased 16 per cent but the turbine horsepower installed has increased 125 per cent.

CANADIAN PRO GOLF TOURNEY TO BE HELD AT BURLINGTON

Prize List More Liberal Than Ever—Canadian Senior Women's Tourney Sept. 30.

CADDIE SCHOLARSHIP.

(Special to the Examiner, Copyright 1930)

TORONTO, June 21 (SNS)— Announcement has been made this month that the Executive of the Canadian Professional Golf Association has accepted the kind invitation of the Burlington Golf and Country Club and will hold its annual championship over the Burlington course, one of the best in Ontario, on Monday, July 21st, or three days before the Open Championship of Canada at the Ancaster course of the Hamilton Golf and Country Club situated some fourteen miles away. The two events will therefore "dovetail" in very nicely.

The Professional is one of the most important championships of Canada. The prize list is a very liberal one and always attracts a large field of the leading professionals of Canada. This year it is understood that several of the prominent western pros are making arrangements to come East and participate in both the Professional and Open Championships. They are assured of the heartiest kind of welcome. The present holder of the title is Willie Lamb of the Uplands Golf and Country Club, Toronto, who also won the event in 1928. The Runner-up last year was Arthur Hulbert of the Thornhill Golf Club, Toronto.

An added feature of the Championship last year and one that is destined to become a fixture was the match, the day following the championship between teams of 12 professionals representing Ontario and Quebec along the same lines as the celebration Ryder Cup matches competed for annually between the pros of Great Britain and the United States. Singles were played in the morning and foursomes in the afternoon. Ontario won 10 points to 8 points.

Detroit Date Set

The U. S. Western Open Championship this year will be held on the Indianwood Golf and Country Club, Detroit, August 20th-23rd, and as a result several Canadian professionals are making arrangements to participate. The Western apparently does not cater to amateurs. Professionals are only required to pay an entrance fee of $5, whilst amateurs with a handicap of 5 or less are required to dig down deep to the tune of $20. It is safe to say as a result there will be might few "Amatoors" at Detroit.

The Western Association by the way has founded a "Chick" Evans Caddie Scholarship—a splendid idea. This is an annual scholarship of approximately $300 at the Northwestern University and will be awarded to the caddie who makes the best showing during the year. The competition is open to all regular caddies of member clubs of the Association. Each member club is entitled to nominate one candidate each year, and such nomination must be made on or before August 1st. The Executive Committee of the Western Golf Association will review the records of the boys nominated about September 1st, and the award made in time for the school year. Clubs must select their candidates on the following points: Integrity of Purpose (Scholarship record in High School—Desire to continue their education). Daily appearance(Cleanliness to be considered more than good clothes). Attendance, Conduct (Both on and off club property). Service to the Club. All contestants must meet the entrance requirements of the Northwestern University.

Tourney At Lambton

Mrs. A. E. Mussen of Montreal, President of the Canadian Women's Senior Golf Association, was in Toronto recently attending an important meeting of the Executive of the Association.

It was decided to accept the invitation of the president and governors of the Lambton Golf and Country Club to hold the eighth annual Tournament of the Association at the Lambton Golf and Country Club on Tuesday, September 30 and Wednesday and Thursday, October 1 and 2.

A BEDTIME STORY

By Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S JUNE ROSE.

"What a lovely perfume!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily one day as he was hopping around in his garden, watching the carrots and lettuce grow. It smells just like flowers."

"It is a flower that you smell," buzzed a jolly bee who was zooming about gathering sweet blossom juice of which to make honey, and yellow dust, or pollen, out of which to make little wax cups to hold the honey.

"But I never smelled such sweet perfume before, from the daisies and buttercups," went on Uncle Wiggily, looking at the white and yellow flowers that grew in his garden.

"It isn't daisies or buttercups that you smell," buzzed the bee. "Those flowers have very little perfume, if any. What you smell is a new June rose."

"Do I? Where is it?" asked the rabbit gentleman.

Just then the south wind blew, bringing even a sweeter perfume to the pink, twinkling nose of the rabbit gentleman, and, looking down a green lane of tall ferns, Mr. Longears saw a single, large red flower growing on a bush.

"Oh, hello, June Rose!" he called. "Is that your lovely perfume?"

"Yes," answered the Rose, nodding her head in the breeze. "I give off a sweet smell, so they say. I'm not so sure of it myself, as I can't smell it."

"Indeed you are a lovely flower," spoke the rabbit gentleman. "You are the loveliest and sweetest I have seen this summer. How my wife would love to have you look at and smell."

"Then take me to her," said the June Rose.

"To do that I would have to break your stem from the bush where it is growing," said the rabbit.

The rabbit lady put the rose in a vase of water.

"Well, I shall not mind that if it will give pleasure to your good wife," said the June Rose.

"But if I pick you, you will not last much longer," went on Uncle Wiggily. "True, my wife will put your stem in water, but, even with that, you will soon droop and die. Oh, I don't want to pick you, but I would love to take you to my wife."

"Go ahead then, do it!" called the flower. "True, I shall not last as long if you pick me as I would if I stayed on my bush. But in a little while, even if I stay here, my petals will drop off and perhaps no one will come to see how beautiful I am nor smell how sweet I am. So pick me for your wife, but be careful."

"Be careful of what?" asked the rabbit.

"Of my thorns," said the Rose. "There are long, sharp thorns on my stem and you may stick yourself when you pick me if you aren't careful. You see, we roses, or at least most of us, have thorns so we will not so quickly be picked and perhaps tossed away. It is better for me to live for a short time in your bungalow, giving pleasure to your wife, than for me to live a little longer on my bush where no one can be made a little happier by seeing and smelling me. Pick me, please!"

So Uncle Wiggily picked the June Rose, taking care to get none of the thorns in his paws. He bit off the stem with his teeth and then he took a green leaf from the wild grape vine and wrapped the flower in it, sprinkling it with water from the brook to keep it fresh until he could give it to his wife.

As Uncle Wiggily was carrying the June Rose wrapped in the leaf up the path, out from behind a mulberry bush suddenly jumped the Woozie Wolf.

"Ho! Ha!" howled the Wolf. "What have you there?"

Uncle Wiggily did not answer at once, he was so surprised.

"You must have something good to eat wrapped in that leaf!" growled the Wolf. "Give it to me!"

"Oh, no, there is nothing good to eat!" said Uncle Wiggily. "It is just something to look at and love and smell."

"Nonsense! I guess I know. It's something good to eat! You are trying to fool me and keep it for yourself!" howled the Wolf. "Here! give me a bite!"

With that the Bad Chap made a bite at the curled leaf in Uncle Wiggily's paw. But the Wolf got hold of the stem of the June Rose with its sharp thorns and they stuck his tongue so that he opened his mouth and loudly howled. Away he ran, shouting:

"Oh, there must have been red pepper on whatever you have in that leaf! Oh, how it stung and burned me!"

"Ha! Ha! After this I guess you will let my June Rose alone!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily. "Did he hurt you?" he asked the flower as he gently opened the leaf.

"No, I am all right. He just bit some of my thorns," said the June Rose. "Now take me to your wife." Which Uncle Wiggily did. And when the rabbit lady put the June Rose in a vase of water it perfumed the whole bungalow and everybody said it was too lovely for anything.

CANADIAN PRESS AS AN EXAMPLE TO ALL EMPIRE

co-operative news-gathering and distributing association. For the first few years the Canadian Press had received a subsidy of $50,000 per annum from the Dominion government to enable it to bridge the three news gaps of Canada—Saint John, N.B., to Montreal, Que., Ottawa, Ont., to Winnipeg, Man., and Calgary, Alta., to Vancouver, B.C.—and link the Dominion with news wires from coast to coast, but it was found, he said, that the government of the day was inclined to believe that in return for the $50,000 subsidy, there should be some sort of service for the government in power. This became very irksome, he added. "We felt ourselves getting very restless under this subsidy." Mr. Norman Smith said. "There was suspicion among our general membership. There was suspicion among the general public." The subsidy was dropped. The Canadian Press was faced with task of taking over this $50,000. There was an extraordinary response from the whole of its membership—a response that the membership must take over this $50,000 and that never again would the Canadian Press organization have anything to do with government subsides, he said.

The result, was "simply startling" Mr. Norman Smith proceeded. The membership of the Canadian Press took a new interest in the organization. The Canadian Press developed by leaps and bounds until it was now recognized as the greatest newspaper institution in Canada.

Mr. Smith spoke of the efforts to establish news links between Canada and the British West Indies. The suggestion had been made to the Canadian Press that the British West Indies were really in their bailiwick; that "it was a white man's burden and it was our burden." The directors of the Canadian Press were unanimous that something should be done, J. F. B. Livesay, General Manager of the Canadian Press, had been authorized to make enquiries, and had negotiated with West Indies publishers. The Canadian government had authorized their officials to see what could be done. The officials reported some change was going on and that "we had better wait." The Canadian Press waited. Then the other day it was announced in the newspapers that a five-years' control act had been made without the knowledge of the Canadian Press which would apparently put the "kybosh" on anything the Canadian Press might do for the West Indies.

Rationalization Needed

"I am wondering," Mr. Smith added, "whether the same sort of thing does not prevail in other parts of the Empire. I am wondering whether we have not arrived at that stage where we should exercise that familiar and much abused word 'rationalization.' In the matter of our news services, it is not possible that our interchange of news throughout the British Empire requires to be overhauled? What is the solution. It is in the formation for the British Empire of some such organization as the Canadian Press, affiliated with like organizations in each unit of the Empire? We have one in Canada—I am informed there is one in New Zealand—and the idea could be developed with a central bureau. What would it mean to the Empire? It is something that cannot be done in a day but I do offer it as a serious thought."

Do You Abuse Your Celanese Frocks?

So many celanese frocks come to us for rejuvenation, almost hopelessly ruined by home treatments, that we would like to warn owners of frocks of this fashionable material against injuring the fabric through inexperienced methods.

We have made a thorough study of the cleansing and finishing of celanese, for it is in the latter process that home methods harm the fabric. If you want to keep such frocks at their loveliest let us care for them.

FOREST FIRES ARE AGAIN BAD

Fresh Outbreaks Are Occurring in the Thunder Bay District.

RUSH IN EQUIPMENT.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., June 21 (C.P.)—Ontario Forestry Branch officials report the forest fire situation in Thunder Bay district as again assuming serious proportions.

Heavy east winds, the biggest danger element, prevailed Friday. There has been a heavy rain for several days. The official report from headquarters indicates much anxiety. It says fires are smoking up increasingly.

The Onion Lake, Dog Lake and Mack sections are giving trouble again, and more equipment is being rushed to these areas by airplanes. More men are also being sent out to battle the fires.

Heavy rain is required immediately to prevent a serious situation.

SCOUT SAVES DROWNING BOY

Victor Millard Rescues Chum From Watery Grave in Trent Valley Canal.

An act of bravery and one which stresses the value of the Boy Scout training, comes to the notice of The Examiner.

One night recently, it appears that three members of the 1st Peterborough (St. John's) Troop were enjoying a swim in the Trent Canal in the vicinity of Norwood road bridge, when one of the trio, a boy of about fifteen years of age, got into difficulties.

Patrol Leader Victor Millard who was swimming ahead of the other two boys, hearing a gurgling sound looked back to see his chum disappear under the surface of the water. He immediately dived for him and bringing the much-scared boy to the top he commenced to swim with him to the bank of the canal. The victim who weighs 130 pounds, provided quite a burden for the rescuer who had an obstacle to face in the fact that the canal side is banked at this spot with concrete which runs up several feet almost horizontally. He safely completed his objective and after administering a good rubbing down, he took the boy home.

Victor who was very reticent about the affair, modestly admitted that he is a fairly good swimmer. He divulged the name of his companion, with the request that it remain unpublished on account of causing the boy's mother unnecessary concern.

send their names to the Senate before Congress adjourns.

"It seems to me that fears and criticisms have been greatly exaggerated," said Secretary Mellon, "whenever a new protective tariff law has been enacted gloomy prophesies have been made. They have failed to materialize as far back as I can remember and my memory goes back many years.

"The rates in the bill as it passed the house a year ago were higher than in the bill recently signed by the President. Yet business at that time did not take alarm. There seems to be no reason why it should now. I know of no industries which needed additional protection and received it are benefitted."

Warns Foreign Nations.

Turning to the question of foreign trade as affected by the new law, the cabinet officer said "the United States will continue to buy a vast quantity of foreign products and to sell products of its farms, mines and factories all over the world.

In this connection, he warned that "foreign nations that do business with us would do well to remember that the all-important factor is the maintenance of the high purchasing power and standard of living of the American people."

With the enactment of the measure, he continued, fifteen months of uncertainty has ended and "American industries know now where they without difficulty to new conditions."

Nine-year-old Raymond McArthur recently traveled 5,000 miles from Calgary, Canada, to London, unaccompanied.

WEDDING BELLS

DRUMMOND—HATTON

A quiet wedding was solemnized at six o'clock this morning at the Church of the Sacred Heart, by the Rev. C. Maloney, when Thelma, eldest daughter of A. Hatton and the late Mrs. Hatton was united in marriage to Donald Drummond, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Drummond, both of this city.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of the Wedding March played by J. Armstrong. She wore a lovely gown of white georgette with hat, shoes and hose to match, and carried a bouquet of Butterfly roses and maidenhair fern tied with white ribbon. She also wore a scarf of white fox fur, the gift of the bridegroom.

The bridesmaid, Miss Gertrude Bacon, was in pale yellow crepe de chene, trimmed with radium lace, and wearing a matching hat, with white slippers and horse. She carried bouquet of carnations and pinks, tied with yellow.

B. Hatton, brother of the bride, acted as best man.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Drummond left on the 8.35 train for Toronto and Niagara Falls, to reside in Peterborough on their return. The bride travelled in a blue dress and hat.

The gift of the bridegroom to the bridesmaid was a brown leather purse, and to the best man a silver cigarette case.

ALMAS—EVANS.

In a pretty setting contrived by the use of many white and red peonies, orange blossoms, ferns and palms, the guest pews tied with orange blossom sprigs and white ribbons, Florence Anne, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Evans of 221 Engleburn Avenue, became the bride of Harold O. Almas of Peterborough, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Almas of Hamilton. The ceremony, performed by the Rev. Dr. C. V. McLean, took place at two o'clock this afternoon at St. Andrew's United Church, in the presence of the immediate relatives and friends of the contracting parties.

The bride, who was unattended, entered the church on the arm of her father. She wore a charming frock of eggshell crepe romain, made in sleeveless style, longer in the back. The skirt draperies and little V-neck, made with tiny lapels and similar back and front, were edged with pale pink crepe. The top finished with a peplum that converted itself into a narrow sash, tying in front. Under this, the pretty pastel colors showing through the clear eggshell crepe, was a broad band of horizontal wide stripes, in rose, green, mauve and yellow. Just under the V opening of the collar was a large floral motif, the rose petals and green leaves outlined in fine brushed wool.

The bride's hat was a picture shape of black and pale pink. The crown was developed in black lace straw and the rim of pink organdie, finished with a small pink rose at the side.

Long eggshell kid gloves were worn and eggshell hose and slippers, the latter of corded silk with brilliant buckles. The only ornament was a rope of pearls, tied at the back and reaching to the waistline. The bouquet was of Butterfly roses and lily of the valley.

John Crane played the wedding music and Miss Alma Blanchard sang "Love's Coronation" during the signing of the register. Miss Blanchard's gown was of fawn and yellow flowered chiffon and georgette with large matching picture hat.

Ushers were Max Kernaghan of Peterborough and W. Logan of Toronto.

After the ceremony, a reception to fifty guests was held at the home of the bride's parents, where Mrs. Evans, mother of the bride, and Mrs. Almas, mother of the bridegroom, received with the bridal party.

Mrs. Evans wore black lace with black hat and Mrs. Almas was in black flowered chiffon with small French beige hat. Both wore corsage bouquets of pink Premier roses and violets.

The house was attractively decorated with roses and peonies, and the table, centred by the bride's cake, was charming with a cloth of cutwork and Cluny lace, a silver basket filled with pink carnations and plumosa fern and pink candles in silver holders set in frills of mauve and yellow.

Later, Mr. Almas and his bride left by motor for a trip to Hamilton and Buffalo, after which they will live at 253 Rubidge Street. The bride travelled in a two-piece ensemble of poudre blue and dark eggshell crepe, the blouse of the eggshell and the blue skirt made with flares. A matching blue hat was of crepe stitched in a floral design. Shoes of blonde kid with matching hose, eggshell gloves, poudre blue kid purse and an Isabella fox scarf, the gift of the bridegroom, completed the going-away outfit.

A large number of lovely gifts were received by the young people.

SPEEDING PLANE REPORTS ALL O. K. TO SHIP INCOMA

Latest Message Shows Fliers to be 990 Miles Off Cape Race.

CARRIES 4 OF CREW.

Forecasts Show Rain and Fog Threatening Off Newfoundland Coast.

STEAMSHIP INCOMA, June 24. (C.P.)—The westward-bound aeroplane, Southern Cross, reported her position as 990 miles from Cape Race, Newfoundland in a message to the steamship Ingoma, at 2 p.m. Greenwich time (10.00 a.m. E.S.T.)

PORT MARNOCK, Irish Free State, June 24. (C.P.) — The "Southern Cross", patchwork airplane which once flew the Pacific from America to Hawaii and Australia took off from here at 4:27 a.m. 10.27 p.m. E.S.T. Monday) for New York in an attempt to add another ocean to its laurels.

In the pilot's seat was Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith, veteran of the trans-Pacific flight.

Three Companions

He has three companions with him, J. W. Stannage, radio operator, M. E. Van Dyk, assistant pilot and Captain J. P. Saul, navigator.

The plane got away to a fine start taking the thousand yard runway without effort and rising nicely at the end amid the cheers of thousands of enthusiastic spectators. It circled the beach once and then struck inland across Ireland toward the Atlantic.

All the parties were in high spirits at the start and chatted gaily as the final preparations were made. Stannage, the radio operator, was the first to enter the plane.

Captain Saul joined Stannage in the cabin and the door was sealed with a big strip of sticking plaster. Captain Kingsford-Smith and Van Dyk walked around the machine with Free State officers seeing that all was in good shape. In a few minutes they clambered into the cockpit and the machine began to move. The take-off was perfect and without mishap.

Course of 3,364 Miles

Ahead of the plane lay a course of approximately 3,364 miles along the Great Circle to the vicinity of the coast of Newfoundland and down the Atlantic seaboard to Maine and New York.

Their plane was loaded with 1,298 gallons of gasoline sufficient they believed for 38 hours of flying. They hoped to make the trip in about 34 hours. The plane's tank held 1,300 gallons, but two less than that amount were put in with the idea of escaping the unlucky numeral 13 in 1,300.

But one westward flight from Europe to America has ever been made that of Captain Herman Koeal, Baron Von Huenefeld and Colonel James Fitzmaurice in the Spring of 1928. It was only partially successful, the flyers landing at Greenley Island a lonely spot on the coast of Labrador.

Constant Radio Reports

The Southern Cross has been in direct communication with the airport authorities ever since her take-off.

The message received at 10.30 British time, gave the position of the airplane as about 550 miles off the Irish Coast. The message received at 12.55 British time (7.55 a.m. standard time) would, according to the speed then gained by the Southern Cross, place the fliers more than 750 miles from their point of departure.

They had up to that time averaged roughly 82 miles an hour with a steady acceleration of pace due to the gradual lightening of load by consumption of gasoline.

The ship was heavily loaded at the take-off with enough gas for a three-hours' margin of safety after the entire calculated distance of flight.

Her speed had been estimated at the take-off and for the first several hours at 85 miles, three miles more than actually made.

All Are Confident

SPANISH STRIKE TURNS INTO RIOT OVER 100 HURT

Eleven Year Old Youth Shot Down in Seville is Dying.

BUSINESS HOUSES CLOSED.

Jails Overflowing — Troopers Charge Crowds, Using Pistols and Swords.

SEVILLE, Spain, June 24 (C.P.).—Several persons were gravely injured and about 100 suffered minor hurts in the rioting on the streets of Seville to-day as an outgrowth of a general strike.

More than 150 persons were injured in disorders yesterday, and the fighting was resumed as the strikers again began demonstrations. Among those injured in to-day's disorders was a child who was reported to be dying.

Martial Law Set Up.

Martial law was in effect. Cafes and business houses were closed; the inhabitants of the city were mostly indoors and the streets were deserted except where the strikers were congregating.

The boy reported dying is Jose Arevalo, 11 years old, who was shot through the kidneys by a bullet. Two women and two men were taken to the hospital, suffering from skull fractures, and several others were reported seriously wounded, but most of the others were treated at their homes.

The number of those arrested was not revealed, but the jails were filled to overflowing.

Battles in Many Sections.

At a dozen different sections in the residential and factory districts the battles raged, infuriated strikers and sympathizers clashing with police and civil guards, both mounted and afoot. The troopers charged frequently, knocking the rioters down with horses and firing many shots, mostly into the air. They also used the butts of their pistols and rifles, and wielded the flat sides of their sabers.

The chief weapons of the mob were stones, and some police were injured.

REPORT ON INDIA STIFFENS CAUSE OF NATIONALISTS

Campaign Leaders Claim None of Home Rule Demands Met.

INCREASE RESISTANCE.

Patel Believes Result Will Be Demand For Complete Independence.

BOMBAY, India, June 24. (C.P.) — Leaders of the civil disobedience campaign by which Nationalists are striving to to gain independence, declared to-day that the recommendations of the Simon Commission on statutory and constitutional reform would stiffen their movement. They consider that it meets none of the Swarajist or home rule demands.

As part of their boycott of the Simon Commission from its inception Nationalist leaders officially ignored the report but actually they considered its recommendations in most minute details. Even Mahatma in prison at Poona, was presented with a copy of the recommendations by the government according to newspaper accounts.

Increase Disobedience.

As part of the plan to ignore the Simon Commission the leaders said that there would be a gradual increase in the Swarajist or Nationalist resistance movement in all centres where passive resistance is now being carried on.

"We were not in the least disappointed as we never expected anything in our favor," J. Patel, former Speaker of the Indian Legislative Assembly, who resigned at the beginning of the civil resistance movement, said to the Associated Press.

"We expected a long fight in the first place," he said, "and it is now clear that we will struggle for months, perhaps years. And then with a smile, "of course I am supposed to ignore the recommendations, but as a matter of fact I have been pouring over the details for the last two hours."

Nothing to Satisfy India

"There is absolutely nothing in them which would start to satisfy most Indians, no matter to what party they belong. Our boycott of the Simon Commission is now fully vindicated. No member of the All-India National Congress will care to consider the recommendations for a moment. There is no suggestion of an immediate grant of freedom anywhere.

"In fact the recommendations will stiffen our attitude throughout the country and nothing will satisfy us now except complete independence. Some would have been satisfied with Dominion status but their attitude has stiffened too and now they will fall in line with the majority."

Dull Sky Threatens Quebec Celebration

MONTREAL, Que., June 24.—(C.P.)— Dull grey skies with a threat of showers bid fair to mar the elaborate celebration of St. Jean Baptiste Day in the picturesque city to-day. This day is the greatest of the year for the French Canadian people of Quebec province. It is a day out of the past, reminiscent of the picturesque pioneers of New France.

This afternoon there will be a parade in which thousands will take part. The feature of the parade will be the score or so of floats commemorating historic scenes and events. The floats will take the form of a series of tableaux depicting costume scenes of old Quebec.

Will They Clash at Wimbledon?

Before an enthusiastic gallery of over 5,000, Helen Wills Moody (right) of the United States, and Miss Joan Fry (left), one of Britain's best, battled recently in the Wightman Cup series. Mrs. Moody won, but Britain captured the Wightman Cup with a better balanced team. Both these stars have entered the All-England championships which start at Wimbledon this week. Will the United States star continue to march to victory, or will the second meeting between these two reverse the previous decision?

COUNTRY VILLAGE SOCIAL "LINE" ONLY CLUE TO YOUTH'S SUICIDE

Home Boy, Friendless and Lonesome, Plans Death With Extreme Care.

SEARCH LASTED WEEK.

ALLISTON, June 24 (Special to The Examiner).—The meticulous social distinctions of the Canadian country village rigidity and perhaps unconsciously maintained are the only clue to the motive for the suicide a week ago yesterday of William Sutton, 18-year-old Barnardo Home boy. Sutton's body was discovered Monday in the woods at the rear of the farm of his employer, Oswald Armstrong, a mile south of the little village of Rosemount, seven miles from Alliston. Owing to the state of the body, the funeral was held today at Alliston, the service being conducted by Rev. Shannon of Rosemount.

Had No Friends

"He was a Home boy, with all that implies in the country. He had no friends of his own social class to whom he could really unburden himself, despite the fact that Rosemount is only partly conscious of the social distinctions it makes," said Mr. Shannon.

"Had he any friends among the girls of the community, The Examiner representative asked. "An unhappy love affair might have provided the motive."

"Oh, no, nothing like that was possible," he had no girl friends at all. You see there are no Home girls in the neighborhood and well, the daughters of the farmers make distinctions about the Home boys," he replied.

Although he had no relatives in Canada, Sutton's mother, two brothers and a sister reside in England. Loneliness for his mother and worry at not receiving a letter from her since December is thought by Mrs. Oswald Armstrong to have been a contributing cause to periods of depression to which the lad was subject. Beyond the bare fact that the relatives exist and that one of the brothers was dying with tuberculosis, the Armstrong family states that they know nothing whatever about him. Yet Sutton had lived with the Armstrongs for two years.

That unbearable loneliness in a country in which he was not accepted as an equal, is the real cause behind the boy's death is borne out by the mysterious disappearance of photographs of his family, which he always carried with him. He destroyed them, but whether as a symbol in his own mind of a break with his relatives or because he regarded them as too sacred to come into the possession of other people is a matter of conjecture.

At the village blacksmith shop in Rosemount several farmers were discussing the suicide with the blacksmith. "These Home boys all have something queer about them; you can never tell what they're going to do," was the consensus on that question.

Planned Death Carefully.

What has most impressed the community is the great care and obvious deliberateness and calmness with which Sutton made the preparations for his own death. Stakes were cut and sharpened with a jackknife and driven into the ground with a stone to form the crotch which

START PAVING ON THURSDAY

Asphalt of Car Tracks Will Be Torn Up This Week.

PLANT NOW IN CITY.

The work of resurfacing the downtown area of the city's streets will begin in earnest on Thursday morning of this week. All the preparatory work of curbing was completed yesterday afternoon and on Thursday the Warren Company will begin tearing up the asphalt and car tracks on George street. Two days later it is planned to begin pouring asphalt.

George Rice, superintendent of the job, could give no definite estimate to The Examiner this morning of when the full job of re-surfacing would be completed. It will take somewhere in the neighborhood of three to four weeks at least he said.

One of the big asphalt plants of the company was brought here yesterday from North Bay. Workmen were busy this morning setting it up for operation on a siding north of the C.P.R. freight sheds.

The corner of George and Murray streets will be the starting point Thursday morning of the tearing up operations on the old asphalt and the car tracks. The old surface on the block between Brock and George street will be removed before the work of pouring the new asphalt will be commenced.

GREAT CITIZEN AND FRIEND DIES

Joseph John Member of Peterborough Board of Education is Dead.

BORN IN ENGLAND.

Peterborough suffers another decided loss in the death last night of Joseph John. Active in business until several weeks ago, when he was taken ill, Mr. John passed away at his home, 366 Simcoe Street.

He was known and loved for his humanitarian endeavors, his high standard of citizenship and applied ideals. He was one of the most active and honored members of the local Kiwanis Club, and in 1928 was president of the Club, giving himself over to the heavy duties of that office with all his zeal and energy. Later he was district trustee of the Kiwanis Club. Always on the side of the best in life, he allied himself whole-heartedly with the Boy Scout movement, and in 1927 was president of the Peterboro Boy Scouts' Association. He was for many years one of the guiding spirits of the organization. This year he offered himself for municipal service; and was elected to the Board of Education.

Born in Manchester, England, Mr. John came to Canada as a young man. Twenty-three years ago he established the John Tea Company here, and the nature of his business brought him into contact with nearly everyone. He carried his same high qualities and standards into his business life.

He was a member for years of St. Andrew's Church, where he held the office of elder.

He is survived by his wife, one brother, William, of Manchester, England, and one sister, Hannah, also of Manchester.

The funeral will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at All Saints' Church, under Kiwanis auspices. Rev. David Wren, of Trinity Church, will be in charge of the service, assisted by Rev. Wm. McDonald, of Knox Church, and Rev. J. D. Paterson, of All Saints'. Pall-bearers will be: Isaac P. McNabb, J. I. Allen, Charles Cook, Dr. J. J. Craig, C. S. Browne, and John Marshall.

LOST "RED COAT" IS BEING SOUGHT FEAR FOUL PLAY

Corporal Blake's Revolver and Clothes Found on Saskatchewan Prairie.

Laid Plans to Return to Regina June 10 After Serving Subpoena.

REGINA, June 24. — Mounted police in Southern Saskatchewan were last night mustering every means within their power to ascertain the fate of Corporal A. R. Blake, veteran officer who disappeared from his post at Avonlea more than two weeks ago.

While foul play is suggested in reports from the lonely Montana border country, Mounted Police headquarters here say they have no clue to Blake's whereabouts.

On June 7, Sergt. T. G. Metcalfe visited the post at Avonlea to find the offices of the detachment locked. From information that Sergt. Metcalfe was able to gather he learned that Blake had left the day before for Crane Valley to serve a subpoena, and was supposed to be in Moose Jaw on June 10, where he was to give evidence at a trial.

State Attorney Promises Action in Rumored Collusion After Solution of Murder.

MORAN GANG DONE.

CHICAGO, Ills., June 24 (C.P.). — State's Attorney John A. Swanson indicated to-day that an investigation of rumored collusion between public officials and gangsters was being held in abeyance only until the slayer of "Jake" Lingle, Tribune reporter, can be brought to justice.

The Herald and Examiner says it has been told by one police official close to the Lingle murder investigation that $10,000 was paid for the crime, and that "ample protection" was guaranteed the killer in the presence of at least half a dozen other gangsters.

"The Moran 'Alello' gang was simply being forced down and out," the Herald and Examiner quoted the official as saying. "Because they couldn't make a dime, they blamed Lingle for their being pushed around by police."

Commission's Report Sees Unity In India

NATIVE STATES WOULD ADHERE TO NEW GOV'T

Build Federation Founded on Eight Governors' Provinces.

BURMA BE SEPARATE.

Central Parliament Be Chosen By Provincial Councils—Not Elected Directly.

LONDON, Eng., June 24.—India, with its teeming millions, its history stretching back into dim antiquity, ever a story of division and differences, its many races, many tongues and many religions, is visualized in the second part of the report of the Indian Statutory Commission (the Simon Commission) as ultimately one strong, united nation occupying an important place among the British Commonwealth of Nations.

Although the process may take many years, the report foresees India eventually welded into one great confederacy under a federal Government to which not only British India, with the exception of Burma, but also the individual Indian States, now under native rulers, would adhere.

The Commissioners prefer this outlook to another possible outcome, that of two confederacies, one comprising British India and the other the native States, developing side by side.

Eight Provinces

In the meantime the report recommends the building of a federation founded on the eight Governors. Provinces, namely, Madras, Bombay, Bengal, Agra and Oudh, the Punjab, Bihar and Orissa, the Central Provinces and the Province of Assam. The remaining Governors' Province, Burma would be entirely separated from India.

The Provincial Governments would be the schools in which the training of the Indians in self-government would be continued.

A constitutional framework would be set up for the Provinces by a revised India Act which would be broad enough to permit of adjustments to meet the varied requirements of the different Provinces and permit of the unhindered or uninterrupted growth to complete responsible government.

The Governor of the Province would form his Ministry. But while it would not be necessary in every Province that every Minister should be a member of the Legislature, members from the Legislature would be eligible for any of the portfolios in the Cabinet, and there would be joint Cabinet responsibility. At present in the Provinces there is a division of responsibility, and restricted authority.

Power of Governors

The Governor would have power to act independently of his Ministry only in case the responsible Government failed to function or did something injurious to the peace and good government of the State or unfair to the minorities.

The Provinces would have wide autonomy, including control of the officers of law and order—a point of much dispute during the inquiry.

The Provincial Legislative Councils would be increased to 200 and 250 members in the larger Provinces.

Communal electoral districts to ensure fair representation for the Mohammedans and the Sikhs would be continued.

The Hindu caste system in shown in provision for direct representation from the "depressed classes."

Women representation in the Provincial Council would be aided by Governor's nominations from general constituencies.

The franchise would be extended. In the Provinces now enjoying the franchise, 2.8 per cent. of the population is registered as voters. This would be increased to 10 per cent., which is as far as the Cimmissioners thing it feasible to go until education is more widespread.

Doctor And Patient Are Overcome By Gas

LONDON, Ont., June 24.—Dr. Evans Davis, prominent physician of this city, and Mrs. Samuel Leo, 35, of 66 Wellington Street, were admitted to Victoria Hospital early this afternoon following Dr. Evans' heroic efforts to save Mrs. Leo from asphyxiation. Discovered lying unconscious on the floor of her kitchen by her sister, Mrs. Leo had been stricken by gas escaping from burners on the stove. How an explosion was avoided remains a mystery, as one burner was still lighted under a kettle at the time Mrs. Leo was found.

Dr. Davis who was also overcome by the gas in attempting to revive Mrs. Leo, returned home this evening. Mrs. Leo remained in a precarious position, authorities stated.

KINGSTON YOUTHS DRIFT ALL NIGHT IN CADET CRAFT

Four Naval School Lads With Instructor Found Off Gananoque.

ENGINE FAILED.

Sails Prove Useless—Parents Lead Search Parties.

KINGSTON, June 24.—Drifting all night in an open boat, and suffering from cold and hunger, four boys of the naval cadets, in company with G. W. Casement, instructor, and Mr. Halpin, engineer, were brought home late yesterday from near Gananoque.

On Sunday morning the boys, Morris Bland, Leo Brasso, Bert Holland and George Caswell, set out in the naval cadets' boat, with Mr. Casewell and Mr. Halpin, for a trip down the river. In the early afternoon they passed Brophy's Point, but after that disappeared. When night came and no word was received of the boat, parents of the boys became anxious, and searching parties were out most of the night looking for them. But no word was received of the whereabouts of the boat, and it was feared that the vessel might have filled and gone down. Yesterday, however, the craft was located near Gananoque, and a motor boat from the local pilot-house went out and brought the party home. Something went wrong with the engine, and it refused to start again. The sails were hoisted, but instead of making progress the boat drifted for hours.

Their Majesties Enjoying Life at Sandringham

This photograph of the King and Queen of England reveals them in the simple roles of a typical English country gentleman and his wife. The camera caught them as they strolled in the grounds of their personal country estate at Sandringham during the visit of the Australian cricket team, whose members they received. Note that his majesty has an eye to masculine styles, which may explain why his son, the Prince of Wales, sets the fashion for the sterner sex in all parts of the world. The Queen is attired in a long coat of light material trimmed with fur in the fashion she so much favors. Her mauve tinted toque and parasol have come to be inseperately linked with her.

KING APPROVES OF 8 HOUR DAY

Premier Tells Nova Scotia Electors Matter Rests With Provincial Government.

SPEAKS AT CAPE BRETON.

SYDNEY, N.S., June 24. (C.P.)—In the heart of the coal and steel district of Cape Breton, Premier Mackenzie King last night opened his Nova Scotia campaign. This is the fifth province of Canada to be visited by the prime minister on his present tour and the meeting was one of the largest and most enthusiastic which he has addressed thus far.

In addition to the prime minister Hon. J. L. Ralston, minister of national defense and D. A. Cameron, Liberal candidate in South Cape Breton, spoke.

"I stand here to-night and say to the Maritime Provinces that there is not 'a major recommendation in the Duncan report—not a recommendation of any real significance—that we have not carried out in letter and in spirit" Premier King said. He asserted that the government was ridiculed by its Conservative opponents when it proposed to appoint the Duncan Commission.

Assisting Maritimes

The appointment of a minister of fisheries, the reduction of Maritime freight rates, the payment of bounties on coal, the increase in provincial subsidies, aid to the movement of Nova Scotia coal to the central markets of Canada—these were referred to as indicating the sustained effort of the government to assist the province of Nova Scotia and the Maritimes.

Mr. King, referring to the eight-hour day, asserted that his government had not the power to bring in an eight-hour day law. Under the constitution, the eight-hour day was a provincial matter. "I see no reason why there should not be three shifts of eight hours each in the steel industry" said Mr. King amist applause. He declared that if the province of Nova Scotia would pass an eight-hour day law the government would see that no bonus was paid to an industry if it failed to observe the law.

At the conclusion of his meeting the prime minister left for Halifax where he speaks to-night.

Grandfather And Son Officiate At Service

KEENE, June 24 (Examiner Correspondence).—Youth and old age occupied the pulpit of Knox Presbyterian church on Sunday when Mr. Hamilton, the student preacher brought his grandfather, the Rev. Mr. Hamilton, of Guelph to assist in the service.

"Our messages are all alike," said the 90-year-old man, "It's the gospel we are all to preach, Jesus Christ, the hope of glory." In a firm, clear voice he preached from the text, "He came unto his own possessions and his own (people) received him not." The ease with which he explained the difficult and puzzling passages bore testimony to his ripe experience and long years of Bible study.

Mr. Hamilton was proud to have also in the congregation his father, mother and sister from Hanover.

BURNS FATAL TO NIECE.

LINDSAY, June 24. — An inquest was held yesterday into the death of Peter Mintz, a lumberman, of Kinmount. A board flew back from a revolving saw and struck Minz on the thigh, which was so splintered as to cause complications and death. Yesterday morning Mrs. Oren Switzer, a sister of Mr. Mintz, suffered severe burns on the hands when she endeavored to put out flames that enveloped her 3 year old daughter Theresa. The latter died in the hospital yesterday.

The Coroner's jury found that Mintz came to his death Sunday, June 15, at the Lindsay Hospital as a result of an injury sustained while working an edger in the saw mill of Mr. Phillips, Galway Township, and that no blame is attached to the employer or employees, or to the equipment of the mill.

COBOURG REEVE OPPOSES CLOSING OF PRINCE'S PATH

Parliamentary Procedure Failure to Hold Up Action of Counties Council.

QUOTED BOURINOT.

Frank Field Upholds Action of Council—Road Will Be Closed.

The right of the counties council of Northumberland and Durham to rescind a motion which it had passed during the same sessions was questioned last Friday by Mrs. Edith Kerr Macdonald, reeve of Cobourg, in her effort to prevent the reading of a by-law authorizing the township of Hamilton to sell the easterly section of the lakefront road.

This road fringes the lake east of the town, and because the late King Edward once walked that way when he was the guest of the Hon. Sidney Smith in 1861 it has retained an historic interest which Reeve Macdonald wished to perpetuate by keeping the road open to the public rather than allow it to become the property of Miss E. W. Tracey, of California, whose splendid summer home on the lake, occupies the site of the old Smith residence.

Hamilton township's by-law was held up at the Thursday session by Mrs. Macdonald who moved that it be deferred until December to give her and others who were interested in the retention of the road for the general public to arrange for its purchase from the township for the sum of $500 which Miss Tracy had tendered. The motion carried.

Friday morning, however, Reeve Davidson of Hamilton township, moved the recission of the previous motion and also that the by-law be given its second reading, and in spite of Mrs. Macdonald's plea this motion was adopted, with the reading of the

Operator's Dream Proves to Be True

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Ireland, June 24.—(AP)—J. W. Stannage wireless operator of the Southern Cross, before beginning today on a Trans-Atlantic flight project to New York revealed a strange dream he had during the night. He said that he dreamed that the flight had commenced, that the winds were favorable and that splendid progress was being made but that after ten hours of flying the wireless apparatus suddenly failed. Examination showed him the dynamo had "frozen" or was stuck tight.

He said that he was impelled as a result of the dream to make a careful examination of the transmitting apparatus and was surprised to discover that the dynamo was actually on the point of "freezing". Repairs were effected immediately.

Voice of the People

Letters to be printed in the Voice of the People column must be received at The Examiner Office on the day before it is desired to have them published.

Although the King Government is doing a little on "the canal" they have felt, I am told, that since the members along the canal never say a word about it, that the Trent Valley has lost interest in the project. I must confess that it was disappointing that with a government not of their own political stripe in power and therefore wide-open to attack, not one word was said for or against this canal which, if opened at the north end to admit Western wheat on a competitive-freight basis, would double the capacity of Quaker Oats here and give employment to 1,000 more people. Now I have heard Mr. Peck say more than once that he felt it his duty to stand because he had been informed and believed that he was the only Conservative who could carry this constituency. He may be right and certainly his record at the polls is A.1., but what's the matter with calling out in parliament sometimes "Hear! hear!" or "There! There!" just to show them that Peterborough's favorite son is not sleeping and that the Canal must be built. Far from it that I should say Mr. Peck alone is to blame. Not one of the vast array of talent along this raging canal has as much as said, "Where is it?" in parliament about the canal, and of course the government forgot about it. I am not so sure that our former Liberal members have done much either, but we are as dead as a last year's rat-hole in this district at present so far as having "a good word spoke for the canal" is concerned.

Although the whole question of empire depends upon "preferences" within the empire, not one word was said about it in the column and a half's report of Mr. Peck's meeting on Saturday evening, by any speaker. Mr. Bennett repudiates "preferences" and these speakers know that the London Conference declared that without preferences there can be no empire. Yet Bennett declares for "Canada First against the world." I do not say the Conservative party is disloyal. The Conservative party is for the empire. It threw Meighen out and it will throw Bennett out. The Conservative party is true to its king.

EDITORS NOT IN FAVOR

OTTAWA, Ont, June 24.—(CP) — Disavowal of any support for the new United States tariff was voiced here by members of the party of 76 agricultural newspaper editors from over the border who are touring Canada.

"As a private citizen and a Democrat", said Dr. Taite Butler, president of the American Agricultural Editors' Association in addressing a Service club luncheon. "I may say I am not at all responsible for the tariff. If this were a political speech I would pay my respects to it in a way pleasing to Canadians".

AIR FORCE KEPT BUSY

TORONTO, Ont., June 24 (C.P.)—Provincial Air Force records made available by Captain W. Roy Maxwell, Director of the Services, reveal that up to and including the week ending June 15, the force had flown 1,171 hours and 50 minutes more on suppression and detection patrol than flown during the corresponding period of 1929.

125 Million Explosions in each grain of wheat

. . . thus making Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice virtually as nourishing as hot cooked cereals.

HERE'S an utterly different ready-to-eat cereal! Crisper . . . crunchier . . . more flavory. And with virtually the same nourishment as hot cooked cereals!

That's because Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice are made in an entirely different way from all other cereals. Plump, choice grains of wheat and rice are sealed in huge bronze guns. The guns are revolved in fiery ovens. The natural moisture in each grain is changed to steam. Then the guns are fired. 125 million explosions occur in every grain. Each tiny food cell is blasted open. Thus every particle of the grain is made as completely digestible as though they had been cooked for hours. And so Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice attain the virtual nourishment of hot cooked cereals.

This process explains why Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice have an extra delicious flavor . . . plus a crisp light daintiness that tempts the appetite. Serve these little nuggets of rich grain nourishment for breakfast, luncheon and supper. They digest so easily that they're extra good for children's evening meal. Your grocer has Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice. Order today. The Quaker Oats Company.

by-law to follow at the concluding session.

Quoted Bourinot.

Mrs. Macdonald invoked parliamentary procedure as set forth by the authority of Sir John Bourinot, and argued that a resolution could not be revived during the same session at which it was rejected. Hence, it could not be introduced again until the December sessions. It might have been referred back to one committee or another, but not after the vote of the council had been taken. Cobourg's reeve stated that her opinion had been confirmed by an eminent legal authority of the town, whom she did not name, but during the afternoon session Frank Field, K.C., solicitor for the township, who had been invited at the request of Reeve Davidson to give his opinion on the point, declared that the council had the right to proceed as it had done, rescind Thursday's motion and pass the township's by-law.

Mrs. Macdonald had argued that, if Reeve Davidson's motion of Friday morning was proper, there was nothing to prevent the reintroduction of a defeated motion repeatedly and thereby seriously hamper and delay the council's progress with its regular affairs.

When Mr. Field stated that Bourinot applied only to Parliament or to a legislative body dealing with business of equal or similar business, Reeve Macdonald quoted from the regulations of Cobourg town council showing that one municipal body followed the Bourinot procedure.

Mr. Field's Opinion.

Mr. Field replied that the counties council had no such regulation, and that municipal bodies were not to be held up by the elaborate rules of Parliament. The business of the counties council might be greatly confused, he said, if a resolution to rescind a previous motion were not in order.

"I have no hesitation in telling you that you have that right to rescind and to proceed with the by-law," Mr. Field affirmed.

The debate during the afternoon was as protracted as in the morning session, and as at the earlier session it seemed that the more Reeve Macdonald, in her zeal to preserve "Prince's Walk" for the public, argued in support of the points she raised, the more she alienated some members who possibly might have voted with her.

Resuming her appeal after Mr. Field had spoken, Mrs. Macdonald was finally discouraged by the unsympathetic dissent of the Council, many members calling out almost in a chorus "sit down, sit down; we've heard enough."

A Woman's Experience.

Such was the price possibly in humiliation and at least in a sense of failure and bitter frustration which Cobourg's reeve, the only woman in the county councils of the province paid in her fidelity to her conception of the trust and duty which she had assumed in the public affairs of her community.

At the concluding session in the evening when the township by-law was introduced for its second reading Mrs. Macdonald moved "that it not be read a second time." In the temporary absence of Deputy-reeve Pratt of Cobourg, this motion was apparently about to lapse without a seconder. Deputy-reeve C. H. Curtis of Percy township finally seconded it.

Earlier in the day Mrs. Macdonald had twitted him for a lack of courtesy in a rather caustic remark he had made during her pleading. To this gesture of assistance in the evening Mrs. Macdonald expressed a grateful "Thank you."

The Final Vote.

When the vote was called on her motion that the by-law be not read a second time Mrs. Macdonald voted in the affirmative, and only one of the council of nearly forty members voted negative. He was Reeve Stinson of Millbrook, whose motive might be variously interpreted. At any rate, Mrs. Macdonald under the impression that the motion had carried extended an "I thank you" to the council, but it was immediately announced that her motion was defeated.

According to an Examiner reporter's notes the motion was "that the by-law be not read a second time," and the vote had been in the affirmative. Although it may touch only upon a technicality, a remark was made later by a councillor who had been in the antichamber during the voting that he was under the impression the motion had actually been sustained.

Reeve Macdonald's final effort implemented a previous notice of motion to the effect that the council's rules be amended so that in all unprovided cases the rules of Parliament should be followed. Mr. Pratt seconded it, but the Council flatly rejected this suggestion, probably in full accord with the sentiment of Reeve Gordon Parker of Alnwick township who said "we don't want any such change; why can't we carry on our business as we always have been used to."

A Third Degree.

Mrs. Macdonald's experience at the June session recalls a request which she made in January at her induction that she be treated just as one of the members, intimating that she did not seek any privileges. The circumstances of Friday's debate were a complete initiation without gloves. It approached a thrid degree, with a boisterousness that was no doubt motivated by the threat of a Saturday session, and the council's desire to wind up the the business at least Friday night. This mood was indicated earlier in the day when, at an adjournment the hour for the next meeting was being fixed. Reeve N. Hartt proposed "two o'clock Saturday morning."

The substance of the long episode in its various chapters was the passing of the township's by-law.

Campbellford To Put Up Battle With Oshawa

CAMPBELLFORD, June 24 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent).—The Campbellford lacrosse team and their attending fans are eagerly preparing for the schedule game that is to be played with Oshawa on Wednesday. The boys are on the field on every occasion, and the way they are showing up gives evidence of a fierce tussle when they meet the Oshawa squad.

At the practice on Friday, Copperthwaite suffered a cut lip, which necessitated the application of one stitch, and Lambert was slashed on the arm. However, both men will be on the line-up for the game tomorrow.

The team and the fans will leave Campbellford for Oshawa at one o'clock on Wednesday, travelling by car.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, June 24.—The cattle receipts at the Union stockyards yesterday morning were 1,831 cattle, 770 calves, 444 hogs, 1,160 sheep and lambs.

Fresh receipts of cattle at the opening of the market were 600 head lighter than last Monday, but there were 700 head left over from last week added to the offering. Supply appears to be too heavy for the demand and opening bids were $1 lower than last week. There were very few sales up to 11 o'clock and one load of good butcher steers sold at 7¾ cents a pound.

Calves in an offering about even with last Monday are a slow sale at 8 to 8½ cents a pound for choice. Common calves are selling downward to 4½ cents.

Lambs are plentiful, a large number of buck lambs being offered at an advance on the introduction of the cut on prices of buck lambs which goes into effect at the end of the month Prices to-day are $1 a cwt. lower than last week at 12½ cents a pound for choice lambs. Sheep are weak at 4 cents a pound for good ewes.

Hog prices are unsettled. Bids are 50 cents a cwt. lower than last week and 10¾ cents a pound f.o.b. and 11¾ cents w.o.c. are the prices. Supply is fairly level with that of last month.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 24.—Wheat prices rebounded suddenly yesterday coincidentally with rallies in quotations on securities, but not until wheat had fallen into the "eighties."

For the first time in a long while, the July delivery of wheat here, which represents the 1930 domestic crop now being harvested in the Southwest, went under 90c and sold at as low as 89¼c a bushel, whereas for fifteen years past a dollar a bushel has been generally regarded as about the lowest figure at which wheat should sell.

Closing quotations on wheat were notably irregular, and unsettled, ranging from ½c decline to 7-8c advance compared with Saturday's finish. Corn closed 1c to 1¾c up, oats 3-8c to 5-8c advanced, and provisions 5-8c down.

Special attention was also given to a late statement which was credited to Chairman Legge of the Federal farm Board, and which was widely construed as tending to afford a prop for wheat values.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, June 24.—The trade in all lines of cash grain here yesterday was dull, but values were well maintained.

A feature of the dairy and produce trade was the easier, feeling that developed for butter, and values were reduced one cent per pound. Receipts were 4,197 boxes.

The cheese market was quiet but firm. Receipts were 3,726 boxes. The demand for eggs was fair and values were steady to a shade firmer.

Potatoes Are Cheaper

Potatoes, both new and old, were cheaper today. Plentiful supplies eased the market. New potatoes, in 160-pound barrels, were quoted ex-track here at $7.25 for No. 1 grade, $5.50 for No. 2 and $4.50 for culls. Old potatoes were offered at $1.80 per 90 pounds, in bulk.

A weaker feeling also developed for flour and values for all grades of spring and winter wheat were reduced 20 cents per barrel.

An easier feeling prevailed in the mill-feed market and prices for shorts, bran and middlings were lowered $2 per ton.

I will answer letters from women asking about your medicines."—Mrs. Richard Charlton, Birchtown, Quebec.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

Winnipeg, June 24. — Down to the lowest point in 16 years wheat prices sprang back yesterday to score fractional gains over Saturday's closing figures. Dollar wheat for the first time in years ruled in all three futures but at the close bear-racked July at 97 1-8 was the only month under the even figure. Trading was only moderate.

July dropping 3c to 93 1-8c touched a level that has not been encountered until the month before the war. October and December were at the most debased figures since 1924 and 1923 respectively.

Wide break in values at Liverpool, ruling in the West, and stop-loss orders dotted down the list, caused the drastic recession. At the low points, buying developed to stem the decline. Statement by United States Farm Board Chairman Legge that 300,000,000 bushels would be handled by his organization in the 1930-31 crop turned the tide definitely.

Cash trading in all grains was dull.

MENIE DROPS 12-9 DECISION

Gerald Petherick Outstanding Player of Game in the Field.

BETHEL TOO STRONG.

BURNBRAE, June 24.—(Examiner Correspondence). — Menie softball team dropped at 12-9 decision to Bethel on the home grounds on Friday night.

Menie put up a stout bid for the decision but the Bethel nine were just a little too strong. This team is made up entirely of young players who are accustomed to one another's style of play and they play their positions in the field perfectly.

Gerald Petherick, centre-fielder of the Menie team was the outstanding fielder of the game with four good catches, and in addition he made three hits in four times to bat, scoring one run and driving in four.

Eagleson pitched a steady game and received fair support with the exception of the disastrous fourth inning which really won the game for Bethel. Eagleson scored three of his team's nine runs and secured four hits. T. Little with four hits, and two runs was Menie's other good batter. Kerr and L. Little each secured three hits. Shillinglaw, T. Little and Kerr each hit a three-bagger that figured in the scoring.

Gerald Broadworth is possibly the best pitcher seen here this year. His control was excellent in the pinches and although hit freely he relied upon his good fielders and was never in difficulty. In the fifth with three men on bases he struck out Hay and Rannie to retire the side scoreless.

Walt Warren with three hits and as many runs led the Bethel attack. Gibson brothers, Carlisle, Bill Warren and E. Broadworth each hit three times and scored two runs each with the exception of M. Gibson who failed to counter.

The umpiring was good and the game in every way was free from argument and good sportsmanship was displayed on every turn. Bethel with four wins and only two defeats is almost sure of a place in the play offs.

The line ups:

FLOWERS FOR THE MEMORIALS.

Endorsing the editorial appearing in The Examiner a few nights ago protesting against the lack of respect paid the cenotaph at the Canadian Legion hall and the war memorial in Confederation Square, a woman reader comes forward with a happy suggestion that deserves the consideration of the public.

She points out that in the summer season when there is such a bountiful supply of beautiful flowers that citizens who possess gardens—and most of them do in this beauty spot—should remember the tributes erected here in honor of the unreturning brave and see to it that fresh supplies of flowers are always grouped round the cenotaph and the war memorial.

The Examiner is sure the suggestion will commend itself to the citizens of Peterborough, and that once their attention is called to the matter they will gladly place floral tributes at these sacred memorials that tell to the world the story of Canadian bravery and of Canadian sacrifice.

We have too long been careless and indifferent in our attitude toward these things.

For the balance of the summer can we not keep the cenotaph and the war memorial fresh with blooms that will attest to the fact that Peterborough has not forgotten the men who gave up their lives for the Empire?

THE GROWTH OF ROTARY.

It is interesting to note that the celebration of the 25th anniversary of the organization of the first Rotary Club in Chicago in 1905 has drawn to the birthplace of Rotary 20,000 Rotarians and members of their families from more than sixty countries.

The attendance at the convention of Rotary International, which began yesterday at Chicago and which by the way is being attended by a number of Peterborough Rotarians, furnishes its own evidence of how this movement, which began twenty-five years ago with the coming together of a few people in Chicago, has spread round the world.

From that one little club, fathered by Paul Harris, has grown in the short span of a quarter of a century an organization that now consists of 3,325 clubs found in almost every corner of the world and with 153,000 members who are leaders in business and professional life in their communities.

The annual convention of such a world-wide body is therefore an event of major importance, particularly as the agenda includes many matters of vital interest, particularly those in reference to international relations.

Three widely known men in public life are to give addresses, Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways; Prince Iyesato Tokugawa, president of the Japanese House of Peers, and Admiral Mark Kerr, of London, England, supplying highlight speeches.

PRODUCTION AND TAXATION.

The extent to which taxation cuts into Canadian business and the fact that there is still an upward trend to such taxation are features of an interesting bulletin issued by the Citizens' Research Institute which deals with taxation and net production in Canada.

Net production from all Canadian sources, including manufacturing, agriculture, forestry, mining, fisheries, electric power, etc., amounted in 1928 to $4,190,509,444, an increase of 6.5 per cent. over the proceeding year.

The total taxation of Canada, federal provincial and municipal, for the same year amounted to $718,736,166, an increase over 1927 of 6.8 per cent.

Thus in 1928 taxation consumed 17.15 per cent. of net production, compared with 17.10 per cent. in 1927, the increase in taxation being greater than the increase in production.

As the 1928 national income of Canada is estimated at $6,446,000,000, 11.15 per cent. was taken through taxation for Government purposes, compared with 11.11 per cent. in the year previous.

For a number of years the percentage which the total taxation in Canada is of the net production decreased yearly, due almost entirely to the more rapid yearly rate of increase in production and not to decreased taxation.

Since 1926, however, the rate of yearly increase in taxation has been rapidly approaching that of net production until in 1928 the latter was passed.

MODERN METHODS.

As The Examiner has pointed out before, the radio has made a material change in the methods of conducting political campaigns.

When leaders give important speeches their words are carried from one end of the Dominion to the other and people in every part of Canada can listen to the message.

Thus to-night when Hon. R. B. Bennett delivers in Cobourg his first Ontario address of the present campaign his voice will be heard in every section of the Dominion.

It will be 7.30 standard time in Ontario when the broadcast begins, but down in the Maritimes it will be 8.30 o'clock and out on the Pacific only 4.30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Here in Peterborough unique advantage is being taken of the fact that the Cobourg speeches are being broadcast.

The local Conservative Association is installing a receiving set in the bandstand at Victoria Park, and it will be thus possible for hundreds of citizens unable to go to Cobourg to hear the words of the Conservative leader and of Premier Ferguson.

While in other campaigns limited use has been made of the radio to bring electors together in committee rooms or elsewhere, this is probably the first time that an outdoor broadcast has been attempted, and in view of the fact that this is a summer campaign when people prefer to seek the coolness outside, the local experiment will likely be repeated frequently in other places.

GOING TO SCHOOL AT 70.

Mr. Isaac Pedlow, South Renfrew retired merchant, sometime M.P., is packing up his books, going to university. Going to school at the age of 70. He will take a classical course, then study law. "It all depends," he says, "upon your mental attitude."

Mr. Pedlow is right. If a man has leisure, health and the right mental outlook, he may go to school as profitably at 70 as at 17. And the reason is obvious. It is that education, learning, is not merely to fit a man to make money, but to act as a tonic upon his moral, spiritual and intellectual health; to open to him new vistas of enjoyment; to give him a higher and a deeper life. There is as much reason for claiming more of these things at 70 as at 17. Perhaps more reason.

And all of us, in a degree, can emulate Mr. Pedlow. We can keep on going to school. It is true, and it is a pity, that when most of us leave school, we stop learning. We become immersed in a profession or a business or a trade, grow to think it is the be-all and end-all of life; think of or learn little else. The result is intellectual under-nourishment, sometimes intellectual stagnation. The rich things of life are shut out.

We all can and should avoid this. Intellectual laziness, like physical laziness, is a blight, and is all too common. And it too often happens that the man who has no time for the supremer things of life, who rarely opens a book, is the man who is least successful in his own narrower affairs. For the narrow mind, the flabby, restricted mind, the mind that is without training or scientific or philosophic background, is not likely to make a great success of anything.

More power, then, to Mr. Isaac Pedlow. When John Richard Green, noble and great historian, died, his wife put this epitaph on his tombstone: "He Died Learning." Mr Pedlow, at 70, reveals the same spirit, and we wish for him everything of achievement.—Ottawa Journal.

BAR OBSCENE LITERATURE.

It is interesting to note in a dispatch from Washington that officers of the State Department are engaged in framing a treaty with Canada which will help this country to prevent the importation of allegedly obscene publications, including magazines, periodicals and books. These publications are already forbidden entrance into the Dominion by the ordinary Canadian customs regulations. Complaint, however, has been made very widely throughout Canada, of late, that, notwithstanding the fact that they have been prohibited, they are still finding their way into the Dominion in large numbers, and are being placed on sale in many book stores.

It has also been very forcefully brought to the attention of the Government, not only in Parliament, but by organizations throughout the country interested in social welfare, that this pernicious literature is having a detrimental effect upon the youth of the country. The willingness of the United States to co-operate in aiding the Dominion to prevent the entrance of such publications is probably inspired by the good-will which the Canadian Government displayed in enacting legislation to make illegal the issurance of clearance papers to vessels engaged in smuggling activities against other countries. The chief significance of this is that the two countries are endeavoring to co-operate in a friendly manner to prevent smuggling operations.

Some of the literature which finds its way into the Dominion from the United States is particularly objectionable, and the assistance and co-operation of the United States Government will be welcomed in the endeavor to prevent its entrance into Canada. Under the terms of the treaty it is expected that Canada will have the right to designate any publications, the importation of which into the Dominion is deemed inadvisable on moral or patriotic grounds. The scope of the treaty may also apply to advertisements of motion pictures which display crimes of violence. Canada and the United States are destined to be neighbors, and every effort that is calculated to maintain and promote friendly relationships deserves to be encouraged.—Brantford Expositor.

THE PAYMENT OF DEBTS.

Discussing the collection of accounts, the publicity group of the National Retail Credit Association, which has been in convention in Toronto this week, held that while in hard times there should be a tightening up in the extension of credits to new accounts, a greater leniency should be shown in collections of old accounts. We have found from our observation that most merchants are disposed to be very lenient in their collections when their customers are experiencing periods of unemployment.

Often financially pressed themselves, for when there is considerable idleness in a community they feel the pinch as well as their customers, business men do not press for payment of old accounts, and continue the extension of credit. Many families which would suffer greatly if their credit was withdrawn, continue to live comfortably through the generosity of their bakers, grocers, coal men and clothing merchants.

Are these families grateful for these favors? They may be at the time. But while some may remember this when times of affluence return, there are many who forget their debts and spend money that should go to those who provided them with the necessities of life, when they were without work, in procuring new luxuries or replacing those they already have. Now luxuries are all right and a certain amount of them should be enjoyed by all. But we hold it is most unfair, indeed indecent, for men to spend money on these when they are in debt for things which were essential for their very existence and which were given them when they had no means of paying for them. The first duty of men who have been out of work is to set themselves to paying their debts when they start earning money again. A person may live without luxuries but they cannot exist long without food and fuel, clothing and certain household necessities. Because of this, families should not forget the hands that fed, warmed and clothed them. If they do there is something wrong with their sense of moral as well as of financial responsibility.

S. E. Latshaw, president of the Butterick Company of New York, addressing the credit men at their Toronto convention regarding dilatoriness in the paying of debts, said this custom would not prevail "if the public was educated to the moral shoddiness of continuous debts and the hardship they work on the merchant." This is something for the debt side-steppers to chew on.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

With Mr. King in the Maritimes and Mr. Bennett arriving in Ontario to-day, the West is getting a respite from keynote speeches.

The Globe is calling upon Liberals to throw their support to T. L. Church in Northeast Toronto. If the advice is taken Mr. Church will be hard to beat.

Some of these days before July 28 the parties may be able to agree as to just what is the issue in the general election.

With a double attraction, the Bennett-Ferguson meeting in Cobourg to-night will be one of the big events of the campaign in this section of Ontario.

WRONGLY ACCUSED

To Editor,

Owing to the fact that a report has been circulated that I have been unfair regards to my pastor's relationship the Rev. J. H. Dudgeon to the extent that I had written to Belleville some time ago in view of securing a pastor for St. James' United Church and that the said letter had found its way into the hands of the Rev. J. H. Dudgeon.

I hereby state emphatically that I did not write to Belleville or communicate through any other source whatsoever.

Kindly take notice that the Rev. J. H. Dudgeon has written to the secretary of the board of managers of which committee I am chairman, stating that he did not receive a letter from Belleville, bearing my signature or any letter in which my name was even mentioned.

I am sorry, owing to the ruling of the Session of St. James' United Church, that no letter bearing on the subject should be read from the pulpit of St. James' Church, that I had to adhere to this means of conveying to all, especially those who are much concerned in the matter, that of doing the above act, never entered my mind, let alone doing it, and for the welfare of St. James' Church I refrain at least for the present from taking any actions against the guilty party in starting the falsehood.

J. O. FIFE.

What To-day Means To You

"Cancer."

If June 24th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a.m. to noon, from 4 p.m. to 5:30 p.m., and from 10:30 p.m. to 11 p.m. The danger periods are from 9 a.m. to 10:15 a.m., and 3 p.m. to 3:45 p.m.

Unsettling influences are augured for this date, which will cause useless worry and vague fears, especially in regard to business, work and finances. A lighter and happier atmosphere will cap the last hours of the day, and the morning's sobriety will turn into evening hilarity.

Children born on this June 24th will shoulder responsibilities beyond their years, and will seem to rush into maturity. They will be prim and sedate; devoted to their work and studies, and not given to play and frolic. They will be lacking in a sense of humor.

Your great interest in humanity is the outstanding feature about you. People quickly sense that you are understanding, and your generosity is not mere talk or never-developing intentions. You keenly feel that you are your brother's keeper, and your conscience and sympathies will not allow you to turn a deaf ear or a blind eye towards those whom you can help. Your influence is often exerted, where it is felt, but not known. You do not brag about your kind deeds you are not looking for publicity.

You are not a very discriminating judge of character, and you are often sadly let down. On the other hand, your faith and trust have many times been the making of a weak or dicouraged soul. You are too much of a dreamer, and have too many hobbies to make an outstanding success of a career or business. Your tastes, however, are simple, and you will always be content with your lot. You are a rather disorderly worker, but you are always busy. You try to do too many things, to do any of them efficiently. It is very difficult for you to ever say "no" to any request, and you are kept on a run trying to fulfil your promises. You are sometimes late in doing so, but you never completely fail.

You crave companionship, and you always want a crowd around you. Your home may be a peaceful one, but it will never be a quiet one. You are not a great reader, but you are both a good talker and listener.

DISSENSION IN EGYPTIAN HOUSE

Parliament Prohibited From Sitting by Government Order.

STATE OF UNREST

CAIRO, June 24. (C.P.) — The Egyptian Parliament to-day was prohibited from sitting by Government order.

After the president of the chamber refused to assure the government that no speeches would be delivered in the chamber following the reading of a decree postponing parliament sessions for one month, the government decided to forbid this afternoon's sitting of both the Chamber and the Senate. A strong force of police was established to prevent deputies from entering.

Egypt has been in a state of unrest since last week following resignation of Premier Nahas Pasha and his cabinet. A new government has been formed by Ismail Sidky Pasha, but it has encountered much opposition. Charges have been made that the body is "handpicked" and some feeling was shown against King Fuad.

SUGGESTS SPLIT IN IMMIGRATION

U. S. Chairman Would Put Canadians Under Quota Law.

CUT IN HALF

WASHINGTON, June 24 (C.P.).—A fifty per cent reduction in the immigration quotas for the fiscal year 1931 was proposed in a resolution yesterday by Chairman Johnson of the House Immigration committee as a means of combatting unemployment.

The resolution also proposed that immigration from Canada, Cuba, Mexico and Newfoundland, which are not under the quota system, be limited to fifty per cent of the number of non-quota immigrants who entered from these countries during the year ended April 30.

Canadian immigrants in that period numbered 48,414, Newfoundland 3,002, Mexico 18,941, and Cuba 4,556. Other countries of the western hemisphere would have a minimum allotment of 500.

In no case could an immigration visa be issued, under the terms of the resolution, unless the Consular officer was convinced that admission of an applicant "would be detrimental to employment conditions in this country."

SPECIAL DAY IS OBSERVED

Wednesday Last Grandmother's Day at Meeting of Lakefield Women's Institute.

GOOD PROGRAM

LAKEFIELD, June 24 (Examiner Correspondence) — Wednesday was Grandmother's Day at the meeting of the Women's Institute, when there was a splendid turnout in spite of the weather.

It being the monthly meeting, some business was transacted and included a vote of thanks to Miss Sanderson, who entertained Miss Smith so hospitably and a vote of $2 toward sending a Peterborough County girl to Guelph for a two weeks' course, as was outlined by Miss Hopkins at the District meeting.

The meetings for July and August will be held at 3 o'clock Daylight Saving time. The announcement of the Selwyn strawberry social and dramatic entertainment on June 26 was made.

Extended Welcome

Mrs. A. Davis, president of the In-Grandmothers and other visitors. The first Grandmother's Day was held in November last and since that time there have been many changes, some of the grandmothers having been removed by death and the oldest grandmother at that part, Mrs. Thomas Hendren, aged 86, was not able to be present this year.

A short program was given and included piano selections by Mrs. John Northey and Mrs. Gilbert McIlmoyle; solo, "The Sundial in my Garden," Mrs. Chaplin; reading, "Levinsky at the Wedding," Alex Sutton. Mrs. John Northey told of Mrs. Freeburn in her neighborhood, who is 94 years of age and who lives alone with her two sons who take care of her. When Mrs. Northey visited her recently the old lady asked her to bob her hair. She is unable to read or knit and finds time hangs rather heavily on her hands.

Miss Atwood, on request, told of her mother who is ninety-one and who reads the papers with keen interest, being interested in world affairs as well as those of her own community.

Prizes were given to the grandmothers in four classes. A bunch of roses was given to Mrs. D. W. Blewett, of Smith, who was the oldest grandmother present and who has 27 grandchildren and 33 great grandchildren. Mrs. T. Braden was given a cake plate as a reward for being the tallest grandmother present while Mrs. William Watson, Sr., was given a similar trophy for being the shortest grandmother. Mrs. D. Garvey, of Smith, was presented with a teapot because she had the greatest number of grandchildren, having 42. A vote of thanks was given to all who had assisted in the program and the grandmothers who had responded to the invitation.

Mrs. S. Spence thanked the members of the Institute on behalf of the grandmothers for a pleasant social afternoon and assured them of their co-operation in the work and hoped to be able to assist in some way. This resolution was seconded by Mrs. William Watson.

Tea was served and an informal social hour enjoyed.

Receives Award

G. F. Rainnie, of Halifax, and a former pupil at "The Grove" who was especially well known in the village on the Grove hockey team, won the Victor Vandersmission award for being the best allround cadet, morally, physically and intellectually. This award is determined by a secret ballot of all the cadets.

Mr. Rainnie has many friends here who will be pleased to learn of this honor which has come to him.

IN PETERBOROUGH CHURCHES

ST. JAMES CHURCH

Rev. George Williams, who is in charge of the Maintenance and Missionary Department of the Bay of Quinte Conference, was the interesting speaker on Sunday morning in St. Jame's pulpit.

The theme was Missions and having given several years to this work in Formosa, Mr. Wilhams came with a most inspiring and challenging message of the world's need.

He said, in introducing his subject "I might have chosen many different texts, but the world's call is best put forth in the old familiar text found in John 3:16 "For God so loved the world". Continuing Rev. Mr. Williams congratulated St. James upon its missionary spirit as was evidenced by the number of young people who are ready for active service and declaring that this was only to be expected from a church with such a pastor as Rev. Mr. Dudgeon. The world today is a bundle of life with all barriers of distance broken down by modern methods of transportation and Communication.

We are one great family and must share any great benefit coming to us with our brothers throughout the world. The greatest thing that we possess is the gospel and we are responsible for giving it to those who have not heard. Formosa, the land of head-hunters had heard of whisky but had heard of no gospel. Here is the challenge for us to send the message of Jesus and His love. The missionary enterprise is a world task and is at the fore-front of the church program today.

There are thirty-two millions in the field waiting for us.

Work in Formosa

Every Mission field has its thrill, but the value, the need and the challenge of the work in Formosa. I know at first hand said Mr. Williams. It is a small country as to size, 250 miles long and but 50 to 60 miles wide, with an area of 14,000 square miles. It is a tropical country, 90 miles off the coast of China. Yet its population is half that of the Dominion of Canada, consisting of head-hunters, Japanese and Chinese. Fifty years ago they were all idol worshippers and it was not safe for a white man to land on their shores. Dr. George Leslie MacKay was the first missionary to Formosa. The first church he built was torn to pieces by natives who threatened to kill him, but he gradually won his way into their hearts and opened the way for other missionaries and the work was well founded before his death. Today conditions there are very different. Churches are organised into Presbyterials and conferences and their groups are liberal. It was found that one Presbyterial comparing in size with one in our own Bay of Quinte Conference had given three times as much for the spreading of the gospel. Yet, there are still multitudes who have never heard. And this is true of every mission field. Everywhere the spectre of human need stares you in the face, telling the story of a poor leper woman whom he found lying helpless in the street, the speaker told of the beginning of a great work among these people, which arose out of this incident. To some a deficit in this M. and M. fund was just a matter of bookkeeping, but in Formosa a hundred bed hospital was closed because of this very deficit, while people were dying with no medical attention. We should be above that sort of thing. In our country thirty dollars are spent on luxuries to every dollar spent for Missions. Let us reverse this condition and feel the joy of partnership with Jesus Christ in this great work.

Mr. Williams also addressed the Sunday School and the Brotherhood at the afternoon session.

One of the greatest testimonies being left by the Rev. J. H. Dudgeon as a result of his ministry in St. James United Church was the presence of two young men of his congregation who have just offered themselves for the ministry. These two, Charlie Kitney and A. S. Roblin assisted Mr. Dudgeon throughout the evening service, the pastor speaking from Genesis 6:3 "My Spirit shall not always strive with man."

EMISSARIES OF NATIVE STATES IN CONFERENCE

Full Attendance at Great London Conference of Colonials.

NATIVE RIGHTS

Lord Passfield, Secretary of State for Colonies, Outlines Work.

LONDON, Eng., June 24 (By Thos. T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)—With a full attendance of delegates the Colonial Conference got under way yesterday, being opened by Lord Passfield, Secretary of State for the Colonies. Governors and administrators of many far-flung native territories were on hand, with a large quota of interested observers.

Lord Passfield said the first session of the conference would be devoted to discussion of the proposals for a single colonial service embracing the 30 different administrations scattered throughout the world. Another subject of discussion would be unified agricultural service.

It was stressed by His Lordship that although the covenant of the League of Nations crystallised the idea that mandated territories are held on behalf of the natives occupying them? Britain in administering her colonial system had always recognized the native populations as entitled to primary consideration.

A grant has been made out of the Colonial Development Fund to defray part of the cost of investigating the question of standardization of railway gauges it was announced.

In the course of responses by various of the governors Sir William Gower, Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Uganda Protectorate, said it was a coincidence the conference had opened on the Prince of Wales' birthday. None had taken a keener interest in the Empire and the welfare of its native wards than His Royal Highness, Sir William pointed out.

The dead: Remenowsky; Mrs. Matilda Remenawsky, 38, and Anthony Sendelback, 30, former policeman.

LEADING ISSUES SHOW FIRMNESS

Nickel and Noranda Both Display Fractional Advances on Standard.

DROP IN HOWEY.

TORONTO, Ont., June 24. (C.P.)—Prices moved irregularly in a featureless session on the mining market to-day with the higher-priced issues showing a tendency towards firmness.

International Nickel and Noranda both displayed fractional advances at $24.25 and $21.25, respectively, but Hudson Bay was slightly easier at $7. Lindsleys lacked buoyancy, Falcono bridge easing 5 to $2.65, Ventures 8 to $1.17 and Sudbury Basin a point to $1.69. Sherritt Gordon gained 3 to $1.45.

Howey was sold to some extent during the first hour or so, dropping 5 from last night's close to 55. Other golds were strong, however, Lake Shore advancing a quarter, Teck Hughes and Hollinger 10 each and Wright-Hargreaves 5. Abana was the strongest issue among the lower-priced base metals, recovering 5 to 60 under fair buying volume.

Home Oil, off 15 to $4.20, was the weak spot in an otherwise firm group of oils. Nordon appeared to securing renewed attention and moved up 7 to $1.40, and Ajax Oil and East Crest advanced a couple each.

During an assault case in Manchester, England, recently, it was revealed that the six members of the family were idle and were receiving, in pension and dole, $31.25 a week.

TORONTO TRADE AT STANDSTILL

No More Six Stocks Register Very Occasional Transactions.

VARIATIONS MIXED.

TORONTO, Ont., June 24. (C.P.)—Prices fluctuated idly on Toronto Stock Exchange this morning as trading faded away almost to a minimum. Not more than half a dozen leaders recorded more than a very occasional transaction and there was a long list of issues which did not put in an appearance at all.

Variations were fractional in nature and mixed, though Brazilian and Nickel were both higher, the former selling above 40 and the latter above 24. Ford of Canada was firm at 30, Bell Telephone unchanged at 148, C.P.R. unchanged at 190. Steels were quiet, as were the foods while the oils failed to make headway. Most issues of the oil group eased under their finals of Monday, without, however, displaying weakness.

The beverage group was firm. Walkers firmed to 9, Canada Bud, opening off slightly, moved up to 11 bid.

COUNTRY VILLAGE

supported the shotgun. A small branch of a tree was cut and a nail driven through one end with which the trigger of the gun was pressed.

They say Sutton was subject to spells which are variously described as "sulky," "melancholy" and "depressions." Mr. Armstrong told The Examiner that the periods of depression usually occurred on Monday.

Monday afternoon his employer went into alliston, leaving Sutton to dig some fence post holes in a back field near the woods. When the dinner bell was rung for supper Sutton did not respond. It was rung again. Finally, late at night, when he still had not returned, the Barnardo Home and Provincial Constable Robinson of Alliston were notified.

Shotgun Not Missed.

A search was made of the Armstrong barns and outbuildings without results. In the search no one thought to look for the shotgun, which was always kept in the woodshed and it was not missed until it was found yesterday beside the boy's body in the woods.

Almost immediately after his disappearance several of the farmers in the neighborhood guessed that Sutton had committed suicide.

William Armstrong of Lippincott Street, Toronto, Ont., who was hired to replace him, the dead boy, cut fence posts at the edge of the woods.

"But I wouldn't go in there to cut them," he said, pointing to the dense undergrowth.

"Why? Did you know he was there?"

"No," he said, but he could not explain the fear that he had.

Andrew found the body yesterday while hunting for wild strawberries.

RAILS DECLINE HEAVY SELLING IN LATE SESSION

Southern Railway, Rock Island and Great Northern All Suffer Reverses.

HEAVINESS IN WHEAT.

Temporary Upturns on Wall Street Caused By Flurries of Short Covering.

New York, June 24. — The stock market was left to the devices of the professional trading element today which found stocks more easily depressed than rallied. The bear faction lacked conviction however and occasional flurries of short covering caused temporary upturns.

Wall street was more impressed with a sharp falling off in the volume of trading than in the rather meaningless price movements. While yesterday's rally failed to carry over into to-day's trading the renewed dullness of market was interpreted in brokerage circles as indicating that the liquidating movement under way for the past three weeks had largely spent itself.

Rather heavy selling of the rails cropped out after Midday, evidently reflecting bear pressure based on poor operating income reports now appearing for May. Southern Railway sold at the lowest level in five years, Frisco, the lowest in four, Rock Island the lowest in three, and Great Northern preferred the lowest in two. Losses of 2 to 5 points were numerous. Warner Bros. and Byers sagged in response to the shading of unofficial earnings estimates. Several stocks sold up 1 to 8 points in the morning, American Tobacco "B" making the maximum gains, but there were mostly more than lost later. U. S. Steel, American Telephone, American Can, and General Electric sagged moderately, Anaconda was depressed by uneasiness over the dividend ,to be announced Thursday.

Renewed heaviness of wheat favored the bear cause. The July position again dropped more than 2 cents, recording still a new low for the past 16 years.

ARTHUR CHOATE LAID TO REST

Relatives and Friends Pay Tribute as Remains Buried in Warsaw Cemetery.

ONCE GREAT FINANCIER.

Forty-six years ago an ambitious boy left Warsaw, to make his way in the world. It was his lot in the ensuing years to win great success but also to see the darker sides of life in his course through the swift rapids and the uncertain eddies in the stream of life. To-day, his mundane cycle completed, he was returned to the scenes of his birth and his boyhood days to be laid in his place of eternal rest.

Relatives and friends of Arthur Percival Choate who had by no means forgotten him during his long absence from this district gathered in sincere tribute at his funeral this afternoon. Simplicity marked the funeral services at Comstock's Funeral Home in this city, and at the graveside in St. Mark's Cemetery at Warsaw which were conducted by Rev. A. E. Thornley of Mark street United Church, Peterborough.

"The result of our labors is not so much the dollars and cents which come to us but the character that comes to us in the doing of it," Rev. Thornley said in addressing a few comforting words to the mourners. "If in the doing of the work the character has been developed and our Lord glorified, success shall have been attained. The unexpected is always happening. We know not but what we may be called in a moment or in an hour but when we are called it will be a call to go with Christ."

The service was held at two o'clock, following which the procession left the city for St. Mark's cemetery in Warsaw. Pallbearers were Richard Choate of Toronto, Harold Choate of Peterborough, O. B. Earle of Toronto and E. A. Peck, S. R. Armstrong and W. F. Green of Peterborough.

Among the mourners were Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Earle of Toronto, Mrs. George Stevenson, R. F. Choate, Mrs. William Payne of Peterborough, the deceased's sister, Mrs. T. A. Choate, A. F. Choate of Warsaw, and Dr. Herriman of Cobourg.

Mr. Choate's death occurred in New York on Saturday, where he had lived for the last ten years.

ARTICLE LIV.

Q—(a) What important points should be considered in the analysis of a Railroad bond issue?

A.—The most important point to be considered in the analysis of a railroad bond issue is the value of the property securing the issue. The amount of the issue should not be more than 50% to 75% of the value of the property from a real estate standpoint. The bonded debt and total capitalization per mile should compare favorably with those of other similar railroads.

If the railway has prior liens which will mature shortly and give the issue in question a prior lien on the property, so much in its favor. It is advantageous if there are several junior liens on the same property, because it shows that if other investors are satisfied with a junior lien, the prior lien is so much the better. The company may moreover have much stock outstanding which gives added safely.

The gross earnings should compare favorably with those of other similar railroads. Freight earnings are more desirable than passenger earnings as they are usually less liable to fluctuate. The class of freight carried should be examined and a comparison made with other companies. It should be diversified if possible so as to be almost constant in good and bad years. The train loads and the rates charged should compare favorably with those of other roads.

Capitalization per mile varies so much according to the importance of the part of the road under question, that it is hard to determine a just amount. However by comparing it with other similar roads a good approximation can be obtained.

Gross earnings per mile are more important, and they too, should bear a favorable comparison with those of similar railroads.

Similarly with net earnings. These should be compared with those of previous years to determine whether they are increasing or not. Net earnings should be about twice as great as fixed charges for a first class security.

It is important that the financial structure of the company be not top heavy. If its funded debt is too large it will have difficulty in meeting its fixed charges in lean years. It could, however, decrease its dividend on preferred stock issues without danger.

The management of the company is important. Their policy may be well determined by the manner in which they deal with maintenance and depreciation items. Maintenance may be neglected to show larger net earnings.

If the bond is listed on a well-known exchange it will have a readier market and a higher selling price. Or the fact that it is legal investment for Savings Banks will increase its value due to the increased demand for the bond, and also secure for it a steadier market value. A tax exempt feature will also add to the price of the issue.

(b) In an analysis of a railroad stock issue what further points must be considered?

A.—The preceeding points must be considered also inthe analysis of a railroad stock issue. And there are some additional points. But if the bonds of a company are not safe, the stock will not be safe either.

The most important considerations here is the balance left after fixed charget have been paid. The percentage of net income required for dividend payment is important. A decrease in the gros-earnings of a company with a large capitalization will not be so serious as a decrease with a company of small capitalization.

In the case of common stock the percentage earned on it is important, for whether it is paid out in dividends or ploughed back it will be advantageous.

The general railroad situation should be summarized. Prospects for the future should be bright and government regulations not apt to hinder their progress.

An outstanding bond issue, maturing shortly, will have a depressing tendency on the company's stock.

And lastly, a general depression in the stock market will tend to lower the price of any stock, and it is an item not to be overlooked.

SCOTLAND PLAYS PART IN CANADA'S GREAT ADVANCE

Wonderful Work By Hudson Bay Company Related By Victoria, B.C., Editor.

PRESS DELEGATES MEET.

B. C. Nicholas Claims Canada Still Needs Spirit and Energy of Pioneer.

(By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)

EDINBURGH, Scotland, June 24—"Canada is very largely a blood child of Scotland", emphasized B. C. Nicholas of the Victoria, B. C. Times, when he replied to the toast of welcome offered by the Lord Provost of Edinburgh on the arrival here of the delegates to the Imperial Press Conference. The delegates left later for London, where today they were received by Their Majesties.

Mr. Nicholas illustrated how Charles II in granting the charter which originated the Hudson's Bay Company, had really been an empire builder. This company had acted as explorer, settler and administrator for millions of square miles of territory from the Great Lakes to Hudson's Bay and to the Pacific. Subsequently Sir John A. MacDonald and George Brown, both of whom were born in Scotland, were moving spirits in confederation of the Canadian Provinces and thereby created not only a great Dominion in the new world but opened the door to a new imperial orientation evidenced by the new British commonwealth of nations.

C. P. R. Example

One of the physical expressions of these developments, Mr. Nicholas continued was the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. "Is it not a proper sequel therefore that the Canadian Pacific with such origin should send to the shipyards of Scotland orders for ships valued in the past ten years at one hundred million dollars", he asked, "and if British shipbuilders can win supremacy in the markets of the Dominion by providing products designed to meet its peculiar needs, why should not British manufacturers of other products attain a similar supremacy, providing they meet a similar need".

Canada still needed the spirit and energy of the pioneer, Mr. Nicholas said. Success there could be achieved only by hard work and sacrifice. Britain herself was pioneering through adversity to a new mentality to the development of a new character. "It is to be that this pioneering, spirit, both in Britain and the Dominions will lead to a better and wider appreciation by both of the value of co-operation in winning prosperity for the whole Commonwealth", he concluded.

SOCIETY PLANS CELEBRATION

Fenella Women's Institute to Observe Twenty-fifth Birthday Anniversary.

ON JULY 10TH

CAVAN, June 24 (Examiner Correspondence)—Mrs. J. W. Perrin, the new president, presided at the regumeeting of Cavan Women's Institute which was held at the home of Mrs. Edgar Fallis on Thursday afternoon.

The report of the concert at which Duncan Cowan and his accompanist, Miss Clemens, of Toronto and Miss Helen Staples, of Springville contributed the program was given and consisted of receipts, $61.75; expenditures $50; leaving a balance of $11.75.

A committee consisting of Mesdames, Hunter, Howden, Staples, Carr, and Sutton was appointed to decide on the place for the picnic, and Miss E. Hunter, Miss L. Syer, Mrs. Fallis, Mrs. Whitham, and Mrs. Lloyd Sutton were named as a sports' committee. Each family is to provide their own provisions including dishes, etc., with sugar and lemons for lemonade.

Correspondence was read from members expressing thanks for fruit, received during illness.

An appeal was made by a member for a needy family in Peterborough and five dollars was voted to buy a pair of sheets, pillow cases and the balance to be spent in material for a child's dress. Mesdames Kennedy, Perrin and Snider were appointed as a committee to look after this.

The program committee contributed an excellent report of the District annual meeting in Millbrook which was prepared by Mrs. Ray Syer and read by Mrs. D. J. Hunter.

It was announced that a coaching class for girls will be held in Cavan on August 5th and in Mount Pleasant on August 7th. A judging competition will be held in Millbrook on August 9th. Announcement was also made that the Institute must be prepared to pay its three guarantee shares to the Hydro by July 1st, as it is expected the power will be turned on or near that date.

Mrs. D. J. Hunter read, "The Master is coming" which brought the meeting to a close, after which the hostess assisted by Mrs. C. Fee, and Mrs. L. Sutton served lunch. Bouquets were sent to two members who were ill. Mrs. C. Carr's group will have charge of the program for the next meeting and the hostesses will be Mrs. Melville Carr's group.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND BRIEFS

A SPECIAL SERVICE TO THE EXAMINER

In a recent despatch, Henry Somerville, the Examiner London resident correspondent, drew attention to an article by the Midland bank, presumably written by its governor, Reginald McKenna, in which Britain's deflationary policy was blamed as lying behind the present world wide business depression. McKenna is considered somewhat of a radical by the staid, conservative English banker. He has consistently urged relaxation of credit and has criticized the bank of England policy as hindering post war recovery. So his last denunciation is no surprise. Sir Josiah Stamp, one of England's biggest business men and one of the world's greatest economists, censors, rather, the habit of slovenly thinking into which the world has fallen. "This is the golden age of industrial achievement, but the stone age of economic thought. How and how soon shall our insight and understanding match our strength and skill?" Sir Josiah is quoted by the business week, of New York, as saying. Sir Josiah is in American on a visit. "I am astounded" he is quoted as at the way the average American business executive is surrounded by charts, graphs, and every scientific economic invention, but I cannot perceive that the mental equipment of these executives has increased proportionately." Which leads the business week to add the pungent sentence or two.

"Our power to produce has outstripped our power of use. Our machinery of production is powerful, brilliant, and sure; that of credit, distribution and consumption weak, obscure, uncertain. The responsibility for creative thinking about these things still rests upon relatively few; the burden of its lack falls upon everyone."

H. W. and G. W.

One of the most attractive low priced securities on the Canadian exchanges is the ordinary stock of Hiram Walker-Gooderham and Worts, says McLeod, Young, Harris and Scott, Limited, selling in the neighborhood of $9 the income return at the dividend rate of $1 a year is better than 11%. Earning the dividend more than 1½ times over in the fiscal period ending August 31, 1929, profits have been well maintained since and the full year's dividend requirement earned in approximately 7 months of the current operating period. Diversifications of products has placed this company foremost in the ranks of Canadian distilleries and the most recent step to fortify the company's position has been the acquisition of the products of two well known Scotch distilleries.

Canadian Dredge and Dock Co., has been successful in securing two new contracts. The company has been awarded the contract for dredging at little Cataraqui, Kingston, amounting to $200,312 and another amounting to $45,054 in connection with the construction of a pier at Port Stanley. In quarters close to Canadian dredge, the company is said to be experiencing a very busy season. A large volume of unfinished work was carried over from last year and a number of new contracts secured since.

Market Improvement.

Following the close of the market Monday, it was said that the rally was the result of an oversold condition and that this morning might see further improvement at the opening followed by a dip which is just about what did take place in the forenoon to-day. From all appearances it was covering operations that brought about the upturn just as soon as the list displayed any sort of resistance. Signs that would denote investment buying on a scale that would change the trend were not in evidence, indicating no change on the part of the public. It is generally conceded that something must happen to again attract public participation. Constructive news might have this effect or stout resistance that would give confidence that the list had struck bottom might start buying on the part of those who have the money and are waiting most favorable opportunity to purchase. In the meantime stocks are being taken off the board at price recessions and some person must have the courage of their convictions to absorb extensive liquidation. Good stocks have reacted in sympathy with others and there is no question that many high grade securities are selling at levels that permit of a most liberal income return and give promise of capital appreciation in the future. The trouble seems to be that the type of investor who would ordinarily buy such securities is confused through the fact that the reaction has been of such long duration and that general business conditions and the state of the commodity markets is making it hard to distinguish between those companies whose earnings are bound to be effected and others that will suffer to a minor degree only.

WARKWORTH

Among the large number who attended the Warden's picnic at Presqu'ile Point on Wednesday were Messrs. George Beatty, Sr., and Donald Weatherspoon, who were contestants in the horseshoe pitching contest against Ralph Ames of Bowmanville and W. E. Herminston, of this village. The former were victorious and won a beautiful cup which is now on exhibition in the window of J. W. Mowat's store.

Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Drewry are spending a few days in Toronto, with relatives.

Miss Marguerite Kennedy of Marmora spent a few days recently with her friend, Miss Jennie Boyce.

The Chautauqua Committee is putting forth every effort to make the entertainment a success. Many tickets have been sold and it is believed it will be a financial success as it was last year.

The girl-friend says that marriage seems to be the only partnership in which just one member of the firm gets his name on the door.

PETERBOROUGH - CANADA

NO FELLOWSHIP COMPARED TO THAT OF CHRISTIAN CHURCH, DECLARES LAKEFIELD SPEAKER

Group Conference of United Churches in This District Held on Thursday.

INTERESTING SESSIONS.

Rev. Peter Bryce Gives Powerful Address on Missionary Giving.

LAKEFIELD, June 24. (Examiner Correspondence).—"There is no fellowship compared to that of the Christian Church" said Rev. Peter Bryce, D.D. secretary of the Missionary and Maintenance fund of the United Church of Canada in an eloquent address delivered at the group conference of the United Churches of this district held on Thursday afternoon and evening in Lakefield.

The afternoon session was held in Knox Church with Rev. T. M. Wesley in the chair. Rev. W. H. Taylor of Apsley took charge of the opening exercises and Rev. T. M. Wesley gave a brief address of welcome, also introducing the speakers.

Delegates were present from both United Churches in the village, Bridgenorth, Warsaw, Apsley, Lakehurst and Norwood.

Rev. Peter Bryce, who has just returned from a tour of western Canada, gave a powerful address, telling of a contribution of $2,000 which was received recently in two Dominion of Canada bonds for a man in Halifax, who with his wife served Christ for forty years in the New Hebrides. Mr. Allen gave this sum in addition to his regular contribution. Another contribution came from two children who wanted it sent "to the children of China." It was only seventy-two cents, but the right spirit was behind it—the love of Christ and our fellows.

The speaker was for seven years chairman of the Mothers' Allowance Board of Ontario which spent two and one-quarter millions of dollars to help nearly 17,000 fatherless children and 4,400 mothers. "It is a beautiful thing to be able to help others and we should realize that when we think of the foreign missionary and the worker in the isolated sections of the home field, said the speaker.

"The amount of the fund allotted to the home mission department is 40.9% of the total; then there are foreign missions with twenty-two millions of people committed to our care in Africa, India, China, Japan, Korea and Trinidad; there is the Social Service work which is enormous. The United Church of Canada has in Toronto the most beautiful children's home on the continent.

"There is also Sunday School work the Pension fund and the other funds of the Church, all important and doing a wonderful work." Dr. Bryce concluded with an anecdote of an experience he had in Newfoundland in 1903 when he first came from Scotland. He found an old Nova Scotia trapper in an isolated log cabin in the woods and he received a wholehearted welcome and a request for a real service with a warning not to preach a short sermon. The old man told of hearing Dr. Grenfell in St. John and gave Dr. Bryce fifty cents to give him so he might have a share in the great work Dr. Grenfell was doing.

Has Interesting Subject

Rev. J. A. Williams of Toronto, had an interesting subject for his hearers—"The Best Methods of Church Finance." He told of the adoption of the budget system and the duplex envelopes and stressed their value and urged adoption by all churches. The duplex envelope with its regularly weekly contribution and a quarterly statement sent out is the best system up to date, for Church finance.

A discussion on this subject followed the address, in which several clergy took part. Dr. Bryce urged an annual canvass as a means of aiding local contributions, suggesting the collectors be sent out on a Sunday afternoon following an inspiration sermon.

Rev. S. A. Kemp Speaks

Rev. S. A. Kemp gave a short address on some of the problems of the rural minister. He enumerated the Church-going habits of the present, the difficulty of finding social life and recreation for the adult members of the congregation. Finance is a serious problem because few take the responsibility of stewardship. The question of leadership is a great problem.

Rev. H. B. Herrington

Rev. H. B. Herrington, of Warsaw, spoke of the relationship of the Sunday School to the Missionary and Maintenance Fund. "There is no excuse for calling ourselves Christians if we are not interested in the Kingdom of God. Christ died for the Kingdom and in the one prayer he taught his followers he put the petition. 'Thy Kingdom Come', at the very beginning. Children in the Sunday School should be taught this and trained to think of the Kingdom in its widest sense and not merely in local terms."

Rev. T. M. Wesley expressed the regret of the assembly at the approaching departure of Mr. Herrington from Warsaw.

Chairman Speaks

Rev. R. F. Stillman, of Norwood, chairman of the Missionary and Maintenance Fund in the Peterborough Presbytery was the next speaker. There are six charges in this group and the response has been very gratifying. Apsley excelled, making up its allocation, with the aid of the School, which is $250. Warsaw raised its full allocation of $300 and has become a self-sustaining congregation. The average contribution per member of the Presbytery is $3.82.

Following the afternoon session tea was served and a social hour enjoyed.

Evening Session

The evening session was held in Regent Street United Church, with Rev. S. A. Kemp, the pastor, in the chair, and Rev. J. O. Totten, of Bridgenorth, in charge of the opening exercises.

Before introducing the speakers, Rev. Mr. Kemp extended a welcome to Regent Street Church.

First Speaker

Dr. Peter Bryce was the first speaker and he quoted Sir William Osler who said that the text "he that loseth his life shall find it" is as true in the realm of medicine as in the realm of morals. Dr. Bryce after a trip across Canada is optimistic regarding the future of the United Church because of those who are serving it both at home and abroad. He told of Dr. Robert Armstrong who died on October 26 in Japan, his life shortened by his devotion to his work, he died serving God and can give good account of his stewardship and his work lives on after him.

The speaker was born in Blantyre, the home of David Livingstone and believes firmly that the Missionaries of this generation have the same noble sacrificial spirit which characterized the intrepid Livingstone. Murdoch MacKenzie, aged 73, sailed last week to take up the work of John Griffiths in Honan and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dickenson are still, after years of service, standing by their task.

"It is not the great membership, the fine buildings or the money which makes the United Church great, but the spirit of love and service in her people."

Dr. Bryce read a long and interesting letter from Rev. Charles Bridgeman, who with a native missionary was taken captive by bandits in China and suffered much hardship. The story of his captivity and escape was told graphically.

In closing Dr. Bryce said that the United Church should dread and fear a task equal to its capacity, but should ask the seemingly impossible and rely on God's help.

Dr. R. B. Cochrane

Dr. R. B. Cochrane, Home Missionary Secretary of the United Church gave a stirring address, stressing the value of the home missions. He prefaced his address by giving two reasons why he was glad to visit Lakefield, one to renew his friendship with his old college friend, Rev. T. M. Wesley and also because last year when visiting a Manitoba mission field and going about he asked the bright young student Missionary where his home was. His reply was prompt: "Lakefield, the prettiest town in Canada". That young man was Gordon Porter, and he is in the audience.

"Our Lord's last message after his resurrection was "Ye shall be my witnesses, first at Jerusalem and then to the uttermost parts of the earth?" Canada is our Jerusalem and we must have the spirit of God here if w expect to plant the gospel in foreign lands." The speaker told of a series of books entitled "The Makers of Canada" which ranged from Champlain to MacDonald and they are very fine but all these men did their part before this century opened and it is the makers of the New Canada with which we are now dealing. "Ours is a country of many nations, sixty-eight nationalities are represented, we have a million people of non-Anglo Saxon origin, who came to this country with the lust for land and the lust for liberty. Many have gone on farms that Anglo-Saxons would not take and have made them bloom like the rose, they will do work that Anglo-Saxons won't do. Let us stop calling them foreigners and let us co-operate with them to make this country the best in all the world. It was an amalgamation which produced the great Anglo Saxon race, in which fifteen nationalities had a part.

"The war made a difference in Canada's status, she stepped into the arena of nations and with her sixty thousand war dead, she cannot step out. Oceans now do not divide and we have our international problems, and the young Canadian is a citizen of the world as never before. Our land needs co-operation of its people that a national spirit may be developed and the man who sets race against race and stirs up religious or sectional troubles is hurting Canada.

"At a conference of Home Mission Secretaries held in Atlantic City recently there were four Canadian delegates and a large number of Americans, most of whom talked as if they had never heard of Canada. One man said 'America is being progressively paganized.' Is it not true that there is a danger to Canada and there is a task for the home, the school and the church to prevent it."

Paying a tribute to the missionaries of the past, first those heroic Roman Catholic priests, then the saddle back missionaries who braved the dangers of the unknown in their great task, he gave several stories to prove that the spirit of bravery, of love and sacrifice for Christ still lives in our missionaries of to-day. Let us all do our part to hasten the day when 'Man to man, the world o'er, shall brithers be for a' that.'

Votes of thanks were given to the speakers, the two churches, which had played hosts to the convention and to all others who had contributed to the success of the convention.

OAK LAKE BOYS CAMP PICTURED

Campbellford Rotarians Hear Interesting Address by Harold Niel on Boys Work.

IDEAL LOCATION.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 24 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — Featuring the weekly meeting of the Campbellford Rotary Club, held at the luncheon hour at the St. Lawrence Hall Hotel on Monday, Harold Neil, superintendant of the boys' camp at Oak Lake, gave a very interesting talk on the work of the camp. President Alex. McColl occupied the chair.

Mr. Neil, in his opening remarks, spoke of the work that everyone should be interested in, community service, and drew attention to the fact that the boys' camp was community service in the best form.

For four years now the camp had been serving the counties of Northumberland and Hastings, and had accomplished much. The first year's attendance had registered about eighty boys and leaders, and since then it had grown enormously.

The present site for the camp at Oak Lake was ideal in the speaker's estimation.

The buildings were in good shape, the bedrooms were all well equipped with furniture for the comfort of the boys, and the dining-room and kitchen were well placed and served. There were two lady cooks, who also took a motherly interest in the boys, all of whom were well cared for. The lake itself was one of the best for the purpose, with a fine sandy beach for swimming, which was one of the chief interests of the boys visiting the camp. No boats were allowed to be used, and special badges for life-saving were granted to those boys who qualified along this line.

A Day In Camp.

Mr. Neil gave what he called a leaf from a day in camp. The camp comes to life at 7 a.m., and five minutes of P.T. is indulged in. After that the ceremony of raising the flag, and breakfast. The boys then clean up the in-quarters, there being a leader for each cabin, and each day one of the groups is awarded the highest marks for the cleanest abode.

Then there comes a period for meditation, when the boys can commune with the infinite, and after that a spell for the study of the Bible. Then one hour for group and team games, and from 11 a.m. to 12 noon, swimming.

After dinner there is a rest period, which is sometimes given over to story-telling. Then comes the time for games and hikes, and at 5 p.m., another swimming period. After supper, more games until dusk, and then the camp fire hour, when the boys gather round the fire and do their stunts and sing their songs, and learn that great spirit of friendliness. At 10 p.m. the camp retires.

"I know of nothing finer, or that makes for the developing of that spirit of friendship, than that eight days in camp," said the speaker, and went on to show that there was no distinction between the denominations but that religion was a free matter among the boys. The ages ranged from 12 to 15 and up, and the fee for one week was $5.

The scheme this year was that each cabin was to be given the name of a nation, and that a big ceremony would be held, called the league of nations, which was to teach the boys that they were members of a big world order, and part of a family of nations.

There was also a doctor for the camp, who examined the boys, and gave them useful instruction, and a course in musical appreciation was also given.

Mr. Neil, in conclusion, commended the work of the camp to the club, and hoped that they would consider it in their program of social service.

A vote of thanks to the speaker was moved by Dr. B. Longmore, and conveyed to Mr. Neil by the chairman.

A feature of the luncheon was a few words from an old Rotarian, Albert Dickenson, of Utica, N.Y., who extended the greetings of his club to the Campbellford brothers.

KINGSFORD-SMITH LIFTS HIS SHIP

that the flight would be successful.

"I am certain of doing this flight," he said. "We have taken so many precautions against dangers that I don't believe any exist. I have the most accomplished crew that will ever be found and all the elements of success are embodied in the Southern Cross. I hope to be back in Ireland within a month."

Captain J. T. Saul, navigator, said, "I have every confidence we shall succeed." M. E. Van Dyk asked. "Why should there be any doubt about getting there?"

Each man has his ration of sandwiches—eggs, cheese and tomato—a quarter of a pound of coffee, and a half pound of chocolate. Captain Saul and Stannage, in the cabin of the plane, will not see the two pilots in the cockpit throughout the flight; if necessary passing them notes by means of a stick. This would be done in the event of failure of the engine, when Captain Kingsford-Smith would be able to release the gasoline suddenly and lose weight. He believed the empty tanks would keep the plane afloat for several hours.

CHURCH MUST GO

He accused the Ontario premier of having disclosed confidence of Hon. Arthur Meighen on the platform of the Winnipeg convention, and he claimed, "Mr. Ferguson and the Ontario Government have delayed the Beauharnois development and alone are responsible for ships from the sea not coming into Toronto harbor now."

"The other day in Peterborough Mr. Ferguson never denied this accusation," Mr. Gordon said. "He just talked about the five-cent speech which is just about his standard. Mr. Ferguson is standing in the way of progress of this country, of this province and of Toronto."

Mr. Ferguson was guilty also, in Mr. Gordon's opinion, for having "cheated old people out of their pensions for two years."

The speaker then turned his fire upon the Ministers of the Ferguson Government.

Godfrey Charges.

"Lock at Dr. Godfrey," he advised "You know what his position has been. You know, too, what Mr. Price said to Tommy Church's sister the other day. You know how they dragoon women on the Mothers' allowance, and you know how they are dragooning Tommy Church now because he supported public ownership.

Mr. Gordon spoke of "secret trestles" with which Mr. Church, he believed, did not approve.

"Tommy Church is in the way," he said, "and Tommy Church must go, and in his place they are substituting J. R. MacNicol," he said.

A. J. Anderson, the opponent of the newly-elected Mr. Bond, did not escape comment. He had "done nothing for four years, four years ago, and nothing since," in Mr. Gordon's opinion.

The Judgment

After A. L. Smith, K.C., leading Crown counsel, had concluded his address to his Lordship, and A. A. McGillivray, K.C., leading defense counsel, had concluded his rebuttal, his Lordship handed down his judgment.

At the outset he referred to the very trying time which had been consumed by the trial, and to the appreciation of help counsel had given him. He made special reference to Kenneth J. Morrison, chartered accountant and star Crown witness, who he said, showed an expert knowledge of accountancy during his evidence on the stand.

He was an excellent witness, his Lordship declared, and he was without bias. Through him, he said, much time was saved by his system of having things ready for use as required, and some expression of appreciation was due him.

"I have carefully reviewed each morning the evidence of the day before to refresh my memory of the evidence," he said. "From the great mass of evidence here certain facts arise so clearly as to be indisputable."

Solloway, Mills & Company, Limited, he said, are named as co-conspirators in the indictment. The firm was owned by the accused, they having been previously in partnership. A stock broker, he said, was one who bought and sold in stocks and acted as agent for others.

Sixteen-Day Trial

Trial of Isaac W. C. Solloway and Harvey Mills opened in Alberta Supreme Court, Calgary, before Mr. Justice William C. Ives 16 days ago. Many witnesses testified, including former members of the brokerage firm, clients, marketing experts and accountants, while hundreds of documentary exhibits, including files, correspondence and business sheets of Solloway, Mills Company, Limited, were entered, sometimes after lengthy legal argument between A. A. McGillivray, chief defense counsel, and A. L. Smith, K.C., leading Crown counsel.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

LET us turn attention to-day to the homemaker who would have her table notable for its excellence.

• • • • • • •

When such is the case, one must be particularly careful not to serve too many odd recipes and too numerous kinds of foods at the same meal.

• • • • • • •

Just now there is what might be termed a craze for variety in ingredients used in the preparation of dishes and variety in menus.

• • • • • • •

Never before in the history of any country has it been possible to supply the quantity of foods out of season now within easy access of those living in Canada.

• • • • • • •

It is the homemaker's privilege to serve fresh fruits and vegetables that are not native to the soil where she lives and to do this without taxing even a moderate purse, so reasonably priced are these things.

• • • • • • •

Partly because of this and partly because ingredients, hitherto considered incongruous, are being combined in all sorts of recipes, there is a growing tendency to be a little lavish, not in quantities but in kinds.

• • • • • • •

The discriminating housewife and the person with epicurean tastes is not curtailing in variety, but she sees that the table is varied rather than variety is over-emphasized at any single meal.

• • • • • • •

I heard of one meal recently where discrimination was left out, and as many as seven different kinds of fruit were served at one meal, a number of them coming during the same course.

• • • • • • •

To me this is absurd.

• • • • • • •

In the matter of recipes a housewife should be quick to try new ones that appeal to her. She should be slow to try them for the first time when entertaining.

• • • • • • •

The ingredients may apparently be incompatable, but when tried out the flavor may be found agreeable to her and to her family.

• • • • • • •

If so, she can serve the dish at some time when there are guests and have the satisfaction of knowing it is good.

• • • • • • •

One such dish at a meal is enough, however. Do not at any one meal tax the appetite by many dishes that are "different."

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D

BODIES BEHIND OUR MINDS IN DEVELOPMENT.

"If a Greek of 2000 years ago were to return to earth, he would be amazed at the developments of modern practical science.

He would marvel at the steam engine, the radio, the telegraph, and the telephone, the automobile, the electric light, the enormous wealth our machinery is turning out.

But after he had made the round of shop and mine and field, he might inquire if we had brought our minds and bodies along in pace with our machines. For the people of Greece cared more for a sound mind in a sound body than they did for amassing great wealth."

I wonder if the above words from the Hon. Jas. J. Davis, strike home to each one of us.

There is no question about the achievements of science, and no question but these achievements have given every working man something he did not have before, and that is 'time to think.'

Also the achievemtns have made this a healthier world in which to live and the knowledge now possessed by men and women, boys and girls, was not even suspected by the ancients, nor in fact by people fifty or one hundred years ago.

The cause of ailments, that little organisms can harm or be of help to the body, that wars are not lost by disease any more, that impure water causes typhoid fever, that heart ailments come from tother infections in the body, not from anything being wrong with the heart itself, that babies fed properly do not die during their first year as so many formerly did, that the body uses starchy foods for energy, fats for protection, and meats and eggs to repair worn tissue, and so forth.

And yet with all this knowledge what is being done to get strong and beautiful bodies?

In our schools we are examining youngsters, teaching them to stand and sit erect and how to play.

This is good, and helps to give a foundation.

But what about our men and women? Are they following out their knowledge of how to have a sound and beautiful body?

I'm not afraid.

Little or no exercise is taken, sleeping too much at middle age, not sleeping enough at the early twenties, eating too much at practically all ages.

These three little points—exercise, sleep, and food—understand as never before, are being neglected as never before.

As a people we are not measuring up with our bodies to the pace set by our minds.

District Churches

GILMOUR MEMORIAL CHURCH

At Gilmour Church service on Sunday last, the Rev. W. S. Edgar took his text from ii Samuel 23:17: "These things did three mighty men."

After referring to the romantic incident of the three mighty men breaking through the Philistine garrison and drawing the water from the well and bringing it to the King and David refusing to drink of it but pouring it out as an offering to the Lord, Mr. Edgar went on to say: "Of all the great men which Scotland has produced, and they are legion, I am sure you will agree with me in saying that there are three who are outstanding. Those three men had certain qualities and something of the qualities of each of them are found in Scotsmen to-day, who are worthy of the name. Therefore we take men who are not merely in Scottish history, but men who are as no others are in Scottish blood. Who are those three men who more than others made Scotland and Scotsmen?

William Wallace, the martyr hero of Scotland, whose shining valor gleams through the twilight of history as a beacon star, whose life and death for his country inspired the nation as no other had done, inspired it with a sense of its unity, liberty and destiny, and thus called Scotland to itself.

"I admit, of course, that the figure of Wallace is dim and shadowy and many of the tales told of him are in some respects legendary. I remember also that it was Robert the Bruce who carried the flag of Scottish freedom to its crowning victory at Bannockburn. Still Wallace began the good work; he gave the initial impulse to the national movement; his was the call that stirred his countrymen to their depths; his, the inspiration that made the Scottish nation a people who were prepared to live and die not for glory, wealth, or honor, but for freedom which to them was dearer than life.

"John Richard Green says, 'That the instincts of the Scottish people have guided them aright in choosing Sir William Wallace as their national hero.' Before he appeared on the scene though there was a Scottish Kingdom united under one crown yet there was really no Scottish nation. There was no great national traditions to look back upon; there were no great national aspirations to look forward to. But when the hope for which Wallace was put to death in London, he died a Christian, a patriot and a martyr. When that hope became the triumphant fact of Bannockburn a whole nation had suddenly come to the consciousness of itself. Scotland was Scotland now for the first time.

"Wallace kindled that bright flame of love for freedom which has hummed in the hearts of Scotsmen ever since. True, Scotsmen can sing with our national poet.

'We will drain our dearest veins
but we shall we free,
Better to sit in freedom's hall
With cold damp pier and a mouldering wall,
Than bow the neck and bend the knee
In the proudest palace of slavery.'

"That brings me to our second great man, John Knox. If Wallace called the Scottish nation to itself, Knox called the Scottish nation to God. This may seem too high praise for the father of Scottish protestantism, yet nothing less than this rightly describes the core of the Scottish reformation.

"The foundation fact of that great movement was the hunger of the people's souls for the bread of life. The most remarkable thing that characterized that event was the eagerness with which the people heard the preaching of the Word of God. This was something new for Scotland; in the old church preaching had become almost extinct. What the Scotland of that destitute day needed was a man to speak in God's name and make the message of religion audible and intelligent to the great mass of the common people and that is just what Knox did and the people crowded to hear him.

"This was the secret of the reformation in Scotland. Knox created not only a protestant nation but a Christian nation; a nation within which God had again become real. The English emissary whom Lord Burleigh went to see how things were going, reported, "You would be surprised to see how men are changed here.' And so John Knox stands in Scotland as the symbol of religion. Now no nation can be great without religion, and the Scot is nothing if not religious, and the type of religion peculiar to Scotland, strong-stem Presbyterianism, is almost as rugged as her mountains. If it is characterized by any one thing it is by intellectual strength. The Scot is an expert in theology. The Presbyterian Church in Scotland is acknowledged to have the best educated ministry of any church in Christendom, and it owed much of that spirit to Knox, who in his day was an educationist of the first rank.

"We now look to the third great man—Robert Burns. Beneath his rough exterior Burns was a religious man. He stood for reality in religion and was very severe on sham, pretence and make-believe in matters of faith. He helped to kill the religious sanctimoniousness in Scotland and, believe me, it badly needed killing. He opened the way for a deeper river and more sincere religious life, and that was no small contribution to make to the moral and spiritual welfare of a country. Burn's gift of song was a very high one, rich in descriptive qualities. Truly, he could touch the true pathos and sublime of human life. He had that touch which makes the whole world kin.

"These three them—Wallace, who called the nation to itself; Knox, who called the people to God, and Burns, who called man to man—are the men who made Scotland and Scotsmen. I do not apologize for having spoken of them in this place and on this day, for great men are God's gift and God's message to a nation. But I pass from the merely historical to what is more practical and endeavor to apply what has been said about freedom, religion and humanity to the question of our own lives.

"We think of Wallace and speak of the claim of our free manhood to be itself, but if freedom is to reach its highest and best, we must link it to something other and higher than itself and what is that but Christ, who is the highest and best we know? Freedom is a thing of the spirit, not of the body—the body may be in bondage while the spirit is delightfully free.

"We think of Knox and we speak of religion, but it is not enough to be religious; we must see that we have the right religion, and anything less than the religion of Jesus Christ should not satisfy us. We must see that it breathes His spirit and seeks to accomplish His aim and purposes; namely, changing this old sinful earth of ours into a Paradise and setting up God's Kingdom into this present world.

"We think of Burns, and we speak of humanity. Burns stands for a larger and fuller life for every individual human being. We look after everything with life but human beings. We care for cows and horses, fields and orchards, engines and motor cars, but we allow millions of people to die of starvation as happened in China recently. We build comfortable stables and barns for cattle, and yet we allow human beings to be housed miserably; whole families in single rooms without sufficient light or air, with the inevitable result that we have an appalling death rate among infants, and a far too large death rate among adults. Burns would have us end that kind of thing and give supreme attention to the welfare of humanity.

"Now, in closing, let me appeal not only to the Scots who are here, but to all present to make these great ideals of Freedom, Religion and Humanity, the things for which we will live henceforth. Let us cherish them in our hearts, live them in our lives and talk about them with our lips and thus honor the men who lived and worked and died to make them ours.

C.G.E. Defeats Bethany for Sixth Straight Win

CRARY HOLDS VISITORS TO SINGLE HIT

Harvey Smith, the One Bethany Batsman to Get Safety Blow.

SCORE ON ERROR.

Ralph Does Nice Work on the Mound But is Let Down By Team Mates.

Making it six in a row, the C.G.E. ball team easily defeated Doc Hamilton's Bethany nine at Exhibition Park last evening. The victory further strengthens the already strong position of Art Primeau's atnietes in first place in the E.P.L. race.

Final Score 8-2.

The Bethany hitters were rendered an absent force by the pitching of Jack Crary, who turned them back with but one lone single. Harvey Smith was the one Bethany batter to get a safety and his clout was a grounder down the third base line in the sixth frame. Crary had eight strike outs and he breezed along in impression fashion throughout.

The two runs the Mountain Village boys did get came as a result of an error in the second innings.

Poor Support.

Harold Ralph turned in a nice pitching demonstration for the losers but his mates let him down badly. His defence was wobbly throughout and at times it broke wide open. On his twirling the Electrics were only entitled to three runs, the rest being the result of misplays of those behind him.

The C.G.E. started off in their half of the first innings. Rose started off with a single and Johnson walked. H. Hollingsworth was tossed out at first by Ryley but Rose went to third and he scored on Beavis rolled to second. Johnson countered when Walton messed up Ash's bounder. L. Hollingsworth rolled to Ryley.

Bethany got their two in the second. Starr walked and stole second. Batten struck out. Starr went to third on a balk. Burke was safe at first when Crary on a weak roller chose to get Starr off third and failed. Both runners scored when Rose let Cotton's bounder go through him. Ralph whiffed.

The C.G.E. added two more in their half. Harmer rolled out to Ryley. Ashmore walked. Crary singled into centre field. Rose walked, filling the bases. Ashmore was out coming home in Johnson's tap to Batten. H. Hollingsworth hit into right field for two bases, Cotton watching the ball fall in front of him, and Crary and Rose scored. Beavis struck out.

Three Runs in Fifth.

Nothing happened either way in the third, but in the fourth the Electrics sent three runs across the platter. Rose doubled into right field. Jones popped to the pitcher. Rose scored on H. Hollingsworth's single. Hollingsworth stole second and scored on Beavis' single through the box. Beavis was out going to third when Ash rolled to Walton. Ash scored on L. Hollingsworth's hit and Ryley's wild throw to third. Harmer struck out.

In the sixth the winners got their other run. After Jones had struck out, H. Hollingsworth walked and stole second. Beavis filed to centre. Hollingsworth scored on Walton's error of Ash's rap. L. Hollingsworth struck out.

Softball Notes.

Tonight Westclox and Harrison's will be the opposing teams at Central School Grounds in a softball fixture. Both teams are well up in the race and a win would help either way. Harrison's are showing their last year's form in the past few games and are out to win. Westclox lost their last start, and are out tonight to jump back in the running. It should be a good game.

Wednesday night Brintons and Sugar Bowl play at the former's grounds, while Belmtn Club and Harrison's will engage in battle at Central School grounds. The latter game is a postponed fixture.

All games will start at 6.30 sharp.

CARNERA FOULED BY GEORGE GODFREY

Giant Italian Laid Low in Fifth —"Intentionally Low" Declares Referee.

BAKER BOWL, PHILADELPHIA, June 24.—In keeping with the finest traditions of modern heavyweight battle, Primo Cernera, the mighty-muscled merchant of Venice, overcame the brawn of giant George Godfrey last night—on a foul.

Ballyhooed far and wide as the test that was to prove Carnera a genuine warrior, and not just a six-foot-seven-inch 262-pound mammoth with an inspired flair for showmanship, the battle managed to prove exactly nothing. It ended in the fifth round with the man who was behind on points on the floor—just as the ill-fated Sharkey-Schmeling heavyweight title wound up in the Yankee Stadium on June 12.

It furnished 36,000 of the ever-faithful with another picture of extreme agony, this time the biggest in point of size that they had ever seen, but, after all, it was the same old picture. Carnera, taking up most of the floor space, writhed like a featherweight after a swinging left hook thudded in his groin. He squirmed and contorted and ended up limp and unconscious, to be dragged unceremoniously by the head and heels to his corner.

QUINTE HEADS C.O.B.L. SERIES

Belleville Tallies 5 Runs in Ninth Inning to Defeat Kingston.

FINAL COUNT 13-5.

KINGSTON, June 24. — Belleville went ahead in the series in the Central Ontario Baseball League here last night, when they defeated Kingston at the cricket field, 13 to 5, hammering the ball hard through the greater part of the game to take the verdict. It was, however, their ninth-inning outburst, when they tallied five runs, that assured them of victory.

Jamieson pitched well for the locals until the ninth, when he weakened and was hammered for four hits, while he sandwiched a couple of walks. Kingston overcame a two-run lead in the third, when they went ahead by 4 to 3, but Belleville came back to score four runs in the fourth, and from then on they kept in the lead. R. Scott drove a tremendous clout for a home run in the sixth, while Jamieson connected with a four-ply drive in the fourth. Alex. Weir coasted along on good fielding all the way, five great catches in centre field by Darrah robbing Kingston of what looked like real extra-base hits. Cretney in right field also made some fine catches to pull Weir out of a couple of bad holes.

Vern Weir and Harry Mills, two of the veterans of the Nationals, led the visitors at the bat, each connecting safely three times, while Bob Elliott, with three hits, was the best hitter for the locals. Kingston fielded well, and two snappy double plays livened up their work, but they failed to hit in the pinches, and when Jamieson weakened they were unable to stop the Nationals from piling up the score.

The victory for Belleville is the second for the visitors, while Kingston have been returned winners once.

BIRDS OVERCOME FIVE RUN LEAD IN LAST FRAMES

McGowan Scores Winning Run For Baltimore on Close Play.

WINGS BEAT SKEETERS.

Bisons Make 33 Hits in Reading Game to Make New League Record.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 24.— It took thirteen innings for the Orioles and Leafs to settle the question of supremacy here yesterday afternoon in the initial game of their four-tilt series, the Birds pushing over the winning run after Richardson had made a great stop, but failed in a force-out play at second. The score was 8 to 7.

With the count tied at 7-all in the thirteenth, Stroner went out at first, but McGowan walked. Sand singled to center to put McGowan on second. Danning hit to third base, and Sand "perished" at second. When Gill was walked purposely, the bases were populated, with two down. Here Dalrymple slapped a grounder to Richardson, who made a superb stop and a good throw to get Gill at second. However, the runner was called safe on a close play, McGowan scampering across with the winning run.

It was a tough game for the Leafs to lose. Up to the eighth Southpaw Frank Barnes had pitched fine ball, but a sudden Oriole rally pushed over four runs in this session, and enabled the Birds to approach within one run of the Canadians. "Lefty" Bolen, who started for the Birds, was relieved by Weaver in the eighth. Then Gill hit a homer in the ninth to send the game to extra innings. The teams meet for the next three days in single games, and, judging by today's contest, some hammer-and-tongs baseball is on tap.

It looked like a clean-cut victory for Toronto until the Birds uncorked an impressive rally in the eighth inning, and, to cap the climax, scored the tying run in the ninth.

WINGS BEAT SKEETERS

JERSEY CITY, June 24. — Eddie Delker, pinch-hitting for Pitcher Littlejohn in the tenth inning, came through with a double to right center with the bases loaded to give the Rochester Red Wings a hard-earned triumph over the Jersey City Skeeters by a score of 4 to 1 in the opening game of the series here yesterday.

NEWARK, June 24.—Montreal defeated Newark 10 to 4 here yesterday, handing the Bears their third straight defeat in two days. The Royals staged a big scoring spree in the third inning, sending eight runs across the plate. Harvin, Faulkner and Brennan toiled on the mound for the losers and were touched for a total of 10 hits. Tris Speaker, manager of the Bears, replaced Wrightstone in left field and had a perfect day with the willow, getting three singles in as many tries. Smith pitched for the winners and yielded 13 hits, but kept them well scattered. Gulley of the Royals hit a home run in the fourth inning.

Dodgers Get Ten in One Inning Against Pittsburg Pirates.

N.Y. GIANTS WIN.

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 24.—Tying two National League records while pounding out 26 hits of every description, the Brooklyn Robins yesterday defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates, 19 to 6.

In the sixth inning, the Robins tied the one-inning consecutive-hit record held jointly by the Cubs and Cardinals, when they connected with ten successive hits. Lopez made the last out, being caught at the plate while trying to score from second on a single. Continuing on in the seventh the Robins hit safely twice more before a batsman was retired, to run their consecutive hitting to 12, tying the mark made by the Cardinals against the Braves on Sept. 17, 1920. The Cubs hung up their one-inning hitting record against the Braves on Sept. 7 of last year, while the Cards made theirs against the Phillies, June 12, 1922.

"Hack" Wilson led the assault on Pitchers Willoughby and Speece, driving out five hits, one of which was his twenty-second home run of the campaign. The Phillies played very raggedly, losing many easy putouts and turning them into Cub hits.

ELECTRICS WIN SOFTBALL TILT

C.G.E. and Brintons Turn in One of Best Games of the Season.

CARPET TEAM LOSE 8-3.

Playing air-tight ball behind Richmond's stellar pitching C.G.E. defeated the Brintons 8-3. The game was one of the best played of the season, both teams turning in good performances.

Richmond, Electrics' pitcher, had a world of stuff and great control. He worked a nice curve ball with his fast one, with the result that the Brintons could do no more than pop the ball up.

Dundas, while hit a little harder than Richmond, turned in a good pitching card. A badly fielded ball in one innings went for a home run and two men scored ahead.

Both pitchers showed good control, no walks being issued.

Great fielding was turned in by both teams, the fielders making spectacular catches. Ken Miller had eight outs in left field for the Electrics.

Brintons scored first, getting a run in the third when Jones singled, was sacrificed to second and scored on two passed balls.

C.G.E. came back in the same inning with two. Calladine and Wilson singled and both scored on an overthrow.

The Electrics added three more in the fifth. Richmond doubled to left. Wilson was safe on Maudsley's error. Both scored when Webb's hit to right field got away from Jones and went for a homer.

Brinton shoved two across in the sixth. Maudsley was safe on Wilson's error. Sturgeon singled to left. Both scored on Dundas' hit to centre.

Brintons failed to score on three hits in the seventh, but the C.G.E. tallied thrice. Wilson singled, Miller got on by an error. Richmond singled scoring Wilson. Gore doubled to drive the other two across.

That ended the scoring although the C.G.E. had two men on in the eighth with hits, as did the Brintons in the ninth with two hits.

The line ups:

Brintons—Maudsley, 3b; J. Corbett, 1b; Sturgeon, 2b; C. Shaughnessy, lf; Dundas, p; C. S. Shaughnessy, ss; E. Jones, rf; E. Hass, c; H. Rose, cf.

C.G.E.—Calladine, ss; Wilson, 2b; Miller, lf; Webb, cf; Gore, c; Millard, rf; O'Toole, 3b; Griffin, 1b; Richmond, p.

Three members were appointed to carry out the instructions detailed to them which makes all knights of the whistle the same—old and new members will be tested under the ruling thus—"This association will have power to re-examine any referee the Directors may deem advisable." Next Monday evening, Tom Wilson who made application in writing will be brought before the examination board: also Jack Hodson desires to be examined so as to meet the requirements of the game.

James Hawthorne, who sent in his resignation to the executive two weeks ago, was requested to write the P. and D. F. A. stating that he wished to continue refereeing because they have not received a written statement from him since he sent his previous note.

Cup Final Saturday

The Canadian Packing and the Brinton meet in the final of the Spalding cup on Saturday on the Brinton Ground. Kick off at 3 o'clock. Taking every view into consideration of the official referee for this important match, the association decided under the rule of "control of referees" that Alexander McKinley handle this cup tie at the request of the board. Linesmen: A. Waddell and R. Gilmour. To settle the venue of the encounter, the decision went in favor of the Brinton ground after the two names had been put in the hat and drawn. The draw for the prizes will take place at the end of the game.

SIX NATIONS RESERVE INDIANS TAKE GRIEVANCES TO COMMONS

Smoke Pipe of Peace With Great White Father's Representatives.

TEA PARTY STAGED.

LONDON, June 24.—A picturesque note was struck in the House of Commons yesterday by the appearance in the special gallery of a group of Canadian Indians in full tribal costume. They were representatives of the Six Nations, headed by Chief Chauncey Garlow, and they have come to discuss certain grievances with the Government of th. Great White Feather.

A number of Commoners are arranging a meeting at which the redskins will be given an opportunity of stating their case. A deputation of the visitors will also call upon the Right Hon. J. H. Thomas, Secretary of State for the Dominions.

The party was given tea on the Westminster terrace and the historic pipe of peace was produced and handed around. Before the tea came to a close Chief Garlow gave to the Commoners present a document containing an expression of thanks to the Great Spirit for the privilege of landing on these shores, as their Iroquois forefathers had done, to discuss the misunderstandings which arose between the British and their allies, the Iroquois.

The Canadian scullers had two outings yesterday accompanied by their trainers, with Joe Wright Sr., Toronto alderman and famous rowing coach, a keenly interested spectator. Both scullers spent most of the time paddling, with occasional bursts of rowing, when they showed good form.

Hitting Records Set In Two Major Leagues

Modern day baseball with its lively ball home runs and two-figured scores, was exhibited to Mr. John Public in large quantities by the major league ball teams yesterday.

A total of 256 hits, in which were interspersed 20 home runs, rang off the bats of the players, scoring 159.47 to furnish an example of the great American sport as played in 1930. The American Leaguers outscored their National League rivals 81 to 78 and outhit them 137 to 119 but seven games were played in the Junior Circuit as compared to four in the Heydler circuit. The American League also led in home runs 11 to 9 as Babe Ruth connected with his twenty-fourth of the season.

The Chicago Cubs led the parade in both leagues, defeating the Phillies 21 to 8 as they found the Philadelphia pitchers for 24 hits including Hack Wilson's twenty-second home run. Davis Phillie catcher drove the ball over the fence twice.

TAGGERS REALIZE SUM OF $350.64

Successful Day Carried Out Under Auspices of Four I.O.D.E. Chapters of City.

The taggers who worked so hard on Saturday for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind were able to roll up a total of $350.64, which, considering the absence of many people on the C.G.E. picnic, they considered a very satisfactory amount.

The tag day was in charge of the four chapters in the city of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire. Mrs. S. Newhall was general convenor. The regents of the two senior chapters, Mrs. T. W. H. Young, regent of the 57th Regimental Chapter, and Mrs. C. A. White, regent of the Otonabee Chapter, did exceptionally well.

Alderman Stocker was an energetic assistant of the ladies and had the largest single amount, over $36, in his box.

A BEDTIME STORY

By Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND NANNIE'S NECKLACE.

One day, when many of the animal boys and girls were hurrying to the Hollow Stump School to recite their lessons to the Lady Mouse Teacher, Nannie Wagtail, the girl goat, saw Lulu and Alice Wibblewobble, the duck sisters, coming along, waddling slowly. Lulu seemed to be looking at something which her sister had around her feathered neck.

"I wonder what it is?" softly bleated Nannie, and as her brother, Billie Wagtail, had ambled on ahead to play marbles with Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow, Nannie waited until Lulu and Alice caught up to her. All the while, as they waddled toward her, Lulu could see the duck girls looking at something on each other's necks.

"I hope they aren't catching the chicken pox or anything like that, and breaking out with red spots!" thought Nannie.

But when Lulu and Alice came close to her the little goat girl could hear Lulu say:

"Oh, I think they're just too lovely for anything!"

"Aren't they!" quacked Alice. "He couldn't have given me anything I would like better."

"They're wonderful!" spoke Lulu.

Nannie couldn't wait another moment. She was very curious.

"What have you? Please tell me!" she bleated, and then she saw, for Lulu and Alice stretched up their necks. Outside their feathers Lulu and Alice each wore a lovely necklace made of snail shells strung on a beautiful ribbon of eel grass.

"Grandfather Goosey Gander made these necklaces for us!" quacked Lulu.

"Aren't they lovely?" quacked Alice.

"Oh, how pretty!" bleated Nannie as she looked at the strings of snail shells which Grandfather Goosey Gander had polished with corn meal before stringing. "I wish I had a necklace!" sighed Nannie. "Why did your grandfather give them to you?"

"Because we are going to graduate at the Hollow Stump School next week," answered Lulu.

"They're graduating necklaces," said Alice, proud like but restrained.

"I am going to graduate, too," said Nannie. "But nobody has given me a necklace."

"Maybe if you ask your father or Uncle Butter you'll get one," suggested Lulu.

"Oh, maybe!" thought Nannie, and she was so happy in school that day, thinking she might have a necklace like the duck girls, that she almost forgot how to spell the word paper, which Nannie, as well as her brother Billie, was very fond of nibbling off old tomato cans.

And when Nannie reached home that afternoon, she ran to her father and bleated:

"Please, Daddy, buy me a graduation necklace!"

"I'm sorry, my dear, but I can't afford to," answered Mr. Wagtail. "Times are very hard. I have been out of work a long time and I have no money for necklaces."

"Oh, dear!" sighed poor Nannie. Then she asked Uncle Butter, the funny old goat.

"What's that—a necklace!" bleated Uncle Butter. "I'm sorry, my dear, but I have no money to buy you a necklace. But maybe you can make one of these," and he gave Nanny a lot of little round wooden balls like marbles. "Put them on a string and they'll make a fine necklace for you, Nannie," he said as he ambled away. "I found them in a field where there were a lovely lot of old cans with very sweet paper on."

Nannie looked at the round wooden balls. They were just the size and shape of necklace beads.

"But how can I put them on a string and wear them when they have no holes in them!" cried Nannie with tears in her eyes.

"No holes in what?" asked a voice beside her, and there stood Uncle Wiggily. Nannie showed the rabbit gentleman the wooden balls which would make a lovely necklace if they only had holes in so she could string them. And Uncle Wiggily said:

"Why, this is easy. The woodpecker bird told me if ever I wanted a favor done he would do it. The woodpecker is just the one to drill holes in these wooden balls. Come on!"

Drying her tears Nannie went with Uncle Wiggily to where the woodpecker bird was drilling holes in a tree to get at the bugs under the bark. Quickly Mr Longears explained what was wanted.

"Why of course I'll do that favor!" cried the bird. With his strong beak, as he held the wooden balls in one claw, the woodpecker bored holes in each one. Then Uncle Wiggily stained them red with raspberry juice and helped Nannie put them on a string.

"There, now you have a necklace!" said the rabbit and the little goat girl was as proud and happy as Lulu and Alice.

CAN ENCOURAGE HORSE PARADE

Citizens Asked to Turn Out For Equine Exhibition on Dominion Day.

KEEN RIVALRY EXPECTED.

The Humane Society has been given the support of the citizens at large, in a way that shows their keen interest in the work it is trying to do. The horse parade on July 1st is another opportunity that the people are given to lend their aid. Turn out in good numbers to see the horses at their best. They will leave the Exhibition Grounds at 11.30 a.m. and come up town by way of George street, finishing at Confederation Square at 12 o'clock.

The judging will be done in front of the grand stand and there is no charge for admission to either the grounds or the stand. To encourage care of animals fifty per cent. is given for appearance and appointment and fifty per cent. for confirmation.

As has been announced the winner of the first prize in each class will be given a silver cup—except the two classes where cash prizes are given. At the last meeting of the directors of the Human Society it was decided to give as second prize, a year's subscription to the Humane Pleader, a very worth while paper published by the Toronto office each month.

This parade is in no way to be confused with those of the last few years, where so much money was spent on decorating floats, but it is confined to horses and ponies and it is hoped that it will create a friendly rivalry among those who are exhibiting.

FLOWER SUNDAY SERVICE AT GEORGE STREET UNITED CHURCH

Interior of Auditorium Beautifully Decorated With Blossoms For Occasion.

PLAN ANNUAL PICNIC.

A very large congregation assembled at George St. United Church on Sunday morning for the annual Flower Sunday Service.

The church was a bower of beauty with its beautiful floral gateway of flowers with pillars on either side just back of the pulpit. The pillars were surmounted with huge baskets of pink and white peonies. The pulpit platform was decorated by four potted cedars interspersed with pretty baskets and vases of flowers and when the Sunday School classes marched in to the music of the orchestra, bearing their boquets the entire platform seemed literally to be banked with flowers. On the front of the pulpit was a cross formed of red roses contributed by Miss W. H. Hetherington's class. Eight beautiful canaries, warbling their sweet notes were stationed in pretty cages among the flowers and in the trancept balcony and they at times furnished an accompaniment for the soloists.

C. H. Thompson, superintendent of the Sunday school was in charge of the service and J. E. Middleton led in prayer while J. E. Smith made the announcements concerning the Congregational picnic which will be held at Nicholl's Oval on Wednesday afternoon, June 25.

Special Speaker

Rev. T. E. Holling, B.A., B.D., of Cambridge St. United Church, Lindsay was the special preacher for the occasion, taking as his theme "The Message of the Rose" and comparing Christ to the rose. "The Rose", he said "is the queen of flowers, our oldest cultivated flower known over 2600 years ago and crowned queen of the flowers for its elegance of form, beauty of color, and sweet fragrance. The early Greeks worshipped it and later the early Christians adopted the Rosary. Someone defined a rose as the extravagance of perfection. So as a rose is God's masterpiece in the floral world, so Jesus Christ is His masterpiece. The rose in its perfection of form suggests Christ in its beautiful coloring, the purity of His life and His sacrifice and in its fragrance the life character and influence of His stay upon earth. The influence of Christ's life have caused men, women and children, all down through the ages to try to follow in His footsteps and they have caught the spirit of the life of Jesus himself.

The rose is a very democratic flower; it not only grows in the greenhouse, but in some of the lowliest spots and often seems to prefer humility. It can be produced by the very poor and the boys and girls may enjoy its fragrance.

During the service Gordon Waiman and Miss Jean Padget sang, accompanied by G. F. Liddle.

At the evening service the Rev. J. E. J. Millard conducted the service, taking as his topic "Creed and Conduct."

FALSE CLERGYMAN HELD AT HAMILTON

Charged With Officiating at Supposed Marriage of Couple at Tillsonburg in November.

HAMILTON, June 24.—"The mysterious "Rev. Mr. Boyd" is thought to be in custody here in the person of Theodore Boyd McAndrews of 247 Cannon Street East, this city. McAndrews was to-day remanded by Magistrate Burbidge until Thursday and was released on bail of 2,000 which he produced himself.

Charged with officiating at the supposed "marriage" of Irene Stillwell of Langton, Ont., and William Matthews of Hamilton, at Tillsonburg, on November 27 last, "the Rev. Mr. Boyd" collapsed after being taken from the court-room.

Irene Stillwell's charge of bigamy against Matthews will be changed to one of feigned marriage since the false status of the supposed clergyman has been discovered. Counts of non-support and conversion have also been lodged against Matthews, former stock salesman, who was arrested in the U.S.

McAndrews was arrested in Woodstock, Ont., following receipt of suspicious letters by a business man of that city whose name corresponded to the alias McAndrews had chosen.

WEMP SUPPORTER OF PROBE RESOLUTION

Toronto Board of Control Refuses to Investigate Charges Arising Out of "Salary Grab."

TORONTO, Ont., June 24.—With Mayor Wemp the sole supporter of the resolution, the Toronto Board of Control yesterday refused by a vote of 3 to 1 to ask Judge Denton to investigate definite charges arising out of the so-called "salary grab."

The resolution, prepared by the city solicitor, was framed as a result of Judge Denton's claim that he could not proceed with the probe unless specific charges were laid. Controllers Robbins and Summerville voted against the measure on the grounds that it entailed needless expense to the city. Controller Simpson was absent from the meeting. Mayor Wemp was in favor of investigating allegations made by Sam Wright, M.P.P., that he had discussed salary increases for the Council with the Mayor and two members of the board.

CROWE—PETRIE SEYMOUR—PETRIE

Cedar Hedge Farm in Otonabee was the scene of a very interesting double wedding yesterday, when the marriages of two daughters of Mr. Thomas Petrie and the late Mrs. Petrie were solemnized there.

Ivy Irene, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Petrie, became the bride of Fred Marshall Crowe, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Crowe of Douro, and Mae Beatrice, youngest daughter of the house, was married to Carman Wesley Seymour, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. James Seymour of Cavan.

The double marriage ceremony took place at twelve o'clock on the lawn, under a lovely arch of evergreens decorated with white peonies and yellow roses, and was solemnized by the Rev. Dr. C. V. McLean, pastor of St. Andrew's United Church, in the presence of the immediate relatives of the bridal parties.

Rose petals were strewn for the brides' pathway by little Eva and Everett Poast of Smith township. Then came the bridegrooms, the little flower girl, Janet McIntosh, niece of the brides, and lastly the brides, escorted by their father, who gave them in marriage. The wedding march, the Lohengrin Bridal Chorus, was played by the brides' sister, Mrs. S. G. McIntosh.

The brides wore similar gowns of exquisite type. They were of white crepe with embroidered tulle veils caught by orange blossoms. They wore white kid slippers and white silk hose and carried bouquets of American Beauty roses and lily of the valley.

Miss Mae Petrie wore a rope of pearls and Miss Ivy Petrie a pendant, the gift of the bridegroom.

Little Janet McIntosh, the dainty flower girl, was in a frock of white crepe and carried a basket of flowers.

After the ceremony, the guests were ushered by Duncan Seymour of Cavan and Irvine McIntosh of North Monaghan into the dining-room, where a buffet luncheon was served. Decorations were carried out with a profusion of flowers and yellow and white streamers. Yellow and white place card were used.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Crowe left on a motor trip to Western Canada, during which they will visit Banff and other places of interest and will probably go on to the Coast before returning to reside at the bridegroom's home in Douro. The bride travelled in a dress of rose printed tricochene with rose hat, light blonde shoes, hose and gloves, carrying a coat of Independence blue charmeen.

Mr. and Mrs. Seymour left by motor for a short honeymoon trip, the bride wearing a dress of French blue crepe romain, with lace-trimmed sand bertha collar, embroidered sand georgette hat, sand gloves, hose and shoes. She wore also the gift of the bridegroom, a black fox fur scarf, and carried a coat of navy tricotine. On their return, they will reside at the bridegroom's home in Cavan.

The many beautiful gifts received by the young people testified to the esteem in which they are held by a large circle of friends and neighbors.

The gift of the bridegrooms to the flower girl was a pi and to the pianiste a white gold bracelet.

Herbert Sutcliffe Out of Test Match

Famous English Team Player Injures Thumb in Game at Trent Bridge.

LONDON, June 24. (C. P. Cable.)—England will be without the services of Herbert Sutcliffe in the second cricket test match which opens at Lord's next Friday. Sutcliffe injured his thumb in the first match at Trent Bridge.

The committee has also the problem of Harold Larwood, the fast bowler, under consideration. Larwood was taken ill during the last test match and could not play on the final day. He has been pronounced fit by his doctor but the committee has not yet decided whether to let him play.

The Australians have not yet announced their team. Owing to the very poor showing with the bat made by the tail of the eleven at Trent Bridge it is thought some changes may be made. Young Archie Jackson, who made a century the first time he played in a test match, may be taken on.

Joe Mikulsky Freed on Murder Count

ARMED ROBBERY CHARGE IS STILL FACING PRISONER

Question of Conviction on Accomplice's Uncorroborated Evidence Plays Part.

BAILED FIXED AT $8,000.

Shawira's New Trial For Iwantz Murder Not Likely Till Fall Assizes.

HAMILTON, June 26. (C. P.) — Joe Mikulsky was today acquitted by a jury of the charge of murdering John Iwantz —Winona farmer.

Mike Smith is already under sentence of death for this crime and another alleged accomplice named Shawira was recently ordered a new trial, after being found guilty and sentenced to death.

In his address to the jury to-day in the Mikulsky case Justice Jeffrey called attention to the question of convicting defendant on the uncorroborated evidence of an accomplice.

Held on Robbery Charge

Mikulsky was not given his freedom, however, but ordered held on a charge of robbery while armed. Bail was fixed at $8,000.

Mr. Justice Jeffrey announced that the new trial ordered for Martin Shawira, convicted of the murder of Iwantz, would not be held until the Fall Assizes unless instructions for a special session of the court were received from the Attorney-General's Department.

MANY FLORAL WREATHS.

The late David Eason was laid to rest on Wednesday afternoon in Little Lake cemetery. Floral tributes were many.

PRINCE ATTENDS WOLSEY PAGEANT

1,000 Actors Take Part in Celebration of Statesman's 400th Birth Anniversary.

HELD IN IPSWICH.

IPSWICH, England, June 26 (By Thomas T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—The Prince of Wales flew to Ipswich to-day to witness a pageant performed by a thousand actors in commemoration of the 400th anniversary of the birth here of the famous statesman, Cardinal Wolsey.

The pleasant East Anglican town is proud of its associations with the great cardinal, even though it has few relics of him. Wolsey, as every child knows, was contemptuously referred to as "the butcher's son."

There are records here that the cardinal's father, like his son after him, refused to stick at trifles on the road to fortune, for he was fined at least once for selling halfpenny pies of putrid meat.

The Prince of Wales had a number of other engagements at Ipswich today. But he failed to include a visit to the Great White Horse Inn, which in its way is as historic as anything concerned with Wolsey, for it was here that Master Pickwick had his adventure with the lady in the yellow curl-papers.

MRS. PETERSON COMMITTED UPON MURDER CHARGE

Woman Swoons in Regina Court as Doctor Describes Scene.

TRIAL NEXT ASSIZES.

Husband Found With Head Battered in and Sprinkled With Poison.

CRAK, Sask., June 26 (C.P.)—Mrs. John Peterson, whose husband died two weeks ago from effects of poison as he clutched his axe-battered head, is to face trial for murder at the next Assizes in Regina. The woman in police court swooned away for 15 minutes as Dr. H. G. Craig described her husband's injuries and his death; after she recovered, she was committed for trial yesterday. To-day, she left for Prince Albert Jail to await the Assizes.

Listened With Smile

During most of the preliminary hearing, Mrs. Peterson listened with a gentle smile to the evidence. Her only reaction came when Dr. Craig told of finding Peterson rolling about in his night clothes on a blood-soaked bed in a darkened room; the man's skull was battered with an axe-butt, several knives lay beside him in bed, and a poisonous powder was sprinkled over him. At this, Mrs. Peterson fainted.

Dr. Craig testified that Peterson had died in a spasm which gave every indication of being caused by poison. He had, however, suffered a frontal fracture of the skull sufficiently grave to cause death. The

FALL ELECTION RUMORS PERSIST OVER ENGLAND

Gov't Not Unmindful That Move Now Would Find Conservatives Unprepared.

NO NEW DEVELOPMENTS.

Effect on Indian, Imperial, and Empire Economic Meets Problematical.

LONDON, Eng., June 26. — (By Thomas T. Champion, C. P. Staff Correspondent.)—Although rumors of a general election before the fall persist, nothing has happened to-day to substantiate them. Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald is said to have expressed the possibility of a general election at a meeting of the Labor Party last night.

To-night's Star says the imminence of a general election was submitted to the meeting as one reason for dropping the Education Bill and Consumers' Council Bill. It is asserted that one consideration with the Government is the insistence of a certain section of the ministerial supporters on the inclusion of the next Speech from the Throne, of legislation which the Labor Government itself knows it would be impossible to carry through the House of Commons in its present minority position.

The Government naturally is not unmindful that an election now would find the Conservatives unprepared for an appeal to the people. What would happen with regard to the Imperial and Empire economic conferences and the India round table conference in the event of an election being held, of course is entirely problematical.

MAIL FRAUDS END IN LONG TERMS

C. Beacon, Utah Lead Co., Gets Four Years For Sale of Stock.

TWO OTHERS CONVICTED.

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 26. (C.P.) —Charles Beacon of the Utah Lead Company was sentenced to-day to four years in prison for mail fraud in connection with the sale of stock in the company.

Harry H. Phillips, New York and Philadelphia broker, was given a two-year sentence and Michael Barnett, Philadelphia lawyer, was sentenced to a year and a day for their share in the mail frauds, of which they were convicted recently after the first trial had been voided because a juror said he was bribed to prevent arrival at a verdict.

Beadon alleged leader of the Utah Lead group, is under indictment in New Jersey for mail fraud. Federal Judge Knox added to his four-year sentence a five-year probationary

GEORGE BERNARD SHAW VOTED MOST CLEVER MAN IN ENGLAND

Spectator Readers Put Sir Oliver Lodge Second—Premier Unplaced.

NO WOMEN INCLUDED.

(By Thomas T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Eng., June 26.—George Bernard Shaw according to readers of the Spectator, the well-known weekly review possesses the best brains of any man in the country. The Spectator is a journal circulating among the more thoughtful class of people whose opinions in regard to mental ability are worth considering.

Result of Vote

The result of a recent vote is interesting in many ways. Here are the leading men in their "order of merit".

Bernard Shaw	214
Sir Oliver Lodge	183
Lord Birkenhead	162
Winston Churchill	95
Dean Inge	91
H. G. Wells	86
Lord Melchett	62
Lloyd George	50
Philip Snowden	48
Sir John Simon	45

The present Prime Minister does not receive a vote and Mr. Baldwin gets but thirteen. The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Lang, finds no place but the Archbishop of York (Dr. Temple) with 32 votes follows closely upon the heels of Lord Reading who obtained 35. Sir James Barrie is "placed" by 15 voters and follows G. K. Chesterton's 17.

No woman was included on the list.

TURN FOR BETTER SEEN IN CANADA BY PREMIER KING

Bennett's Federal Old Age Pension Scheme Ridiculed.

WIPE OUT GRIEVANCES.

Britain Elated With Budget—Cancelled With Gov't Defeat is Warning.

KENTVILLE, N.S., June 26 (C.P.). —Premier Mackenzie King addressed a great gathering here last night and brought an optimistic message of improvement in conditions throughout Canada. Industrially there were symptoms of a turn for the better, he said.

Mr King ridiculed the suggestion of Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, for a Federal old-age pension scheme. An amendment to the British North America Act would be necessary for such a system, he said.

Worried By Unemployment.

He had been somewhat concerned, went on the Prime Minister, because of some temporary unemployment arising out of the stock market crash and the failure of the wheat to move out of Canada. He was pleased, however, to note signs of prosperity as he went through Canada. Conditions were improved and Canada was in a better position than other countries.

The record of the Government, in finance as well as in other respects, occupied the attention of Mr. King. He spoke of the income tax reductions, decreases in the sales tax, the disappearance of which he predicted if the Government was returned to power; the abolition of the nuisance taxes, and decreases in postage.

Plane Is Expected To Reach Its Goal At 6 p.m. Tonight

Southern Cross Hopped Off From Newfoundland This Morning at 3.05 E.S.T.—Previous to Take-off 450 Gallons of Gasoline and 50 Gallons of Oil Taken on Board.

FLIERS ARE SIGHTED OVER CITY OF HALIFAX AND BY NOON HAD COVERED HALF THE 1,200 MILES

Airmen Are Expected to Stop in New York Only a Few Days When They Will Push on to San Francisco, Completing Around the World Flight—Ask Prompt Service.

NEW YORK, June 26.—(CP)—Droning through skies which cleared as it approached the coastline of the United States, the Southern Cross was almost half way to New York today in about seven hours of flying.

Squadron Leader Kingsford-Smith and his comrades were over Halifax at 11 a.m. (E.S.T.) having covered in six hours and fifty-five minutes a distance of a little more than 550 miles as the crow flies.

This did not accurately indicate their speed since they did not follow an exact straight-line course, but it indicated that they would traverse the approximate 1,200-mile distance from Harbour Grace, Nfld., where they took off at 3:05 this morning, to Roosevelt Field, N. Y., in about fifteen hours landing at their New York goal soon after 6 o'clock tonight.

Sighted Clearly

The plane was sighted clearly as it hurtled over Halifax an hour before noon and the markings on its fuselage could be discerned plainly. It had been seen at several points along the way.

Kingsford-Smith planned to stop only for a few days, perhaps two or three in New York before resuming his journey to San Francisco and completing a virtual round-the world flight for the plane which is conqueror of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

A message to the Curtiss-Wright company asking for prompt servicing of his engines on the arrival of the Southern Cross in New York he said "Leaving for west in two or three days".

Captain Kingsford-Smith and his three companions took off from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland at 5.05 a.m. Atlantic Daylight Time. They flew southwest and were next reported over Lawn Island, Burin Peninsula. Continuing in a southwesterly direction they reached Scatari Island eastern most point of Nova Scotia at 10.17 a.m. At 11.40 the people of Guysboro rushed from their homes to see the big tri-motored plane soaring overhead.

Country Harbor, also in Guysboro county, next saw the Southern Cross fifteen minutes later.

The Nova Scotia sea was shrouded in fog, but inland the sun was shining brightly, and the Southern Cross was keeping well away from the airman's bugaboo.

The east coast radio signal service of the Canadian government have reported at noon having had no requests for bearings for several hours.

NEW ZEALAND PACT ASSAILED BY TORY CHIEF

Claims Abrogation Proposed By King Five Years Too Late.

SPEAKS IN WOODSTOCK.

Dislikes to Bring Returned Soldiers' Question Into Politics.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., June 26. (By Thomas Green, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent). — In the western dairy centre of Ontario, Hon. R. B. Bennett here last night delivered the second speech of his campaign in this Province. The audience which jammed the theatre, in which the Conservative Leader spoke, extended into the foyer. Many people were turned away.

In a vigorous attack, the Opposition Chieftain again and again scored the King Government for having put the New Zealand trade agreement into effect and only proposing to abrogate it "Five years too late."

Sutherland, Right

In the session of 1925-26, Mr. Bennett proceeded, Hon. Donald Sutherland (South Oxford and Dr. D. M. Sutherland (North Oxford) had pressed for the abrogation of the agreement. "But" he continued, "the Government refused to do it. Was Mackenzie King right or were the two Sutherlands wrong? "The Sutherlands were right" a voice interrupted.

Drawing towards the close of his remarks, the Conservative Leader asked if any person desired to propound a question.

PLAIN OF THINGVALLA THRONGED FOR OLDEST PARLIAMENT OPENING

King of Iceland Stands on Same Rock Used 1,000 Years Ago.

SIMPLE CEREMONIES.

THINGVELLIR, Iceland, June 26 (C.P.)—Christian, King of Iceland, today opened the 1930 session of the Icelandic Parliament, halting at the very spot where one thousand years ago this oldest Parliament in the world first was convened.

King Christian stood upon a huge rock in the middle of the Plain of Thingvalla where Grim Goatbeard, the law-giver, in ancient days, recited from memory the entire code of Icelandic law.

Simple Ceremony

The ceremonies to-day were simple as of old, so simple as to obtain an almost religious aspect.

The broad plain, bounded on the south by a great lake, on the north by rugged snow-capped mountains, on the east and west by two great fissures of volcanic formation cut before the dawn of history, was dotted with many thousands of people who had come from far corners of the earth.

Included in the vast throng of visitors were many Americans whose birth or ancestry was Icelandic. They watched with keen pleasure the unfolding of the impressive Millenary Jubilee Celebration.

Standing high on the side of the cliff Bishop Jon Helgason conducted a half hour service invoking the guidance of the "White Christ of the Soul," who 900 years ago ousted Thor and Odin from the hearts of Icelanders.

Procession to Rock

After divine service the Icelanders formed themselves into a long procession and plodded along the same route taken by the first Legislators of the ancient Icelandic Republic to the great Rock of Laws in the centre of the historic plain. There they grouped themselves in the manner of the ancient Vikings under the banners of their respective localities.

The Icelandic Parliament or Althing is now held in Reykjavik. But formerly for the long span of nearly nine centuries, it was held at Thingvellir on the Plain of Assembly.

The Althing is reckoned to have been established in 930. A universal code of law for the Icelandic Republic was then accepted.

History has enshrouded the place in a romantic halo, and the glory of the Thingvellir is further enhanced by the inspired songs in which several of the greatest poets of Iceland have celebrated this "Sinai of Iceland."

LAST ISSUE OF WEEKLY PAPER GOES TO PRESS

Weekly Examiner, After 83 Years of Publication, Finally Ceases to Exist.

STARTED IN 1847.

Daily Has Taken Place of the Once Most Popular Weekly Paper.

Another break with the past was made in The Examiner plant last night when the last Weekly Examiner was run off the roaring press. For the past eighty-three years the "Weekly" has gone out to the homes of Peterborough and district, keeping its many readers in touch with local and national news.

The Weekly Examiner was first publishd in 1847 when Peterborough was but a straggling hamlet along the Otonabee River. For years it led the field of local publications, all striving to give the community the "doing of the times". It grew and thrived and in 1885 The Examiner management took the gigantic step of publishing a daily paper. The Weekly was maintained, nowever, and the most important of the week's news was sent out in it.

But residents of this district are not content to get their news but once a week, and gradually the circulation of the Weekly decreased and the number subscribing to the lusty, ever-growing child, the Daily, increased tremendously. More from a desire to maintain its tradition with the early history of this district the Weekly was maintained after its purpose had really been served. To-day the Weekly's history becomes closed when its final copies are distributed.

MAY BE UNABLE TO SALVAGE TUBE

$1,000,000 Experiment to Put Gulf Stream to Work Sinks 4,000 Feet.

PROF. CLAUDE SILENT.

HAVANA, Cuba, June 26 (C.P.).—Doubt was expressed to-day that the $1,000,000 tube which broke its moorings and sank to the bottom of the ocean off Matanzas yesterday noon could be salvaged.

The tube, built by Professor Georges Claude, French scientist, in an effort to revolutionize industry by putting the Gulf Stream to work, was a mile long and large enough for a young boy to walk through erect.

When the valves on the compressed air tanks at the extreme end of the tube were opened the dead-weight of the huge contraption of corrugated steel snapped the inch-thick cables holding it to the shore, and the tube sank in nearly 4,000 feet of water.

Engineers said the tube would break into its component parts if an attempt were made to bring it to the surface again. Professor Claude remained silent as to his next step, except to notify the French Academy of Science that disaster had for a second time halted his experiment.

London will have a number of new skyscrapers.

Conservatives Nominate Dr. A. T. Embury

EX-MEMBER IS RE-NOMINATED FOR EAST RIDING

Hastings-Peterborough Liberal-Conservative Convention is Held at Marmora.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

John A. Sexsmith, Former M.P., is Elected President of Association.

(By A Staff Reporter)

MARMORA, June 26.—Dr. A. T. Embury of Bancroft is again the Conservative candidate in the riding of Hastings-Peterborough. He was unanimously nominated at the largely attended convention of the party here yesterday afternoon.

E. C. Squire of Norwood was also proposed to T. P. Lancaster, M.P.P., Havelock and James Baskin of Norwood, but he declined to permit his name to go on the prospective ballot, declaring himself actively behind Dr. Embury.

Both territorial sections of the constituency were fully represented, from Madoc on the east to Norwood and Havelock on the west, and from Bancroft on the north all the way to Stirling on the southern boundary of the riding. The number of delegates from the northern subdivisions was especially conspicuous because of the long distance many of them had to drive. And they brought with them a stirring enthusiasm for the candidature of Dr. Embury, who as a physician is widely known throughout the expansive country. The preference for the Bancroft doctor was no sectional sentiment, however; the entire body of delegates was united in the common desire and purpose of again sending him into the federal field as the Conservative standard bearer.

Election of Officers.

John A. Sexsmith, former member of Parliament from East Peterborough was elected president of the Hastings-Peterborough Conservative Association, succeeding George Bailey of Harold, who is an ex-warden of Hastings county. In this choice the Association adhered to their original understanding that the presidency should alternate between the Hastings and Peterborough divisions of the riding. The other officers for the ensuing year are as follows:

1st V. Pres.—Fred Curry, Madoc.

2nd V. Pres.—Mrs. Richard Sanderson, Havelock.

3rd V. Pres.—John Morton, Stirling.

Treasurer—Chas. Thompson, Madoc township.

Secretary—Robt. A. Elliott, Deloro.

Among those on the platform were Hon. J. R. Cooke, W. E. Tummon, ex-M.P. for Hastings; T. P. Lancaster, M.P.P., Jas. Hill, M.P.P., East Hastings; George West, Madoc; E. C. Squire Norwood and A. J. Anderson, ex-M.P. for the riding of High Park, Toronto, who was the principal speaker at the convention, and Reeve Rich. Sanderson, Havelock.

Dr. Embury was proposed on two nomination forms, one by Isaac Barlow and S. S. Joyce of Havelock; and the other signed by Geo. West and Chas. Thompson.

A Modest Candidate

Dr. Embury modestly sought the nomination, thanking the delegates for their confidence in the past. As a member of Parliament he had studied the public questions that came before the House, and he felt better qualified than ever to present himself to the electorate as a candidate.

"I want to be elected or rejected on my fitness for the office", Dr. Embury affirmed. "If you think it better for the welfare of Canada that the policies of the Hon. R. B. Bennett and the Conservative party should prevail, and that I am qualified to be your representative in that great work, then I ask you to elect me here today."

Mr. Squire said that judging by the signs of the times the Conservative party was about to come into its own, and with a leader like Hon. R. B. Bennett it should, he added. After nearly thirty years of Liberal rule this county had a population of only ten millions when it should be around forty million.

"I wish to offer a word of warning. Don't take anything for granted in the riding. Every man and woman should get behind our candidate and see that he is elected with a bigger majority than ever."

W. E. Tummon.

W. E. Tummon, Conservative candidate in Hastings, said he was a room mate of Dr. Embury in the House of Commons and could testify to the pains he took in looking after the interests of his riding.

FRANCO-ITALIAN RELATIONS ARE MUCH BRIGHTER

French Gov't Doing All Possible For Amicable Settlement.

Political Peace Necessary.

Recent Apology of Italian Foreign Office Hopeful Sign.

PARIS, June 26—Aristide Briand, Foreign Minister of France, yesterday told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that the French Government was doing all it possibly could to arrive at an amicable settlement of all questions now existing or likely to arise between France and Italy.

Widespread reports that France and Italy were conciliating their points of view, after a somewhat strained relationship, were received with interest in political circles.

Political Peace

France, it was indicated by Government observers, had yielded to the idea that there must be political peace in Europe so that economic problems, daily growing more urgent, might have the full consideration of the best minds of all countries.

Friendliness in the Franco-Italian status was noted, and Foreign Minister Briand's statement to the Senate confirmed the official sincerity of that attitude.

It was the expressed belief in political circles that naval parity and boundary considerations would receive early and amicable settlement.

Recent apology by the Italian Foreign Office for demonstrations of anti-French character at Bari were accepted as still further hopeful signs.

Briand Will Be Pleased

It was pointed out that none would be more pleased at an early entente with Italy than M. Briand, author of the recently promulgated idea of an economic "United States of Europe."

This feeling would be shared, it was pointed out in business circles, by the commercial and industrial interests, which, since adoption of the new American tariff, had been constrained regard more favorably the Briand Continential union.

the Government above another it has been to remove all grievances that have grown up between the Provinces and the Dominion — to bring about unity and prosperity.' Mr. King asserted: "Without unity you can never have prosperity." He went on to deal with the return of the natural resources to the Western Provinces, which he regarded as an achievement of the present Government.

Maritime Rights.

Then Mr. King dealt with the problems of Maritime rights and the appointment of the Duncan Commission.

The budget came in for some attention from Mr. King. He said that the people of Great Britain were elated with the budget, and they were waiting to see what would happen in Canada. But he warned his listeners that defeat of the Government meant defeat of the budget, with its provisions for increased trade with Great Britain. The big issue in the campaign was the British preference, and it was of the greatest importance, Mr. King said, that Canada should retain the market of the Mother Country.

FRED FIELD HOST TO JERSEY MEN AT BIG FIELD DAY

Fine Herd of Jersey Cattle is Inspected by the Visitors.

SUGGESTIONS MADE.

Proper Selection is Big Thing in Maintaining Excellent Herds Says Walter Smith.

Enjoying the hospitality of Fred Field, more than six hundred persons interested in Jersey cattle gathered yesterday afternoon at Field Lodge farm for the annual field day of the Central Jersey Breeders' Club. From as far east as Belleville and as far west as Bowmanville, from Northumberland, Peterborough and the surrounding counties they came to study the methods used by Mr. Field and his staff in getting the best results from his 300 head of pure bred Jerseys on his more than 1000-acre farm.

Major J. F. B. Belford, ex-M. P. P. for Northumberland, himself a farmer stressed in no uncertain terms his admiration for Mr. Field and the great influence his methods would have on the countryside for the advancement of the dairying industry. "Canada is rich in resources, but we need more men with the power of leadership like Mr. Field. He is doing a great mission work here and its efforts can not be estimated, said Major Belford.

Inspected Fine Herd

The guests visited the barns on the farm in which, with the aid of the most modern machinery, forty cows can be milked in an hour. They saw dairying carried on in a superiative degree, inspecting with admiration the prize, pure-red herds of Jerseys.

Suggestions relative to the raising of pure bred cattle were given in an instructive talk by Walter Smith, Agricultural representative. One criticism he levelled at the average pure-bred breeders was that they did not have the courage of their convictions sufficiently to cast aside their inferior pure bred stock. "Pure-bred breeding is bad without proper selection," he said.

He compared the results of breeding pure-bred to thatof raising grade animals and emphasized the greater profits to be gained from keeping the pedigreed stock. "Another criticism," he said, "is that some cattle men do not hue to a breeding policy. They are for ever changing and crossing; one year it is this breed and two years later it is something else. You must take time to develop the particular breed you are in.

Tuberculosis Absent

Speaking of disease among cattle, Mr. Smith declared that record showed that tuberculosis was practically absent where the breeders refrained from buying in stock. He emphasized the need of purchasing a pure bred bull if a good pure bred stock is the result desired. To aid the cattle improvement in Northumberland County, he announced the establishment of a live stock improvement organization in the county which would help in the selection of pure bred stock and give a 20 per cent bonus where a pure bred bull replaces a grade bull.

M. E. Maybee, M. P. congratulated Mr. Field on the results he was achieving on his farm. "Dairying to-are saying in Quebec about war in India" questioned a man sitting close to the front.

"There is one thing I will never do, my friend", Mr. Bennett retorted, "I will not through any effort direct or indirect encourage any possible animosity between one part of Canada and another. You and I are Canadians, they have their trouble in India and the police authorities I am sure will be able to deal with the situation."

Another question came from the rear of the hall. And the answer brought a sharp warning for "fair tactics" in politics. "What about the returned men?" was the query.

Keep Free of Politics

"I observe from reports" the Opposition Leader replied "that Major Power, a member from Quebec City and the Minister of Pensions, have been discussing pensions and soldier settlers and matters of that kind. We had dealt with this matter free from politics and every party in the House of Commons last session was represented on the committee which considered the problems of returned soldiers. There was an unanimous report prepared and passed by the House. He had not intended during the election to discuss the matter on the public platform, Mr. Bennett proceeded, as the interests of returned soldiers were "beyond politics" but it might be well to remember in view of the efforts of the Liberals to make "political capital" out of the question, to mention that seventy-five percent of returned soldiers in the Commons sat on the Conservative side of the chamber.

"But" he declared "now that this subject has been introduced and reintroduced from the other side, that in 1927 introduced an amendment in the House that the benefit of the doubt be given to returned soldiers in their applications, but the Government would not accept it then. And now they go around this country telling you "we are your friends, not the other people's. I warn them to keep this question above politics."

Presbyterian Church in Canada Presbytery of Lindsay Holding Session.

SEVERAL SPEAKERS.

LINDSAY, June 26. — A visit to Glenmorh Camp for young people, a gift of Mr. and Mrs. James Playfair, of Midland, to the Synod of Toronto and Kingston, comprised the greater part of the activities yesterday afternoon of the assembled members of the Presbytery of Lindsay of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

Reports from the Rev. R. S. Scott, the Rev. J. C. Robinson and Mr. D. J. MacMillan, commissioners to the General Assembly in Hamilton, were submitted to the Court. Suggestion was made that these reports be delivered from the various pulpits of the Presbytery.

Following the visit to the camp, the ladies of the Beaverton congregation supplied a complementary luncheon.

BRITISH GOV'T IS DEADLOCKED WITH VATICAN

Lord Passfield Says Request to Remove Malta Premier Intolerable.

SEEK POLITICAL FREEDOM.

Conditions Hold TIN Church Orders Rights Restored to People.

LONDON, June 26.—Lord Passfield, Minister for the Colonies, yesterday told the House of Lords that the situation in Malta at present is at a deadlock between the British Government and the Vatican.

The Colonial Minister said the Vatican has stipulated that Lord Strickland, Premier of Malta, should not remain in office. The secretary added:

"Intolerable," Says Minister.

"It would be intolerable that any foreign authority, even the Vatican, should say that it could not endure the presence in his Majesty's service of any particular person.

"The British Government, on its side, has informed the Vatican that a resumption of negotiations must be conditional on orders being given by the Holy See to the Bishops of Malta and Gozo which would restore to the people of Malta their complete freedom to exercise political rights."

These instructions, he said, had not as yet been given by the Vatican. The deadlock is the consequence, he asserted.

Constitution Suspended.

The British Government recently suspended the Constitution of Malta, in order that "that country might get back to freedom of elections."

The trouble lies between the Church and Lord Strickland's party, the Colonial Secretary indicated. The Church, it has been alleged, ordered all of its adherents to vote against the Government. Disturbances followed, and Britain ordered the Constitution suspended.

CHILDREN UNDERFED

WINDSOR, Ont., June 266.—Awaiting the coming of the angel Gabriel and the sound of the last trumpet, colored folk of the Church of God, Amherstburg, may be cited by the authorities for maintaining a nuisance, according to the Essex County crown attorney. Wailings and hallelujahs proceeding from the old stone building at the corner of George and Murray Streets have so aroused neighboring citizens that they have petitioned the town council about it.

The economic aspect is stressed, too. Men are reported to have abandoned work to wait for the millenium, while the council is told of unfed children and women fainting from lack of nourishment. Fear is expressed that Amherstburg's charity list will be a heavy one next winter if steps are not taken.

A few weeks ago the Church of God staged one of the largest public baptisms on record when 80 candidates, some of them white, were plunged beneath the waters of the Detroit River, while a crowd of 2000 looked on.

TORY PRESS IS GIVING BALDWIN WIDE SUPPORT

Lord Rothermere Replies to Rebuke Handed Down Tuesday.

BEAVERBROOK SILENT.

Daily News Concerned Over Two Papers' Request For Ministers' Names.

LONDON, June 26—"The tonic effect of Mr. Baldwin's speech will be very marked and it will be surprising if the rival recruiting sergeants do not find their audiences, from now on, cool." This comment by The Daily Telegraph, Conservative, seems to express the general reaction to the Conservative Leader's strongly delivered rebuke to the Lords Rothermere and Beaverbrook, newspaper peers who have been at loggerheads almost continuously with him during the last year.

Support for Baldwin

Most of the Conservative press are outspoken in support of Mr. Baldwin. The fact that the Conservatives burnt their fingers when they made a direct appear to the electorate on a straight protectionist policy in 1923 has a considerable influence on party opinion. Mr. Baldwin has intimated frequently that a repetition of that disastrous experiment is unlikely. Therefore the only visible alternative to the referendum which Mr. Baldwin was ready to support would be a lengthy process of nursing and "educating" the electorate on the Empire free trade issue until the policy could be submitted at a general election—but not the next general election. And this would be too slow a method for the Empire free traders.

The only morning Liberal paper, The Daily News, yesterday dismissed the Conservative "squabbles" briefly, but expressed concern over the "revelations" that Lord Beaverbrook and Lord Rothermere had demanded, as the price of their support, that the names of Mr. Baldwin's ministers should he be returned, be submitted to them before the list was taken to the King.

Lord Rothermere replied it was ridiculous to imply that he had attempted to dominate the choice of a Conservative Cabinet, saying the electorate had a right to know what Ministers were going to occupy the key positions. This safeguard was particularly necessary, added Lord Rothermere, in the case of Mr. Baldwin, who had made more blunders regarding important appointments than any British Prime Minister in history.

Beaverbrook Is Silent

Lord Beaverbrook, so far, has been silent in the spirit of his appeal of Monday to his supporters not to waste time in defending him personally, but to concentrate on the great issue of Imperial policy. But his paper, The Daily Express, sportingly acknowledges that Mr. Baldwin was in fine fighting form, and that the former Prime Minister selected the Rothermere and Beaverbrook press and many of his own followers for punishment is no fault, says The Express, of Mr. Baldwin's.

LARGE CONGREGATIONS ATTEND ANNIVERSARY SERVICES OF THE CAVAN UNITED SUNDAY SCHOOL

Rev. R. T. Richards, of Port Perry, is Special Speaker for Occasion.

GOOD ADDRESSES

Miss Annie Tinney and B. F. Carley Provide Splendid Musical Program.

CAVAN, June 26—(Examiner Correspondence).—Cavan United Sunday school held its anniversary services on Sunday with the Rev. R. T. Richards, of Port Perry, a former pastor, as the speaker for both morning and evening.

The church was prettily decorated with flowers and the juniors occupied the choir with Miss Annie Tinney as organist. B. F. Carley of Toronto also assisted in the choir and with Miss Tinney he sang, 'Oh Lead Me."

In the morning Mr. Richards addressed the children and young people using the motto on the crest of the Prince of Wales, "I Serve," as his text. In his usual interesting manner he held the appreciative attention of the large congregation. He described to the children the ways in which many of the great leaders in church, state and business had worked to fit themselves to occupy the great positions which they held. He reminded them that it is not always the cleverest person who makes the greatest success in life but rather the one who does the best he can with the talents which God has given him whether it be one two or three talents.

He urged the young people to strive to do this and serve their fellow men, church, community, and nation and the kingdom of Christ. He stressed the fact that we get out of life just what we put into it and urged the need of preparation in youth for life's work.

Evening Service.

For the evening service the church was filled to capacity and the text for taken from Timothy 2:7, "Consider what I say; and the Lord give thee understanding in all things."

Mr. Richards said, "Religion is a discovery from experience made by many but the greatest of all was by Jesus of Nazareth. This discovery showed that God is real, near and interested in man. The expression of this discovery brings respect and reverence for religion."

He stressed the need in the world for real brotherhood which establishes a basis of respect and consideration developing into co-operation and service. The world is growing smaller by reason of the wonderful inventions which have made it possible to make the journey around the world in such a short period of time. Canada is situated on the highway between the east and west and must be ready to take her place in solving world problems and hastening the coming of International Peace. The true church is the spirit of Jesus Christ operating in the lives and minds of men and women causing them to interpret Christ to the world. The lives of men and women who have caught His spirit are an inspiration to the world. The crisis of to-day and to-morrow is the difference and lack of interest shown by Christian people, so that men and women are refusing to believe in our religion.

The authority of true living comes from life and service and the spirit of Jesus Christ. The church must strive to uphold the ideals of the religion of Jesus Christ."

The choir contributed an anthem and chorus and Mrs. Kennedy and Mr. Carley sang, "The Old Rugged Cross."

On Monday evening a bountiful supper was served in the Community Hall by the ladies of the church and Sunday school. There was a good crowd in attendance and the play, "Nothing to Do", was given by Canton young people.

Obituary

ALEXANDER JONES

(Examiner Correspondence)

OMEMEE, June 26.—The funeral of the late Alexander Jones was held from his late residence in Cavan township on Saturday afternoon under Orange auspices and was largely attended.

The deceased had reached the age of 93 years and 3 months and had been in declining health for some months. He was an Anglican in religion, a staunch Conservative and a member of the Orange lodge.

Besides his sorrowing widow, four daughters survive: Mrs. Blakely of Yellowgrass, Sask., Mrs. Albert Stinson of Peterborough, Mrs. W. D. Stinson and Mrs. Thomas Rowan of Omemee and three sons, Albert of Peterborough, Everett of Toronto and Vincent on the homestead where the deceased resided. Two brothers, Thomas and Henry of Omemee, also survive.

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, June 26.—Trading was dull on the local butter market yesterday, and difficulty was encountered in making sales at 27c to 27½c, the quotation given to shippers. Most sales were made at the lower figure for Ontario No. 1. Buyers seemed to be well supplied again, or, as one dealer put it, "temporarily filled up." The fair demand that was enjoyed at the first of the week had gradually dwindled, until sales were few and far between for large amounts. Ontario No. 2 was 1c lower than No. 1—26c to 26¼c.

Cream

Churning cream prices were again firm at 28c to 29c for special, 27c to 28c for No. 1, and 24c to 25c for No. 2 f.o.b. country points.

Cheese

Cheese prices showed a weaker tone, with shippers being quoted 16¼c to 16½c for new large, 16½c to 16¾c for twins, and 16¾c to 17c for triplets. Prices to retailers were back to the range in effect at the first of the week; 18c for new large, 18¼c for twins, and 18½c for triplets.

Eggs

There was a spread in the price to shippers for eggs yesterday, and they were quoted 27c to 28c for extras, 25c to 26c for firsts, and 21c to 23c for seconds, ungraded, delivered, cases returned. But most dealers were quoting the high prices in the spread, the exception being one firm only.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, June 26.—A fair amount of business was transacted in cash grain here yesterday and values were steady.

Trading on the dairy and produce markets was extremely dull and prices were well maintained. Butter receipts were 651 boxes; cheese, 1,708 boxes, and eggs, 2,875 cases.

New potatoes were quoted at $7 for No. 1 grade, $5.50 for No. 2 grade, and $4.75 for culls, per 160-lb. barrel, while old potatoes were offered at $1.75 per 90 lbs., in bulk.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 26—Grain Exchange tradition collided squarely yesterday with the recent habit which some commodities have acquired of breaking low price records almost each successive 24 hours. Largely as a result of the tradition that this was a calendar date to purchase wheat and corn, wheat values averaged higher, notwithstanding that wheat, corn and rye temporarily touched new bottom levels.

Wheat made its advance in the face of distress reports from the Southwest that exhaustion of elevator space for wheat in that section is imminent, with harvest progressing fast and export demand inadequate.

Closing quotations on wheat were nervous, ¼c to ¾c a bushel higher than Tuesday's finish. Corn closed ¼c to ⅞c off; oats ⅛c to ⅜c up, and provisions varying from 10c decline to a rise of 17c.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, June 26. — Cattle receipts at the Union Stock Yards yesterday were 194 cattle, 48 calves, 964 hogs, 962 sheep and lambs. There were 507 stale cattle in addition to the light fresh receipts at the opening of the yards.

Trade opened slow but dealers expect a clean-up of all offerings except bulls in view of the light supplies. A few small lots of small plain light to choice heavy sold from 6¼ to 6.80 cents a pound and good butcher cows brought 6 to 6½ cents a pound in the early sales. There were no bulls sold. Prices are steady at Monday's decline of 50 cents a cwt. Milcher and springer trade is very dull at $70 to $80 a head for the best.

Calves in a fairly active trade made 8½ to 9 cents a pound for choice with common grassers downward to 5 cents. Prices are a shade stronger than the opening of the week.

Bids on lambs are down another 50 cents a cwt. totalling $1 for the decline in the week. Buyers are offering 11½ cents a pound for choice spring lambs but there were no sales made up to 11 o'clock. Good butcher sheep are selling at 4 cents a pound.

The hog market is unsettled with bids a quarter lower at 10½ cents f.o.b. and 11½ cents w.o.c. for bacon.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

Winnipeg, June 26. (C.P.) — On the strength of substantial buying for foreign account, wheat prices struggled up from the bottom on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday but still only one of three futures was over the dollar at the close Export business was light and overseas interest negligible, but the market gained 7-8c to 1 1-4c on the day.

Whether or not the purchases for overseas account were speculative in nature could not be determined; in any case they were sufficient to move values upward against the burden of heavy selling by commission houses and individuals. Cash wheat and coarse grains business was very light.

REV. F. W. C. KENNEDY IS DEAD.

VANCOUVER, B.C., June 26.—(C.P.)—Rev. Francis William Cassilis Kennedy, superintendent of the Anglican Oriental Missions in Canada, is dead here at the age of 63 years.

He was well-known by churchmen throughout Canada and an authority on Oriental problems. He was born in Toronto and 46 years ago went to Japan where he remained in the missionary field for 30 years. He then came to Canada and assumed his position here. He is survived by his widow and three sons.

Slew His Playmate

Frank A. Roscus, Jr., mere slip of a lad, who killed his playmate because the latter 'squealed' to the police after a series of robberies. He may be returned to Ontario from the United States and pardoned.

APSLEY

The success of the fourth annual field day of the Apsley branch of the Red Cross Society held on Wednesday was marred by inauspicious weather, rain falling incessantly nearly all day. The weather cleared late in the afternoon sufficiently for the Apsley softball team to stage a match on the fair grounds against their old rivals, Chandos. After a nine innings game the score stood, Apsley 40 runs, Chandos 4 runs.

After their prolific run getting the Apsley team is feeling pretty confident of their powers as softball players an dare anxious to meet a Peterborough team. If this should meet the eye of a city team seeking honors further afield, arrangements for a game at Apsley may be made by writing Rev. C. A. G. Spence for particulars.

The day wound up with a well attended dance held in the parish hall, music being supplied by John Coones, John McColl, violins, and Mrs. H. Tucker guitar. The receipts for the day will hardly meet expenses, it is feared, the attendance from outside points, owing to the wet weather, being very meagre. The program of races had to be abandoned altogether.

The many friends of Mrs. Taylor, wife of the Rev. W. H. Taylor, minister of the United church, will regret to learn that she is suffering from a fractured arm, the result of a fall at her home on Friday afternoon. The injured limb was set by Dr. Shepherd and the patient is now doing as well as can be expected.

A speed boat beat an airplane in a race recently at Hendon, England, Capt. H. S. Broad, pilot of the plane, being unable to complete a course of 16 miles while the speed-boat traveled six miles.

READING FOR CANADIANS.

The intimation that United States authorities may assist in keeping out of Canada obscene and indecent literature of the type barred from legal entrance into this country is gratifying so far as it goes.

Only degenerates would want to see such filth entering Canada.

It is not, however, literature of that type that presents the greatest menace to Canadian morals.

It is the sensational and lurid publications that we do allow legal entrance into this country that present the chief danger.

Our book-stores are littered with trash, "confession" stories, magazines that feature sex, periodicals with covers and illustrations that cannot fail to have a baneful effect upon those who read them.

It is not the utterly base in literature that Canadians should be worrying about; that kind of literature is so vile that it has no general circulation.

Rather we should be concerned over the importation of trashy magazines and tabloid papers that use crime and sex as their principal points of appeal to their readers.

It is the semi-respectable type, not the thoroughly vile, that does the most harm.

THE MOTORISTS PAY.

Figures given by the Citizens' Research Institute in its latest taxation bulletin show that automobile licenses and gasoline taxes are contributing a constantly increasing share of provincial revenues.

As a matter of fact, these two items in 1928 accounted for 42.5 of the total provincial taxation.

The total raised by the Provinces of Canada from the gasoline tax was only $224,269 in 1922; it had grown to $7,781,894 in 1927, and in the following year jumped to $11,227,938.

The revenue from automobile licenses increased from $9,662,832 in 1922 to $18,881,273 in 1928.

In the other sources of provincial revenue there is very little change.

Succession duty revenue may vary considerably from year to year, but the 1928 total shows little increase over 1922.

The amount received from corporations and companies remains fairly constant, and amusement taxation in recent years is tending to become less, mainly by reason of reduced rates.

Réal property taxation is levied on a broad scale only in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, and in recent years the tendency has been to reduce this burden whenever possible.

In short, the increase in taxation in most cases can be attributed almost entirely to the automobile and gasoline levies.

ANOTHER RECORD.

A short time ago The Examiner referred to the fact that Pilot Delamere of the Provincial Air Force had smashed the record for a single day's operations by flying for sixteen hours.

That mark—considered by those who know what is entailed in such a performance as almost unbeatable—has been left far behind by another pilot of the provincial force, Robert Smith, a first year man and a son of Hon. Peter Smith of Drury Government fame.

Pilot Smith, a fellow-townsman of the former record-holder, has recently completed in the course of his duties on forestry patrol a record of 18 hours and 15 minutes, during which he covered a distance of 1,000 miles, and carried a large quantity of fire-fighting material.

It is officially announced that Smith took to the air at 1.55 o'clock on the morning of June 18, and with the exception of the time taken off for food, refuelling and reloading, his seaplane was continuously in the air until 9.45 o'clock that night.

No wonder Captain Maxwell, head of the Provincial Air Force, sent the successful pilot a jocular message to the effect that if he were going to stay on the job all night he might as well turn in his bed-roll.

Some of the finest flying performances yet registered are being accomplished by those gallant birdmen of Ontario's forestry patrol, not as a stunt, but merely as a matter of every-day duty.

CONQUERING THE ATLANTIC.

The successful conquest of the north Atlantic by Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith, who previously had piloted his aeroplane, the Southern Cross, over the wide expanses of the Pacific, from the United States to Australia, is a feat that will thrill Britishers and that adds another to the list of British contributions to the development of aeronautics.

The world will rejoice that the east-to-west passage, which has taken so many lives, was cheated off victims on this occasion.

For that the skill of Captain Kingsford-Smith and his companions and the fact that the Southern Cross was equipped with radio must share the credit.

Lost in a dense fog, in which they flew blindly for many hours, the daring aviators were provided with their bearing by the Cape Race station, and once sure of their position, the Southern Cross' pilot manoeuvred his ship into a perfect landing at Harbor Grace, Newfoundland.

Their experience doubtless explains the fate of most of the other flyers who were lost in attempting the westward passage.

The majority of those who previously tried to conquer the Atlantic had no radio; once they hit the fog belt off the Newfoundland coast they became bewildered, and in their case there was no wireless to send a life-saving message.

NO PERSON PAID ANY ATTENTION.

Aimee Semple McPherson, the evangelist from Los Angeles, on her return from the Holy Land and other points in Europe, said, "No person paid any attention to us in the Holy Land. We were just a drop in the bucket, a few among many."

A good many people have found the same thing out, and it wasn't necessary to go as far away as the Holy Land to conduct the experiment. A good many men have dreamed of the day when they would go back to the old home town and receive the plaudits of the populace on the success they had achieved in their wrestle with the old round world. Yes, they would pull up in front of the postoffice in a very fine appearing car, and the folk would stand around and talk about and very likely say that the owner must have done very well since he left the old town. And the individual looking for this sort of homage has driven in in his big eight, only to find that there were several others in town a trifle better, and also to learn that those he had known in the place had departed.

Then when a person gets on the other side of the ocean, it is a fact that no person seems inclined to salaam or stand to one side as a token of respect. Aimee probably found that out. People in Los Angeles might wear their pointer fingers short as she walked along the street there, but in the Holy Land Aimee would simply have to pay her way and take her chance with the thousands of others.

A little lesson in humility never did any person any harm, so perhaps Aimee's trip abroad has been one of the worth-while sort.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

A PETTY OFFENCE.

"Two ice cream cones in the hands of children seem to constitute a flimsy enough excuse for branding a merchant as a law-breaker," comments the Border Cities Star in referring to the fact that a London, Ontario, restaurant proprietor was fined because two children who bought ice cream in his place on Sunday left the restaurant before their purchases had been consumed.

Most people will agree with that opinion.

There are some features of the Lord's Day Act that suggest a hair-splitting attitude on the part of those who framed the measure.

It is quite legal for restaurants to keep open and serve food, but if the food is not consumed on the premises the proprietor is liable to punishment.

As the Star puts it, "the dividing line between morality and evil is the doorstep."

Nobody wants to see a wide-open Sunday, and a general retailing of foods or other goods on Sunday is not necessary nor desired, but it does seem sometimes as if there ought to be a more reasonable attitude taken toward the enforcement of the regulations.

A system that says it is all right for a party of tourists to enter a restaurant and eat ice cream on Sunday and all wrong if one of the party goes in and brings the ice cream outside to the others waiting in a car does not impress as entirely logical.

SEE YOUR COUNTRY!

"To See Canada is to Believe in Her Future!"

This is the heading on the last of a series of messages from the Canada Life Assurance Company, "drawing the attention of Canadians to the basic soundness of our economic position and the confidence we may continue to have in the future of Canada."

The Canada Life and other outstanding Canadian financial organizations deserve great credit for the work they have done in recent months in emphasizing national facts to the people of this country. The thought behind these messages—carried generally in the press—has been to bring home to the people, in striking fashion, a better understanding of the greatness of their nation and the brightness of its prospects.

* * * *

The Canada Life thinks it would be an excellent idea for Canadians to do more traveling. No one can know Canada and remain a pessimist as to her future, the company says, adding, "No one can travel through the country, or any considerable part of it, and fail to realize that any slowing down of Canadian industry can only be very temporary. Our basic conditions are sound. Our towns and cities are inspiring with their possibilities of industrial activity. Our countrysides present wonderful pictures of varied productive power. This year would be an excellent time for an interchange of visits between our citizens of the East, the West and Central Canada. 'Seeing is believing.' Personal knowledge would give a new vision, and speed up the wheels of business."

This is excellent advice. The Star has often remarked in these columns that not nearly enough Canadians have taken the time and the trouble to become familiar with their own country. Not everyone, we appreciate, is in a financial position to travel, but there are thousands who could do so and have not done so. Innumerable Canadians who have visited Europe and various parts of the United States have never seen their own Prairie Provinces.

In the same way, of course, plenty of Westerners are unfamiliar with the East. And think of the thousands of well-to-do Canadians who have never paid a visit to the Maritime Provinces, many of them not even to Quebec.

* * * *

One of the finest ways to build up this country in strong national fashion, one of the surest ways to promote national pride, is to induce larger and larger numbers of our people to use, more extensively, the wonderful rail and water transportation facilities that we are able to boast. The Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific are operating to-day trains that have no superior anywhere in the world. Their appointments are really magnificent. They offer the last word in comfort and convenience. They are equipped with everything that the traveler might desire. The Canadian National, as an example, is said to have set the pace for the entire railway world in the installation of radio equipment in club and parlor cars. With all these splendid facilities at our command, therefore, and assuming that we are financially able, there is no reason why Canadians should not devote more time to travel within their own land.

If it is scenery you like, no scenery on earth is superior to that which Canada offers. If you want mountains, we have them. If you fancy prairies, we have them. If you like pleasantly rolling country, there is plenty of it in Canada. If you are a fisherman, you can fish under almost any conditions and for almost any variety of fish that one can think of. If you prefer hunting wild game, Canada has it. If you like great cities, they are here for your inspection and entertainment. If you are fond of motoring, you will find thousands of miles of wonderful roads. If you seek bathing, golf, boating, horse-racing, hockey, lacrosse, winter sports, theatres, clubs, anything at all, in short, you need never stir beyond the confines of your own country.—Border Cities Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The Southern Cross has added a new page to aviation history. The world will rejoice in the safe landing of Kingsford-Smith and his companions.

A Thought

HOPE

Hope is the most beneficial of all the affections; and doth much to the prolongation of life, if it be not too often frustrated; but entertaineth the fancy with an expectation of good; therefore they which fix and propound to themselves some end, as the mark and scope of their life, and continually and by degrees go forward in the same, are for the most part long-lived; insomuch that when they are come to the top of their hope, and can go no higher therein, they commonly droop, and live not long after. So that hope is a leaf-joy, which may be beaten out to a great extension, like gold.—Lord Bacon.

What To-day Means To You

"CANCER."

If June 26th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a.m. to noon, from 4 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. and from 10 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. and from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

A change is prophesied for this date, which will unure to your financial benefit. Old ties will be broken, and new ones will be begun. Push affairs during the a.m. hours, as an element of danger is foreseen later in the day, when the influences change color.

The child born on this June 26th will have positive virtues, a decided little mind of its own, high spirits and enterprise. It will make impulsive plunges, but will extricate itself from its own muddles with fortitude. It will be rather domineering with its playmates.

You ought to make your sojourn through life an interesting, a happy and successful one, as nature has given you the tools with which to hew your way. You have the determination to turn the "outs" of your life into facts. You sense the beautiful things in life, the things to which so many are blind, sunsets, views, birdsongs, flower gardens, and the hundred and one things which are free to all.

You have an independent mind—it is not simply a parking place for anyone's spare opinions. You so positively know what you like and what you do not like; your convictions are not wabbly ones. You are keen about things, never half-hearted. Your cheerful mind triumphs, for it conquers doubts and difficulties which depress other people, and carries you through your daily work cleanly and gaily. It may almost be said that you do not know fear, you are so self confident and so hopeful. You have a sane and healthy optimism. Your common sense would prevent your chasing rainbows.

Your love of ownership is very pronounced, and you are apt to become too fond of mere "things," which will tie you down at very fatal moments. This is probably your one big weakness; sense and sentiment within you are often at war with each other. You have a very tenacious moral character, deep affections, with occasional glimpses of jealousy.

Voice of the People

Letters to be printed in the Voice of the People column must be received at The Examiner Office on the day before it is desired to have them published.

Unemployment in shops is largely due to having too many shops which is the penalty of general prosperity. It is also produced by over-education. Young people attending centres of education want to stay there. In fact every vocation tends to be overdone anyhow because increase in demand for products and of population is now met by increase in efficiency of machinery and research. If a man and his family were set down in a new and uninhabited country they would build a rude shelter, feed on fish and game and wild fruits until the land was tilled and the crops came. Furs for clothes would be followed by wool and cotton. Until the whole habitable world is over-populated it would thus afford a bare living for humanity. The moment one man makes a specialty of one thing and trades it off for others "trade" begins. In course of time manufacturing becomes divorced from the land. Then the trouble begins. If the rush is too great in making any one specialty or article or to any one line of activity the balance of exchange of commodities is lost and unemployment is sure to follow. These are the simple facts leading up to our present conditions the world over. It is the fashion of the age. It exists in all countries and the balance is not restored because people do not try to restore it. So that the mere fact of seasonal unemployment proves nothing but excessive and general unemployment proves something. It proves that the whole level of production and consumption has sunk. This stage has been reached in Britain and Italy, but not in France, the U.S.A. or Canada.

There is no perfect remedy for unemployment. The only question we can ask ourselves is "Is our unemployment due to over-production in some lines and lack of balance or to a collapse of general prosperity?"

The total trade of a people, the bank accounts of the people, the life insurance, etc., etc., show us which it is. If it is due to a collapse we must build our foundations anew. If simply to loss of dations anew. If simply to loss of desired balance. A collapse is due to adversity. A lack of balance usually to too much prosperity.

That is our trouble in Canada. If we could restore the balance we would no longer find a feverish demand for workers in some things and little demand in others. But so long as machines supply the demand the hand-worker will find less and less employment. This can only be remedied by finding new developments as in our proposed empire. When that need is supplied and unemployment looms up again there will have to be fewer machines or a displaced and unemployed people. It would be wholly impossible, as Mr. Bennett proposes, to shut the gates of Canada and raise the tariff walls and to refuse to trade with others, but to expect them to trade with us. They would laugh at us. That's too easy. And we can't consume all our production ourselves. We must find vent in world trade but in empire trade at any rate. To talk of "making the world do what we want" is nonsense.

TORONTO LIST IS IRREGULAR

Big Majority Stocks Hold Unchanged From Wednesday's Quotations.

OREILLE HEAVY.

TORONTO, Ont., June 26. (C.P.)—Confined movements and irregular trend marked the mining market from the opening in a somewhat higher early period to-day. One or two issues appeared to be receiving unfavorable attention, but the big majority of stocks held unchanged from last night.

Pend Oreille was heavily sold in the forenoon, the street apparently not taking kindly to the announcement at the annual meeting in Spokane recently, that last year's offer of rights had met with only a relatively small response from shareholders. Moving down to $1, the stock held at that level for a time but at noon was 17 below last night at 98. Big Missouri gained 4 to 55 on rumors of important developments pending in the affairs of the company.

International Nickel and Noranda were both firm, the former gaining a half to $24 and the latter a quarter to $21. Hudson Bay suffered under some profit-taking following yesterday's rapid appreciation, easing a quarter to $8. Lindsleys were a mixed group. Falconbridge and Sudbury Basin dropping 5 and 15, respectively, while Sherritt Gordon and Ventures moved up a few each.

Ajax oil and Calmont strengthened in the oils. Ajax moving up 5 to $2.51 and Calmont 4 to $1.14. The majority of issues in the group were unchanged.

With Acme and East Crest showing only minor recessions.

PLANE IS EXPECTED

The plane was gaining speed as the distance to New York diminished.

OXFORD JUNCTION, N. S., June 26.—(C.P.) — Congratulations and good wishes were wired to Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith at New York by Premier King to-day. The Prime Minister's telegram was dispatched while Mr. King and party were en route from Kentville, N.S., to St. John, N.B., where the Premier speaks to-night. It read as follows:

"All Canadains are delighted to learn of your westward flight across the Atlantic. On their behalf I send you and your companions in this brave enterprise sincere congratulations and best wishes."

WASHINGTON, June 26.—(C.P.)—Sir Ronald Lindsay, Ambassador of Great Britain, accompanied by William J. B. Macaulay, Charge D'Affaires of the Irish Free State, took off from the naval air station at Anacostia by airplane shortly after 11 a.m., for New York, to welcome Captain Charles Kingford-Smith and his companions on the Southern Cross upon their arrival at Roosevelt Field from Ireland and Newfoundland.

MERGER RUMORS AGAIN ACTIVE

Street Talk Without Foundation Often Leads to Embarrassment Among Shareholders.

MATTER OF OPINION.

TORONTO, June 26. (Special to Examiner.)—The rumor pedlars are beginning to get in their work again and in two occasions within the last day or so officials of companies have been faced with the necessity of assuring shareholders that so called well founded reports were without foundation. This business of unofficial information while making for some market activity, is often rather embarrassing to actual shareholders, and should not at any time be taken too seriously. The difficulty in the whole situation lies in tracing the source of the report, and it has been found in many cases that the originator was merely expressing an opinion on the matter.

A report was current on the street to-day that the new backers of Nordon Corporation were withdrawing their support and that this was responsible for the recession in the price of the stock. An official of the company emphatically denies this is the case. The survey being prepared by well-known engineers of the company's properties is not yet completed, he said, and active sponsorship is merely waiting the culmination of this. Present indications are that the value back of the shares will be considerably in excess of the $4. Figure given at the recent annual meeting and is more likely to range somewhere between $6 and $7. The deal is going along smoothly, it was stated.

While some quarters have attributed the recent strength in Acme oil and gas to reports of holdings in the Oklahoma City field, it is generally believed the renewed interest is a direct result of the bringing in of an important natural gas producer in the southwest Ontario field in which the company is interested. Jointly drilled by Adme and Vacuum gas and oil, a well with an estimated flow of a quarter million cubic feet of sweet gas was secured recently at Mabee's Corners near Tillsonburg. The flow was encountered at a depth of 1305 feet, twelve feet in the Clinton sands, and plans of the management are to deepen the hole and later shoot it.

The annual general meeting of Sylvanite mines is being held in Kirkland Lake to-day and will probably be of a routine character with regard to developments since the annual report. W. V. Moot, managing director, says monthly production has increased, April and May being two of the largest months since the mine started. Development work around No. 4 shaft is reaching an interesting point and crosscuts will shortly be started to the vein which they expect to find on the lower levels. A crosscut is also being run on the 480 level north of No. 2 shaft to explore a promising section cut by diamond drilling.

A ray of hope for several local operations is contained in the report that meetings of the world's lead and zinc producers are being held in London and Belgium next month, when arrangements will be made for stabilization of quotations of these metals at somewhat higher prices than are now prevailing. Comparatively few producers of zinc can show profits under the existing price of the metal, it was stated after the meeting of smelters directors.

NEITHER SIDE HOLDS INTEREST

Nickel and Brazilian Thrown on Own Resources After Firm Opening.

OIL SECTION STEADY.

TORONTO, Ont., June 26. (C.P.)—Prices dri ted aimlessly in one of the slowest morning sessions of recent weeks on Toronto Stock Exchange to-day. The market was absolutely without incentive, neither bears nor bulls attempted to establish a trend and stocks backed and filled at current levels.

At the opening, some interest attached to International Nickel and Brazilian in view of the rally at the close Wednesday, but when they held at their preceding close it became apparent that short covering had been mainly responsible for the rise and they, like the remainder of the list were allowed to drift. At midday nickel was unchanged at 24. Brazilian still above 40, but off fractionally from its best and from last night's close.

The oils maintained present levels in a very listless market. The foods were mostly unchanged and the same applied to most of the individual stocks. Ford at 29¾ was up less than a point, Gypsum firm around 19, Massey-Harris above 25 and Cockshutt slightly above 15. Walkers sold unchanged at 8 7-8, Service Stations unchanged at 38½, Standard Paving down 1½ points to 15.

THE WISE MEN AND THE PIES

By Asra Kagowan

In one week thirty million pies were consumed by the American public.

Then there arose a Wise Man, who was versed in the ways of science and had delved deep into the mysterious below the pie-crust. And he spake after this fashion:

"Pies," he declared, "are unfit for human consumption. They are undermining the health of the nation. Each day four out of five fall victim to the deadly germ of pyemia, pyromania and pyorrhea."

Now this announcement was given much publicity in the newspapers, and the radio noised it from one end of the land to the other, so that it came to the ears of all the people.

The following week thirty million pies were consumed by the American public.

Then came other Wise Men from the big baking companies, who experimented with pies on rats and real estate agents and made other discoveries. And they spake after this fashion:

"Pies," they declared, "are the perfect food for human consumption. They built up the stamina of the race. They stimulate the pia mater, prevent pyrosis and promote piety."

So the big baking companies spent thirty million dollars in an advertising compaign to overcome the sales resistance on pies, and the radio noised it from one end of the land to the other, and it came to the ears of all the people.

The following week thirty million pies were consumed by the American Public.

STUDENTS PROVIDE PLEASING RECITAL

Miss Marguerite Rome Directs Musical Program in All Saints' Parish Hall.

An interesting recital by the piano pupils of Miss Marguerite Rome was held in All Saints' parish hall on Tuesday evening, with a good attendance. The pupils were assisted by Miss Olive Rome, soprano singer, and a string ensemble. Much enthusiastic appreciation was accorded the pupils, who played entirely from memory, in splendid tone, with fine technique and good phrasing.

There was also plenty of appreciation for Miss Rome's charming voice and pleasing manner, while the string ensemble was received with hearty applause, played with excellent unified melody.

The platform was prettily arranged with peonies, daisies and ferns in vases and tall wicker stands.

Prizes for memory work were given by Miss Rome to her pupils and were presented by G. F. Liddle. They were won by Miss Mary Sisson, who memorized twenty-one selections; Miss Annabelle Herd, who memorized twenty pieces, and Miss Lorraine Vass, with sixteen compositions committed to memory.

SURPRISE ATTACK IS BEING PLANNED BY THE RANGERS

Peterborough Rangers Will Go Into Camp at Rifle Ranges on Friday.

CITIZENS' INVITED.

Attack Will Take Place on Monday Night After

A night surprise attack will be staged on Monday of next week at the Rifle Ranges as part of the training of the Peterborough Rangers in their annual encampment, and will be available to the view of the public, according to Lieutenant-Colonel M. H. Park, V.D.

An enemy force will be presumed to be encamped for the night west of the Ranges, protected by outposts composed largely of "D" Company under Major Mills. The remaining three companies of the Battalion will constitute the force defending the city of Peterborough This force will include No. 4 Machine Gun Company under Captain Dewart. The entire defending force, under the command of Major G. G. Winterbottom, will undertake an attack on the enemy outposts under cover of darkness.

Arrangements have been made, it is announced, for spectators to park their cars at points advantageous to witnessing the entire struggle. The whole of the attack and defence will be staged between the 800-yard firing point and the wood which crosses the Ranges from north to south, affording spectators an excellent view from the north side of the Ranges. The entrance to the grounds will be just west of the crossroads. The commanding officer expresses himself as being anxious that citizens should witness this display, but asks that those in cars refrain from using their headlights, as it is vital that the attack be carried on in complete darkness, save for the use of searchlights at the actual seat of operations.

In addition to rifle companies under Captains Dunkerley, Monkman, Nicholls and Dewart, there will be seen in action Lewis gun sections under Lieutenant Milton. The stretcher-bearer section under the direction of the Battalion medical officer, Major Yelland, will participate in the action to look after the casualties.

ARTICLE LVI.

Q.—Of all public utilities companies, what one is the best adapted for municipal ownership, and why?

A.—Of all public utility companies the one best fitted for municipal ownership is a water producing company.

Water is the most important commodity to a community. There must be plenty of it at all times—and it must be pure, for upon that depends the health and welfare of the communjty. It is something which society cannot do without and reasonable rates on it must be assured. The municipality should therefore control the water supply and also the cource of supply, for the latter has an important bearing on the purity of the product. If a large reservoir is required, the surrounding land, especially if higher, must be carefully guarded. If the supply is taken from a river, certain restrictions must be enforced for mills above the intake.

The best plan for carrying out these regulations and for insuring a proper supply is for the municipality to have complete control and not entrust it to private ownership.

GOLF COURSE ON OLD GREENS

Miniature 18 Hole Course Being Constructed For Opening on July 1st.

NEW NOVELTY.

Wondering what the activity on the old bowling green portended The Examiner found a gang of men preparing something new in amusements for Peterborough. In line with a similar movement in other parts of the country, a miniature 18-hole golf course is being constructed and the grounds made attractive, ready for opening on July 1st. The course colors are orange and black, making it a striking object as soon as it comes in sight.

If this novelty takes as it has in other cities the new golf course, Mite-Tee-Green, will be popular at once.

Dean: Yes, we have five more courses planned for the next semester.

Alumnus: But won't that increase the number flunking?

Dean: Oh, no. These courses are specially designed for football players.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND BRIEFS

A SPECIAL SERVICE TO THE EXAMINER

Reference has previously been made in these columns to the assertion of Reginald McKenna, chairman of Midland Bank, that England's deflationary policy has been responsible for the world-wide business depression. Credit stringency is responsible for the present unsatisfactory state of affairs in the opinion of the Royal Bank of Canada. The point is made that the decline in circulation has corresponded closely to the percentage decline in prices. Whatever may be the direct relationship between quantity of money and prices, there can be no doubt that if the volume of circulation were immediately restored to the level that existed in November the decline in prices since that date would be quickly counteracted. Reductions in the rediscount rates have not had the necessary effect and will only be so gradually as the downward movement runs its course. The panacea suggested is increase in note circulation to be effected in the United States through purchase of government securities by the federal reserve. Gold exports from the United States would follow unless other countries adopted similar policies, but the central banks of Great Britain and France have proceeded further with an easy money policy than has the Federal Reserve Bank, and the adoption by the latter of the measures suggested would permit European banks to take further measures along the same lines, which might be expected to prevent effectively any abnormal movement of gold. The present depression is world-wide but anything that will substantially reverse the trend in one country must tend to have a similar effect in all countries.

That some of the current foreboding regarding the economic outlook are strangely reminiscent of 1896, 1907, 1914, and 1921, is pointed out by Frazier Jelke and Company of New York, in an investment survey published to-day. The survey recalls that, after each successive readjustment, American business has not only recovered lost ground but gone forward to new peaks and suggests that America's proved recuperative power is found in the quality and growth of population and the ever-rising standard of living. Discussing the relation between population and prosperity it is suggested that recent changes in the geographical distribution of population from the farms to the cities and from the more congested metropolitan areas to the suburbs tend to raise living standards and increase consumption. Other forces operating along the same lines are the trend toward higher standards of education, the constantly increasing productivity of labor which results from more efficient machinery and the large annual savings of the American people.

Markets Remain Firm.

Markets were firm but quiet in early trading to-day and the reaction is beginning to show signs of having blown itself out. Trading drags, price changes are narrowing down to small spreads with heavy liquidation, having the appearance of being over with for the time being. There is still a good deal of uncertainty about movements in the immediate future and brokers are finding it hard to form definite opinion. Signs of accumulation of the better thought of securities and support of the pivotal issues are not lacking but clients are given the option of two things. Speculators are told the best position is on the sidelines while those who want to buy are told to take on nothing but the best class of stocks and for cash only, with the purpose of holding them for a period. Speculation on either the long or the short side is discouraged but most agree that those exercising care in choosing stocks for cash need have patience only.

The replacement idea

(A businessman's soliloquy)

"Man is like a piece of machinery—he has a definite value only as long as he is a productive unit.

"Rather than be thrown on the scrap heap I am setting up a 'depreciation account' so I may have a 'cash value' on retiring.

"Here is how I'm doing it."

"I have purchased a London Life Pension Policy, which will give me an income of $100 a month starting when I am sixty years old. The value of the policy, if I prefer to take cash, will then be $3,000, (plus dividends) greater than all I've deposited, or $14,660. If I should not live to be 60, my wife will receive at least $10,000.

"From an investment standpoint, as protection for my wife or as provision for my old age, this is an ideal plan."

UNIFORMITY IN TRAFFIC LAWS FOR VEHICLES BEING SOUGHT

Chief Constable Newhall Outlines Some of the Work for Hamilton Convention.

BIG ATTENDANCE EXPECTED

By S. NEWHALL, Chief Constable of Peterborough

This year's Convention of the Chief Constables' Association of Canada is to be held at Hamilton, Ont., July 29, 30, 31. My hope is that every member will endeavor to be present. The civic authorities are strongly supporting Chief D. Coulter and his staff in the effort to make the occasion one to be long and happily remembered. Details of the program, as far as available at this time, make it certain that the business and the social side will be all that the most exacting members could desire.

It cannot be too often repeated that the Association is, and will continue to be, just what the membership decides that it shall. If the members are indifferent to the interests of the Association—which are their own—it is difficult to see how any objectives are to be attained. Personally I have had the experience of having members tell me that they do not attend Conventions because their Board of Police Commissioners, of their police committee, knows nothing about the Association and they have never told them. Just why such an attitude should be taken is incomprehensible to those of us who have found boards and committees in sympathetic accord with the idea of police chiefs meeting to discuss matters of mutual interest to themselves and their communities.

It will be of interest to many members to know that the Canadian Bar Association is hopeful that by the summer of 1931 there will be uniformity of vehicular traffic laws throughout the Dominion. This, it is believed, will be brought about by the adoption by various legislatures of uniform clauses upon which the Bar Association has been at work for three years. The legal gentlemen who constitute the Bar Association, took up this matter in a desire to be of assistance in solving a difficult problem. The Chief Constables' Association of Canada which has had some share in bringing this matter prominently before the public and the legislators will be glad to see it brought to a satisfactory conclusion.

In Ontario at least, and perhaps in other provinces, steps are progressing towards attainment of another objective which the C.C.A. has been aiming for. It is that of reciprocal legislation and regulation with States of the Union, whereby offending motorists who have their licenses cancelled or suspended for offences in a State, or in Ontario, would have similar treatment in their home State or Province. The idea, of course, is based upon a mutual determination to suppress reckless and offensive drivers. It is possible that arrangements will also soon be concluded for reciprocal assistance in the matter of recovering damages from motorists responsible for property damage, or for injuries to persons which necessitate medical attention.

One other matter which has caused considerable discussion, public and private, among our members, is that of pensions. The question of pensions for municipal police forces must remain as one for individual municipalities to deal with unless and until the laws of the various provinces are changed. If the provincial governments decide that they should interfere in it, the logical inference is that they would also provide for some share in the government of police bodies. That is a consideration that must be taken into account. In the last session of the Ontario Legislature the government introduced a bill which was withdrawn, so that it might be printed and fully considered in time for adoption next session, in which it is provided the benefit funds for permanent members of fire brigades must be established in a number of the cities where none now exist. The same kind of legislation might be asked for in respect to police forces, which, however, it should be remembered, are a sense servants of the Dominion, their respective provinces, and their municipalities. That is because they enforce laws passed by all of those authorities. This complicates the pension problem in the minds of the taxpayers of some communities, thought in others the city is the only contributor apart from the men themselves. The question is one that cannot be disposed of offhand by this or any other organization.

These are a few matters which come spontaneously to the mind in any attempt to review what has been done by the Association, or to the accomplishment of which it is aided, and of what may be attained. There are many more which will readily suggest themselves to the minds of the members who should be prepared to bring them up in convention if they are not on the programme.—(The Canadian Police Bulletin).

day is the work of an artist. Good dairymen do not just happen, they must have ability. Dairying is and always will e one of the main ranches of Agriculture and it must be fostered and encouraged", he said.

W. A. Fraser, Liberal candidate for Northumberland, stated that it was extremely fortunate for Eastern Ontario that Mr. Field had seen fit to locate his farm near Harwood.

Major Belford had a word to say to the credit of the "moolie" cow which had joined with the other pioneers in upturning the resources of a country of which we are now getting the benefits.

Mayor Denne Presides

The speeches were made from the spacious rear verandah of the Field home ,the guests at the re-union of rural and urban friends sat comfortably beneath the shade of lofty pines. Mayor Denne, presided as chairman, and he too acknowledged to the full the benefits to Canadian dairying of the examples of such great leaders in the industry as Fred Field.

Among Mr. Field's guests at the luncheon were a numbmer of Peterborough men. They were: Mayor Denne, who presided; J K. Hughes, T. H. Hooper, Wm. Steinkraus, E. S. Martin, H. C. Sootheran, Fred L. Roy, Mr. Faulkner, George Morrow, A. H. Campbell, and others.

The dinner earned the thanks of every guest who were not bashful in expressing their feelings to the hostess, Miss Regina Keppler, secretary of the Field estate. It was stated that the dinner surpassed the one of last year, if that were possible, and certainly the cordial and abundant hospitality of Field Lodge Farm strikes a new rich note on every successive visit.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Sourness, Gas and Pain. How To Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating ,nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist some Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful of powder or four tablets in water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

ushered in prosperity to this country," Mr. Tummon continued. "I wonder what would be his answer to a Belleville milkman I know who has delivered milk there for twenty years, and who told me that he had never seen such hardship as this year. I suppose Mr. King would say that his statistics show that there is more employment than ever and therefore unemployment does not exist. I wonder if he knows that our dairy farmers are taking a smaller price for their butter fat than at any time in the last nine years. I suppose the Prime Minister would say there are no hard times. He gives me the impression of a man whose head is in the clouds and whose view is dimmed by the mists of his own ideas so that he can't get a glimpse of the man down on the street. I wonder if the policy of Hon. R. B. Bennett as enunciated at Winnipeg had been put into effect four years ago would be importing $1,000,000 a day of animal and vegetable products. The total is $303,000,000 for a year, and 80 percent of those imports are produced in the farms of Canada. At the present time there are 22,000,000 pounds of butter on the ocean coming to this country, and in 1926 the total amount of butter produced in Ontario was 82,000,000 pounds. The shipment on the ocean represents more than one-quarter of the total production of butter in Ontario for one year. If this country is to go ahead, agriculture and our industries must go hand in hand. That is the principle behind the Conservative party, and behind which the people are rallying as never before."

A. J. Anderson.

As a preface to his address, Mr. Anderson congratulated the delegates upon their re-nomination of Dr. Embury, who, he said, was an important member of the Conservative caucus at Ottawa, and one of the most energetic members of the House as well as one of the most assiduous in attention to his duties.

In this election the Conservative party had for the first time a leader from western Canada. Hon. R. B. Bennett was from Alberta. He had attained a position of pre-eminence in his profession as a barrister, and as president of the Canadian Bar Association would receive in Toronto in a few weeks distinguished barristers from the United States, England, France and probably Germany He had appeared before the Privy Council on many occasions, and in his profession had literally blasted his way to the front by sheer merit.

Mr. Anderson first dealt with the new amendment to the Soldiers' Pensions Act, traced its evolution and declared that no special credit was due to Mackenzie King for this measure which had been supported by both sides of Parliament and had been largely outlined by a Conservative member, Dr. McGibbon of Muskoka.

The Soldiers' Pensions bill was referred to a non-partisan committee composed of the soldier members of the House, and their report was accepted without a division. There was, therefore, no reason, for Mackenzie King to claim any particular credit for this legislation because it had received the fullest support of the Conservative Opposition.

Referring to the Old Age Pensions Act, Mr. Anderson said it had been proposed by the Liberal party at their convention in 1919, but nothing definite result from the expression until 1927 when the Act was brought in by the King government.

"Instead of financing the Old Age Pensions Act by the Dominion Government Mackenzie King decided to make the province join in financing it whether they liked it or not, and he also told them they would have to administer the Act themselves."

"The result is", Mr. Anderson continued, "that the Act is not being uniformly administered in Canada. Each province has its own law, and they differ in many respects. In 1927 the Conservative party advocated that the provisions of the Old Age Pensions Act be financed by the Dominion of Canada out of federal funds, but Mackenzie King's answer was a flat 'no.' One result of this Act is that the province of Quebec does not receive anything from it, because that province has not adopted it. They have their own way of looking after their aged people, and while I hold no brief for Quebec, a province that returns sixty-five Liberals to Parliament, nevertheless as a Canadian it is my duty to point out the inequality of this Act, for while Quebec pays its quota of Old Age Pensions money it gets not one cent of it.

What credit is Mackenzie King entitled to for an Act of that kind? In 1928 or '29, I am not certain which it was just now, Mackenzie King declared that the principle of this Act was vicious. This is his attitude toward his own measure.

Mr. King will tell you that he has reduced the debt of Canada $188,000,000 in the last nine years. During that time the government has collected revenues under the protective tariff of Sir John A. Macdonald. They have not changed the framework of that tariff. Mr. King takes the surplus of that revenue and applies it on the debt, not in a systematic way, but in a haphazard manner; he says they will pay $44,000,000 this year. Why did he not handle the public debt in the systematic way that Premier Ferguson has adopted for the debt of this province, by the sinking fund plan ? Mr. Guthrie and others stated that it could be wiped out in forty-five years on the payment of $19,000,000 a year, or in fifty years on the application of $15,000,000 a year. Why should the present generation have to pay large sums on the public debt in Canada after paying such a heavy sacrifice of sixty thousand of their youth killed in France! They are receiving from you a heritage that is well worth paying for.

By such a systematic plan Mr. King could take a specific amount for Old Age Pensions and give the old people of this country an allowance they would be proud of, the provinces would be relieved of their present payments, and at the same time the public debt of Canada would be provided for."

Discussing the Canadian National Railways, Mr. Anderson asserted that Mackenzie King was taking credit for this enterprise that should be largely given to the Hon. Arthur Meighan under whom the present national railway system originated.

Meighan and Railways

"It attained success under the Conservative party", Mr. Anderson said, "and today it is one of the big factors in connections with the credit of Canada, and the Conservative party has every reason to be proud of it. The Canadian Northern, the Grand Trunk and the Grand Trunk Pacific were practically in bankruptcy when they devolved to Arthur Meighan as a grave problem that needed a solution. The Grand Trunk and the Canadian Northern were in the receiver's hands. Mr. Meighan advocated that the government take them over, and he passed the Act to amalgamate them into a national railway. Then in 1921 the people of this country ungraciously defeated him. While Mr. Meighan in 1919 was striving for their amalgation, Mackenzie King on every reading of the Bill had a motion trying to delay it and vote it down. Were they the friends of that railway? On the the other hand the Conservative party was its friends at its birth. In 1921 the Liberals were entrusted with the government of the country. They were against public ownership but they decided to give the national railway a trial. They were fortunate in the choice of the general manager. Sir Henry Thornton deserves the credit. He is making it pay, and under him it has become a great asset, but Mackenzie King is trying to take the credit for something he tried to kill at its birth."

McLAREN'S INVINCIBLE OLIVES

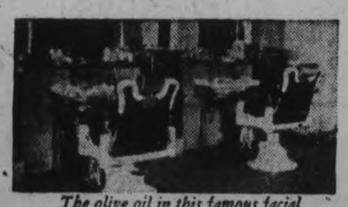
"Palmolive is the only soap which thoroughly cleans the skin and at the same time reveals natural loveliness"

says the celebrated
LEON DESFOSSÉ
—one of the best known of all Parisian beauty specialists

"I always advise my clients to wash their faces twice a day for two minutes with Palmolive Soap and warm water, making first a lather with both hands, then thoroughly rinsing with warm water and with cold, thus toning up the complexion."

L. Desfossé

265, RUE ST. HONORÉ, PARIS



The olive oil in this famous facial soap is your best safeguard against modern dangers to skin beauty.

And over 23,720 experts agree

Desfossé is not alone in his opinion of the tonic effects of palm and olive oils. As a matter of fact, these beauty oils were used by Cleopatra. And, today, a tremendously impressive group of more than 23,720 beauty specialists —throughout the world—advise Palmolive Soap.

Beware of using crude soaps, soaps made of undesirable fats, soaps artificially colored or highly perfumed. They may be harmless. But to experiment is dangerous. Palmolive is made of the oils of palm and olive only. It is these oils which give it Nature's own green color. They make unnecessary the addition of heavy perfumes.

"The skin must be thoroughly washed, but care taken to employ only the soap which gives the greatest benefits with the least inconvenience," the great Desfossé warns you. So many soaps are irritating. You should not experiment when it is so easy to buy Palmolive. Millions use it for the bath as well as the face.

Here is the recommended treatment: massage a smooth lather of Palmolive Soap gently into the skin. Rinse, first with warm water, then with cold. Now—and not before—you are ready for make-up.

If you've been to Paris—if your friends have been to Paris—you probably know of the chic beauty salon of Desfossé on the Rue St. Honoré. The establishment Desfossé has been a training school for many of the now famous French specialists, including Emile Massé, of the Rue Daunon.

Desfossé was called to Madrid to attend the members of the Spanish Court at the time Alfonso XIII. was crowned King. He was also called to Germany to attend the princesses when the last king of Saxony was crowned.

It is a man of such international professional importance who urges you to use Palmolive Soap . . . because of "a unique blending of the palm and olive oils it contains, agents which cleanse and soothe the complexion, and at the same time bring out natural color."

You will find it safe, protective, bland and soothing. The world's great beauty experts advise it. Try Palmolive and you will understand why.

COMPETITION IS PEACE MENACE THORNTON SAYS

Sir Henry Speaks Frankly at Rotary Anniversary in Chicago.

U. S. FOREIGN POLICIES UP.

Warns That Modern Industry Should Use Care in Tariff Barriers.

CHICAGO, June 26. — International reactions to United States foreign policies were paraded yesterday by Sir Henry Worth Thornton, chairman of the Canadian National Railways, before several thousand delegates and visitors to the Rotary International's silver jubilee anniversary.

He said the sole bleak spot on the horizon of international peace was modern industry's competition in seeking adequate marketoutlets for production. This he called the "real menace" to world peace.

Following Sir Henry's address, the Nominating Committee reported the names of Raymond J. Knoeppel, New York attorney, and of Almon E. Roth, business manager of Stanford University, Palo Alto, Cal., as candidates for the presidency. Ten men were nominated for the five American places on the directorate of Rotary International. Elections will be held to-day with the result to be announced Friday.

The international aspects of the convention will be increased to-day with the address of Prince Iyesato Tokugawa, president of the Japanese House of Peers and a delegate to the Washington Naval Conference of 1922. The Prince is expected to discuss Japanese attitude on disarmament.

In his address Sir Henry marshalled his native Indiana tact in dealing frankly with a subject closely affecting all the countries in which Rotary Clubs are organized. He warned his audience that modern industry should use care in driving through tariff barriers and national pride, and said that Washington, were he alive, might change his ideas about foreign entanglements.

"To-day the United States stands easily the most opulent, the most powerful, and consequently the most influential nation in the world. But these attributes likewise carry certain responsibilities and one of these is to give its best in world leadership."

CITY HALL RAIDED BY UNEMPLOYED

Winnipeg Constables Brushed Aside By Huge Communist Leading Mob.

WISHED TO SEE MAYOR.

WINNIPEG, Man., June 26.—(C.P.)—Constables wielded billies lustily yesterday to halt a rush of unemployed on the City Hall. Led by James Beattie, six-foot Communist, some 500 jobless demanded audience with Mayor Ralph H. Webb and attempted to force their way into the building when refused entry.

Beattie was arrested and arraigned in court on a charge of unlawful assembly. The riot leader was remanded and two sureties of $1,000 were requested.

Calling upon the mob to follow him into the City Hall, Beattie is stated to have brushed aside a trio of policemen. One constable was knocked to the ground and kicked.
